NEWBERG COMMUNITY DAY

Today is the first Newberg Community Day. It is the outgrowth of a newly formed joint community-college committee established for the purpose of bringing a closer cooperation between the college and Newberg communities. Visitors and guests are invited to tour the 43-acre campus at their leisure or in special tours conducted by members of the Circle K Club, starting at 4 p.m. An informal reception is planned on the Shambaugh Library plaza starting at 3:30 pm. Refreshments will be served to visitors and guests by the college's women's auxiliary.

GEORGE FOX: PAST, PRESENT, FUTURE

George Fox College is one of the historic institutions of the Far West. Begun as a preparatory school in 1885 in the middle of a wheat field where the Newberg Friends Church now stands, it evolved into a full-fledged four year liberal arts school in 1891.

The older alumni go back to the days when George Fox graduated more persons each year than Oregon State, to state records in track and field in the early 1900s and to the "fabulous five" who took everything in basketball in the 'teens.

The spirit of the "good old Quaker College" is to "never say die." GF is still the mighty midget, constantly striving and perennially taking on schools many times its size.

Two years ago George Fox celebrated its 75th anniversary with a "Diamond Jubilee" celebration attended by more than 80 colleges from throughout the United States. It marked an important time in Christian higher education, as the college celebrated gains in the size of the student body and faculty, new buildings and equipment valued at $3 million, doubling of the endowment, full accreditation and other intangible advances.

Now George Fox is forging ahead in other ways. This year starts a "Century Drive" program in which the college plans to increase its endowment further, and to secure funds for a dramatic new fine arts center. Alumni, friends and neighbors of George Fox are invited to participate in this new phase of the George Fox College future.

ACCREDITATION AND MEMBERSHIP

George Fox College, accredited by the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools, is a member of the National Council of Accrediting, the Association of American Colleges, the Association of Schools of Religious Education, the Friends' Council of Education, and the Association of American Friends' Colleges. It is also approved by state and federal governments for the education of veterans, admission of alien students, and the training of secondary teachers, and elementary teachers in conjunction with the Oregon College of Education.

HEAD COACH JERRY LOUTHAN

The 1968 season is the third year at George Fox for head coach Jerry Louthan, and his second as head coach. Louthan is a graduate of Kansas State College at Pittsburg, Kansas, receiving both a Bachelor of Science and a Master of Science Degree. In four seasons of high school coaching before coming to George Fox, Louthan's teams compiled a 26 win, 12 loss record.

In his first season last year, the Quakers won their first Oregon Collegiate Conference game since joining the league. With a team that includes 21 returning lettermen and two NAIA all-district team members, Louthan predicts the Quakers will be heard from again this year.
