Happy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Varce, recorded on film the graduation reception line greetings received by son Phil from GFC Athletic Director Lorin Miller. Varce, a basketball guard under Miller, was one of 77 receiving degrees in 1973 ceremonies.

Tom Skinner Addresses 1973 Graduating Class

"If we are going to make a difference in the world, some of us are going to have to get together and produce a live model of what the world ought to be; some of us are going to have to get together and be the alternative."

Those were the words of 1973 George Fox commencement speaker Tom Skinner to 77 graduating seniors and an audience of 1,200.

Skinner, called by Time magazine one of the most influential evangelists of America today, said there needs to be a change in value systems and a new community.

The black former gang leader said the community should be one of people willing to lay down their lives for each other and a community of witnessing. It should be based on commitment, communion and a unity in purpose—a community of Christ, he said.

Skinner, author of Black and Free and Words of Revolution, said the new community is needed because "It's a sickness of our times that people don't know what's happening."

"I challenge you that the only alternative to this messed up world is the kingdom that Jesus is building," Skinner said.

Urging a new community of examples to others Skinner told the graduates: "God help you if you leave here simply with a sheepskin that gives you the right to enter the system to make a living. And God help you if your objective is just to make a living; God help you if your alternative is to be a success according to the American standard of what is a success."

Baccalaureate speaker was William Wagner, superintendent of Indiana Yearly Meeting of Friends. Wagner, whose daughter Jan and son-in-law Walt Kliever were members of the graduating class, spoke on "The Pathway to Enlargement."

Awarded during commencement ceremonies was the college's 12th honorary doctorate in 82 years. Honored was Dr. John C. Brougher, a Vancouver, Wash., physician who established the Vancouver Clinic in 1939 and since that time has delivered more than 10,000 babies.

Dr. Brougher has been a member of the George Fox Board of Trustees since 1946, has been a financial supporter of the college and has had a campus building named in his honor. He is a member of 15 medical and surgical associations, is the president emeritus of the Ft. Vancouver Historical Society and this year received a special service award from the Greater Vancouver Chamber of Commerce for his contributions to the community.

Also honored during commencement was Dr. Cecilia Cutts Martin, named professor emerita in English.

Dr. Martin joined the George Fox faculty in 1954 and taught until the fall term of the last school year. She came to George Fox following 24 years of previous teaching in higher education and was chairman of the GFC Language Arts Division for 11 years. The faculty emerita status was just the third awarded by the college.

Honorary doctorate recipient Dr. John Brougher; author-evangelist Tom Skinner, the main speaker; and GFC President David Le Shana go over commencement program plans.

Students Fund Missionary Project

They're Baptists, Friends, members of the Assembly of God and Evangelical Church of North America and they come from five states. They all have something in common however.

They—ten of them—are George Fox College student summer missionaries spreading the Gospel to five nations in North and South America. They have something else in common, too—they are backed by their fellow students.

Summer Experiences Lead to College Credit

What do La Paz, Bolivia; Whittier, California; and Twin Rocks, Oregon, have in common?

Despite their geographic diversity, they all serve as a base for George Fox College's 1973 summer school program.

Those cities, along with about 20 others, are the locations of GFC students who are receiving college credit for their summer work and responsibilities.

The college campus itself remains quiet. There is no formal summer session with students sitting in classrooms. Instead, students are around the country and even out of the nation receiving direct, applied learning experiences in practical situations under supervision.

Still others are doing independent study and research on their own under different course titles. Generally these are research projects primarily involving reading with a written report at the end.

Students select and propose their own courses instead of relying on a catalog of offerings. They check with the division chairman in their major field, receive guidance and application forms, then approval and assignment of a teacher-supervisor.

About 25 students are participating in the stepped-up college summer program, according to Registrar Harvey Campbell. The college this year will give some 175 hours in credit to students who have signed up for credit blocks ranging from one to 15 hours.

Credit this summer is being given for such endeavors as camp counseling, senior internships, swimming pool management, investigation into the life of the Apostle Paul, missions work, day camp supervision, and in a wide range of fields.

New Development Post Created; Huffman Named as Associate

Expansion of the development staff at George Fox College takes place in July with the creation of the new position of associate director of development.

Named to fill the post is Bruce Huffman, formerly director of annual and corporate support at the University of Redlands in California. Huffman, 48, was director of public relations at Linfield College in McMinnville for six years between 1963-69 before moving to his Redlands' position.

Huffman, a graduate of the University of Michigan, previously served as manager of the Northwest Packaging Division of the Mead Corporation in Portland and has been an account executive for CBS television, KNXT, Los Angeles.

At the University of Redlands, Huffman has assisted in planning a series of fund-raising events and has coordinated the school's Fellows program, a support group for the university.

In the new position at George Fox, Huffman will be responsible for the annual or general fund program of the college, including business and corporation relations.

Director of Development Maurice Chandler will now spend more time in long-range giving—annuities, wills and trusts. Chandler said Huffman "will bring expertise to the college in business and corporate relations that will enable us to serve this expanding group of interested supporters."

periodically to campus on their activity and progress.

Students volunteered for their assignments in spite of the fact they will not be paid for their work and will face normal tuition and room and board charges for school again next fall.

Arrangements for the project were made through Chaplain Ron Crece-lius' office with students choosing their own locations.

Singing Group Tours 5 States For George Fox

A six-member George Fox singing group is on a five-state, six-week tour for the college.

The summer touring group, "Beloved," is singing before churches, youth and adult conferences and civic groups in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, California and Montana.

Organized this spring, the group of two coeds and four men provides arrangements of traditional music, contemporary gospel-folk and spirituals with guitar and piano accompaniment.

Last summer a similar group toured 11,000 miles on a summer schedule as official representatives of George Fox. The Beloved will sing in six Oregon cities, ten cities in California, six in Idaho, five in Washington and two in Montana.

Members of the group are Shelley Bates, a St. Helens sophomore; Irene Jaques, a Portland sophomore; Charles Friesen, a Lake Oswego junior; Randy Thornburg, a Booker, Texas, junior; Tim Hathaway, a Big Timber, Mont., junior and Roger House, a Eugene sophomore and the group's pianist.

Singing for the college this summer is "Beloved," Randy Thornburg and Chuck Friesen, back, and in front Roger House, and Irene Jaques, Tim Hathaway and Shelley Bates.

Faculty Members Receive Honors, Recognition

GFC PROFESSOR NAMED OUTSTANDING EDUCATOR

GFC Athletic Director Lorin Miller has been chosen as an "Outstanding Educator of America."

Three times in three years Miller has coached the George Fox basketball team to an NAIA District II playoff berth. In March the Bruins won the district championship and a trip to the NAIA national tournament in Kansas City.

An assistant professor in the college's physical education department, Miller joined the George Fox faculty in 1970.

"Outstanding Educators of America" is an annual awards program honoring college personnel for exceptional service, achievements and leadership. Selection guidelines include an educator's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service

Four Continents on Summer Tour List

Archaeology and cultural anthropology studies on four continents are underway for participants in George Fox College's summer tour to eight major cities of the world.

The tour is led by GFC Professor Paul Mills, director of the college's international studies program. Participants are visiting Lima, Peru; Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Johannesburg, South Africa; Nairobi, Kenya; Tel Aviv, Israel; Athens, Greece; Rome, Italy; and London, England.

In addition to the major city tours, the group will spend much of their six weeks with missions and missionaries in various countries. In Africa a 1963 alumnus, Dr. Stephen Wilhite, a medical missionary from Newberg, will lead a camping safari.

College credit can be earned for the tour, with field study in courses in missions, Bible archaeology, and the Holy Land in History and Prophecy.

In Israel some of the time will be spent in Arab sections and some in Jewish sectors. In Israel, Greece and Rome participants will trace biblical references.

and professional recognition. Miller is the tenth GFC faculty member chosen in the last four years.

GFC MUSIC PROFESSOR PICKED AS PORTLAND SOLOIST

Joseph E. Gilmore, assistant professor of music, was a featured soloist in the Portland Symphonic Choir spring presentation of Rosini's Stabat Mater.

Gilmore, a tenor, made his third appearance with the choir, which is directed by Frank Holman. Twice before Gilmore, assistant professor of music since 1970, was selected as a soloist in performance of The Messiah.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT HEADS COMMITTEE

George Fox College President David Le Shana has become the first Quaker ever to head a committee of the National Association of Evangelicals.

Le Shana was elected at the NAE's 31st national convention attended by 1,500 persons in Portland. He will be chairman of the NAE Committee on Higher Education.

Le Shana, a Friends minister in California before coming to the college in 1967 as vice-president, has been a member of the NAE for a number of years. The college also is a member of the organization.

SHERRILL IS FACULTY LECTURER

Associate professor of English Dr. Samuel Sherrill delivered the 17th annual faculty lecture. His topic was "Literary Echoes of the Eighteenth Century Hymn Writers."

The slide-illustrated lecture described the songwriters of the 18th century who through the evangelical movement supplied songs of hope and encouragement to the laboring classes.

Sherrill joined the GFC faculty in 1966 and presently teaches courses in freshmen composition and various English and American literature courses. He was chosen as the 1973 lecturer by a vote of the college's faculty.

PROFESSOR RECEIVES DOCTORATE WITH HONORS

Ronald Worden, assistant professor of Bible, received a doctorate from Princeton Theological Seminary May 30.

Worden, a 1960 George Fox graduate and a member of the faculty for the last three years, received his Ph.D. cum laude or with honors.

His doctoral thesis technically titled "A Philological Analysis of Luke 6:20b-49 and Parallels" concerns the Sermon on the Mount.

Sharon Vickers, a brown-haired, green-eyed junior from Hood River, Ore., reigned over 1973 May Day activities.

Miss Vickers, a psychology major, officially received her crown in coronation ceremonies on campus lawns near Wood-Mar Hall. May Day ceremonies have been held annually for 68 years.

Activities included a picnic lunch, an open house, an outdoor concert, a formal dinner and a track meet.

Seven Renamed to Board of Trustees

Seven persons have been renominated to positions on the George Fox College Board of Trustees.

An eighth person has been nominated to begin his first term on the 42-member board.

Selected by the board itself for new three-year terms are M. Lowell Edwards, a resident of both Santa Ana, Calif., and Clackamas, Ore.; Walter Dyke, president of Field Emissions Corp., McMinnville; Sam Farmer, national sales manager for Custom Food Products, Inc., Chicago; Bill Field, Jr., schedule coordinator, Carnation Co., Portland; Donald McNichols, professor of English, Seattle Pacific College, and J. Arnold Owen, sales representative, Recorder - Sunset Press, Berkeley, Calif.

Renominated as a trustee by the college's alumni association was Homer Hester, a Newberg dentist and a member of the class of 1930.

New to the board representing alumni will be Roger Minthorne, a 1947 graduate and a Lake Oswego resident who is a manufacturer's representative.

Approval of those selected by the board and alumni association must be made by Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church in its August conference sessions in Newberg.

STANLEY AWARDED GRANT

James Stanley, assistant professor of mathematics, has been awarded a grant from the U.S. Office of Education that will allow him to attend the Summer Institute for College Teachers of Mathematics at the University of Montana in Missoula.

The program is designed to supplement the training of teachers of mathematics in developing colleges. The eight-week institute runs from June 18 to August 10.

Stanley has been a GFC faculty member since 1968, teaching courses in algebra, calculus, geometry and probability and statistics.

ROBERTS WRITES BOOK

Dr. Arthur O. Roberts is coeditor of a new book Early Quaker Writings: 1650-1700 published in June by Erdmans Publishing Co. The book culminates an idea first conceived by Dr. Roberts in 1955.

Coauthor is Hugh S. Barbour, professor of religion at Earlham College. The two have assembled a 600-page volume with a representative selection of Quaker writings between 1650 and 1700.

The various selections are prefaced by editorial introductions that place each piece in its historical and theological context. A general introduction provides the history, experience and setting of the Friends movement.

Dr. Roberts, a 1944 GFC graduate, has been a college faculty member since 1953 and for four years was dean of faculty before resigning last spring to take his current position as the Delbert Replogle Memorial Professor.

Alumni Board Leaders Selected

Three new members have been elected to the George Fox College Alumni Board of Directors.

Chosen through balloting of alumni nationwide to serve three-year terms are Rod Vickers, juvenile director of Hood River County, Ore., and a 1963 graduate; Verne Martin, a 1950 graduate, head of the mathematics department and a seventh grade teacher at Twality Junior High in Tigard, Ore., and Yvonne Carr, a Newberg resident and elementary school teacher in Sherwood, Ore.

Vickers for the last six months has filled an unexpired term on the board. His election is to his first full term. New board members were selected from a seven-member slate of candidates. There are six carry-over board members.

New officers for the 3,000 member alumni association will be selected this fall.

Sharing thoughts at GFC's annual Alumni Banquet were Steve Gulley, a junior, and his grandfather Emmett Gulley, a 1917 graduate and a GFC president from 1941 thru 1947.

Pictures!

Got any pictures of your college days? We hope so, for they are good reminders to bring back fond memories.

The college itself also has some pictures, but we would like some more. Our collection is growing and the pictures and negatives available are being cataloged.

Assistance has come from Dr. John Brougher, a Vancouver, Wash., physician and board member who has donated a large metal filing cabinet to the college to be used as a central storage unit for all historical pictures.

Pictures will be available for use in college publications, alumni purposes and for alumni to view as they wish. If you have pictures or negatives that you no longer wish to store and maintain, the college will be glad to accept that responsibility. Your contributions, especially of early day college pictures, are solicited and may be sent to the alumni office.

Four Share Alumnus of year Honors

GFC's "Alumnus of the Year" award for 1973 is shared by The Four Flats quartet—(from left) Dick Cadd, Ron Crecelius, Norval Hadley and Harlow Ankeny.

Four Newberg men share the 1973 George Fox College Alumnus of the Year Award presented Alumni Weekend on campus.

It's the first time the 82-year-old college has made the award to more than one person.

Recipients are members of The Four Flats quartet: Harlow Ankeny, Dick Cadd, Ronald Crecelius and Norval Hadley.

The quartet was organized at George Fox in 1946, later becoming one of the most famous music groups ever produced in Oregon.

Changing their name to the World Vision Quartet in 1956 the group sang to millions around the world.

At a reunion concert in November in Newberg the quartet drew 2,300 persons, the largest indoor crowd ever in the city. They raised more than $1,500—all given to the college's scholarship fund.

The quartet twice won the championship in the annual Forest Grove Barbershop Quartet Festival and sang together as The Four Flats until 1952. They turned down offers for a full-time entertainment career, choosing to put their talents into church work. The quartet is probably most remembered for its singing on the weekly Sunday morning World Vision broadcast on ABC radio.

Ankeny, baritone in the quartet, since 1962 has been general manager of Barclay Press, a printing and publishing arm of the Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church.

Bass Dick Cadd since 1962 has been a missionary in the Philippines, teaching at Faith Academy in Manila and doing radio and television work. This year he lived in Newberg while on furlough.

Second tenor Ronald Crecelius since 1967 has been chaplain at George Fox.

First tenor Norval Hadley since 1971 has been superintendent of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church with 7,000 members in Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

All four men are George Fox graduates. Each married his college sweetheart and each wife graduated from George Fox the same year as her husband, with the same degree.

The quartet, presented the Alumnus of the Year Award by Alumni Director Gene Hockett, was cited for "dedication to God, your lives of Christian service, your loyalty and faithful ambassador work for your alma mater."

Wunder, Halland, Nelson Earn Bruin MVP Awards

Bob Wunder, whose last second heroics earned the George Fox Bruins their first-ever national tournament appearance in basketball, has been named the Bruin's Most Valuable Player.

Wunder, a Seattle junior, hit a five-foot jump shot inside the key with seven seconds left to send the Bruins to Kansas City as champions of NAIA District II. He received the honors pick at the annual college All-Sports Banquet in which top athletes in basketball, baseball, track and cross country were recognized.

Wunder, a forward, led the Bruins in rebounding, totaling 278 for a 7.4 per game average. He was the second leading scorer with a 13.7 average a game and 424 points total, just two points behind Sammy Ibarra, George Fox's second leading scorer against NAIA competition.

Ibarra, an honors student from El Paso, Texas, totaled 1,112 points in three years, one of the reasons he was chosen, along with senior forward Craig Taylor, as honorary team captain.

Taylor, from Caldwell, Idaho, averaged 8.7 points a game for the season and pulled down an average of 5.7 rebounds a game.

Senior Eddie Fields, Sunnyside, Wash., was selected as the team's Most Inspirational Player for the second year in a row. Fields led the Bruins in assists, also for the second consecutive year, totaling 125 to place him among the tops in the Northwest. Fields, a forward, also received the "Mr. Hustle" award for always seeming to be in the right place at the right time.

The Most Improved Award went to sophomore Del Dittus, Quincy, Wash. Dittus, a forward, saw minimal playing time but did impress his teammates when he was in to earn their recognition.

Selected as the winner of the "Mr. Defense" award was San Diego, Calif., senior guard Ken Greenman, the man coach Lorin Miller called on to do the job on the opposition's hot shooters.

The Most Valuable Player award in baseball went to Seattle Pacific transfer Larry Nelson, a Portland senior. Nelson led the Bruins in hitting with a .425 batting average. He also led the team in put-outs, playing both first base and in the pitcher position.

Most Inspirational selection went to Clackamas Community College transfer Brad Smith, Oregon City. Smith, a sophomore, hit at a .307 pace for GFC in NAIA competition.

Senior Mark Halland was named the Most Valuable for track. Halland, from Billings, Montana, holds two GFC school records and shares two others.

Halland set the GFC triple jump record of 48-5 last year and set the high jump mark earlier this spring with a leap of 6-4½.

The Most Inspirational nod went to another Montana athlete, Rod

Trackman Curt Ankeny Named NAIA District 2 Athlete of Year

He's small in size but he's a heavyweight in athletic circles.

That's GFC's Curt Ankeny, voted Athlete of the Year in all sports in NAIA District II.

GFC's Curt Ankeny ran his way to the NAIA District II "Athlete of the Year" title winning over participants in all collegiate sports.

Got Any Extra Seeds or Cones?

Got any Jacaranda seed pods? How about pepper berries, Yakima weeds or Eastern Sycamore balls?

Those are among the varied items the George Fox College Women's Auxiliary needs to help with next fall's projects for the annual Christmas Bazaar.

Proceeds from the bazaar sale, which amount up to $1,000 annually, support a variety of projects on campus. Plans are now underway to make cone wreaths and votive candle rings. Two members of the auxiliary are attending a class to gain new dimensions on cone work, but they need the raw materials.

To purchase the materials would be expensive and defeat the purpose of the project, according to Mrs.

Hector Munn, bazaar chairman. Hoping that many LIFE! readers might have the necessary materials, the auxiliary has issued a list of needed items. However, any pod or cone can be used, Mrs. Munn says.

Those picked green add another color, but they are best dried in a dark place for awhile, according to Mrs. Munn. Items picked or cut should, if possible, have a short stem left. Auxiliary members will start working on the projects in September.

Sample materials needed, but not necessarily limited to these, are Eucalyptus, Jacaranda, Yucca blossom, Milkwood, Monkey and Oriental poppy seed pods; Pinion, sugar pine, Cypress and Tamarac cones; acorns (with or without caps); wood roses, Eastern Sycamore balls; Chestnuts with spiny covering on; pepper berries cut in sprays, Monkey Tree branches cut green; Yakima weed and Alpine moss.

Rob Wunder

Larry Nelson

Mark Halland

Brown, a freshman from Columbus. He competes in the shot, discus and hammer throw events.

Honorary team captain was given to Randy Winston, a senior from Battle Ground, Wash. Winston currently is coholder of two school records. He helped break both the 440 and mile relay marks and was district champion in the triple jump this spring with a 46-8½ leap.

Awards, presented at a dinner in Tigard, were given out by Bruin basketball coach Lorin Miller, baseball coach Bob Brown, track coach Rich Allen, and cross country coach Gayle Buckley.

Conferences Keep Campus in Action

George Fox this summer will be host to four conferences. Attendance is expected to range from 50 to 1,000.

From July 23 to July 30 the campus will be the site of the World Missionary Assistance Plan (World MAP) summer conference. Up to 1,000 are anticipated for some sessions of the 13-year-old association formed to assist and serve missionaries not affiliated or represented by a denomination or organization.

In August there will be three conferences. The Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends will hold its annual sessions on campus from August 13 to August 19. Up to 1,000 are expected to attend from Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

Oregon Women's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) delegates will meet on campus for their annual conference August 21-23 with about 75 expected, and about 50 are expected for a Pacific Northwest Lay Witness Rally August 24-26.

GFC Blood Donors Set Regional Mark

Participation termed "amazingly high" has earned George Fox College an award for having the highest percentage of blood donors of any college in Western Oregon and Southwest Washington.

The college received the award from the Pacific Northwest Red Cross Blood Program. In three visits of a bloodmobile on the campus during the school year 35.44 percent of all students donated blood.

Missionaries Sent

Students, their destination and the organization through which they are working are Denny Conant, Greenleaf, Idaho, sophomore, to Bolivia with Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends; Ken Lillie, Spokane, Wash., sophomore, to Colombia with South American Mission; Kathy Kienitz, Big Timber, Mont., sophomore, to Ecuador with Oriental Missionary Society; Dan Whitney, Yakima, Wash., junior, to Ecuador with Oriental Missionary Society; Debbie Norman, Wapato, Wash., freshman, to Canada with North American Indian Mission.

Others are Peggy Wilson, Quincy, Wash., freshman, to Canada with North American Indian Mission; Steve Rosen, Newberg senior, to Canada with North American Indian Mission; Connie Tingle, Madras, Ore., junior, to Canada with North American Indian Mission; JoAnn Briley, Thousand Oaks, Calif., sophomore, to California, Oregon and Washington with Pioneer Girls Camps, and Jim Stanhope, Corvallis, Ore., freshman, with the "Tears of Joy" music group on a West Coast tour.

Newberg Leaders Recognized with Service Awards

Newberg's superintendent of schools, city attorney, and city council president were awarded the city's "Community Service Award" presented by George Fox College commencement weekend.

The presentation ceremonies revived a program of community recognition formerly carried out by the Newberg Area Chamber of Commerce but not conducted for the last several years.

Honored were Supt. of Schools Loran A. Douglas, City Attorney George H. Layman and City Council President Chester N. Windsor.

Douglas is completing his 17th year as superintendent of schools and is a former president of the Oregon Association of School Administrators. Windsor, owner of a freight hauling firm, has been a council member for 16 years. Layman has been associate professor of business law at GFC on a part-time basis since 1963, is a former four-term mayor of Newberg, a former State Representative, and currently is chairman of the Oregon State Board of Higher Education.

More than 225 persons attended the 14th annual $50-a-plate Commencement Dinner at which the awards were presented by President David Le Shana and Newberg Mayor Jack Nulsen.
