The NATIONAL CHRISTIAN COLLEGE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION is an organization bringing together Christian colleges not just for athletic competition. Even more important, it is an association of colleges which have common goals and perspectives.

It's a game plan that is catching on. Formed in 1966, the NCCAA held its first national basketball tournament two years later with just six colleges. Today the NCCAA has more than 115 member colleges across the nation and offers championships in basketball, cross country, soccer, wrestling and track and field.

The participating schools are dedicated not only to the best athletic competition possible, but also to exemplifying Jesus Christ in everything they do. The NCCAA believes:

- Athletics are a means to an end; not an end in themselves.
- The process is as important as the performance.
- The person (athlete) is more important than the program.

The NCCAA is for the spectator who wants a game that can draw enthusiastic response, but who also wants to know the participating teams are living beyond the outcome of the game.

The NCCAA is for the athlete who wants to be a part of a team that competes on a district, regional and national level, but realizes the importance of education within a biblical perspective.

The NCCAA is for the coach who wants to work with a team worthy of top athletic competition, but wants his team to present Jesus Christ.
