Outlook

We Shall Overcome

The battle-tested Bruins hope the success of a character-testing 1998 season carries over.

For all sorts of reasons, the 1998 season would have to go down as the most successful in George Fox University women's soccer history.

"We went through a lot of adversity last year, personal and emotional as well as physical," recalls head coach Byron Shenk. "We lost our top scorer before the first game for personal reasons. Another player lost two relatives just days apart during the season, and we had to overcome several injuries. I'd have to say we exceeded expectations."

Indeed! The Bruins posted their best record ever at 15-4-2, finished second in the tough Northwest Conference, and lost to Seattle University 3-0 in the first round of their first-ever appearance in the NAIA National Playoffs.

Now, in their first year of NCAA Division III-only status, the Bruins will try to emulate that success without five starters who contributed to that superb season: four-year starters Sarah Bowder, Beth Kahut, April Sterhan and Kyla Yokers, and goalkeeper Meghan Gibson. Gibson ranked seventh in the NAIA in goals-allowed-per-game.

Highlighting the list of returning starters are a pair of NAIA Honorable Mention All-Americans, forward Karli Holub (So., Pleasant Hill, Ore.) and defender Beth Liljenberg (So., Portland, Ore.). Holub led the NWC in scoring, while Liljenberg, the smallest, scrappiest player on the squad, played every minute of every game.

Midfielder Noelle Miller (So., Lake Oswego, Ore.) was injured through the first seven games, but returned in time to help the team win nine of its last ten games. Defender Erin Oates (Jr., Grover Beach, Calif.) left the starting lineup after losing her father and grandfather during the season, but the players rallied around her and she is expected to again be a major contributor.

Midfielder Ashleigh Hughes (Jr., Portland, Ore.) and versatile Megan Diefenbaugh (Sr., Eugene, Ore.), who has played every position but goalkeeper, have started since they were freshmen and bring quality leadership to the lineup. Diefenbaugh suffered shin splints during the summer, leaving her early availability in question. Another who can play several roles, Jen Overstreet (Sr., Beaverton, Ore.), gained valuable experience last year as a spot starter.

Other players from last year who could become key figures as the year progresses include defenders Kelly McCabe (Jr., Camas, Wash.) and Valerie Cole (Sr., Eugene, Ore.). Returning midfielder/ defender Shanna Clinton (So., Orlando, Fla.) and defender Annie Walsh (So., Portland, Ore.) are also available.

Forward Kayla McKinstry (Sr., Canby, Ore.), who missed the last year and a half for health reasons, has returned to the team for another try. Midfielder Tori Taylor (Fr., Portland, Ore.), a Second Team All-State selection in high school, ran cross country for the Bruins last year but has decided to play soccer this fall.

Shenk can also choose from several other newcomers: midfielders Rachel Denning (Fr., Boring, Ore.), Sienna Hester (Fr., Rescue, Calif.), and Becky Long (Fr., Enumclaw, Wash.); forwards Anna Carlson (Fr., Beaverton, Ore.) and Mindy Venable (Fr., Newberg, Ore.); and defenders Samara Thornburg (Fr., Tigard, Ore.), Donna Garton (Fr., Hillsboro, Ore.), Amber Wickstrom (Fr., Libby, Mont.) and Erin Simon (Fr., Eugene, Ore.). Cori Wulf (Fr., Salem, Ore.) will be the probable starter at goalkeeper, and Simon can also play in the net.

Regarding this year's conference race, Shenk says, "Willamette, with five straight years as NWC champions, absolutely has to be considered the front-runner. Puget Sound, Pacific Lutheran, Whitman, and Whitworth all were close and return many players. Top to bottom, we might be the toughest D-III league in the nation. Hopefully, the momentum of our success of last season will carry over into another good year."

A Record-Setting Season

Never has there been a season like 1998 for the George Fox University women's soccer program. As coach Byron Shenk put it after the final game, "We had a great season. It was a unique season in that we came through some real difficulties and injuries to key players and yet the team worked and played together well. It was a wonderful year. It sets the stage for great soccer to come."

The year began inauspiciously as the Bruins won their first three, including their Northwest Conference opener at Seattle, then lost three straight conference matches. But after falling at home to Whitworth on Sept. 19, it would be almost two months before the team would taste defeat again.

The Bruins reeled off seven straight victories, setting a new school record for consecutive wins and moving into the NAIA Top 20 rankings. Back-to-back ties with nationally-ranked Seattle and Willamette followed before the team ended the regular season with five more wins in a row, giving the Bruins a record 14 straight games without a defeat. The Bruins' 11-3-2 conference record earned them second place behind an undefeated Willamette team that advanced to the NCAA playoffs.

George Fox, which had participated in four NAIA playoffs before but had never advanced to a regional, received an at-large bid to the Pacific Northwest Regional this time, where the 10th-ranked Bruins saw their streaks and their season come to an end in a 3-0 loss to 19th-ranked Seattle. The No. 10 ranking was the highest ever for the Bruins, and the 15-4-2 record set a new school record.

All these achievements were accomplished despite the loss for a time in mid-season of talented midfielder Noelle Miller to injury, and the emotional stress suffered by defender Erin Oates. Oates lost both her father and grandfather in the space of two weeks and dropped out of the starting lineup as a result.

Shenk was honored as "NWC Coach of the Year" by his peers, and as "NAIA West Region Coach of the Year" by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America and Adidas.

Forward Karli Holub and defender Beth Liljenberg, both freshmen, became the first George Fox NAIA All-Americans when they received honorable mention, while forward Kyla Yokers and midfielder/defender Megan Diefenbaugh were named NAIA All-American Scholar-Athletes. Holub, Liljenberg, and midfielder Sarah Bowder were NSCAA All-Northwest Region First Team selections; forward Jen Overstreet made Second Team. Holub, Liljenberg, and Bowder were All-Northwest Conference First Team members and defender April Sterhan was Second Team.

In addition to the team records set, Holub led the conference in goals scored with a GFU-record 15, and her seven assists enabled her to set a new team record for points in a season (37). Goalkeeper Meghan Gibson ranked fourth nationally in goals allowed per game (0.62), and set new records for shutouts in a season (9) and a career (16) in only two years.

Coach of the Year Returns

Byron Shenk

The only head coach the George Fox women's soccer program has ever known begins his ninth season as the Bruins' mentor after leading the team to a record-breaking season in 1998.

Under Shenk's tutelage, the '98 Bruins set a school record for wins during a 15-4-2 season that included a streak of 14 games without a loss and a second-place finish in the Northwest Conference. The team advanced to the NAIA West Regionals for the first time and ended the year with a No.10 ranking in the final NAIA poll.

For those achievements, Shenk was voted "Coach of the Year" by his conference peers, and received "NAIA West Region Coach of the Year" honors as chosen by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America and Adidas.

Shenk initiated the school program in 1991 with a squad made up almost exclusively of freshmen, but the team won its first game and advanced to the NAIA District 2 semifinals. The next year, George Fox was ranked in the NAIA's Top 20 poll after upsetting No. 1-ranked and defending national champion Pacific Lutheran University. The 1992 and 1993 teams advanced to the NAIA District 2 title game, while the 1994 team outscored its opponents 58-17 and ranked in the NAIA top 20 in both offense and defense.

Coaching honors have come to Shenk with the team's successes. In 1992, he shared the National Soccer Coaches Association of America "Coach of the Year" award for the West Region. He was named NAIA District 2 "Coach of the Year" in 1992 and 1993.

Shenk's players are well cared for, as he is also a certified athletic trainer and strength and conditioning specialist. He earned a doctorate in education in sports medicine from the University of Virginia and a master's in physical education from the University of Oregon. He currently serves as chair of George Fox's Department of Health and Human Performance.

Shenk has plenty of coaching experience, coaching men's soccer for 18 years at Eastern Mennonite College in Virginia and three years at Goshen College in Indiana before coming to Oregon. Shenk and his wife, Ina, live in McMinnville.

Tim Tsohantaris

Tim, a Greek-born U.S. citizen who brings both professional soccer experience and a ministerial background to his work at George Fox, enters his second year as the women's soccer assistant coach.

Tsohantaris, who played and coached soccer at Barrington College in Rhode Island, played with three East Coast professional soccer clubs and the U.S. select team.

In his 11-year experience at George Fox, Tsohantaris has worn plenty of hats. On the soccer side, he came to the men's team as an assistant in 1985, was named head coach the next season, and in 1989 shared the co-coach title. While he was head coach, the Bruins made three National Christian College Athletic Association National Tournament appearances and won the 1988 national title. His four-year record was 50-23-4.

An ordained minister of the Greek Evangelical Church,

Tsohantaris left George Fox in 1990 to serve the largest GEC congregation in America in Massachusetts for three years. When he returned to Fox he was the men's soccer assistant coach for four seasons.

In the academic field, he is an assistant professor of religion at GFU, with a bachelor's degree from Barrington and a master's from Ashland Theological Seminary. From 1986 to 1990 he served as George Fox's chaplain.

Todd Williams

Former George Fox star goalkeeper Todd Williams begins his second season as goalkeeper coach for both the men's and women's soccer programs.

During his four-year career as a Bruin from 1990 to 1993, he posted a career goals-against average of 1.69, the fourth-best average on the all-time list at George Fox. Williams is a 1990 graduate of Churchill High School in Eugene. He earned a bachelor's degree in biology from George Fox in 1994, and now works in outside sales for PML Microbiologicals in Wilsonville in addition to his coaching duties. He currently lives in Tigard and is preparing for graduate school.

George Fox University Bruin Athletics

Intercollegiate athletics are an important part of George Fox University, home to one of the Northwest's most successful small-college sports programs. Winning programs, however, are accompanied by a proper balance between academics and athletics: George Fox teams are members of the Northwest Conference and compete in Division III of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, in which need and academic ability, not athleticism, determine scholarships and financial aid.

At George Fox University, intercollegiate athletic competition provides a practical application of what is learned in classrooms and practices. Student-athletes compete for conference and national titles at a Christ-centered university where professors and coaches help them grow in mind, body and spirit. The values of athletics are integrated with the goals of Christian higher education in a process that includes

- physical conditioning
- managing emotions
- courage
- teamwork
- cooperation
- being gracious in winning and losing

More than 15 percent of George Fox's traditional undergraduate students participate in the school's 13 varsity sports, seven for women and six for men. Their records over the years serve as shining testimonies to the administration's conviction that an institution can play for the glory of God, follow the rules and ethics of its governing organizations, and be successful on the fields and courts of competition.

Consider that:

- George Fox has earned district or conference titles in nine sports during the 1990s.
- George Fox athletes have earned more than 250 All-American and All American Scholar-Athlete honors.
- Nine of the 11 coaches on staff have been named district or conference "Coach of the Year" at least once.
- George Fox coaches have held their positions for an average of nearly eight years, and together have accumulated more than 1,000 collegiate wins.

The 1999 George Fox University Women's Soccer Guide was produced by the Office of Sports Information in the Department of University Relations, Barry Hubbell, director.
