A FRIENDLY ENDEAVOR

VOLUME I.

SEPTEMBER, 1918

NUMBER 3

CONFERENCE WILL BE AN ANNUAL AFFAIR

Response to Call for First Summer Conference Very Gratifying

Well, it's all over but the shouting! The cold cream jar has been called upon, the brush and comb are doing valiant duty, the liniment bottle has done its share to repair damages, and life again runs in its accustomed grooves.

Yes, the First Annual Summer Conference of the Young Friends of Oregon Yearly Meeting at Oceanlake Park, Aug. 21-31, was a distinct success. It is to be regretted that this first time it seemed to be impossible to adequately and systematically register attendants, but it is conceded that probably 150 were in attendance all or part of the time, with a steady attendance of about 50. For a start we are satisfied, and the cooks are wondering what we ever could have done had there been more.

The various housing and tenting problems were met and manfully solved, one hard knock we received being in the tenting department, where arrangements were made for the renting of many tents whereas those who came practically all brought their own, and we were left holding the sack! Nobody's fault, but we'll know better next time. The eating arrangements were a wonder, and only one party brought their own cooking outfit. And such meals! And such appetites as we all had, and then the delightful news that in spite of everything a price of 20c per meal for the club members would cover the actual cost. Some who were present had their ten-day vacation for less than $10 outlay, and one family of four reports a total expense of less than $20, which shows that a Summer Conference is practically within the pocket-book reach of all.

And the recreation features? Yes, they were delightful, too. The wind was cold most of the time, and it rained some, but nobody seemed to mind it, especially when we found out how warm it had been back home. The briny seemed particularly salty and tempestuous and cold, but every day there were a large band of devotees who once or twice disported among the breakers—and felt better for it. The warm sand proved a delightful place to curl up for a nap, the lake proved a fascination for both boat-lovers and followers of Isaac Walton, and hiking trips to Beauty Falls and other places gave almost endless variety.

All sounds interesting enough, indeed; but how about the solid meat of the undertaking, the lectures, the spiritual atmosphere? Did the program go off as scheduled; did the folk attend, listen and derive benefit enough to make them better fitted to face the problems before the young people? In this respect, too, we feel the Conference could not be considered anything other than a success. The lectures by Hadley and Pennington each day were fascinating, and all agreed that they came to a close all too soon, with lots of ground left untouched or but skimmed over. The other speakers, with but four exceptions throughout the entire Conference, were all present and delivered the goods, and although there was some slight re-arrangement of the program, it was followed substantially as printed. The seating accommodations of the tabernacle threatened to make a difficult problem until the rain kindly descended. Thereupon there was a scramble to get the automobiles parked inside, and presto! our garage with seven cars parked in an orderly row, with a goodly sprinkling of camp chairs dotted in and out among the headlights and fenders, effectually and comfortably settled the seating question. Did I say comfortably? There was one exception. There was a fellow with a Buick with such an everlastingly sensitive warning button that the unfortunate occupant of that particular seat couldn't even cross his knees or stretch himself without a disturbing and blood-curdling "honk!" which pretty nearly disrupted the meeting more than once!

Another year undoubtedly some of the arrangements will ensure and encourage a little more prompt and regular attendance and a more earnest attention to the lecture value of the occasion, but for the first year it was felt that more could not be expected.

The business sessions were well supported, and there was no doubt whatever about the desire of the Conference to perpetuate itself, the motion was unanimous and hearty. Nor was the support of the paper any less certain. Messages were read from the Earham Conference and their program of activities was endorsed as our own. This undoubtedly will appear in other papers and are too long to be reproduced here.

While it is impossible to report the Conference as fully as we would like, no report would be complete without a mention of the resolutions passed.

A telegram was received from Emel Swanson, at Camp Lewis, with greetings

"PAPER CHASE" FOR FRIENDLY ENDEAVOR

October 13 to Be Set Aside as Closing Day of Campaign to Secure 400 Subscriptions

By unanimous vote of the Executive Committee of the Y. M. C. E. some time ago, it was decided to have a paper of our own. The annual business meeting at Yearly Meeting time ratified the proposal, also unanimously. "A Friendly Endeavor" was launched July 1st to see what the rank and file of Endeavordom thought about the matter, and after two months trial the First Annual Summer Conference at Oceanlake Park heartily and unanimously endorsed the paper, declared that it should be continued, and formed a Board of Publications of Young Friends of Oregon Yearly Meeting, whose names appear at the head of the editorial column, and voted to launch a campaign, to close on October 13, to put the paper permanently upon its feet by securing 400 paid-in-advance subscriptions for the year.

In discussing the plans the Board met and apportioned the following quotas for each society and presented a plan of work. With the quota table we also show the number of subscriptions secured to date. Prizes will be offered, for the Quarterly Meeting first to "go over the top" and reach its entire quota, for the Christian Endeavor society, and for the society team that first accomplishes its goal, work to be started in earnest at once. Divide the Society into two teams of as nearly as possible equal strength, cut your quota in half and tell them their apportionment. The Quarterly Meeting Superintendent will be the officer in command in each Q. M., including the points which have no regular Christian Endeavor. The local president will be in command of each Society's campaign. No subscriptions will be counted except those that reach the editorial office with the money to cover same. All previous subscriptions turned in of course count as so much to the good to start with, and should be divided equally among the two Society teams. While it will not be possible to put the paper on a permanent, paying basis with less than 400 paid-in-advance subscriptions at 50c, it is hoped that the aims will be set far higher. In the recent Red Cross and other campaigns, the reason for Oregon's phenomenal success in almost every case was that when the quota was apportioned to

SOCIETY NOTES

NEWBERG

A paper sack social held at the Pennington home was somewhat novel. Everyone present was instructed beforehand to bring two similar things to eat in a paper sack. Several informal games were played, after which the sacks were redistributed among the guests whose task was to find someone with a sack, the contents of which suited theirs. There was much merriment when the sacks were opened. The combined menu was as follows: Potato salad, orange marmalade, salt, lettuce, peanut butter, rhubarb conserve, butter, nut bread, bread, Boston brown bread, raisin cake.

The study class in Friends' Discipline is progressing well. Under Miss Wright's able leadership the Christian Endeavorers are learning a great many new things about their church government and Friends' beliefs.

SPRINGBROOK

Paul Lewis, our former reporter for A Friendly Endeavor, is acting as fire warden at Tillamook this summer.

Olive Ramsey, one of our most active C. E. and church workers, is at home again after finishing a course in the summer school at Boise, Idaho.

The appearance of the church has been greatly improved by calcimining the walls and giving the woodwork a new coat of varnish.

The Springbrook C. E. Society in a recent offering taken to buy Testaments for the soldiers at Vancouver, raised $13.15, the largest amount sent in by any individual Society in Oregon. We feel that this is a worthy cause and intend to take another offering soon.

Rev. and Mrs. Carl Miller, our pastor and his wife, returned recently from an outing at the beach. They report a good time and were glad of an opportunity to do some missionary work in a needy field.

In spite of the fact that many have been away on their vacations, we have had splendid Endeavor meetings. The Mission Study class on "The Lure of Africa," which meets Sunday evenings before the C. E. Meetings, is proving very interesting. Mrs. Ramsey teaches the class.

SECOND FRIENDS, PORTLAND

The members of the High School and Young People's classes of the Sunday School, most of whom are members of the Endeavor, went for a hay-ride August 3. Perhaps the most interesting incident was a break-down two miles out in the country, and the walk home which followed. About thirty young people enjoyed the ride and the weinerwurst roast "down by the old mill stream."

A number of the Endeavorers attended Camp Meeting July 28, some of whom were omitted in mention last issue. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Barker, Lamont and Theodora Dunbar, Edna and Myrtle Burns, Mrs. Carr and daughters Goldie and Alice, May and Mable Kadolph, Doris and Wilda Mann, Kenneth and Carroll Tamplin, Gordon Mann, Carl Kadolph and Dwight Fowler.

C. C. Barker entertained the faculty of the Sunday School at his home Wednesday, August 15. One feature of the evening was the toasting of marshmallows, after giving suggestions for Rally Day. Chocolate was served later. The evening was enjoyed by all.

One of our prominent young ladies recently appeared with a lovely new diamond. She smiles and looks happy, so we are satisfied.

The Endeavor business meeting and social for August was held at the home of C. C. Barker Friday, the 17th. An enjoyable time was had by all present.

SOUTH SALEM

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Miles and daughters Eva and Lyra spent their three weeks' vacation at Hood River.

Lyra B. Miles expects to leave on the 6th of September for New York to attend Columbia University.

The Highland Endeavor Society was entertained by the South Salem Society on N. D. Elliott's lawn the evening of July 30. About thirty were present, and everyone reported a good time.

Maxine and Marjorie Elliott spent a week's vacation in Linn County, near Brownsville.

ROSEDALE

The meeting August 18 was led by Helen Cammack. At this meeting it was decided to ask the Lookout Committee to see that letters were sent by some member of the Society to the soldier boys who have left here.

Cecil Pearson led the meeting at Cloverdale Sunday afternoon, August 11.

C. A. Hadley and family started to Twin Rocks Wednesday evening (?14th.—Ed.)

The nature meeting was held out of doors on a hillside overlooking a most beautiful valley a few miles from the church. Cecil Pearson was leader and everyone felt that we came nearer to Nature's God.

The following honorary members of the Society attended Quarterly Meeting at Scotts Mills: Mrs. A. Bates, Mrs. R. J. Stroud, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cammack, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Pearson.

Cecil and Gerald Pearson attended the C. E. Rally held at Scotts Mills Sunday afternoon, August 18.

Marjorie Alexander led the meeting on August 4.

GREENLEAF

(Too late for last issue)

On July 7 the neighboring Society of Fargo held a C. E. Rally and invited all the Societies within a radius of twelve miles to attend. Several from Greenleaf attended and took part.

Mrs. Preston Mills led the July Consecration Meeting, and at the close of the Endeavor hour about fifteen gathered for special prayer.

The Prayer Meeting Committee meet a half hour for prayer before each Sunday evening prayer meeting. Every one is cordially invited to these meetings.

The C. E. Societies of Boise Valley Quarterly Meeting expect to hold their second annual convention at Greenleaf in the early part of September.

Our Endeavor is not as large just at the present time on account of so many leaving during the summer season.

STAR

The Christian Endeavorers motored to the home of our pastor, Ezra Pearson, near Greenleaf, Friday evening, July 26, where a very pleasant time was spent in the form of a lawn social. Dainty refreshments were served.

Agnes Larson, our President, is spending a two weeks vacation visiting friends and relatives at Pocatello and American Falls.

Our pastor and Ernest Taylor, pastor at Boise, exchanged pulpits Sunday morning July 14.

Wilbur and Ruth Elmore Watts, who left here two years ago and have since resided in Kansas, have returned to Star. They will make this their future home.

Walter Mershon, who for several years has been assistant cashier in the bank with his uncle J. E. Roberts, has, on account of failing health, had to give up his work. He and his wife Dora and little son have recently gone to Colorado.

Dillon Mills, our Quarterly Meeting superintendent from Greenleaf, visited our Endeavor Sunday evening, August 4.

Subscription list for Star is under way, and will be sent in to A Friendly Endeavor as soon as completed.

BOISE

We have in our C. E. Society a "Whatsoever Committee" whose duties are signified by the name. This committee is composed of boys, and they are doing splendid work.

Some of our members living in the country often walk four miles to the different church services. Most of them are young ladies.

Cleole Harris, of Greenleaf, has a position in the Golden Rule Store of this place, and Ivona Brown, of Sunnyslope, is attending Link's Business College. Their help in the services is much appreciated.

Homer Tucker has enlisted as a passenger auto driver and has gone to Jacksonville, Florida.

Our Service Committee meets one day each week for sewing. We have just packed our first box of 100 pounds containing 16 quilts and 43 articles of wearing apparel.

Several months ago our pastor preached a sermon on Gideon's Band to the young people, and as a result of this the "Volunteer's Band" was organized with the aim to try and secure at least one new attendant at one or all of the church services each month and to try and win one convert to Christ each month. The Band meets every Sunday evening one-half hour before the Christian Endeavor to pray for those we are working for, and to talk over the work. The first Sunday of each month a written report is handed in by each member; these are read at the meeting. We have fifteen members and they are doing splendid work.

Nine new members were taken into the church at the last Monthly Meeting. Five are active and four associate.

"There is joy among the angels over one sinner that repenteth." We are glad to report one seeker at the altar during the past month who prayed through to victory.

Our attendance at the Christian Endeavor Prayer Meetings has been splendid all summer, and our meetings are unusually interesting. This is due to an unusually capable, consecrated president, backed up by a wide-awake consecrated bunch of Endeavorers.

Josephine Hockett and husband, from Salem, will begin an evangelistic campaign in our church in the very near future, probably the 25th of this month.

Our Christian Endeavorers recently united with the Sunday School in a picnic supper on the Boise River.

Several of our young people are planning to attend the Quarterly Meeting at Star the 24th and 25th of this month.

Our pastor has just gotten out a Church Directory, giving a list of the officers of the Church, Christian Endeavor, Sunday School, Service Committee and Volunteer Band, and members of the Church, Church Queries, and other interesting items.

Announcement had been made that Paul Furnas would speak at South Salem Church a certain evening. The pastor on giving a personal invitation to a friend stated that a man by the name of "Heater" would speak! Har! Har! That's a hot one!

PISCATORIAL JOYS!

On the end of a plank on Old Ocean Lake's bank,

Chester Hadley sat fishing one day. He sighed as he fished, for he often had wished

For a fish like they catch in the bay. But Pennington said, with a nod of his head,

"Cheer up, Chet; there's no time to be blue.

"Tho' you've not caught him yet, he will bite, just you bet;

For there's some fish a-waiting for you!"

Chorus—
Somewhere some fish is waiting for you, you, you!

Somewhere some fish is waiting your bait to chew.

Some day you'll catch a bass or maybe two;

Somewhere some fish is waiting for you, you, you!

"BREEZES" ENJOYED AT THE CONFERENCE

Don't be a crab, or we'll put you in the salad!

Dear ones: Bacon is 40c—treat ONE slice with dignity!

If it SHOULD rain—SMILE!—(It did and we did).

School Ma'am: "Who is the champion fisherman of the Northwest?"
Children (in chorus): "Vernon Bush!"

First piece of pie, no charge; second piece, 20c; third piece, $1.50; fourth piece, $25.00. Lesta Cook, timekeeper.

WILL PAY good price for guaranteed hair-restorer. (N. B.—Not that I want it myself, but I would like to help my brother!) Homer L. Cox.

Castiron Transfer Company: Heavy-weight Pennington, president; Spindlearm George, vice-president, secretary, treasurer; Floyd Perisho and Chettie Hadley, minor stockholders. Stoves moved on short notice, rain or shine.

FOR SALE OR TRADE: A real nice mustache, not very large, but flourishing and shows prospects of being visible to the naked eye soon. Owner hates to part with same, but for the sake of hufomanity will do so. Address, Fred George.

Roll of Honor: Sprained ankle, J. Sanger Fox; crushed skull, Mary Pennington; mangled thumb, Homer Cox; tired brain, Floyd Perisho; chawed by skeeters, Helen Mendhall; fifty cents gone! gone!! gone!!! George McClure; hurt feelin's, Levi.

GOOD is the man who subscribes for A Friendly Endeavor when implored to do it. BETTER is the man who subscribes for A. E. F. when he hears the first hint that he should do so. BLESSED is the man who walks up to the Editor, thrusts 50c into his hand and shouts, "Give me A Friendly Endeavor for a year, or give me—back my fifty cents." (P. S.—Man, of course, always embraces woman.)

CONFERENCE ALPHABET

"A" is for Appy, so sad and morose; he dotes and he dotes on lots of fine clo'se. He brushes his toofies four times a day. No wonder he's handsome, all of us say.

"B" is for Belle, with blacking and brush, who composes the posters that make us all blush. She sketches ideas so quick and so true, it makes us all wish we were geniuses, too!

"C" is for Cassius of Shakesperean fame, who is not to blame for his horrible name. He isn't a villain, that's positively clear, for he has the frank eyes of an innocent dear!

"C"s for our cooks, with their good things to eat; our mealtime is always a wonderful treat. We like all your pancakes, puddings and hash; just how have you done it without any cash?

"C"s also for Chester, who's on the dead run; he comes when you call him, and sure makes things hum. For his help freely given and his smile that's so bright, here's nine Rahs for Chester; he's surely all right!

"F" is for Fox, our great financier, with his clothing of palm-beach and mustache so dear. We like your white clothing; it does us no harm. But we wonder, J. Sanger, how do you keep warm?

"G" is for Gertrude, whose last name is Cook. Look at her face, and you'll want one more look. Sweet disposition and voice like a bird, would that her voice might be oftener heard!

"G" is "Doc" George, of "Let George do it" fame. He's ready for any old kind of a game. Moving the stove or washing the dishes, setting up tents or catching the fishes.

"H" is for Homer from Portland, you know. Though not a Greek writer, he isn't so slow. His father's a preacher of wonderful fame, and we have decided that he is the same.

"H" is for Homer who was such a flirt that his heart went "kathump" at the sight of a skirt. But now he is married, and all of that's past; he's settled down to home life at last.

"H" is for Lestia (Harold's, you know) who captured our flirt a short time ago. We give you our wish for a long, happy life, with no disagreement, quarrel or strife.

"J" is James Otis, colonial hero, almost as famous as old Uncle Nero. We cannot play those colonial games, we've no James Otis, but here's Otis James.

"L" is for Levi, which he says means "Stick to it"; who fishes each morn as he knows how to do it. "But where are the fishes?" we all of us cry. "Are there any more hotcakes?" his ready reply.

"L" is also for Lewis I. Hadley, you know; the mysteries of prophecy gladly he'll show. Most of his relatives he thinks upon gladly, but his daughter-in-law's sister has turned out quite Badley.

"M" is for Myrtle, both happy and gay. She comes from a meeting that's far, far away; an old P. C. student, Endeavorer, too. Miss Myrtle Thomas, "How do you do?"

"T" is for Tamplin, who enjoys a stroll with Doris along where the deep sea doth roll. That's all right, Carroll; keep up the good work; if she comes to P. C., we won't call you a shark.

"T" for Lurana M. Terrell from Lents; earnest in spirit, sincere and intense. For a preacher, of money she must have a hoard, and she spends it—for haven't you seen her new Ford?

"W" for our waiters, so nifty and neat; they surely are swift on their four little feet. They'll give you your coffee and fill up your plate, and do it so quick that you don't have to wait.

(Part of Newberg C. E. "stunt" on the beach.)

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

The Executive Committee of the Y. M. C. E. ask as a special favor that those who made pledges at Yearly Meeting to the Young People's work and have not yet paid them, do so at the earliest possible opportunity; there is a very urgent need for funds right now. The Secretary reports seven $5 pledges unpaid, nine $2.50 pledges, and ten $1.00. If you would like us to print the names for your convenience, we shall be glad to comply!

Always did believe there was no valid reason why attendance should fall off in summer months. Boise shows her faith by her works.

Rosedale remembers its "boys." Do you?

NEWBERG! HERE'S TO YOU!

While there was a gentle insinuation in last month's Friendly Endeavor that possibly the live-wires had given Newberg a wide berth, no one, of course, least of all ye editor, took the insinuation seriously. It was, indeed, just A Friendly Endeavor to get Newberg to send in her news. We feel that a public explanation of the reason for the scarcity of news from not only Newberg, but some other points as well is due them. Our system of distribution is going to get better, we hope, month by month—it could hardly have been worse, as it turned out, than it was at first, and Newberg struck a couple of unfortunate coincidences that prevented the papers reaching their live-wires in time to make connections, hence the omission. In this regard just one thing will make us happy, and that is that every society, every month, sees to it that everything of interest to them be sent in by their reporter, written plainly on one side of the paper, to reach ye editor not later than the 25th of each month. Let's make it. If there existed any doubt as to Newberg's "live-ness," it was surely dissipated at the Conference, as we sat and enjoyed their amazingly clever "stunts" on the beach. With genuine pleasure we retaliate, "Newberg! Here's to you!"

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

We are not real sure that we are satisfied with our name, "A Friendly Endeavor"; are you? It was all right perhaps for the beginnings of things, when we really were making a friendly endeavor to fill in and find out what we ought to do and whether we were welcome, and just what we were expected to do, but now that the Conference has unanimously endorsed us, and said we must continue, and with the task facing us of seeking admission to the mails we are wondering whether we could not do better. If you have any convictions about it, write us. If you have any suggestions, send them in, and the one who sends in the best and winning name will get due recognition through the public columns of the press (Ahem!) and have the satisfaction of seeing their chosen one admitted to Uncle Samuel's mails. Answers must be in by September 25.

MAILING PROBLEMS

Although we have had a number of names turned in to us as subscribers, we have not sent any individual subscriptions by mail until this month. Now we have the dual task of mailing the individual subscriptions separately, and counting out samples enough for the Endeavorers and others in each point who have not yet been energetic enough to send in their sub. The Board of Publications has advised ye editor that after the October issue this wholesale distribution of free samples will have to cease, and we will then go by the mailing list. It will considerably simplify matters if everyone who reads this—RIGHT NOW—will turn their subscription in to the proper authorities. It's only 50c; that's about a penny a week!

The following Societies failed to send in "Society Notes" this month: Newberg Q. M.—Rex, Middleton, Sherwood, Chehalem Centre. Portland Q. M.—First Church. (Is there a Society at Quilcene?) Salem Q. M.—Highland, Scotts Mills. Boise Valley Q. M.—Valley Mound. Are there any others?

Strikes us that the "music" of Ernest Taylor's "Volunteer Band" must be great when they get "keyed up" on the first Sunday of each month. We're going over to Idaho to take lessons!

Say, Boise, tell us just what that "Whatsoever" Committee does, won't you. We're all interested.

Send us a copy of your Church Directory, won't you, Boise? Pretty please!

We're looking forward to that "complete" list from Star.

Springbrook believes "Cleanliness is next to Godliness."

Wonder if that Newberg menu was a balanced ration?

CONFERENCE AN ANNUAL AFFAIR

to which a suitable reply was made. A letter was sent to Hazel Keeler, the Secretary, regretting her absence and expressing sympathy with her in the recent death of her mother. The waitresses, Mildred Hadley and Thelma Eiler; the servers, Lesta Cook and Belle Badley; the housekeeper, Mrs. Lewis I. Hadley; and the cook, Mrs. J. A. Dunbar, were suitably mentioned. (A pleasant incident of the Conference was the presentation to Mrs. Hadley of a pretty and serviceable chafing dish as a token of appreciation). Mrs. S. E. Gardner, of Portland, the owner of some of the lots and tents was thanked, as were also Clarence and Lowell Edwards for free electric light, and the Tillamook Bay Land Company for the camp site and the water. The speakers were thanked for their services, special mention being made of Lewis I. Hadley and Levi T. Pennington, while the "piece de resistance" was an expression of thanks for the work of Chester Hadley, which (if we manage to smuggle it past the censor) is reproduced herewith:

"A task that taxes the committee's knowledge of dictionary adjectives is the framing of an adequate resolution of thanks for the faithful, untiring, effective, cheerful, efficient, prompt and versatile management of Superintendent Chester A. Hadley. The choice of the grounds, its location close to the ocean, the thoughtful arrangements made for our recreation and amusement, the variety of subjects presented in the Conference lectures embracing almost every conceivable mental and spiritual need of the Young Friends, his ability to dovetail lectures at a moment's notice through some temporary dislocation of the printed program, and his constant advocacy of the Quiet Hour and other spiritual aids, have combined to make this Conference truly successful in the highest and best sense, while his untiring physical energy in rain or shine has put others to shame, and his entire personality, we believe, through the blessing of God, has been at the service of the Conference throughout not only the actual time of session, but long beforehand and we suspicion for some days to follow. May God bless him richly as he returns to his pastoral labors, and reward his congregation for sharing him with us for so long."

her, she promptly DOUBLED it and then set out and reached THAT goal! Surely in the Master's work, and for the sake of a more efficient and united Young People, we will not go at the work any less heartily than for any secular cause, however good. In securing subscriptions from those not active Endeavorers, do not overlook the fact that the absent members, and particularly the "boys" should have the paper sent to them free. Many who would not subscribe for themselves will gladly do so for others.

Let's make this a "paper chase" and remember that the ground must be covered and the trail run by October 13; that is the final wind-up day. Who will be first?
