Other items of special interest: Two meetings report a table of literature kept at the church. One meeting sent Sunday School literature to a Sunday School near the coast; obtained from the Bible school classes in the upper grades, high school and college, lists of books they had read and would recommend. These lists proved a valuable record. This meeting also had frequent talks in the Bible School on good literature, one especially good on Quaker literature. Two of the Meetings observed Universal Bible Sunday and one meeting had a display of Bibles in several languages on that day. Most of the meetings have wall racks in which tracts are kept for the public to read. Several meetings report enthusiastic and profitable Bible reading contests. In one meeting one person outside of the Literature Committee distributed 1,400 tracts. In this meeting Bible teachers take books out of the library and circulate in their classes and books are suggested for reading from time to time in the Bible School. Another meeting reports members taking missionary books out of the Public Library and reviewing them in the Christian Endeavor meetings. One Bible School sent Sunday School papers to a neighboring Sunday School. The Yearly Meeting Superintendent called for a conference of the Quarterly Meeting Superintendents and Monthly Meeting Chairmen at Yearly Meeting to talk over the work, make plans for the coming year, give out the blanks and check up on the books in the circulating libraries. Few could be present, but it was felt to be profitable in getting the work started at the beginning of the year and in stimulating activity.

BERTHA M. HAWORTH, Superintendent

Herman H. Macy gave a report of the book, "The Conflict," Grace Hadley, "The Chronicles of the Schonberg-Cotta Family," Frederick B. Baker, "Mother India," and Emmett W. Gulley spoke on Quaker Literature.

31. The meeting adjourned to meet at 9:30 A. M. Fifth Day.

FIFTH DAY 9:30 A. M.

32. The meeting convened according to adjournment, and settled into a period of silent devotion, closing with song and prayer.

33. The minutes of the sessions of the previous day were read and adopted with additions.

34. The committee appointed in Minute 57 of last Yearly Meeting made the following final report:

The Committee to which was referred the changes in the Discipline Concerning Ministers, Elders, Overseers and others makes the following report:

We have given the matter referred to us consideration during the past year. We recommend that in line 6, page 21 of Minute 57 of 1932 the words "on Ministry and Oversight" be inserted following the words, "the said Quarterly Meeting." With this change we are united in recommending that the whole be approved and that the proposed changes as found in Minute 57 of 1932 become a part of our Discipline.

On behalf of the Committee,

CHARLES C. HAWORTH, Chairman

35. The Yearly Meeting Superintendent of Bible Schools, William C. Eichenberger was not present but had sent a written report which was read, a summary of which follows:

REPORT OF DEPARTMENT OF BIBLE SCHOOLS AND RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Practically all the Quarterly Meetings reported that they were having Bible reading contests during the year, which resulted in the reading of much of our sacred Scriptures by the scholars in our Bible Schools. Others report giving special programs on different occasions and having a promotion day, in which scholars are given special recognition as they advance in their studies.

Almost all schools report an active interest in our missionary program which is evidenced by the amount reported given for that purpose. One school has contributed nearly $100.00 the past year toward the support of a native worker on our Bolivian field.

Many calls have been made on the sick and the absentees.

Some schools report having part in community enterprises, and in assisting in repairs and additions to the churches. Some report having baseball teams organized in order to furnish an outlet for the athletic spirit and to keep the young people from being tempted to desecrate the Sabbath.

One school reports having held a poster contest and sponsoring an exhibit at the State Fair.

Some schools report holding special meetings for the children in which quite a few were brought into a saving knowledge of Jesus.

Our objective should be: a corps of thoroughly saved and sanctified teachers and officers in every school, and every scholar won for Christ.

The report of the Teacher Training Department was read.

REPORT OF TEACHER TRAINING DEPARTMENT

Different methods have been used in different meetings as to the preparation of teachers.

The First Church in Portland united with a neighboring church in a Teacher's Training Course, in which four members of the First Church received certificates of credit for Leadership Training.

Edgar Sims gave several series in Bible study of twenty lessons each of which have been a wonderful training for the teachers.

The Circulating libraries that have been in use before this year have not been used as some considered them not sound in doctrine.

Respectfully submitted,

MINNIE H. BECKETT

These reports were accepted by the Yearly Meeting.

Dr. George B. Pratt, of Portland, then gave an encouraging and challenging address on the importance of Sunday School Work, and the lasting results of Bible teaching.

By a rising vote the Yearly Meeting expressed its appreciation of the faithful, cheerful work of the Treasurer. The Clerk was directed to convey this thanks to the Treasurer.

38. The Auditing Committee submitted the following report which was accepted as read:

The Auditing Committee has examined the records and annual report of the Treasurer of Oregon Yearly Meeting for the year ending June 12, 1933, and has found them correct and in very good form.

The committee feels that the Treasurer should be commended for the neat and efficient manner in which he keeps the records.

Respectfully submitted,

Auditing Committee,

CECIL F. HINSHAW, Chairman

39. The Department of Temperance now claimed the attention of the meeting. The Superintendent's report as accepted was as follows:

REPORT OF TEMPERANCE DEPARTMENT

A year ago, the members of the Temperance Department realized we were facing a tremendous crisis. The wet interests of the country launched a stampede of propaganda and of action. The Democratic victory of last November was proclaimed by them to be a mandate for beer and for repeal. Using the slogan "Things could not be worse," the harassed citizens disregarded discretion. Legislators shunted all important and necessary legislation to the siding, giving the wet movement full right of way. In opposition to this program the churches comprising Oregon Yearly Meeting report the following activities.

Eighty-four letters and seven telegrams were sent legislators. Most of the churches stressed the importance of registering and voting in the last election. Three churches passed resolutions directing the legislators to resist all efforts to weaken the dry laws. Newberg Sunday School sent a petition to the city council opposing the sale of beer in Newberg. First Friends, Portland, passed resolutions requesting the City Council not to liberalize the dry ordinances. Speakers from our denomination had a part in the organized opposition before the city council and before the alcoholic committees of the House and Senate at Salem. Several of our members are doing very effective temperance work outside of our organization.

During the year your Superintendent has assisted the Anti-Liquor League in presenting Temperance Dramas in seven communities and has given five temperance talks and fourteen addresses in response to invitations from churches and organizations other than the Society of Friends.

Respectfully,

W. M. HEACOCK, Superintendent

The Quaker Quartet sang "The Prohibition Band Wagon," and Morris Heacock, the Yearly Meeting Superintendent of Temperance addressed the meeting on the present situation of the liquor question.

40. At 11:30 Edward Mott gave the inspirational address.

41. The meeting adjourned to convene at 2:00 P. M.

FIFTH DAY 2:00 P. M.

45. The epistles from Wilmington and Indiana Yearly Meetings were read.

44. The Executive Committee of the Yearly Meeting made the following report, with recommendations:

According to instructions the Executive Committee met in January, and after careful consideration adopted the following United Budget for the year beginning September, 1933, and ending September, 1934:

The following recommendations of the Yearly Meeting Superintendent brought at the meeting held June 13, 1933, were approved by the Executive Committee and were ordered forwarded to the Yearly Meeting:

(1) That all back Yearly Meeting Stock against the Quarterly Meetings, dating back of June, 1932, be forgiven.

(2) That the loans which it has been necessary to negotiate be divided into five equal amounts and one-fifth plus interest be included in the fixed expenses beginning next year.

(3) That a United Budget Financial Secretary be appointed to cooperate with the Yearly Meeting treasurer and with the Boards to stimulate giving and interest in the budget, and that a nomination be made by this committee to the Yearly Meeting.

The Committee recommended:

(1) That the Superintendent's salary be $1200.00 and the traveling expenses not to exceed $150.00 and that these be a part of the fixed expenses.

(2) That Chester A. Hadley be chosen as Yearly Meeting Superintendent.

Submitted by the Executive Committee

OLIVER WEESNER, President

These were adopted by the Yearly Meeting.

45. The work of the Evangelistic and Church Extension Department was presented by the President of the Board, Oliver Weesner. The General Superintendent read his annual report as follows:

ANNUAL REPORT OF YEARLY MEETING SUPERINTENDENT

The action of the Yearly Meeting last year changed the relationship of the Superintendent from that of Evangelistic, Missionary and Christian Endeavor Superintendent to that of "Superintendent of the Yearly Meeting." And while there was no explicit instruction to assume oversight of the other Departments, the change broadened the responsibilities and added much detail to the regular work of the office. Complete adjustment to this new order will take time and will have to be worked out with due consideration of every Department. It is not the desire of the Superintendent to intrude on any Department, but an understanding should be reached as to just what work is to be done by him in connection with the Yearly and Quarterly Meeting Superintendents.

The opening paragraph of last year's report might well be used again to preface this annual report. If 1931-32 was "one of the most trying years in the memory of many of us," then 1932-33 must take its place with its predecessor as another "most trying year."

The rapid panorama of new and startling events—the apparent defeat of high ideals, which the liquor interests have forced upon us, and the general economic upheaval which has caused suffering to untold thousands has been breath taking and has shaken the faith of some.

But again we hear Jesus say, "yet once more I shake not the earth only, but also the heaven: and this word, yet once more, signifieth the removing of those things that are shaken, or of things that are made, that those things which cannot be shaken may remain." And again the reassurance from Paul: "Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and Godly fear."

Face to face with the world's great material and spiritual need, we must be able to speak with assurance and confidence. The unusual conditions call for prayer and spiritual service, but we must not be found wanting in this hour of human need, and the "cup of cold water" given in His name may serve as the opening wedge to further spiritual service. The great commission still stands; accompanied by "Lo, I am with you" and we dare not fail, in this our hour of opportunity.

Personal Activities

The year has been one of busy activities. Immediately following our own Yearly Meeting I attended the services of California Yearly Meeting, serving them as their evangelist. At Payette Lakes Conference and at Twin Rocks Conference, I conducted Study Classes in Home and Foreign Missions. I have visited every Quarterly Meeting at least once in their regular services, and in February Mrs. Hadley and I visited Puget Sound Quarterly Meeting and enjoyed the spiritual fellowship thus afforded.

In November I was privileged to give two addresses to the Yamhill County C. E. Convention held in Newberg, and in March preached three times to the Nampa Valley C. E. Convention held in Melba, Idaho. I have also prepared pictures of the home field which I have shown in many of the meetings presenting at the same time the program of the Yearly Meeting for the coming year.

The number of sermons and addresses given is 111; miles traveled over twenty thousand, ten thousand of this by auto. The actual expense of this extensive travel is only $128.29 to the Yearly Meeting. The courtesy of the railroads in extending annual passes to the Superintendent has materially reduced this item of expense to the Yearly Meeting. They are the Southern Pacific; Union Pacific; Seattle, Portland, Spokane; Great Northern; and Northern Pacific.

Five meetings have changed pastors before the regular pastoral year, and this has necessitated extra correspondence and travel.

The work of the Christian Endeavor Department has been inspiring indeed. Three Summer Conferences are now in operation during the summer months, Tacoma Quarterly Meeting having started a Conference last year at American Lake. Payette Lakes Conference held by the Boise Valley Quarter has grown with rapidity and is a vital factor in the life of the young people of that section. Twin Rocks still offers to Oregon Yearly Meeting a real spiritual and recreational privilege which continues to deepen as the years pass by. Several week end conferences were held by the Christian Endeavor executive staff and the Superintendent and resulted in blessing to the meetings thus served.

My relationship to the other Departments has only been nominal, but their hearty support of the whole program of the Yearly Meeting is evidenced in the aggressive way they have accomplished their work during the past twelve months.

Special mention should be made of the work of the Sunday School, Temperance and Peace Departments. They have been keenly alive to the challenge of their work, and Morris Heacock has rendered valuable service to our own church as well as other organizations. Levi T. Pennington has ably represented the Peace question within the limits of the Y. M. and has responded to many requests to speak in other places. His radio programs alone have reached many that would not have heard otherwise.

The editing of the "Church Window," a page in the "Friendly Endeavor," is a pleasant though exacting task that occurs each month, and we trust it proves a blessing in the homes of our membership.

Besides these regular duties I have held numerous conferences with meetings and pastors and young people wanting special help.

Statistical Report

Our statistical report has been prepared and will appear in the printed minutes.

I sincerely hope that each member will make a study of this report in connection with that of last year. In every department but that of finance we show a substantial gain. Our Sunday morning attendance increased 110; the evening service 107; Prayer meeting 95; Monthly meeting 43; Pastoral calls 1049; series of meetings two; the number of seekers at our altars increased 503. This includes the report of Workers League as in the report of last year.

The next two items show a decrease in number. We paid our evangelists $77.98 less than last year; our pastors $4285.01 less. The erection of the Piedmont church at a cost of $2339.32 helped to raise the cost of building $1173.51. The average paid our pastors this year was $37.34 a month. Yet in the face of this sharp reduction, we show decided increase in every department. And in the matter of seekers at altars, which after all is the most vital, we show a larger number than for a period of years past.

This time of material reduction is fraught with subtle danger. We are apt to curtail our giving, justifying our action by existing circumstances. When Paul would choose an example of generous giving he directs our attention to the churches of Macedonia who in "great trial of affliction, the abundance of their joy, and their deep poverty, abounded unto the riches of their liberality." May Oregon Yearly Meeting meet this example of Scriptural liberality.

Revivals Held

Our report shows 25 series of revivals held during the year; this would indicate that nearly every meeting engaged in special effort for the salvation of souls.

Arrangements were made for Edward F. Harmon and Frederick B. Baker to engage in revival meetings within the limits of Boise and Tacoma Quarterly Meetings. They began at Melba in October and closed their labors at Tacoma meeting in June of this year. The services of these two young men were signally owned of the Lord, and the large increase in our report of seekers at our altars can be traced to their untiring efforts. Besides them, W. E. Cox, Joseph H. Smith, evangelists, and a number of the pastors held meetings and in every instance rich blessings resulted.

Open Doors

Open doors are still being faced by the Yearly Meeting and with careful direction we should be able to report some of them acceptably entered by next year.

Woodland still continues to show promise, and the erection of a new parsonage there served to stimulate interest. Paul and Wilma Mills are still serving them as pastors, and are doing a wonderful work for the people of that community.

William J. Murphy held a meeting at Kamiah, Idaho, assisting Paul Mills who has been conducting regular services there for some time. The result of this meeting was encouraging indeed, and we hope to establish regular work there if satisfactory arrangements can be made.

The Workers League will continue to serve us this summer in our out post work. A second tent has just been secured and will be used at Vancouver, Washington, and we hope at a point just out of Camas, Washington, as well as one or two regular meetings that have asked for it.

The other tent will be used in Boise Quarter under the direction of the Quarterly Meeting Superintendent and Edward F. Harmon.

The meeting at Caldwell under the care of Chas. T. Moore shows promise of development. There are a number of Friends in the city who have indicated their desire for a Monthly Meeting, and in time this may be brought about. At present they are worshipping in a rented store building in the downtown district. Brother and Sister Moore have shown a spirit of sacrifice and devotion to this work that merits our appreciation and prayer.

Pastoral Situation

Several changes were made last September, too late, of course, to be printed in the minutes. This is unfortunate and where possible changes should be made in time to give this information so that the proper name would appear as serving a meeting as pastor.

Edward F. Harmon entered the Evangelistic field and Allison and Inez Rogers took the pastorate at Middleton where they have done excellent work.

Edgar P. Sims completed several years of efficient ministry at Highland and C. Glen Rinard, then serving at Springbrook, took his place as pastor. The vacancy at Springbrook occasioned by this move was filled by Denver B. Headrick.

Chas. T. Moore closed his ministry at Greenleaf and started work in Caldwell, and Fred Harris was called to serve the Greenleaf meeting. On account of ill health, Everett Scotten finished his work at Vancouver and moved to Citrus Heights, California. Chas. A. Beals, who had been teaching in Greenleaf Academy and preaching at Center Point, was called to take the Vancouver Meeting. Evert Tuning has been [serving the Center Point meeting, which is an out post of Greenleaf. Harry Bundy resigned as pastor of the Bethany Meeting in Seattle, and Esther Hendricks, then a student in the Portland Bible School, has done good work there during the year.

As has been already noted, five of the meetings, Rosedale, Entiat, Riverside, North East Tacoma, and Kelso, changed pastorates during the year. On account of the serious illness of his wife, Dillon W. Mills was compelled to resign as pastor at Entiat. Arthur J. and Elizabeth M. Haldy feeling a concern for that meeting, were called to serve them. They resigned from Rosedale, and Milo P. Ross took the work there while doing work in Willamette University. Wendell M. and Marjorie B. Votaw, feeling their work finished at North East Tacoma, resigned to take effect in June.

Lewis C. and Myrtle T. Russell also closed their work at Riverside in June and have taken the work in North East Tacoma. They will be there immediately after Yearly Meeting. Walter and Gladys Cook have accepted a call to serve a community church just out of Caldwell, Idaho.

The pastoral situation in the other meetings has not been reported, but we hope to be able to give a correct statement in the printed minutes as to the names of the pastors serving the various meetings.

Shall we not look forward to a great year of spiritual blessing and victory? Our God is able.

These reports were accepted by the meeting. A. Clark Smith told of the doors open for Christian service in Boise Valley Quarterly Meeting, and of the need of meeting this challenge.

The program of this department was concluded with a selection by the male quartet.

46. The Nominating Committee presented names of persons to serve on the Evangelistic Board for the next three years, and as Superintendents of the various Quarterly Meetings and those to serve on Permanent Board for three years. These were approved by the Yearly Meeting and appear in the directory.

47. The reports of the State of Society from the various Quarterly Meetings were read, a summary of which follows:

SUMMARY OF THE REPORT ON STATE OF SOCIETY

All of the Quarterly Meetings report that meetings for worship and business are regularly held, and that the attendance is good, and in some cases increasing. The ministry is characterized as helpful, sound, faithful, and appreciated by the members.

In a majority of homes family worship is maintained regularly. Every Quarterly Meeting reports one or more series of evangelistic services resulting in much blessing to the meetings.

In almost all meetings there is a spirit of harmony, and the organizations, such as Sunday Schools, Missionary and Christian Endeavor Societies have done good work. One Monthly Meeting conducted a Daily Vacation Bible School, another has been careful to minister to the temporal and spiritual needs of the poor in the community.

The young people who feel the call to special Christian service are given opportunity for the exercise of their gifts, and others also help in jail services, outside Sunday Schools, and such work. Several members have gone to the foreign field during the past year.

48. The meeting adjourned until 9:30 A. M. Sixth Day.

SIXTH DAY 9:30 A. M.

49. The meeting met according to adjournment, and worshiped the Lord, inviting His blessing upon the day's sessions.

50. The minutes of the previous day were read and approved.

51. The following communication was read from the Meeting of Ministry and Oversight:

The Meeting on Ministry and Oversight of Oregon Yearly Meeting in adjourned session Sixth day morning passed the following recommendation and directed it forwarded to the Yearly Meeting:

"Whereas it is necessary to have a reprint of the Discipline, we favor the appointment of a committee to edit the Discipline, omitting such portions of the present edition as have been rescinded or have become inoperative, or are superfluous, and adding such others as have been adopted, and suggesting to the next Yearly Meeting such minor changes as they may deem advisable.

Signed on behalf of the Meeting:

CHARLES C. HAWORTH
MYRTLE T. RUSSELL,
Clerks

The meeting adopted the recommendation and referred the naming of the committee therein required to the Nominating Committee.

52. The meeting listened to the reading of epistles from Western, Kansas, Iowa and California Yearly Meetings.

53. The Yearly Meeting turned to the consideration of the subject of peace. The Yearly Meeting Superintendent of the work of the Service Committee reported the local activities as follows:

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SERVICE COMMITTEE WORK

During the past year the appeal of human physical and spiritual need has touched the hearts of Christian people generally as has not been the case in recent years. Friends of Oregon Yearly Meeting have cooperated in the program of the American Friends Service Committee designed to meet such needs with commendable enthusiasm.

The activities of the past year may be described best under two projects.

1. The credit for starting the first project to be reported belongs to the Monthly Meeting Service Committee of Newberg Monthly Meeting. This committee has undertaken to sponsor a Home Service Project during the present summer. The original idea has grown until it now coordinates the interests of numerous Friends not on the committee, as well as a considerable number of persons who are not Friends, but are interested in the project.

As a result, a twelve weeks summer recreational program is now beginning to operate in Newberg and vicinity and five young Friends are now in Philadelphia attending the Home Service Training Institute in preparation for various forms of service during the latter part of the summer.

2. The second project—During the past winter the American Friends Service Committee made an appropriation of $25.00 for clothing materials that could be purchased to advantage in this part of the United States. This amount was increased by approximately $10.00 contributed by local Friends. With this money sufficient materials were purchased to make up over 300 garments, including girls' and women's dresses, bloomers, baby dresses and diapers. The scraps that remained, while not equaling the scriptural twelve basketfuls, were made up into quilts or sent to the field with the other materials, and thus nothing was wasted.

Although no effort was made to solicit used clothing or bedding because of the acute situations faced by local meetings, yet because of their interest in the work, Friends contributed a quantity of used clothing, also twenty-five pieces of bedding, which all together made up a shipment of approximately 250 pounds to Philadelphia.

May I take this occasion to thank every one who has helped with either of these projects. This thanks is best expressed in the following sentences from a letter by Eleanor Stabler Clark, chairman of the clothing committee of the American Friends Service Committee:

"Thanks so much for the perfectly splendid lot of things. I think it is really quite remarkable what that $25.00 did.

"We are still shipping things to the field; the need seems to be a bottomless pit, but when people are a decade and more away from prosperity they are down to rock bottom. We shall soon stop shipping and pack things away over the summer ready to get to work again in the fall.

"Please tell every worker how much we appreciate this nice lift; this is such a big job—much too big to be handled by one section of the country."

Respectfully submitted,

CHASE L. CONOVER, Superintendent

He read also the general report of the Service Committee, excerpts of which will be found in the appendix. The Superintendent of Peace submitted his report as follows:

REPORT OF PEACE DEPARTMENT

The world was told many times before the Great War that if in time of peace we prepared for war, by some strange magic we should have peace; so many times were we told this that a large share of the world came to believe it. One might suppose that the World War had so thoroughly disabused the mind of man of this error that we should never be deceived again. But the truth about salvation from any evil is that the world must be saved over again with every generation; and we shall not save humanity from the curse of war, even temporarily, unless to each new generation we teach the fallacy of war, from every worthy viewpoint from which war can be examined; unless we show to each new generation that war is wrong logically, physiologically, from the utilitarian standpoint, economically, from the standpoint of the humanitarian, and above all from the standpoint of the Christian.

The past year has been one of alternating hopes and fears on the part of lovers of peace. The situation in the Far East, with the apparent defiance of the whole world on the part of the Japanese, "The Yankees of the Orient," the apparent failure of the League of Nations, the Pact of Paris, and every other combination of nations and agreement to which Japan had subscribed, to prevent Japan from the same sort of aggression in Asia of which the United States and Great Britain and other great powers have been guilty in other parts of the world; the clashes of national interests and the rattling of the sword in various European countries; the attitude of the Nazis in Germany; the threatened failure of the world Disarmament Conference; the militarization by the national government of organization for unemployment relief; and the continued failure of the United States to adhere to the World Court—these and other things have presented very discouraging facts for the lover of peace to contemplate.

On the other hand, the earnest pleas that have gone up from the burdened peoples of the earth to this World Disarmament Conference has apparently given that body a new lease on life; the case for the World Court is by no means hopeless; there is at least the possibility that an adjustment may be effected in the Far East on a far better basis than the wholesale slaughter of millions; and the case for peace offers still the challenge and the opportunity to all who really would come under the blessing of that Beatitude which says, "Blessed are the peace makers, for they shall be called the children of God."

The statistical facts which we have to report are based on returns from only three of our five Quarterly Meetings. One Quarterly Meeting Peace Superintendent lived outside of his Quarterly Meeting and presented no report to the Yearly Meeting Superintendent. One other Quarterly Meeting failed to make a report. The possibilities are that greater activity on the part of the Yearly Meeting Superintendent would have stimulated additional work in these Quarterly Meetings and might have secured reports.

According to the reports presented, there have been five public meetings held in the specific interests of peace.

Nineteen peace sermons and addresses have been given in the Yearly Meeting.

Seven peace contests were held, all in one Quarterly Meeting.

The number of pages of literature distributed amounted to nearly 4,000.

Resolutions were sent to government officials from two of our meetings.

Personal communications were reported to the number of 155, one Quarterly Meeting reporting an unknown number in addition.

Five petitions were sent to government officials, one with 20 signatures, two with 200 signatures, and the other two with no report as to the number of signatures.

Other work reported in the interests of peace and good will, by meetings and individuals, included the following:

Announcements made about vital problems as they arise during the year.

New books on peace added to one church library.

Open discussion of the evils of military training in schools.

Cooperation in promoting attendance at peace meetings under other auspices than Friends.

Arrangements made for three public addresses in three principal cities of the state.

One Christian Endeavor peace service held by the peace committee.

A peace sermon in one meeting arranged for and given by a minister in another meeting.

Brief exercises at the opening of Bible School frequently.

Cooperation in the post card shower for President Roosevelt in the interests of world peace. (One man secured the signatures of about 500 of these post cards.)

The use of peace posters.

The distribution of books among members of the meeting as the beginning of a circulating reading project on the subject of peace, with the intention of making this a continuous project, with book reports as a possibility.

One Quarterly Meeting reports the raising of a budget of $14.44 for this work in the Quarterly Meeting, which, with $2.06 at the beginning of the year, gave that Quarterly Meeting a budget larger than the budget of the Yearly Meeting department. In the disbursements from this fund were included the payment for 10 copies of the "Messenger of Peace," payment for literature, post cards and posters, and a $5.00 contribution to the National Council for Prevention of War.

The Yearly Meeting Superintendent has had less time this year than in some previous years to devote to the cause of peace specifically. Under arrangements made by the Boise Valley Quarterly Meeting peace superintendent, three addresses were given in Idaho, at Caldwell, Nampa, and Boise; and peace addresses have been given before church gatherings of various sorts, colleges and schools, teachers' institutes, service clubs, etc., to the number of about 20, while the subject of peace has been referred to in many other addresses.

Among the suggestions for the work of the coming year made by Quarterly Meeting superintendents, are the following:

Ask the Yearly Meeting to give attention to military training in schools, also in new reforestation camps.

Give to the work of peace a larger place in the program of activities through the year.

Secure a larger cooperation between the Yearly Meeting, the Quarterly Meetings and the Monthly Meetings in the faithful promotion of peace.

Promote study and the reading of books and current literature on the subject of peace.

Acquaint the young and new members with the fundamental reasons for Friends' testimony on the matter of peace and war.

Have a summer peace school for Newberg and vicinity (this was the suggestion of the Newberg Quarterly Meeting superintendent, but it could apply to other centers).

Have the Sunday School fill friendship portfolios for China.

Have more public meetings in the interests of peace, to reach not only our own members, but people outside of the Society of Friends.

Have a group of speakers hold local conferences on peace and good-will in each of the local meetings.

All of these suggestions, in the judgment of the Yearly Meeting superintendent, are very much worth while. If in time of peace we do not prepare for peace, then we have no reason to be surprised nor disappointed when war comes. Eternal vigilance is the price of peace just as definitely as it is the price of liberty or safety or any other thing that is greatly worth while.

In view of the testimony which Friends have held and the attitude which we have always officially taken, however far short of fidelity to it individual members may fall, the Society of Friends should never relinquish its place of leadership in the cause of peace. Available for us are all the arguments open to the economist, the humanitarian, and all the others who support the cause of peace from any angle; and our greatest and most convincing argument is one which some of these at least do not accept, the argument that war is essentially out of harmony with the teachings and the spirit of Jesus Christ.

Let us face the oncoming year determined to make it the most effective year in our service in the cause of peace and of the Prince of Peace in our history as a Yearly Meeting.

Respectfully submitted,

LEVI T. PENNINGTON,
Yearly Meeting Superintendent of Peace

These reports were accepted by the meeting.

Following the reading of his report Levi T. Pennington urged the necessity of continuous, persistent agitation for the establishment of peace principles. A grandson of John Frederick Hansen, well known in Oregon, Edwin Hansen, who served in the Friends Reconstruction work in France, also addressed the meeting on the awfulness of war.

54. Upon the proposal of Levi T. Pennington the following resolution was adopted by the Yearly Meeting:

We would again express our profound conviction that the world must find and allow a way for the settlement of international differences other than recourse to arms. We again appeal to the Senate of the United States to carry out the clear and clearly expressed wish of the people for the adherence of the United States to the World Court. We urge again upon our representatives to the Disarmament Conference the duty of making every effort for the realization of that disarmament on which the hopes of the world are set. We must find the path to peace or we face the destruction of our civilization.

55. At the inspirational hour, Edward Mott again brought the message.

56. The meeting adjourned to meet at 2:00 P. M.

FIFTH DAY 2:00 P. M.

57. The meeting convened at 2:00 P. M. and engaged in a short period of devotion.

58. The report of the Permanent Board was read and accepted:

The Permanent Board of Oregon Yearly Meeting met in regular session Sixth Month, 14th day, 1933.

We appointed Emmor W. Hall Clerk for the next year.

We also nominate Amanda M. Woodward and Tyra Hutchens for members of the Board of Managers of Pacific College.

And we appoint Chris Aebischer to fill the vacancy on this board caused by the death of Thomas Rood.

We are willing that A. Clark Smith be given a few minutes to present the Quaker Benevolent Society.

A. R. MILLS, Clerk

59. The Nominating Committee submitted as a partial report the names of persons to serve on the Foreign Mission Board for three years, and as Superintendents of the various Quarterly Meetings. The appointments were approved and appear in the Directory.

60. The Representatives offered the following nominations and recommendations:

1. We nominate Hervey Hoskins as Treasurer for next year.

2. We recommend that Yearly Meeting Minutes be sold at 25 cents per copy and that 150 copies be printed for free distribution as follows:

Yearly Meeting Officers.....10

Superintendents of Boards.....	11
Other Yearly Meeting Officers.....	15
Colleges and Libraries.....	6
Quarterly Meeting Clerks.....	5
Monthly Meeting Clerks.....	23
Reserve.....	50

Total.....150

3. We recommend the adoption of the proposed change in Query Number 1 as proposed by Portland Quarterly Meeting. (Found in Minute 14).

4. We recommend the granting of the request of the Evangelistic and Church Extension Board and of the Foreign Mission Board that the Yearly Meeting direct the Treasurer of the Yearly Meeting to borrow up to the amount of $1000.00 for the use of those Departments during the year if the need of the work seems to demand it.

C. GLEN RINARD, Chairman
CAROL H. LEE, Secretary

The Yearly Meeting approved the nomination and adopted the recommendations.

61. The work of the Foreign Missions Board was presented at this time.

The male quartet sang "Throw Out the Life-Line."

The Superintendent read the following annual report:

REPORT OF FOREIGN MISSIONS DEPARTMENT

Inasmuch as we have received the annual report of our Bolivian program, I will make but a brief report covering only our activities at home.

The interest in our program is steadily increasing. We are beginning to think in terms of Bolivia when our Missionary program is mentioned. We have passed from the enthusiasm of the beginnings to the steady, constant pull of a worth while enterprise, and Oregon Yearly Meeting is doing her part nobly. We have not been able to reach our financial goal, but the increase in exchange has made it possible to accomplish nearly all that we planned. Our missionaries have generously put into the general fund a large share of the increase on their salaries, and this has helped us to "carry on" in spite of the shortage of money here at home. Too much cannot be said in praise of our missionaries for this unselfish sacrificial giving. May God richly bless them.

Following last Yearly Meeting I had the happy privilege of introducing our missionary elect, Helen Cammack, to the various meetings. Her ministry to the meetings was most gratifying and served to acquaint Oregon Yearly Meeting with her ability and sterling worth. September 8th she left for Bolivia and has proven herself a wonderful asset to our work in the short time that she has been there. Early in April a new missionary, little Velda Rachel Tamplin, arrived, and as a Yearly Meeting we extend to Carroll and Doris Tamplin our congratulations upon the birth of their daughter. Throughout the year I have visited the meetings with the missionary program showing pictures that Helen and Carroll have sent from the field.

Our statistics show the natural shrinkage in the financial department which was to be expected. But our interest has not diminished and we must face the new year with its opportunities with faith and courage.

CHESTER A. HADLEY, Superintendent

This was followed by the annual report from Bolivia:

THIRD ANNUAL REPORT OF THE FIELD SUPERINTENDENT OF THE BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS OF OREGON YEARLY MEETING OF FRIENDS CHURCH OF LA PAZ, BOLIVIA

The sessions of the Annual Conference began on the fourteenth day of the fourth month at eight a. m. and continued until the close of the sixteenth day. The eight a. m. prayer hours were led by the native workers. The classes were directed by the missionaries, with the exception of two—these two being conducted by Mr. A. C. Deckelman of the Tai-Kam Island Leper Colony. We were very grateful for Mr. Deckelman's fine spirit and ministry. Three of the regular preaching services were conducted by good spiritual workers of sister missions.

The reports of the progress of the work in the field were heard on Sunday afternoon. This session proved to be the climax of the conference. The reports from the various stations brought forth expressions of joy and some tears. The high point was reached when the native pastor, Cipriano Mamani, gave in his report on the progress of the Gospel at the Lake (to which we shall refer later in this report.)

Owing to unknown reasons Juan Ayllon was unable to be present during the conference. While we felt his absence tremendously we also felt more humbly our complete dependence upon God, and our reliance upon Him was rewarded with blessing.

The war with Paraguay, in the Gran Chaco, continues to rage. The nation seems stripped of her youth and the streets are filled with the war-blind, armless and legless veterans. Even while I write three of our young men are at the front of the battle—I know not if they may have fallen since the last word I received from them. Another has been evacuated and is at home. Four others are in preparation for the "front." Their hearts are torn! Has not Christ taught them to love their enemies? And though they protest—what can an Indian expect from the superiors? Upon protest they are immediately dispatched to the front line where they must either fight in self-defense or submit themselves to brutal killing. But they write that God has protected them and that they are continuing steadfast.

Owing to these war conditions it has been impossible to carry on the Bible School during the past year; our evangelistic campaigns have been greatly hindered; the Romanists have taken occasion to accuse the missions of being communistic agents, thus throwing us under government suspicion. On one occasion a drunken police official broke into our meeting, and, upon dismissing the congregation, he arrested three of the brethren on the charge of communism. With some difficulty I was able to secure their release.

God has graciously answered our prayers in the supplying of our needs. In our first annual report we spoke of our need of a printing press. It is our pleasure to inform you that we now have a nice little foot-press, the purchase of which was made possible to us by the generous gift of Prof. Robt. E. Neighbor (violin artist). We asked you also to pray with us about better quarters for the mission. God has so wonderfully answered this prayer in giving us ideal rented quarters in a more sanitary part of the city (but still among the Indians) where we are holding services in Spanish as well as in Aymara. Our attendance and consequent ministry have been greatly increased. We asked you to help us pray for missionaries; and you so courageously responded to the need and sent out Helen Cammack. We requested funds for Evangelization and you provided us generously with this need. We thank God for all.

The motorcycle has filled a great need and is truly a member of the missionary force worthy of honorable mention, both in the spread of the Gospel and saving of strength and time.

The unexpected decision of the Ayllons to continue their way to Central America as the Lord may open the way, drove us to our knees. It seems that Tomasa's health has not sufficiently improved to warrant their return to this altitude and they felt that they could not longer ask the Board to support them under these circumstances. We trust that you will continue to pray for them. We do not understand why God has chosen not to return them to us. But He knows. We leave it all with Him. He who has promised to supply all our needs according to His riches will not forget us. Is it possible that He wishes to thrust out some other missionaries now? "Oh," you may say, "But the depression." Yes, we know. Our hearts weep with you and we pray daily for you. But we remember that with God there is no depression. His riches do not depend upon the rising and falling values of the American dollar. At any rate, will you not pray with us about it?

The Grade School has been going forward under the able teaching of Helen Cammack. The present location of the mission gives a larger school room. Even so, the room is full to overflowing. Many have been turned away. While we have not been enabled to continue with the Bible School, Helen has undertaken to make of the Grade School a Junior Bible School. The hope of the mission is that these children may all come to know Jesus as a personal Savior and be prepared for service in the vineyard either as laymembers or full-time workers. This does not mean that the adult Bible School will not be continued. As soon as local and international problems will permit and God may open the way that work shall continue.

During the past year the native believers of Amakari have donated a large piece of land to the mission. A plan was formulated and drawings made for the erection of three buildings on this property—a house for pastor and visiting missionaries; a school room; and a chapel. We are glad to report that the school room has been built and is being used both as school and chapel. All of the work has been donated by the Indians themselves. Windows, benches and pulpit have been donated by individuals and missionaries. It is the desire of the Indians there to start the building of the house for the pastor as soon as the dry season sets in.

Chicharro has had a pastor part time. Kalata has been without a pastor since the coming of Maximo Loza to La Paz. The burden of that great field has fallen upon Cipriano Mamani and his believers in Amakari. They have not been unmindful of the responsibility, and travel through the district continually. Not only have they cared for the already evangelized villages, but have journeyed far to the districts about Copacabana. A large village called Sam-pallatitacachi reports some twenty new believers as a result of these journeys. The city of Concepcion has also been evangelized. Since the Peruvian boundary line runs close about our field on the Lake, Cipriano has also evangelized a great deal in Peru and we have some believers in those sections. This entire Lake district will soon require the undivided attention of a resident missionary.

The work in Sopocachi, of this city, continues under the ministry of Bernardo Paredes.

To Achocalla and outlying districts went Manuel Apasa, Mariano Tangara and Daniel Choque. They found the doors wide open to the gospel in that section. They were well received by the farm owners as well as by the Indians and reported 23 new believers there.

From Tiahuanacu (ancient Aymara city) came Calixto Casas to the Conference weeping because of the idolatry and superstitions of his people there, and saying, "Oh Lord, how long shall my people continue so?"

More than thirty journeys of evangelization have been made during the year, the majority of these being made by the believers themselves. The journey made with Cleto Zambrana and Prof. R. E. Neighbor (reported in the Friendly Endeavor under the title "Indians and Fiddles") merits honorable mention here, being a journey fraught with grave dangers, blessed greatly with souls and privileged to open up absolutely virgin territory to the gospel on the ancient sites of Inca and Aymara human sacrifice centers.

Cipriano Mamani struck the keynote of the Annual Conference when he terminated his report with an ardent appeal to the native church to stir itself to greater activity. He said, in part, "The Adventists have gone all over this republic with their error, and without salvation for the people. It is now time that the Friends, with their doctrine of salvation, should go throughout the 'Altiplano,' down into the Yungas and throughout this republic. How long shall we not go?" When the superintendent followed up this appeal with a brief exhortation to the youth of the church to go into the needy fields, six young Indians, one young cholo and one young woman came forward to the altar to consecrate themselves to the service of the Lord in the spread of the gospel among their own people, making the preaching of the gospel their principal business and working at their trades to support themselves in the work. How our hearts go out to them! May God truly thrust them forth. And may He give us wisdom to know how to direct and use this consecrated native material. The missionary is but an aid and a guide; the real work of evangelization must be done by the native.

About one month ago I made a trip of visitation to the Lake. Don Juan Ayllon accompanied me. It was during the height of the rainy season. The roads were in poor condition. Romanism constructs poor roads for the weary traveler, both in the material and spiritual sense. Wheat and barley fields were nearing the point of harvest. A heavy rainfall with hail would mean the probable loss of the fruit of weary labor. As the dark storm-clouds gathered and threatened, at our right we saw Indians building little fires of incense on heaps of stone, thus sending up an offering of a sweet smell to the God of Storms, in a vain effort to ward off the tempest which, unseeing and uncaring, soon fell mercilessly upon them, smothering with its fury the very figure of pleading and intercession. In Amakari, at midnight, we were awakened from our slumber by terrific crashes of thunder. The storm was upon us. Between the crashes of the threatening fury that would ruin the crops we could hear the piteous yet frantic pleading of voices saying "Pasa, pasa; Achachila, Pasa! Pasa, pasa; Achachila, Pasa!" (Pass over, pass over; O grandfather, pass over!) Achachila is supposed to be the father of the race, born through the marital union of the Spirit of Mt. Illimani with the Spirit of Lake Titicaca. And so, in the hour of dire need and danger these Aymaras cried, not to St. Peter, nor to St. James, nor to St. Mary, nor to Christ, nor to God—they turned not to Romanism—but back over the centuries of time they called again upon their old tribal God, Achachila, to pass over them with his desolation, poverty and death. And, as I lay there on a sheepskin-covered dirt platform and listened to that unforgettable wail, it seemed to me that I heard the cry of the whole Aymara race! Their soul goes out in anguish to their old gods to avenge their sufferings, their slavery, their blood. As filth, poverty, sickness, drunkenness and death gather over them in dark clouds and crashing fury they turn not to Romanism, but, in sheer desperation, they turn to the gods of their fathers and cry out "pass over, pass over," knowing not yet that Jesus Christ is their "pass-over." Let us hasten the message that they may not continue to sprinkle their houses with the blood of bulls and sheep, but, rather, that they may sprinkle the doorposts of their hearts with the blood of the "lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world."

Out of deep, heart sympathy for you, fellow-laborers, in this your night of trial, depression and poverty, as a missionary body we feel that we must not present any needs beyond your present sacrifice. This only we would ask of you—if, during the coming year, you cannot give of your gold and silver then let this be a challenge to you to give of your time to earnest, intercessory prayer for God's blessing on you there throughout the Yearly Meeting, and on us here for the extension of the Gospel in Bolivia. Let prayer hours, prayer closets and prayer groups be multiplied amongst you, and we fear not but that the work of the mission shall not only be cared for, but it shall be greatly blessed with increase and with souls.

Your colaborers in Bolivia,

CAROL TAMPLIN, Field Superintendent

DORIS M. TAMPLIN, Secy.-Treas.

Notes

1. As in last year, so also this year's report cannot be given exactly, due to the varying rates of exchange. An average rate of exchange has been used which is 7.25 per dollar.

2. The surplus which appears in the Rent Fund is due to the high rate of exchange, but since the dollar is now declining in value that will be needed to supply the deficit in the future.

3. The surplus which occurs in the Special Offerings and Native Worker funds is due to the fact that some of these were received near the close of the year and will soon be put into use. We are glad to have these surpluses with which to begin the new year without delays.

4. Due to delays in mail and the recent "bank holiday" the last remittance was received too late to be incorporated in this report. Hence, the report on salaries includes only 11 months Tamplin salary and 11 months rent, five months of Cammack salary. Since Ayllon's remittances have been sent direct to them they are not here incorporated.

5. Beginning with the month of July the missionaries took a minimum fixed rate of exchange (at 3.50 per dollar), but by November living had gone up so that we were forced to fix our minimum at a rate of 4.50. Most of the time this rate was less than 50% of the rates received on the drafts. All above the fixed rates were put into a "general fund" used for such as follows: gasoline, mission furniture, motorcycle tires and repairs, aid in purchase of printing press, expense of moving mission, expense of interior changes on chapel in new location, arranging of garage, and many other smaller items.

6. Calculating at a rate of 7.25 per dollar (an average) $690.83 were thus received into the General Fund, over a period of nine months. Of this amount $336.18 was spent, which leaves a balance of $354.65.

7. This increase has not been incorporated into the body of the financial report, and we only report it here so as to enable you to see what the funds sent to the field have accomplished.

8. This "fixed rate" has amounted to over a 50% "cut" in our living, though we have not suffered any lack. The lowering rate on the dollar owing to the policy of the present U. S. government will affect us somewhat; and especially if the prices on living should not go down accordingly. We are not yet able to make any fixed statement in this regard because the dollar has not settled down to any stability in the markets.

DORIS M. TAMPLIN

The Yearly Meeting expressed by a rising vote its appreciation of this excellent report of the sacrificial labor of the missionaries in Bolivia, Carroll G. and Doris M. Tamplin and Helen Cammack and instructed the Clerk to send greetings from the Yearly Meeting to them by cable.

An exercise was presented by the children, setting forth the spiritual need of the Bolivians in a very impressive way. The missionary hour was concluded with an earnest prayer for our missionaries and the people among whom they labor, offered by Merrill M. Coffin.

62. The meeting adjourned until 9:30 A. M. Seventh Day.

SEVENTH DAY 9:30 A. M.

63. The meeting met according to adjournment and engaged in a few minutes of silent devotion. Charles C. Haworth offered prayer.

64. The minutes of the previous day were read and approved as corrected.

65. The lists of ministers of Oregon Yearly Meeting, of ministers recorded during the past year, transferred to other Yearly Meetings and received from other Yearly Meetings, and of Monthly Meeting correspondents, with addresses were read and will be found in the Directory.

66. The meeting turned its attention to the Department of Education. The Superintendent's report follows:

REPORT OF EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Your Superintendent of the Department of Education has attempted during the past year to get before the people of the church

1. The importance of an education

2. The importance of a Christian Education.

Although as usual it has been impossible for the Superintendent of the Department to work directly through the local meetings we have had very hearty and prompt cooperation with the Quarterly Meeting superintendents. They have secured speakers and sponsored programs and done what they could to get information before the people. Young people have been urged to attend our own church schools and in some cases students have been given assistance making it possible for them to attend a Friends' school.

In Newberg Quarter the Literature and Education Committees combined and provided a speaker for one session of the Quarterly Meeting. The Educational Department had charge of one Sunday morning service at Newberg local meeting.

Portland quarter gave one session to this department. At this meeting each Monthly Meeting chairman was expected to provide some part of the program. Aside from this program an able address on the subject of Christian Education was given.

The superintendent of the Tacoma quarter provided a very elaborate and profitable program, including an address, for one session of their Quarterly Meeting.

I know some effective work was done in the other Quarterly Meetings, but no detailed report was sent to me of it. It seems to us more time should be spent during Yearly Meeting with this department than just the time used in reading a very brief report. There should be emphasis placed on Christian Education with the greater part on the Christian phase of the subject. Therefore we suggest that the Yearly Meeting, through the proper authority, try to make provision as the program is being arranged to allow a reasonable length of time specifically to the use of the Superintendent of the Department of Education.

Very respectfully submitted,

FRANK D. ROBERTS, Supt. of Education

The statistical report appears in the appendix.

The Report of Greenleaf Academy was read as follows:

REPORT OF GREENLEAF ACADEMY FOR THE YEAR 1932-33

Time moves on with impartial regularity, another year has gone into history for Greenleaf Academy. Surely in this year of great financial depression the Lord has richly blessed our efforts.

It has been necessary to economize in every way possible, the teachers have sacrificed on salary, some pay has been accepted in food stuff, fuel and labor. Arrangements were made to do all school work in the basement and on the first floor, thus saving half the fuel expense by not heating the second floor. This made some inconvenience in various ways, but the students and teachers were all glad to cooperate in any way that the work of the school might go on.

Lack of funds has prevented many from attending, thus making our total enrollment of 35 the smallest number we have had for some years. However, the cooperation and spirit of loyalty of this group has not been excelled by any in the past. Two Oregon students were with us during the year, one from Newberg and one from Salem, indicating the growing interest of others throughout the Yearly Meeting in the Academy.

During the past year Ralph Choate and Margaret Jackson have been with us as teachers, and having served very satisfactorily will continue in their positions next year. Ralph Choate, aside from regular teaching work, very ably coached the boys' basketball and baseball teams. He also directed a school orchestra for a part of the year. A course in typing was offered this year for the first time. This, with her other teaching work, made a very heavy teaching load for Margeret Jackson; however, she found time for many other school activities, one of which was very efficiently coaching the Junior Class Play.

We have had a number of speakers before the student body this year, who have been very interesting and profitable to us. On September 8, President Pennington of Pacific College gave a very appropriate address for the opening of a school year on the subject "Propin' up on the Leanin' Side." October 5, 6 and 7, Esther Choate gave a series of talks on mission work in Africa. October 26, Mrs. Sanford, a National W. C. T. U. lecturer, spoke on the Prohibition problem of the present. Paul Rees, an evangelist of national reputation, spoke at the chapel service, December 20. Harlan Rinard, of the Class of 1919, who is now employed in the U. S. Weather Bureau at Boise, talked to the students concerning the work there. C. Glen Rinard, graduate of 1924, now pastor of the Highland Ave. Friends Church of Salem, Oregon, gave a very inspiring chapel message February 6th. Ila M. Tozier of the class of '26, now a graduate nurse, spoke to the students March 27 on the vocation of nursing.

Two Literary Societies were organized and carried on with much profit to the students during the year.

Our annual revival service was held Nov. 9-27. The services were conducted by Frederick B. Baker and Edward F. Harmon. The students as usual attended the day meetings in a body and most of them gladly attended the evening services. Those students who were already Christians were strengthened in the faith, some claimed sanctification, and others were converted. To the end of the year a large proportion of the students were faithful in attending the Student Prayer Meetings.

This being the 25th year since the establishing of the Academy, a special effort was made to celebrate the occasion at commencement time. Ezra G. Pearson, who was pastor during the early years of the school was asked to preach the Baccalaureate sermon; and Professor Perry D. Macy of Pacific College, who was the first teacher here, was secured to give the class address.

Sunday morning, May 14, many of those who sang in the choir during the first years of the school were in the chorus and furnished the music for the service. Ezra Pearson preached from the text in Acts 26-16: "But arise and stand upon thy feet," showing how the Lord, after He had made us whole, expected us to be strong and faithful in service for Him. It was a very stirring message for the occasion. Wednesday evening, May 17, the Senior Class gave the program, consisting of orations and music. Thursday evening, May 18, was given over to the 25th anniversary celebration. A large majority of the 16 students who made up the first student body were present. They gave some of their old songs and yells. Following this the present students gave several yells and sang the Academy Song. Several pictures explained by Clayton Brown and Malinda French, of people who have been connected with the school and of interesting events of the past, were shown on a screen by means of a projecting lantern. Ruth Williams of this year's graduating class gave a history of the school, making a strong plea that it not only continue to operate, but that it continue true to the Faith of our Fathers. Friday morning, May 19, Perry Macy addressed the graduating class on the subject of "Individuals and Institutions." The address was very fitting for the occasion.

The seven graduates receiving diplomas were Madell Williams, Mary Hudson, Ruth Williams, John Roberts, Paul Perisho, Glen Birch and Harold Roberts. John Roberts was awarded the Pacific College Scholarship. The Junior, Academy half-scholarship went to Miss Dorothy Martin.

More than 425 students have attended Greenleaf Academy during these 25 years. One hundred and fifty-four have graduated, and of these there are twenty remaining at home, forty-six housewives, twenty-six business or professional workers, eighteen teachers, eighteen farmers, twelve in schools of higher learning, two missionaries, and ten ministers. Six of these ministers are in active service in Oregon Yearly Meeting at the present time.

It has not been the purpose of the Academy to develop ministers and missionaries, only, but to try to develop Christian character and help each student to find his place in life according to the divine plan. The school has ever stood true to the fundamental doctrines of the Friends Church which has fostered it. Our desire today is to know the Will of God and our determination is to obey His Will.

Greenleaf Academy has served 25 years. Its influence has gone out. The seed that has been sown is returning a rich harvest. Should it not have the prayers of Oregon Yearly Meeting, that its work may go on until God Himself says it is enough.

Respectfully submitted,
FRANK D. ROBERTS, Principal

69. Grace Hadley, Chairman of the Pacific College Visiting Committee, reported that one member had visited the College three times and had taken the Deputation Group out for services at various times.

The meeting accepted the report.

70. The meeting received the report of the Women's Auxiliary to Pacific College as follows:

REPORT OF WOMEN'S AUXILIARY TO PACIFIC COLLEGE

Although the depression has made it very difficult for us to raise our funds the past year, we have been able to make some contributions to the improvement of the campus and buildings which were very much needed.

The kitchen in Canyon Hall was painted and the upper hall and bathroom were papered and woodwork painted. The new bathroom and stairs in the Boys Hall were painted—all at the cost of about $50.00.

The Auxiliary paid $95.00 for paint and labor for the improvement of the Old College Building.

A power lawn mower has been purchased at a cost of $166.00, which has greatly lessened the work of the Superintendent of grounds. The north campus has been disced and raked and we hope soon to have it in shape so that it can be mowed with the power mower.

Some work has been done filling in and leveling the ground about the cement tennis court.

A large wardrobe was built in the attic of Wood-Mar Hall in which to keep the costumes belonging to the Dramatics department.

At present we are discussing ways and means of raising money to help put a new roof on Wood-Mar Hall.

Respectfully submitted,

REBECCA PENNINGTON, President

71. The President of Pacific College read his annual report which was accepted as follows:

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF PACIFIC COLLEGE FOR THE YEAR 1932-33

With sincere gratitude for the blessing of God and for the kindness of friends of Pacific College during the extremely difficult year that has just closed, I present this, the twenty-second annual report of the college since I became its president in 1911.

The year has been one of marked success and satisfaction insofar as the actual work of the college is concerned, and at the same time one of struggle and difficulty in other lines, perhaps unsurpassed in the past twenty years.

A Successful Year

The year 1932-33 has been remarkable in several particulars. Seldom, if ever, has the student body been more substantial, more earnest, more conscientious, more faithful in its work in the college. There has not been a single case of disciplinary action of any sort during the year. The economic difficulties of these days has automatically weeded out from many of our colleges those who are not sincerely in earnest in their effort for a liberal education.

With the close of the year the largest class in the history of the college came to its graduation. Up to this year the largest graduating class has been fourteen. The class of 1933 consisted of the following young men and women, with degrees as indicated:

Lloyd B. Baker, A. B.

Marion N. DeVinne, B. S.

Doris Kivett Hampton, A. B.

Della L. Hanville, A. B.

Goldie E. Hendrickson, A. B.

Dorene Heacock Larimer, A. B.

Dennis H. McGuire, B. S.

Dorothy J. McMichael, A. B.

Grace L. Mason, A. B.

Mary Louise Miller, A. B.

Curtis T. Morse, A. B.

Loyde W. Osburn, B. S.

Alan D. Rutherford, A. B.

Josephine B. Smith, B. S.

Winifred L. Woodward, A. B.

Two members of the class, Doris Kivett Hampton and Dorene Heacock Larimer, did not have the work for graduation quite completed at Commencement time; but this work will be completed and they will receive their diplomas in a few days.

The highest honors of the class went to Dennis H. McGuire, who with the highest scholastic ranking of the class also graduated with the largest amount of credit, 134 semester hours, with only 120 required for graduation; and in addition to his scholastic leadership, was a leader in athletics, in the Christian Association work, in music, and in various other extra curricular activities.

The Junior Prize, which also is awarded on the basis of scholarship and character, went to John Astleford, who had the highest scholastic rank in a class where there were other high-class students, and who is also a leader in Christian Association work and other student activities.

Faculty Change

Only one change is to occur in the faculty of the college for the coming year. Dr. Floyd W. Perisho, Professor of Chemistry since 1915, has resigned, and has accepted a similar position at Penn College, his alma mater. The place has been filled by the election of George A. Scherer, a Friend of Western Yearly Meeting, who received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Chemistry at Purdue University on the same day on which the Pacific College Commencement was held.

Extra-Curricular Activities

The work outside the class room is an important part of education in every college, but especially in such a college as Pacific. The student body activities, the work of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations, the literary and public speaking work, the athletic events and the preparation for them, the work of the Deputation Group of the college, already mentioned in other reports, and many other student activities have done their part in the development of the student body.

Perhaps the sort of work which the college is actually doing may be best suggested by a letter received yesterday from the father of a boy who graduated not long ago. He wrote as follows, with no thought that he was writing for anybody but the president of the college:

"His mother and I alone know what his Alma Mater has done for him. When we think of his unsettled mental, spiritual and physical condition when he went to Newberg, and the strength of purpose, spiritual stability, and robust health with which he left, we realize as none others can what that noble school has done for him."

Facing a Difficult Situation

Pacific College, in common with practically every other institution of higher education, and even education on lower levels, is facing a double difficulty, both growing out of the present economic condition. The depression has cut down the income of the college from endowment and other similar sources; and it has made it far more difficult to maintain its income from student tuitions and fees, and impossible for it to maintain that income at the old levels.

To meet the first of these difficulties, no way has offered itself except to go out after the necessary funds among the friends of the college. Accordingly the College Board are planning a campaign for a maintenance fund of $10,000 for the ensuing year, in order that the budget may be balanced and the permanent resources of the college may not be impaired by a deficit for 1933-34.

This may seem to many an impossible sum to raise, in view of the financial conditions; but it is by no means impossible if every one who can give will give, though it be only a very little. and already one-third of the sum has been provided for. The college faculty made the first big gift, which totaled somewhat more than $2,000, every member of the staff giving ten per cent of the year's salary. Then the Alumni Association undertook to raise another $1,000 from among their members. And several gifts have been received from Friends in the east making the total, if the Alumni reach their goal, of well over one-third of the total of $10,000 required.

Laura Hammer, a member of the College Board and a graduate in the class of 1911, is now in the east, seeking financial assistance from Friends there, without whose aid the college could not have survived in the past.

Another thing which makes the project more hopeful is the fact that the college is ready to accept "cash or kind" in this campaign. This was done to a certain extent last year, when one man made a gift of wood, another of medical service, another of garage work, another of gasoline and oil, etc. This will be done on a much larger scale this year; and the friend of the college who does not have cash which can be spared may be able to make a gift in nuts or honey or wood or labor or groceries or what not.

To Aid Worthy Students

But ample money would not make a college without students; and these times have shut many worthy and capable students from the privilege of college attendance unless they can secure financial help. And so both the gift of the faculty and that of the Alumni Association have been made in such a way as to help build up the student body as well as to aid the college financially.

With the consent of the College Board, the faculty gift is to be in the form of scholarships, to worthy students chosen by the faculty, who give the money out of their salaries. While these gifts are given without any reservation to students who are esteemed most worthy and most needy and who would profit most from them, in the judgment of the faculty, each scholarship student is expected to give any help possible to the college during the year and thus save considerable expense which would otherwise be entailed, and it is hoped that in future years these students will show their gratitude in a substantial way, and help others to the same opportunity which has been given them.

The gift made by the Alumni Association, of which part has already been paid in, is to be used as an Alumni Scholarship Loan Fund, to be loaned to worthy students at a low rate of interest, for repayment by them after their graduation. When thus repaid it can be used again and again, so that it becomes a revolving fund, which will add to the cash receipts of the college every time it is loaned again.

In addition to these opportunities of help for students, there should be sources of help wherever a worthy student among Friends, at least, is needing help. What better investment could a man of financial ability make than in the education of a worthy young man or woman? And if there is not one man or woman in the community able to finance the education of a student, a number of folks could combine to send a young man or woman to college, thus doing an inestimable service. Youth is suffering most from this depression, if we look beyond immediate events. If we lose in a financial way these days, we may recoup our losses later; but if a young man or woman fails to get an education at the proper time, that loss can never be fully made up.

With gratitude for the good year through which we have passed, and with the earnest hope and prayer that God may continue His blessing and vouchsafe His guidance.

Respectfully submitted,

LEVI T. PENNINGTON,

President, Pacific College

We wish to express our deep and sincere appreciation of the long, continuous, and faithful service of Marietta Lewis as Secretary of the Evangelistic and Church Extension Board. She has served continuously in this position for twenty-eight years. She has always shown a great deal of interest in the work and problems of the board. She has always made it a point to be present at the meetings of the board and the executive committee of the board except on those rare occasions when she was prevented by ill-health or other causes beyond her control. Her faithful service and valued counsel have been and are now deeply valued and appreciated by the other members of the board. It is our earnest prayer that the Lord may keep and bless her, that His presence may be very real to her and that we may be privileged to have her continued services and counsel in the business of the board.

Signed by direction of the Evangelistic and Church Extension Board.

OLIVER WEESNER, President of Board

81. The Yearly Meeting approved the following resolution as presented:

4. That five minutes be allowed at this time for taking an offering to assist in the support of Anson Cox to the amount of $5.00 per month for the year and that the offering be taken by Levi T. Pennington.

5. We recommend further that if the Committee appointed to edit the Discipline find it necessary to make minor changes not already passed by the Yearly Meeting, the rule that changes in the Discipline be held over for one year to be temporarily abrogated to meet that emergency.

C. GLEN RINARD, Chairman
CAROL H. LEE, Secretary

The meeting adopted these recommendations.

88. The Legislative Committee submitted the following report which was accepted by the meeting:

REPORT OF LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE

The legislative interests of the Yearly Meeting are decidedly varied, with our membership scattered as it is, over three states.

No meeting of the committee has been held; but legislative matters, both national and state, have had individual attention.

Efforts have been made to influence state legislation having to do with matters that affect the moral welfare of the people. A member of the committee took a group of influential citizens to Salem in an effort to strengthen the hands of our representatives in the Senate on the wet-dry issue. Previous correspondence had been carried between him and other legislators on the same subject.

Correspondence has been conducted with our national legislators, dealing especially with matters of prohibition and peace.

On behalf of the committee,

LEVI T. PENNINGTON,

Member of the Committee

89. Those in charge of the Children's meeting presented the following report, which was accepted:

COMMITTEE IN CHARGE OF CHILDRENS' WORK

The children's meetings have been a source of help and inspiration, as we have met together this year, and we have had the manifestation of the presence of the Lord each day.

We have had a total enrollment of 41 children, with excellent conduct and attention. Our daily program has consisted of Bible lessons, Bible character teaching, Bible memory work, missionary instruction, and an object lesson. At the close of one lesson nine children knelt at an altar of prayer and were either saved or sanctified, giving definite testimony later.

A short missionary program was prepared and twenty-six children helped to present this on Friday afternoon in the regular missionary program. The record of daily attendance is as follows:

Fourth day.....	16
Fifth Day.....	33
Sixth Day.....	41
Seventh Day.....	28
First Day.....	44

We are grateful for the wisdom and guidance of the Holy Spirit, and give Him all our praise for His help in these services.

The President of the Yearly Meeting Christian Endeavor read his annual report, which was approved by the meeting:

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

With a deepening sense of our dependence upon God and increased feeling of thanksgiving to Him for his mercies, the Christian Endeavor presents the report of its work for the past year.

What a strange year has been the one through which we have passed!

The Christian Endeavor has found itself without financial aid with which to promote its work. Whatever has been accomplished has been so in spite of contrary circumstances.

There have been gains this year which no statistical table can portray. There is no way to measure the increase of faith in the promises of God.

In some meetings it seems that the labor of the years has borne fruit during the year in the number of young people who have been brought into the Kingdom of God or who have found fellowship with the Holy Spirit. These are the true values which we strive to obtain and which always mean strength and growth.

From our midst has gone another missionary, Laura Cammack, to the foreign field; from our midst have arisen new messengers to spread the Gospel in the home land. Surely the Lord has blessed the Christian Endeavor work.

During the past year "The Friendly Endeavor" has been published every month. To continue this work has been a real test of faith in God, for at no time has there been a financial reserve sufficient for a month in advance. The Lord has met every need and we feel that it is His will for the work of the paper to continue.

Three summer conferences were held last summer, one at Twin Rocks, Oregon; one at the Payette Lakes in Idaho; and a new one at American Lake in Washington for the Young People of Tacoma Quarter. These conferences are a very vital part of the work of Oregon Yearly Meeting. They serve to unite the young people and the older people as well in spiritual progress, fellowship and recreation. While it is difficult to tabulate such results in figures, a conservative estimate indicates that over one hundred and fifty have been definitely helped at the altars in the three conferences last year.

Reports from the various societies show that our young people have taken an active interest in missions both at home and abroad. For foreign missions more money has been raised during the past year than in the preceding year.

We regret that there has been a small decrease in membership during the year, but we determine that such shall not be the case in the future.

We have little to discourage and much to encourage us. As we face the uncharted future, across our vision flashes a picture of nineteen centuries ago when Jesus Christ, the Master of all, stilled the storms on that Galilean sea and our faith is strengthened to believe that He will see us through the storms that beat about us today.

Respectfully submitted,

WALTER P. LEE, President

The nominations for officers and superintendents of the Yearly Meeting Christian Endeavor were read and appear in the Directory.

97. The Christian Endeavorers had charge of the evening's program, which consisted of a contest between the three Quarterly Meetings in Oregon, each presenting a scene designed to stir up interest in Twin Rocks Conference. First place in the contest was awarded to the Society from Second Friends Church, Portland.

After the contest the Quaker Quartet gave a program of gospel songs.

98. The meeting adjourned to meet at 8:00 P. M., First Day.

FIRST DAY 8:00 P. M.

99. The meeting convened according to adjournment.

100. The Entertainment Committee reported as follows:

News was also supplied the following weekly papers: "The Newberg Graphic," and "The Newberg Scribe." Reports of the Yearly Meeting were sent to the following religious papers: "The Evangelical Friend," "The American Friend," and "The Friendly Endeavor."

On behalf of the Committee,

WALTER P. LEE, Chairman

102. With the consent of the representatives present, an offering was taken for the relief of a family, members of the meeting at Kelso, Washington, who had lost their home in the recent flood at that place.

103. Throughout the sessions of the Yearly Meeting, Effie R.

Tamplin, who was lying very ill at her home, had been greatly missed. The Yearly Meeting united in sending to her a letter of greeting.

104. The meetings for worship through the day had been held as follows: at eight A. M., I. G. Lee had charge of the meeting; at eleven o'clock Edward Mott and T. Clio Brown preached. The Workers League conducted the afternoon meeting and Robert L. Morrill gave the message. Several of the ministers preached, both morning and evening, at the various churches of the town. The offerings for the Evangelistic and Church Extension Board amounted to $125, and for the Workers League to $137. Edward F. Harmon brought the closing message.

105. Looking back upon a year of blessing and victory, and forward to one of challenge and promise, we thank God for His guiding hand through the sessions of the Yearly Meeting, and adjourn to meet, God willing, at Newberg, Oregon, Sixth Month 13, 1934.

APPENDIX

EXCERPTS FROM THE REPORT OF THE AMERICAN FRIENDS SERVICE COMMITTEE

For eighteen months in the bituminous coal regions the Service Committee has been giving relief and undertaking some rehabilitation. We have sought to apply the principle which George Fox discovered and applied so effectively in his day to concrete situations here and now. Entirely beyond what might have been hoped in view of long unemployment and hardships, the spirits of men, women and little children have been aroused to new life.

At the present time, we are feeding about 25,000 children in West Virginia and Kentucky. Funds for food have been supplied by grants from the Federal Government through the States to the Counties. Now the most important features of that service are the projects that are being undertaken to find new ways for unemployed miners to make an adequate livelihood.

A year's experience has proved that miners can make good handicraft furniture and woven articles. Still more significant, it has proved that in making of articles of this kind their spirit and lives are reconstructed.

Foreign Service

Geneva has been stirred more than at any time since the organization of the League of Nations by the Disarmament Conference and the Far-East situation. Our Center there has been deeply moved by the necessity for an emphasis upon the spiritual values involved in international issues. They have been in touch with all of the forces that are playing upon the League of Nations in its effort to find the way of peace.

Symbolic of the days of American child-feeding in Germany, it is interesting to note that within the past year German Friends have made a contribution to the relief in France and that at the present time French Friends and friends of the Friends have contributed about 30,000 francs and a staff of persons to carry on child-feeding in an industrial center in the northern part of Berlin.

Home Service

A new phase of life is emerging for our youth. They are leaving school without a chance to use their gifts and training. Alert in mind and spirit, they are sensitive to the feeling that they are not needed. And yet there are numberless situations which need just the intelligence and dedication that the finest kind of young idealists can bring to them. Ways of solving conflict; simple forms of adult education; using the creative capacity to find ways for unemployed men, women and youths to make at least a subsistence living—these are some of the needs. But they are not provided for in the normal channels of life. Youth today must not only be prepared to do a job, but to open the way and create the job itself.

The Home Service Section is working in this field. Last year it sent sixty-six young people, mostly Friends, to special jobs of this creative type. Plans for the same kind of placement and also for conducting two or three experiments along with groups of workers and conducting a training school for these young Friends are now well under way.

Peace Section

Education has loomed large in the program of the Peace Section. During the summer that is approaching that Section will train in its Peace Institute approximately 600 teachers, ministers and persons who have natural audience for their training in International Relations and in the technique of the pacifist approach to conflict. The Peace Caravans which are also being planned again this year are likewise designed to educate toward the creation of a rational and intelligent public opinion, but also toward the passion for peace.

Fellowship Committee

For a small group like the Society of Friends the matter of development of comradeship and fellowship within the group itself is always of importance.

The Service Committee has developed during the past two or three years a Fellowship Committee. It has taken special responsibility for routing traveling Friends to meet the individuals, or groups of Friends, wherever they might be going. It has piloted about Walter Heacock, Robert and Margaret Simkin, Carolina M. Wood, and a number of others. The committee is also studying the possibility of establishing an international Society of Friends and of holding another international conference of All Friends, probably in 1935, similar to the one held in London in 1920.

Far-East Committee

The critical situation in the Far East, particularly as between Japan and China, has been very much before the Committee during the year. A message was drafted and sent to China and Japan and was also presented to the Japanese Ambassador and the Chinese Minister. This message was published in the leading daily newspapers in China and was presented by the Japanese Ambassador to his Government. Daniel and Jane Balderston Dye, members of the faculty of West China Union University, who are now in this country, will spend some time in Japan as our special emissaries during the coming month of September. They will then carry to China a message from the people of goodwill in Japan.

Finances

During the past year we have much cause to be thankful for the way in which the work of the Committee has continued to receive support.

The Coal Relief Section expended $394,000.00 in general and rehabilitation work to September 1, 1932. For the general work of the Committee the amount contributed was $83,000.00, and by strict economy the expenses of the Committee were kept slightly below the amount. Those directly responsible for the work of the Committee feel most humble concerning its accomplishments, in view of the many needs that are presented, but with deep thankfulness for the continued support of Friends we look forward to the coming year with confidence and with faith.

On behalf of the American Friends Service Committee,

CLARENCE E. PICKETT, Executive Secretary
