4/19 – ALL-CONFERENCE: Bruins' Hunter Earns First Team All-NWC After Going 10-4 at #1 Singles

NEWBERG, Ore. – Making a dramatic impact on his team and the conference in his first year at George Fox University, Tyson Hunter has been named to the 2005 All-Northwest Conference Men's Tennis First Team in voting by the league's coaches at the recently-completed NWC Tennis Tournament in Yakima, Wash.

Hunter, a sophomore from Jacksonville, Ore., transferred to George Fox in the fall after competing last year for the University of Redlands (Calif.), an NCAA Division III national power. Stepping into the Bruin lineup at #1 singles, he fashioned a 10-4 record against the best in the NWC. He also compiled a 5-8 record as part of the #1 doubles team, going 4-6 with Kyle Pearson and 1-2 with Ethan Headley. He is the first George Fox men's tennis player to earn First Team All-Conference honors since Joe Gonzales in 2003.

The Bruins were a young team with no seniors and were only 4-12 overall in 2005, but Hunter provided a solid building block at the top of the order on which head coach Rick Cruz can develop the program.

Other members of the All-NWC First Team are Player of the Year Tim Layman and Jack Fleming of Linfield College, Ricky Butenko and Matt Larimore of conference champion Pacific Lutheran University, Rogers Hawley of the University of Puget Sound, Steven Ly of Whitman College, and Zach Mann of Lewis & Clark College. Brad Changstrom of Whitman was Sportsman of the Year, and Mike Shanks of Whitworth College was Coach of the Year.

4/16 – NWC TOURNAMENT: Bruins Overcome by Bearcats to Finish 8th in NWC Men's Tournament

YAKIMA, Wash. – Finishing the Northwest Conference Men's Tennis Tournament where they began it – as the #8 seed – the George Fox University Bruins went 1-3 in this year's tournament (counting a play-in win over Pacific), including a 4-2 setback to the Willamette University Bearcats in the 7th-place match here Saturday afternoon.

In the first round, the Bruins were blanked 7-0 by the #1-seeded Pacific Lutheran Lutes. Afternoon rains forced the second-round matches indoors at the Yakima Tennis Center, where the teams engaged in "play-to-win" matches, in which the match ends as soon as one team has enough points to secure the match, in order to save time. In the consolation semifinals, the Bruins fell to the #5-seeded Puget Sound Loggers 4-1. Tyson Hunter won for the Bruins at #1 singles, defeating UPS's Trent Neugebauer 6-1, 6-0, while Mac Ovenell and Shawn McKenzie teamed up for a GFU victory at #3 doubles, 8-3 over Sam Ziff and Ryan Hulscher.

In their final match against Willamette, the two teams played only the singles, with the Bruins winning at the top and bottom of the order but not in between. Hunter won for the second time in three tournament singles matches at #1, defeating the Bearcats' Matt McManus 6-2, 6-3, while Chris Fogg overpowered Shaun Mihalik 6-3, 6-1 at #6.

#1-seeded Pacific Lutheran edged #3-seeded Whitman College 4-3 to win the 2005 NWC men's championship. Complete results are available on the web site of this year's host, Lewis & Clark, at <http://www.lclark.edu/dept/sports/confntennis.html>, or on the Northwest Conference web site at <http://www.nwcsports.com/sports/Tennis/NWCTournResults.htm>.

George Fox completed its season with an overall record of 4-12 after going 3-9 in the regular season and finishing 8th in the league.
