GEORGE FOX COLLEGE • NEWBERG, OREGON 97132

Dear Alumni:

Something exciting is coming! Set aside Nov. 11 on your calendar. That's the date for a full evening of music as the world-famous Four Flats--all alumni of George Fox College--get together again in a formal concert performance.

This long-awaited program is being jointly sponsored by the Newberg Kiwanis and Optimist Clubs for benefit of the George Fox scholarship program.

Members of the Four Flats (also known for several years as the World Vision Quartet as they traveled world-wide) are all now living in Newberg. They are contributing their time--including many hours of practice--and talent for this College-benefit program.

Enclosed is a flyer with full information. In case you are curious, the Four Flats (left to right) in the 1947 picture are Dick Cadd, a missionary to the Philippines now on furlough in Newberg; Ron Crecelius, GFC chaplain; Norval Hadley, general-superintendent of the Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church, and Harlow Ankeny, general manager of Barclay Press. Harlow and Ron have switched places in the latest photo.

Come if you can. You will enjoy a great performance in addition to helping support the scholarship fund. If you cannot come you can still make this evening a success by contributing to the scholarship program, a practical way to say "thank you" to the Four Flats for their contribution.

In addition to the Four Flats Concert, Nov. 11 is also special in other ways. It is Future Freshman Day on campus and we expect many parents, high school advisors and prospective students to be in attendance at the concert as guests of the College.

An additional feature is the formal presentation of paintings of GFC presidents commissioned by a friend of the College. The paintings are of Dr. Levi Pennington, Emmett Gulley and Dr. David Le Shana. A reception will be held in Shambaugh Library at 3:30 p.m. in honor of these men at the time the paintings are presented.

Remember Nov. 11 on your calendar. These are the highlights:

1. Future Freshman Day (bring a student).
2. Reception in Shambaugh Library at 3:30 p.m. for paintings presentation.
3. Dinner in the Cap and Gown Room at 5 p.m.
4. FOUR FLATS BENEFIT CONCERT at Newberg High School at 8 p.m.
