NEW LOOK

The Owls are beginning their second year in their new home. Located north of Klamath Falls the new Oregon Tech campus is composed of eight buildings all in contemporary architecture. The campus has a commanding view of the Cascade mountains and Upper Klamath Lake.

The athletic department also took on a new look at the close of last year. Several major changes were made on the athletic staff.

Coach Howard Morris, a three-year assistant at the school, took over the reigns of the pigskin sport. Morris is a 1958 graduate of Linfield College. Prior to coming to Oregon Tech Morris was head football and wrestling coach at Tigard High School. He is also intramural director and head wrestling coach.

Veteran basketball and baseball coach Jim Partlow became the new athletic director at the school. He is also chairman of the physical education and athletic department.

Two new coaches were hired to boost the Tech staff. Dale Bates, a 1957 graduate of Southern Oregon, was hired to assist with basketball and football. Bates was a successful coach at Eagle Point High School for four seasons before he joined the Owls.

Lee Schroder, a 1953 graduate of the University of Nevada, was formerly the head grid mentor at Harry Ellis High School in Richmond, California. Schroder is the Owls new backfield coach. He also has a strong background in wrestling and track.

Back again in '65 to help the Owls build a successful team is line coach Larry Burlison. Burlison, a 1961 graduate of Linfield College is also the Owl head track coach. This is his fourth season with the Owls.

COLLEGE HISTORY AND LOCATION

The early Quaker settlers of historic Willamette Valley were conscious that the democratic structure of their church required a well-educated membership. They made provision, therefore, for the education of their children even before the public schools offered many advantages in this part of Oregon.

Pacific Academy was organized in 1885. Herbert Hoover, the thirty-first president of the United States, was a student of this early institution. He has said, "As a young student there for three years, I received whatever set I may have toward good purposes in life."

Pacific College was organized in 1891 to provide work more advanced than that which the Academy offered. Pacific Academy was discontinued in 1930, and the educational efforts of the Quakers centered about the college, which came to play an increasing role among the colleges and universities of the West.

Because of confusion resulting from a large number of institutions along the Pacific coast embodying the name "Pacific," the school was in 1949 renamed George Fox College, honoring one of the great leaders in the English Protestant reformation and the founder of the Friends Church.
