George Fox
College

Dan LaVeine is on his way to becoming the highest scorer ever in United States college soccer history.

LaVeine enters his final college year averaging 29.0 goals a season. He needs just 22 goals to set the all-time college scoring record at 109. LaVeine recorded 34 goals as a freshman, 23 as a sophomore, and 30 as a junior.

The unofficial all-time scoring record of 108 is credited to former U.S. Team scoring leader Brent Goulet. Amazingly, Goulet played his college soccer in the same district (1983-86), for George Fox rival Warner Pacific College.

LaVeine honed up for his United States play with a summer of soccer in Europe. He spent 3 months in 1989 training with the BSC Young Boys developmental team in Bern, Switzerland. The BSC Young Boys are a member of the National "A" league — the premier professional league in the country. "I learned a lot," says LaVeine. "The players around you make you learn; you perform better."

LaVeine is indeed recognized for his better play. NAIA District 2 named LaVeine its Player of the Year in 1989. He was named to the All-District team for the third consecutive year.

Honors are not new to the 21-year-old. LaVeine's been a National Christian College Athletic Association All-American for three straight years, the Most Valuable Offensive Player in 1987 and again in 1988 as his George Fox team won the national NCCAA championship. The National Soccer Coaches Association of America named LaVeine to the All-Area (Far West) team in 1987. ■

A WINNER ON AND OFF THE FIELD

Dan LaVeine is more than a soccer player. He's a two-way performer gifted in the classroom as well as on the playing field. Consider:

- 3.70 average as a business/economics major
- NAIA National Scholar Athlete
- NAIA District Scholar Athlete
- NCCAA Academic All-American
- National Dean's List (1987-90)
- Intensified Studies program for high-ranking students (1988-90)
- Benson Scholar — George Fox College's highest academic scholarship honor (1987-90)
- Academic tutor for George Fox athletes needing assistance (1988-90)

QUOTES FROM COACHES

"Dan LaVeine exhibits all the characteristics of a star athlete: raw talent, intelligence, hard work, ability to bring his team to new heights, coachability, durability, and on. However, the one tangible characteristic which puts Dan above the others as a striker is his innate ability to score goals at every level. He is a natural goal scorer which is a rare gift in soccer at all levels."

TIM TSOHANTARIDIS
George Fox College

"The first time I met Dan was during a summer evening pick-up game. We played 4v4 with 3 foot goals. Dan kept shooting from way out. Volleys, first time shots, shots off the dribble, any angle, any distance — everything went in. The few misses were by inches. It was eerie! Dan easily doubled the output of the other seven players combined. And he did it matter-of-factly. He simply seemed to say: "When you're on offense you should score." In 25 years as a player, coach, and soccer fan, I had never seen anybody redefine the essence of the game more impressively!"

MANFRED TSCHAN
George Fox College

"Any time I coached a team playing against a side that had Dan LaVeine, I always had to put a marker on him. Dan is a very good opportunist. He's been known to score goals in bunches and always needs to be watched."

JIMMY CONWAY
Oregon State University

"Dan LaVeine is a steel belted radial who has been restricted to go-carts, but he is world class Indy 500 all the way. Seattle Pacific's loss was George Fox's gain."

CLIFF McCRATH
Seattle Pacific University

"I have seen too much of Dan LaVeine. I hope somebody signs him before the 1990 season....No, seriously: he's got the size, speed, and aggressiveness, and he's got a head for the game."

ART HORWOOD
Northwest Nazarene College

"I have watched and coached against Dan LaVeine for six years now. He has always demonstrated consistently excellent first touch and tight control. He tends to glide past opponents and finishes his opportunities with calm precision. The unknown factor, of course, is can he do this at a higher level than he is and has been playing. As a young man, he is polite and unassuming. I would recommend that he is worth a look because of the smooth technical ability he possesses."

BERNIE FAGAN
Warner Pacific College
