Dear ones -

My Father graduated from Stanford University 1895 - He was in the same class as Herbert Hoover - Hoover was not too popular according to my dad - but with great persuasion he <sup>(my Father)</sup> was able to get Hoover into the S.A.E. Fraternity -

They went to Australia together -

These stories were compiled in the 1930's -

My father always had insomnia he would get up in the night and write -

you both have so much to read but you might glance at

"Hoover + His Camel"

"The Way To War Eagle"

"Pioneering The Salween"
(very good - I think)

"Quintrell The Guerrilla"
(very good - also I think)

For Marko -

All of the rattle snake stories

only westerners of 2 or 3 generations can appreciate the qualities that made up a man like my father -

They were tough, industrious, resourceful men -

It was <sup>alone</sup> them, against the miles and hardships of nature -

My father was a man of the outdoors,
the mountains, the
rivers and the animals.
Civilization + cities were not for him -
