As I come to bring my report for the work of the Bible Schools of Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends, I am conscious of my own limitations but am also conscious of the help of the Lord and the faithfulness of the many engaged in this great work which makes possible this report.

The year has been one in which through the loyalty and faith of our teachers and officers, an increase in enrollment has appeared and in offerings for missions.

Several schools are doing out-post work and holding Bible Schools in communities near them and some at quite a distance from the home base. One reports having installed Sunday School bus service and holding contests in attendance. Contests were also held in memory work and in keeping account of the number of Bibles brought to the Bible School sessions. Supplies have been brought and furnished for use in out-post work by several schools. One school has sent the offering taken on the first Sunday of each month, and the birthday offering, to assist in the support of a native worker in our Bolivian field.

Sunday School papers have been gathered by some and sent to Curtis and Margaret Morse for use in their work at Greer, Johnstown, and Kamiah, Idaho.

There has also been loyalty on the part of many of our pupils which has been evidenced by the record of some who have had an unbroken attendance record for the year, and some for several years. One Sunday School sponsored a convention held in its locality.

Bibles, Testaments, and other prizes have been given as rewards for attendance and Scripture memory work.

The sick have been remembered, visited, and flowers have been sent to them.

Withal we have much for which to thank God and we are encouraged to press on.

Respectfully submitted,

W. C. Eichenberger, Superintendent.

Kester L. Mendenhall addressed the meeting on the responsibility of the Bible School as an evangelizing force and as a feeder for the church.

42. The Superintendent of Temperance now presented the work of that department. Rebecca Pennington led in prayer, and the Portland Bible Institute quartet sang. The report of the Temperance department was read and accepted as follows:

It is now twenty-six months since Congress, by act of nullification, passed the notorious "Beer Bill." Eighteen months ago, also by unconstitutional procedures, the Eighteenth Amendment was repealed. A balance sheet, set up at this date, does not reveal a single item of profit having accrued to the nation as a result of these unwise actions; whereas the losses have been overwhelming. Records show revenues lack 83% of attaining the "conservative estimate" made by repealists. This amount has been largely consumed in collecting and in enforcement. "Balancing the budget" becomes a jest. Bootlegging and rum-running, instead of being eliminated as promised, flourish as never before, causing the Government much concern. Accidents on the highways and in industry, have increased in almost exact proportion to the increased sale of "legal liquor."

The 18th Amendment closed 177,000 saloons, ushering in an era of unprecedented prosperity. Repeal opened more than 700,000 saloon-taverns. These "hotbeds of iniquity," encouraged by faithless Government leaders and a metropolitan press devoid of conscience, rob their patrons of character, health and money, diverting them from fields of usefulness to careers of crime.

Since mother and dad are spending their money, even sacrificial relief funds, for beer, rations of milk for the babies are reduced 27%. The "Federal Alcohol Commission" estimates three billion dollars was spent for liquor in the United States last year. This does not represent the creation of new wealth; instead, it was money diverted from legitimate industry thereby further retarding recovery. While the material losses, attributed to repeal, are tremendous, the spiritual and moral breakdown of society causes us greater alarm. We are impressed with the lines from Goldsmith's "Deserted Village;"

"Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
Where wealth accumulates, and men decay."

Statistical Report

During the last fiscal year, 29 temperance addresses have been delivered. 33 sermons reported wherein this subject has been stressed. 108 talks are listed and 23 temperance programs arranged. 4300 pages of literature were distributed and $62.25 spent within the field. The Sunday Schools, quite generally, observe Temperance Sundays with suitable talks or special features. In all state and local elections, wherein liquor was a factor, Friends have faithfully performed their duties of Christian citizenship. Several members delivered prohibition addresses at rallies and at various places. The individual reports show clearly that our people are not being deceived by the false propaganda of liquor interests. They assure me the traffic is being carefully watched and studied. We have no faith in any so-called "control systems." We are dissatisfied with conditions as they exist. The strangle hold of alcohol must be broken. Our glorious flag must undergo a thorough dry-cleaning.

A new church year has begun. Let us make this a year of action. Let us mobilize all our resources then, beneath the banner of the cross, let us rush forward in a united and determined offensive against this arch-enemy of our homes, our country and our God. I believe the time has arrived when petitions for local option elections should be circulated in every county; also a movement initiated to reenact state constitutional dry amendments.

Scientific temperance education is important, but I am convinced we are in greater need of scientific education in government. Both old political parties have permanently deserted prohibition. By their extravagance, graft, and inefficiency they have betrayed America and her sacred institutions. Not the "New Deal" but new ideals in government is the pressing need. If church members and other good citizens would unite, for political action, in a party committed to prohibition and its enforcement, the liquor problem would be settled for good. With the National Administration in charge of a new type of officials—each true to his oath of office—all other perplexing questions would soon be adjusted to the best interests of the country.

W. M. Heacock, Superintendent.

The Superintendent then addressed the meeting, giving some challenging information.

43. At the inspirational hour the male quartet sang again and J. G. Bringdale brought a message on the conditions of receiving the Holy Spirit.

44. The meeting then adjourned to meet at 2:00 P. M., and C. W. Burbank, Free Methodist pastor from Portland, pronounced the benediction.

FIFTH DAY 2:00 P. M.

45. The meeting convened according to adjournment and waited upon the Lord for His presence and favor. Denver B. Headrick led in prayer.

46. The Nominating Committee presented names of persons to serve on the Evangelistic and Church Extension Board. The nominations were accepted and will be found in the Appendix.

47. The reports from Quarterly Meetings on State of Society were read and the Clerk directed to make a summary of them to be read at a later session.

48. The letter of greeting to be sent to California Yearly Meeting by Merrill M. Coffin was read and approved.

49. The epistles from New England and Wilmington Yearly Meetings were read.

50. Chester A. Hadley, General Superintendent of Oregon Yearly Meeting, read his annual report which was full of interest and encouragement. The report was accepted and appears below in full:

THE GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT'S ANNUAL REPORT TO OREGON YEARLY MEETING OF FRIENDS

Introduction and Resume

As I approach the task of preparing my fifth annual report as Superintendent of Oregon Yearly Meeting I find myself very much in prayer that it may be a source of inspiration and blessing to us all.

We may tabulate the activities of the year, but to estimate properly the actual accomplishments rests finally with Him who looketh not upon the outward but upon the heart. However it is proper that we should review the labor of our hands and out of the findings be guided as we face a new year.

Reports of previous years have been prefaced with reference to the distressing economic situation and again we must make some observations; gradually our country seems to be recovering from the depths of depression, and as we begin to resume a normal condition, it reflects favorably in the program of the Church.

General Statistics

We have a total membership, active and associate, of 3187 as against 3178 of last year showing a net gain of 9.

We have 24 established Monthly Meetings as against 23 of last year, Nampa Monthly Meeting having been set up by Boise Valley Quarterly Meeting and reported this year for the first time. Beside the regular Monthly Meetings we have 4 points holding local business meetings and at least 12 out-posts being cared for by the Evangelistic Board or the various Monthly Meetings. This is a decided increase over last year when we reported two points having local business meetings and six out-posts points.

Various Boards

The various boards have attended to their duties in a satisfactory manner. The small amount of financial aid which most of them receive limits their activities and makes it difficult to do all that they otherwise might. They deserve credit for their faithful service. Because of a closer contact, special mention is made here of the work of the Christian Endeavor, Evangelistic and Missionary Departments. The Christian Endeavor Department has served the needs of the Yearly Meeting in a most satisfactory way. The "Friendly Endeavor," under the editorship of Milo Ross has proved a real blessing to our Yearly Meeting, serving the adults as well as the young people. The three summer conferences are increasingly valuable and have done much to hold our youth to the Church. These conferences are held at Twin Rocks, Oregon, American Lake, Washington, and Payette Lakes, Idaho, respectively. A much fuller report of this department will be given by the president of the Christian Endeavor board in the Saturday evening service.

Evangelism and Church Extension

Our Evangelistic and Church Extension Department has closed a very satisfactory year. An unusual interest in extension work is being evinced by the various monthly meetings and they are opening points within their reach, conducting Sunday Schools, preaching services and prayer meetings. As indicated in the statistical report, 9 of the 10 out-post points are being thus supported and there may be others not reported. This is as it should be. The early Church grew as it spread and it spread because it had a message too good to keep. Besides the out-posts carried on by Monthly Meetings, the Evangelistic and Church Extension Department has eight points under its direct care; they are as follows: IN BOISE VALLEY QUARTER: Vale, Johnstown, Greer, and Woodland. IN PORTLAND QUARTER: Kelso, First Friends in Vancouver, Rosemere, and Prune Hill. IN TACOMA QUARTER: North East Tacoma.

Prune Hill Out-Post

Again as last year we are able to say, "Doors have opened and we have entered." Among the points not reported last year, Prune Hill is outstanding in its growth and development: A Quaker family, belonging to the Second Friends Church in Portland, moved to the Prune Hill district in Washington. Feeling the need of religious services for the children, a Sunday School was started and soon out grew the limited quarters of the home. An appeal was made to the Quarterly Meeting for help and after a careful survey of the community it was decided to undertake the work, an abandoned school house was secured and Frederick B. Baker who has been doing office work for the Yearly Meeting the past year was asked to take charge. The Lord has most graciously honored his ministry since beginning the work last fall. Nineteen definite spiritual victories have been reported and the community is responding to the meeting in a very substantial way. Much credit should be given to Miss Mary Allen who donates her services and car for the Sunday and mid-week meetings. Besides her efficient help in the services, no less than 100 miles of driving each week is her contribution to the success of the work.

The Vale Out-post

Vale was reported last year as a promising point and results since then have justified the prediction. 20 acres of land, ten of which is under irrigation have been secured. A parsonage has been erected and since then Zenas Perisho and family are located there in pastoral charge of the work. The people at Vale have been meeting in the parsonage, but have outgrown their quarters and are now worshipping in the Worker's League tent for the summer. A meeting house needs to be erected and the Yearly Meeting should get under this burden with them.

The Nampa Church

For a number of years Boise Valley Friends have felt the need of a meeting in Nampa, Idaho. A real concern for such a work was expressed to the Superintendent by Edward Harmon. A meeting house was available in a very desirable location and could be secured on very reasonable terms. After careful consideration on the part of Boise Valley Quarterly Meeting Evangelistic Board together with the Superintendent of the Yearly Meeting it was decided to undertake services for a few months. The interest and attendance increased and it soon became apparent that it should become permanent work. The building was purchased and a request for a monthly meeting was directed to Boise Valley Quarterly Meeting. The request for the monthly meeting has been granted and Nampa Friends Church has become our youngest monthly meeting under the pastoral care of Edward Harmon.

Christian Worker's League

Again the Christian Worker's League has rendered valuable services to the Yearly Meeting in the holding of revival services in various points where they are invited. This group of consecrated young people have made a valuable contribution to the spiritual life of our Yearly Meeting and deserve our commendation and prayers.

The Special Meetings Held During the Year

The statistical report shows that 32 special meetings were held during the year. Besides these special revival services week-end conferences were conducted by both the young people of Pacific College and Portland Bible Institute and from all of these meetings comes the report of spiritual blessing and uplift as a result of these conferences. Merrill M. Coffin, Charles Stalker, Arnold Hodgkin, William J. Murphy, Glen Rinard, Charles A. Beals, Frederick B. Baker, Edward F. Harmon, W. E. Cox,

J. G. Bringdale, and Emory W. Petticord were used of the Lord in gracious services throughout the past year and while our statistical report of spiritual victories does not equal in number that of last year, other indications point to the fact that the spiritual life and vision of our Yearly Meeting is deepening and increasing.

The Pastoral Situation for the Year

Several changes will be made this year. At the present time it is impossible to say who will fill the places vacated. If possible they will be supplied before the minutes are printed. After forty-three years of faithful, efficient service, fifteen years of which was spent within the limits of Oregon Yearly Meeting, Frederick J. Cope, pastor of Piedmont Friends Church was compelled to resign on account of failing health. God has preciousely honored the service of this servant of His and as Frederick Cope comes to the close of his more active work in the ministry, Oregon Yearly Meeting may well pause and thank God for sending him our way. I want to assure Brother and Sister Cope that our love and prayers will follow them wherever His providence will lead them.

The death of I. Gurney Lee, who with his wife had charge of Tacoma Monthly Meeting, left the full responsibility of the work upon her. Her physical condition has made it necessary for her to resign to take effect in September.

Charles A. Beals has accepted a teaching position in the Friends Bible College at Haviland, Kansas, and will assume his new duties this fall.

C. Glen Rinard is closing his pastoral services this year at the Riverside Monthly Meeting.

So far as we know these are all the changes that will be made in pastoral relation this coming year.

Missionary Department

Major attention will be given to this department when the annual report of our field superintendent is read. This report will deal with our activities at home. Our asking last year was for $2,500.00. Our report shows that $3,085.74 has been received. A special appeal for the Anti-Cresis plan of securing living quarters is included in this report and it helps to make the "over and above amount." The interest in our missionary program is most gratifying. Developments on our field have made it necessary to secure a new missionary and after much prayer the board united in feeling that Esthel Gulley, a member of Springbrook Meeting should be accepted. Esthel Gulley is a graduate nurse, a graduate of Portland Bible Institute and a graduate of the Nazarene College at Nampa, Idaho. She will sail as soon as possible after Yearly Meeting time.

Furloughs

We have been advised by Dr. Beck of the Methodist Hospital in La Paz that owing to the high altitude, (13,500), no missionary should remain longer than 4½ years for his first term of service. After careful consideration the Board felt that we should respect this advice and we have asked the Tamplin family to return to the home land early this fall. Their sailing date will be definitely announced in the "Friendly Endeavor." It will possibly be during the month of August.

Aside from these regular items the League members have made personal contacts in various ways while on the field. Individuals have called in over 200 homes inviting people to services and giving gospels to children who had no Bible.

60. At the hour devoted to the consideration of the subject of Peace the following reports were read and approved:

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PEACE SUPERINTENDENT OF OREGON YEARLY MEETING OF FRIENDS

There is an old proverb which says, "The wave is beaten, but the tide triumphs." Workers for world peace should find comfort, and during the past year they have needed to find it, in such proverbs as this; or better still in the assurance which may be found in such words as, "In as much as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

Those of us who have been for the past quarter of a century interested in the cause of peace have seen great changes in the world's attitude and in the attitude of our own country on the subject of peace and the effective means for its attainment.

Early in the present century we saw hopeful advances made through arbitration, mediation, and conference, and it seemed that the world might be actually on its way toward an international order which would substitute other means than war for the settlement of international difficulties. But still the nations of the earth continued their preparations for war as the final recourse, and the war for which the world was prepared came, and we appropriately call it the World War.

When this World War was over and idealism was strenuously demanding a better way, the League of Nations was formed and world peace was sought through this organization and through the proposed World Court. But we presently came to know that there were iniquitous things in the Treaty of Versailles, and some of the great powers, including the United States, long refused to become active members in these world wide organizations. However, the efforts for peace continued, and we saw treaties widely signed, culminating in the Pact of Paris, which so far as outward things are concerned, was clearly the high water mark of advancement in the peace movement of the world; and whereas outwardly everything seemed lost for the peace cause by the World War, outwardly everything seemed gained when practically all the nations of the world by a solemn treaty renounced war as a means for the settlement of international difficulties, and pledged themselves to pacific means only for the adjustment of all international disputes of whatever kind or of whatever origin.

The years that have passed since then, however, have clearly demonstrated that the struggle for world peace is by no means ended, nor is world peace easily to be attained or maintained. The victorious nations which pledged themselves to disarmament when they required disarmament of the powers which had lost in the World War, found it easy to disregard their own pledges of disarmament, and the great nations of the earth, including our own, continued to prepare for war on a gigantic scale, unmatched in any other time of peace in the history of the world. We have twice seen the United States adopt war preparation budgets in excess of that of any world power in any time of peace in the world's history.

Relatively recently, we have seen Japan, in the face of world protest, take an attitude in the East that has caused us great concern, an attitude which resulted finally in the withdrawal of Japan from the League of Nations. Still more recently we have seen Germany join the ranks of nations under a dictatorship, withdraw from the League of Nations, and resume the war preparation which was so largely instrumental in bringing about the war calamity of 1914.

And there have been many other things which need not here be reviewed which have saddened and almost broken the hearts of the lovers of peace. But in the face of discouragements of this sort and of whatever discouragements of any sort may come, we need constantly to keep in mind the old proverb, "The wave is beaten, but the tide triumphs," and the assurance that "our labor is not in vain in the Lord." We should face the task of the peace-maker courageously and with open eyes, and be ready to take the long way and the hard path for the accomplishment of world peace.

The achievement of peace involves on its human side a three-fold task.

First of all there is the intellectual task, the task of disseminating information, of making the world know the truth about war. We have been too prone to think of war in terms of the pomp and circumstances of military forces in a land of peace. The world must be made to think of war in terms of mud and blood and disease and mutilation, of suffering and death by tens of millions, of ruinous financial loss to victor and vanquished alike, of moral degradation and spiritual losses which are incalculable in any war that can ever be fought.

The task of the peace maker is also an emotional one. Humanity has come to love the stirring sound of the fife and drum, the tramp of marching feet, the ordered lines of uniformed men; and even the stir of heart which the fluttering of our loved national flag brings to us is too often associated with thoughts of war and military achievement, our eyes often blinded to the injustice which even the wars in which our own country has engaged have often involved. We must teach the world to hate war as God hates, and love mankind and that peace which blesses mankind with something of the love which God feels for the world even when the world is sunk in sin.

The final task of the peace maker on the human side is the building up of a great "will to peace." The selfish interests which hope to profit by war, whether they be munition manufacturers, national politicians, or who not, will continue to promote and on occasion to produce war unless and until we can build up among the peoples of the earth this "will to peace" which shall motivate multiplied millions so that they shall say to their political leaders, "No war; you must find some other way."

This is our basic task as makers of peace among men, the task of changing human attitudes of mind and heart and will, until the great masses of men shall demand the abolition of war. Until this greater task is done, world organizations, treaties, and other outward devices can only be partially successful.

This is not to discourage nor to disparage the work for these outward agencies of peace. Those of us who can conscientiously do it should continually protest against those things which lead toward war; we should go to the limit of our powers in seeking to bring about disarmament; we should encourage the entrance of America into the League of Nations and her adherence to the World Court if we believe, as most of us probably do, that these actions on the part of America would conduce to the peace of the world.

But the ultimate task even on the human side is the changing of the thought and the feeling and the will of the world in regard to the manner of settling international differences.

Friends have every legitimate argument for peace possessed by any other peace-loving organization; but our primary ground for our peace position is higher than that which many lovers of peace take or well can take. We know war to be unprofitable, inefficient, inhumane, the arch destroyer of human life and human happiness, and from every standpoint of the secular world, unwise and indefensible. But our primary ground for objection to war and for our advocacy of peace must always be maintained on the religious basis that war is essentially unchristian, contrary both to the spirit and the teachings of Jesus Christ, and that we, as a branch of the Christian church to which God has in a somewhat peculiar way committed this part of his ministry of reconciliation, must maintain our peace position and so conduct ourselves as individuals and as a denomination that in the matter of the relation of men to men and nations to nations as well as in the matter of man's relations to God, we shall be worthy of the blessing which is pronounced on the peace makers who are to be called children of God.

The inability of the Yearly Meeting Superintendent to participate actively in the work of the peace department or in any other public activities, has curtailed the work of the department not a little during the year. But there has been a commendable activity on the part of the peace leaders in some of our local and quarterly meetings.

The nature of the work for peace makes the tabulation of this work difficult. Here are some of the activities during the year, with one of our larger quarterly meetings not reporting.

Number of public meetings held in the interests of peace.....	4
Number of peace sermons and addresses.....	25
Number of pages of literature distributed (only two meetings reporting).....	2050

Communications to government officials, by resolution or other meeting action - 4; by personal communications - 150 reported from one Quarterly Meeting, two from another and one Quarterly Meeting reports several with no exact figures kept; by petition - 2 with 65 signatures.

One Quarterly Meeting reports fifteen peace talks before Sunday Schools, and the circulation of the "Peacemakers Library" in Boise Valley Quarterly Meeting the first three quarters of the past year, and in Rosedale meeting during the third quarter.

In another Quarterly Meeting two meetings report much personal work and instruction in peace truths; with special care taken to establish new members in peace doctrines. This same Quarterly Meeting reports that all meetings stressed peace truths in their Sunday School and Christian Endeavor lessons.

One Quarterly Meeting reports a reading contest composed of members of the Sunday School. This same Quarterly Meeting reports four programs in the Bible School, the use of peace posters in the church bulletin, the announcement of outstanding speakers who under other auspices were presenting the peace message, the assistance of the meeting in a canvass for the forthcoming Institute of International Relations for the Pacific Northwest, a talk on peace for the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and a meeting of two representatives and the pastors from the churches of Vancouver, Washington, to organize a peace program in that city. This Quarterly Meeting reports the expenditure of $4.50 in the peace work of the Quarterly Meeting, and though the report shows much activity the Quarterly Meeting Superintendent gives the information that it is only a partial report as two meetings failed to get their reports in to the Quarterly Meeting Superintendent.

Another Quarterly Meeting reports assistance at a high school display in the interests of peace on Armistice Day, the securing of leaders for peace programs in Christian Endeavor meetings, the dissemination of material in grange organizations concerning the arms investigation, additional aid in the organization of the Institute of International Relations to be held in Portland next month, the keeping of peace material on a reading table in one of the meetings, cooperation with the Social Service Committee of another college, and several peace talks before Sunday Schools, clubs, etc.

One Quarterly Meeting, in suggestions for peace work during the coming year, emphasizes the importance and effectiveness of personal instruction in peace work and the responsibility of Friends for this sort of thing. Another Quarterly Meeting suggests that we educate, by the teaching of the scriptural attitude on peace and the futility of war; that we agitate and keep it up continually; and that we cooperate by uniting with other laborers in the cause of peace.

From another Quarterly Meeting comes the expression of a need for more constructive peace work, and for suggestions as to how to go about this work. A concern was also expressed that something be done to help our young people face the problem of military training in our state schools, which is not at all a simple matter. The question was raised as to whether the responsibility for this matter of conscientious objection toward military training belonged to the individual young Friend alone or whether it should be assumed by the Monthly Meeting, the Quarterly Meeting and the Yearly Meeting to which this young Friend belongs.

In view not merely of our traditional position as a religious denomination, but of our responsibilities as followers of Jesus Christ let us during the coming year seek with greater energy than ever before to push the cause of peace in the name of the Prince of Peace who said,

"Blessed are the peace makers for they shall be called the children of God."

Respectively submitted,
Levi T. Pennington, Yearly Meeting Peace Supt.

REPORT OF THE AMERICAN FRIENDS SERVICE COMMITTEE. THE OUTREACH OF FRIENDS

The work through our foreign centers during the past year is a vivid reminder that the pathway to peace and understanding is long, arduous and often disappointing. We had supposed that our relief efforts were largely past, but during the current year we have administered at least $250,000.00 to the victims of the February 1934 civil war in Austria which was entrusted to us by the International Federation of Trade Unions. Relief for the dissolution of the German Refugee burden in Paris now rests largely upon our staff, and the present revolutionary changes that are taking place in Germany present a continuous recurrence of opportunities especially for spiritual counsel and guidance, though not primarily for physical relief. This is peculiarly true in the Saar Basin. The other outstanding development that one notes, coming from our centers in Vienna, Berlin, Paris and Geneva is the growth in numbers and the depth of the indigenous groups of European Friends.

In the development of the peace testimony at home, the Service Committee has increasingly felt that its particular function lay in broadening the basis of understanding of international relations, deepening the pacifist conviction and providing practical channels for expression of concerned peace groups throughout the country. This conviction has been carried out chiefly through the establishment of International Relations Institutes. During the coming summer nine such Institutes will be conducted which approximately 2000 students will attend. One has only to name the locations of these Institutes to indicate the geographical scope which they cover. They will be located as follows: Atlanta, Georgia; Duke University, Durham, N. C.; Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa; Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois; Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass.; Whittier College, Whittier, California; Reed College, Portland, Oregon; Mills College, Oakland, California; Haverford College, Haverford, Pa. In addition to this work it was possible last summer, through the cooperation of various educational institutions, to place thirty caravaners in the field. The recent defeat of the World Court indicates the need for a broader basis of understanding in our public life on which to build international cooperation.

The Home Service Section has added to its usual program of placement of young people in various forms of social reconstruction positions, a Work Camp. Here forty-one men and fourteen women gave ten weeks of work in digging a reservoir, a mile and a half of ditch, four feet deep, and laying a water system for the Westmoreland Homesteads near Greensburg, Pa. This piece of physical work, accompanied by the fellowship of the group and the study and discussion under leaders of social thought, has proved to be an instrument for deepening concern and conviction which seems worthy of expansion. It is proposed during the coming year to have three camps of this nature, one of which is to be for teen-age boys from our Friends' schools. Altogether, during the past year, about 150 young people have been used in one form or another of work under the direction of the Service Committee. In addition to the Service rendered, it is possible that this form of experience may prove to be one of the most effective educational opportunities provided by our Society.

The Coal Committee has now emerged almost entirely from its function as a relief agency. During the winter of 1934, special attention was given to the development of local leadership for carrying on government relief in counties for which we had assumed responsibility. In five counties, at the request of the State Administrations of Kentucky and West Virginia, the Service Committee personnel has now joined the staff of the State Relief Administrations. The service we are now rendering falls under four heads. We are continuing the Health Centre in Logan, West Virginia, where during the past year 1175 cases have been treated. The Educational Service takes the form, at Shadyside, Ohio, of an educational Centre in operating coal camps. In the midst of seven counties, where there are 16,000 miners, with all of the conflict and confusion that obtains in such communities, a people's school with about two hundred students is now being carried on under the direction of Stanley and Marie Hamilton. Wood, weaving, and metal workshops hold a place of importance in all of these centres.

During the year 1934, $79,744.62 was expended for the general budget, and $149,985.52 by the Coal Committee. This Yearly Meeting contributed toward that total amount. The outreach of the Society of Friends is at present limited only by the ability and dedication of its membership. There seems to be scarcely any limit to the opportunities which are offered to the Service Committee, but it cannot rise higher than the quality of life of the membership of the Society which it represents. This report, therefore, must close with a call for a renewed sense of social and spiritual obligation as our religious concern.

On behalf of the American Friends Service Committee,
Clarence E. Pickett, Executive Secretary.

REPORT OF YEARLY MEETING SUPERINTENDENT OF SERVICE COMMITTEE

Our report is brief this year, since our activities have been confined to one department, the Peace Section.

The particular work engaged in was the promotion of the Pacific Northwest Institute of International Relations to be held at Reed College in Portland, Oregon, July 5-15, 1935. Plans for this Institute were made during the visit to Oregon of Ray Newton, head of the Peace Section.

Although this is a new venture in the Pacific Northwest, such institutes have been successfully held in various sections of the East and Middlewest. They present vast opportunities for the spread of peace information. Teachers and leaders who attend pass on to those under their instruction and leadership the information they have thus gained.

The leadership and financial backing of this project has been supplied largely by the contributions of Friends with some valuable assistance from outside sources.

Respectfully submitted,
Ward L. Haines, Superintendent.

Paul Elliott explained in more detail the plans for the Institute of International Relations to be held this summer in Portland.

61. The Board for Aged Ministers made recommendations concerning the inauguration of this work. As the Yearly Meeting considered the question it was the sense of the meeting that this Board be considered one of the departments of the Yearly Meeting and consequently the recommendations were not passed at this time but were referred to the Executive Council.

62. The following communication from the Representatives on the matter referred to them in Minute 12 was read and approved.

"We favor the adoption of Portland Quarter's recommendation in regard to the investigation concerning coordination of the fiscal year, the pastoral year, and the time of Yearly Meeting; We recommend the appointment of a committee to present to the Yearly Meeting next year plans to carry out the above.

63. At 11:30 J. G. Bringdale gave the message of the Inspirational Hour, dwelling on the experiences of Jesus Christ in relation to the Holy Spirit.

SIXTH DAY 2:00 P. M.

64. The meeting convened according to adjournment and spent a short time in devotions: Edgar P. Sims offered prayer.

65. The Meeting on Ministry and Oversight reported as follows:

The Meeting on Ministry and Oversight has recognized the following persons as having a gift in the ministry: Clarence Scudder, George Hopper, Mary S. Mills, Oscar N. Brown.

Taken from the minutes of the meeting on Ministry and Oversight.
Herman Macy,
Mildred Raymond, Clerks.

66. The work of the Foreign Mission Board was presented at this time.

T. Clio Brown led in prayer.

By a rising vote the Meeting expressed its appreciation of the services of Frederick J. Cope for some years President of the Board, but now retiring from that position on account of failing health.

There were called to the platform, Howard and Julia Pearson, missionaries from Central America under California Yearly Meeting, and Ralph and Esther Choate, under appointment to Africa, under Kansas Yearly Meeting, who were later introduced and spoke briefly of their work, present and prospective.

Miller and Hazel Porter sang, "The Glory of His Presence." The statistical report of the Board was read by totals but appears in full in the appendix. The annual report of the missionaries on the field was read as follows:

FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE FIELD SUPERINTENDENT OF THE BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS OF OREGON
YEARLY MEETING OF FRIENDS CHURCH

First day, Fifth Month,
Nineteen hundred and thirty fifth year,
La Paz, Bolivia, S. A.

To Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends, greetings in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

The darkening clouds of uncertainty that have hovered over this, our loved and adopted land, for close onto three years, gives us nothing more than a slight shimmering ray of hope that the great climax may be near. At least, he who is accustomed to the storms of life knows that the blackest, wildest fury of the storm comes but a moment before the succeeding calm. So it seems with us. Things appear darker and more threatening, in so far as the work of evangelization is concerned, than at any time since we have been in Bolivia. But the calm of peace will soon be here, we are confident. From the natural standpoint things look brighter for Bolivia than at any time during the course of the campaign. From the spiritual standpoint also we have reason to believe that, although the war has been a great trial of faith to the young believers, the contacts made during the course of the years has worked out to the furtherance of the Gospel, especially among the soldiers. Of one thing we are sure, we are keeping our eyes fixed upon the things above for we know from whence our help must come. The outlook is bright because the uplook is growing ever brighter and more precious to us.

Missionaries

We are glad to report that, though the missionaries have felt the drain of physical energy, the Lord has wonderfully renewed our strength according to promise and in answer to your prayer. We have been wonderfully spared from the plagues of hyphus and typhoid fevers in all of their multiplied forms. We have been able to carry on all the different departments of the work, not as largely as we would like, but to the limit of our physical and mental energy. The inner man does not fail us. The missionaries have been busy through the year in pastoral work, visitation, care of the sick, special meetings, school-work and building at Puerto Perez.

National Workers

The Lord has thus far graciously spared to us our three principal "nationals," Felix Hermosa, Cipriano Mamani and Bernardo Paredes. They have not lacked in zeal for the preaching of the Word nor willingness to sacrifice their personal interests to the good of the work in the field. Their clear preaching and vision have been an inspiration to us to keep on during the very discouraging times. The preaching of full salvation has caused some very definite lines to be drawn about us as a mission with regard to other missions. Cipriano Mamani has continued at his post in Amacari, doing good work of school-teacher, pastor, and evangelist. His steady walk, good judgment and regulated life are a splendid witness for the Gospel. Bernardo Paredes, though sick for some time and hindered in his work by a wavering wife and a wayward daughter, has cheerfully carried his part of the burden. Don Felix Hermosa, as an interpreter, pastor and workman, has been invaluable to the mission. To him we owe a debt of gratitude that it would be very difficult to repay. Keep them on your prayer-list.

Schools

It has not been possible to keep both of the grade-schools up to par during the past year due to unusual circumstances. Here in La Paz two week-night classes have substituted for the day-school temporarily. It is the hope of the missionaries to see both schools functioning properly during the coming school year. The Bible School is still held in readiness for the day that God may open the way to begin this very necessary work.

Women Workers

The answer to our prayer and yours, for some women workers, has begun to appear. We thank the Lord for that. One of our former house-girls has expressed her sincere desire to prepare herself for the work of the Lord. Another of the older women is attending night classes twice a week learning to read and write. Another Indian woman, of noble type, soon after her husband died, came to the mission saying that she felt that she would like to give her time and strength to the Mission. A babe was born to her soon after the death of her husband and she is frail in health; but she has noble bearing, a good knowledge of the Spanish and several years of faithful walk with the Lord to recommend her. She also knows how to read quite well and is proving to be of considerable help in the re-organized Junior Department of the Sunday School. Honorable mention should be made of Cipriano Mamani's wife, Petrona. She is also frail in body, but a real helpmate in his pastoral work. She has been able to help him somewhat in his school work and is a splendid influence among the women wherever she may be. We believe that God is really talking to the women about the use of their gifts. Continue to pray for the raising up of more workers among the women.

Bible Reading

A great stimulus was given to Bible reading throughout the year by our offering a pretty, leather-bound edition of the New Testament and Psalms to all those interested enough to read through the New Testament during the course of the year and who could present satisfactory proof of their having thus read. We have presented about 12 of these little volumes as awards. It is our prayer that this reading may bear its own fruit as the Holy Spirit gives light along the way.

Tithing

Slowly but surely the desire to take an active part in the maintenance of the work of the Church is working its way into the hearts of the people. This desire has manifested itself in the increase in the amount of tithes received during this year over last.

Evangelism

Evangelism and Holiness are the theme of the mission program. Because of unforeseen difficulties we were unable to realize the evangelistic trips that had been planned for the year. This does not mean that we have done nothing at all, but rather that our program was changed and we were able to do far less than we had planned. Legal matters regarding the purchase of mission property in Puerto Perez on Lake Titicaca required much time and strength to arrange. But we had the opportunity of evangelizing many of the official class thus that may not have heard any testimony in any other way. We would ask your prayers for the evangelistic campaigns of the new year, the first of which will be under way as you receive this report.

Prayer

Prayer must be our great work this year. Let a greater and ever greater volume of prayer unite our efforts. "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." In the report for the year 1933-34 we asked your prayer for the raising up of women workers and larger quarters for the mission. The answer to the former is beginning to come. And we are confident that the prayer for the latter has been heard. We continue in the same quarters as last year, and are now under a four-year contract for this house. The chapel and Sunday School accommodations are far from adequate. So we would solicit your prayer regarding this matter for the ensuing year, especially in view of the possible termination of the war in the near future and the consequent increase in attendance. The need of permanent Mission quarters and property should be pressed before the Lord. The years pass rapidly and we are looking forward to a "harvest" season.

Annual Conference

The sessions of the Annual Conference were held April 19 to 21 inclusive. Reports were dated up to April 1st. We began a new phase of the conference this year—offering both lodging and food for the three days of the conference to all who came from out of town. The brethren willingly brought in offerings of potatoes, ocas and meat. We fed and slept 13 Indians on the mission property. Eleven different places were represented.

We were very much pleased to have with us, as a visiting minister, Brother William Barnard from Coripata, Nor Yungas, missionary of Westfield Yearly Meeting. His messages and presence were a blessing to all.

Awaking early in the morning the first voices we heard were the voices of prayer. The first service of the day was a service of prayer. The atmosphere of prayer pervaded the whole time of conference. The classes were all owned of the Lord, and the morning holiness services were especially blessed with seekers. One of the Indians from the Lake went forward to the altar. He arose to give his testimony, saying, "Brothers and sisters, I had lost my blessing of sanctification. This morning the Lord has restored it to me. I have found that I cannot sanctify God in my heart and mind if He does not first sanctify my heart. If we are not sanctified then let us not say that we are, for we for we only injure ourselves and others. If we are not sanctified, then let us confess it and seek it and God will cleanse us as He has me this morning."

Interesting Incidents

I was one day visiting in Amarcari, with an Indian, Mariano Medrano. He looked at me with a knowing little smile and said, "A man with a clean heart ought not to have a dirty house." The practical application of the Gospel was being made. We henceforth gave our little room a good cleaning.

Mariano Medrano was the Indian with whom I was travelling when the storm overtook us and we shipped so much water that we became doubtful of making land. He prayed and the storm was stilled. Together we prayed that the Lord would provide us with a better motor for the launch so as to provide greater security for His messengers. We have the new motor and it has been thoroughly tried out and has proven quite adequate for rough water and provides a much safer transit of the uncertain waters. We thank you for your contribution.

Cipriano Mamani was reading the report of the Sunday School. After giving the total attendance he read, "Total offering, two bolivianos and fifty cents and one egg." Some one had no money so brought what he had.

In Kalata a believing Indian died. Among his relatives were both Catholics and Believers. The Catholics were determined to take charge of the funeral service and drink, dance, and chew coca. The believing widow was determined to have no drunkenness and to have a regular preaching service. A conflict threatened. Cipriano and a number of believers arrived on the scene in the little cemetery. It was decided to let the Catholics bury the body, which they did amidst much drinking, drumming and dancing. When they had finished they withdrew and the believers advanced to the fresh grave and held a service of singing, prayer and preaching. The unbelieving Indians kept sullen silence during the service but did not interrupt. The believers then joyfully thanked God that He had stopped the mouths of the "lions" so that they could do no harm.

In Amacari a wedding took place. A believing young Indian married a Catholic girl. Both Catholics and Believers accompanied the couple to the distant town for the civil ceremony and back to the village. The believers were in the majority and insisted on holding their religious service with the newly married couple. The Catholics finally withdrew from the company and formed their dancing circle and began to drink, dance and play their drums and flutes. "But", said pastor Cipriano proudly, "We raised our voices and sang the hymns loudly, and prayed and spoke in a loud voice. Finally the drunken dancers danced their way off across the valley to another house and left us in charge of the field." Another victory was won.

In this same village the dry season set in early. The potato harvest was threatened with being burned. The Catholics gathered in different houses night after night. As the dry season continued the spirit of the village grew tense. The Gospel was being blamed for the drought. The Catholics decided that some measures must be taken, so they determined to send a representation to the authority to consult about the matter. They went and expressed their belief that the Gospel was to blame for the loss of the crop, and asked permission to burn the houses of the believers in vengeance. The permission was refused—and soon the rains fell, and the believers again rejoiced that God had held out His hand of protection over them.

The authorities have discovered that they can rely on the believers to carry out their orders; hence they insist in naming believers in the various villages as head-men, (Jilacata). They will not accept a refusal of service. One of our believers in Chicharro was named as head-man there. Some Catholics went one day to the authority and asked permission to hold a big feast in Chicharro. The authority turned to the head-man and asked him if he would attend the feast. He declined, saying that he was an "Evangelista" and that there was freedom of religion in Bolivia, and that he could not attend the feast. The authority promptly turned to the Indians who had come asking permission and told them that since the "jilacata" was unwilling to attend the celebration he would not grant the petition. Then the Indians threatened to do bodily injury to the believer—, "But", said he, "God did not permit them to lay their hands on me."

We bought mission property in Puerto Perez. If we had not bought from a believer it would have been impossible to buy there for no one would sell to the gringo-devils. Then trouble started both for us and the Indian who had sold to us. A neighbor on one side of us who had been an authority and done just about as he pleased had a little pig-pen and donkey corral on a piece of our property, which he refused to remove. We tried in every way to make peaceable arrangements with the Indian, but he was determined not to cede an inch. It became necessary to take formal, legal possession in the presence of authorities. These I had to bring from a distant town. I had to get out special legal papers.

A public audience was announced for a certain day and hour. Our objecting neighbor was summoned but he hid himself in the house and later pled ignorance of the transaction. I was obliged to lie down on the disputed area (midst the pig-pen and donkey and all) and turn over there a few times while confetti and candies were thrown over me. It was not such a nice process. I was then publicly proclaimed the owner of the property and authorized to build my wall about it.

We found it difficult to get workmen, for our neighbor would threaten them and be-devil them. None of the men of the place would work for us. So we found it necessary to import workmen from other places and even as far as La Paz. We had to pay higher wages in order to get them to stay with us. Even then we were shorthanded and, to keep the men from violence I and don Felix went out and shoveled dirt and mud like the lowest of the Indian workmen. And we built the wall. And the neighbor refused, consistently, to remove his pigs and donkey. He would get drunk and throw large rocks over our wall and threaten to kill both us and the man who had sold to us. And so the months for evangelizing passed away. The work on the house was tiresome both by day and by night; both to the body and the spirit.

After the wall was built we made the door and hung it. Then we noticed the first signs of yielding—the man came and asked permission to leave his pigs there one more night. Don Felix told him that he had seen the walls going up for weeks and that we had offered to build him another pen in any place he might choose, at our expense and he had refused. Now the time to talk was passed; the walls were made and the door was hung. The door was closed. That night there was more cursing and threatening—but the pigs and donkey slept under their masters own roof that night and since. We asked for the prayers of the people in the home land for this hard Indian. We hope and pray that he may be saved. He lately told one of our friends from the Islands that he was through threatening us and would be peaceable. But we shall not be satisfied with anything less than his salvation. We were also told that we were the first "whites" who had been able to buy land and establish themselves in that place. Surely God has helped us for this is such a needy place and necessary to our work both by land and water. Pray for this man.

The words of Jeremiah have been precious through the trying days—"And I will make thee unto this people a fenced brazen wall: and they shall fight against thee; but they shall not prevail against thee: for I am with thee to save thee and to deliver thee, saith the Lord. And I will deliver out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem thee out of the hand of the terrible."

I was invited to go to an Indian village to hold a meeting. The morning threatened a heavy storm, but I set out with several believers on the 9 or 10 miles walk. Three hours of walking along the dusty mountain road brought us to the village. The people gathered and we held a precious service on the hillside with the lake spread out before us.

Dinner was served. It consisted of several different kinds of boiled potatoes, soup, mashed potatoes with red-pepper sauce, and fried guinea-pig. Since the distance was long and I was tired, we prepared to start back soon after dinner. The Indian Squaw who was our hostess perceived our preparations and protested vigorously—"We have waited long for this visit, and now you think you will go after only one meeting? No! You cannot go until after another service." And with this she left us.

We consulted and decided we must stay for another service, though I felt so weary from the walking that I did not see how we could do it. We started the singing service. Many Indians crowded about us. While we sang and prayed I sought the mind of the Lord but could get no message. I hesitated a moment about getting to my feet. One of the Indian brethren then arose and asked my permission to speak, saying that the Lord wanted him to. I gave him permission and he was soon giving a warm gospel message and testimony—unlettered but not unlearned in spiritual things. A season of confession, weeping and prayer and testimony followed the message. Here we see the strong pleading of the people for the Gospel—and the leading of the Holy Spirit among their own number to minister to that cry. So it should be. May He lead on. This spiritual desert presents a lonely "watch" to the "sentinel" but it has its recompense in eternity.

"Go Ye" rings over in our hearts, and the "Lo, I am with you" is no less real. The days fly swiftly by and souls rush into eternity without a knowledge of the Savior. Jesus' coming seems so near. May he find us faithfully watching and praying at our post of duty.

"Watchman, What of the Night.."

Lone guard he keeps upon the aged embattlement,
Draped with Night's black mourning shroud,
Crowned with fiery wreaths, from Nature's fury rent,
Chilled with rain; torn by tugging winds;
Gnashed upon by raging, hoary Cold!
He stands, and thankless guard he holds

While to himself he binds around,
More tightly still,
His Helmet, Buckler and the Sword.
Amidst that shrieking hell,
Along the age-ed, war-scarred battlement,
He passes on the word--
"Tis midnight! But all around is well!"

Long watch he keeps upon that storm-checked wall,
A silhouette against the heavenly crowd
Of blinking diamonds yet fogged by mankind's fall.
Gone, the rain! Calmed the screaming winds.
But, still—he trembles with the cold
Of death. But, even so, he holds
His dart-flecked buckler tight and grounds
The blood-stained Spear.
His Watch is finished and the day
Dispels the thought of fear.
He gathers there his warrior strength and calls—
His fellows hear him say,
"Tis morning! And all around is clear!" (C. G. T.)

This greeting was read from the General Congregation of Friends in Bolivia.

23 de Abril de 1935, La Paz, Bol.

A La Junta Anual de "Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends."
Beloved Brethren:

We greet you in the name of the friends of Bolivia. Psalms 122:1-4, Juan 14:1-4. May the Peace of God be with you all. The love of God impells us onward to faithfulness in the faith.

In the Annual Conference of the present month, from the 19th to the 21st inclusive, brethren were present from eleven different places. During these three days we received great spiritual blessings. The Holy Spirit spoke to our hearts and we rejoice in the Grace of God, because he has given more strength to the weak. We give thanks to Jesus for such a wonderful salvation.

Your grace, and your part, which are the Tamplins and Miss Helen Cammack, ministered the goodness of God to us to our edification in the Lord Jesus.

Our prayer always is that God may supply the need of the Harvest Field. God also will hear your prayers in the Lord Jesus.

Yours of the General Congregation of Friends, Amen.

"It is the sense of this body that any communication officially directed to this Yearly Meeting be available for personal reading by any member of the Yearly Meeting on request; but that in presenting the epistles from those Yearly Meetings with which we correspond our Epistle Committee be authorized to abridge or summarize them as they deem advisable."

75. The Department of Education now claimed the attention of the meeting. The report was read as follows:

REPORT OF ACTIVITIES

Tacoma Quarterly Meeting reports, that Tacoma Monthly Meeting had a short Educational program at one of the regular Monthly Meetings, also an Educational program was given at the Quarterly Meeting held in Seattle, in February. President C. H. Watson of the Seattle Pacific College was the speaker, and the Victory Quartet of the same school sang. They report a profitable and enjoyable time.

Salem Quarter reports that groups of students from Portland Bible Institute and from Pacific College have visited their Meetings and that their services have been much appreciated.

The Educational Superintendent of Portland Quarterly Meeting arranged a service for the September Quarterly Meeting. The speaker for the occasion was Milo Ross, speaking on the subject of "Present Day Trends in Educational Psychology." It was an interesting and enlightening address, they report.

The Superintendent of Newberg Quarter reports that the department had charge of a short Educational program in connection with one Quarterly Meeting.

Boise Valley Superintendent does not report any activities but we are sure some study groups were sponsored by the Educational department and some addresses were given in the local meetings.

Very respectfully submitted,

Frank D. Roberts, Superintendent.

The statistical report will be found in the Appendix. These reports were approved by the meeting.

76. The Permanent Board reported that they had nominated to the Pacific College Corporation as members of the Board of Managers of Pacific College, Curtis Parker and Anna B. Miles.

77. The Pacific College Corporation submitted the following report which was approved by the meeting.
To Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends:

At the annual meeting of the Pacific College Corporation held Friday evening, June 14, 1935, the following were chosen members of the Board of Managers of Pacific College for the regular term of three years, and their names are herewith submitted for approval:

Clarence J. Edwards, nominated by the Alumni Association.

Curtis W. Parker and Anna B. Miles, nominated by the Permanent Board of the Yearly Meeting.

conditions that are more nearly normal there is no reason to doubt that Pacific College will have to make advances in its financial foundation which would already have been necessary had it not been for the easing up of requirements because of the long depression. If the friends of the college in Oregon Yearly Meeting and elsewhere wish to see the college maintained, they must be ready to rally to its support, not only in the way of providing help for current expenses but by adding to its permanent financial resources.

Student Aid

This year, as always, more than half of the student body have been self-supporting in whole or in part by work during the college year. The necessity for providing work for such self-supporting students has led to the most elaborate system of student work for the college that the institution has ever provided. In addition to those who have done remunerative work in their own homes or in work which the college had no immediate connection, and there were many of these, some idea of the extent of the self-help among Pacific College students may be gained from the following:

Ten Federal Emergency Relief Administration jobs were held by students throughout the year, five of these jobs being for young men and five for young women. Nine students held these throughout the year, and in one case one young man held the job during the first half of the year and another took the work during the second half.

Four young women paid for their board by work in the college dormitory; three young women and one young man paid for a total of one full tuition and a half by work in the library annex; one young man paid for his tuition by work as janitor's assistant; three young women and four young men were provided with work to pay for their entire tuition; and six young women and seven young men were given work to pay for half tuition.

One young man paid for his room in the dormitory by serving as dormitory governor. Eleven young women and six young men paid for their board and room, in whole or in part, in homes other than their own, by work during the college year.

In addition to these, as has been suggested, there are numerous students living in their own homes but working actively in some form of remunerative or non-remunerative service outside of their college work, in stores, in social service, as house-keepers, as heads of families, serving as pastors or physical laborers, as assistant teacher, here a barber, here a truck driver, here a deliverer of newspapers, here a worker in a restaurant, here a man running his own woodsaw, here a student teaching music—and the list might be much farther extended. It is safe to say that there are few colleges which have so large a proportion of their students that are wholly or partly self-supporting.

But there are two sides to this question, and perhaps more than two. There are only twenty-four hours in a day, and any hours that a student spends in work to earn his own living means that many fewer hours to be spent in study, recreation, extra-curricular activities, and other things which constitute a valuable part of a student's education. All honor is due to the young man or young woman who does make a real fight for his education; but those who see this fight may know that it is often made at the expense of real advantages which this student otherwise could secure. If parents can pay all the expenses of their children's education, they should recognize the fact that the student will thereby have an opportunity for a better and fuller education than he can get if he must wear himself out in paying in part for his education as he goes along.

Another side to the question is indicated by the college's very great need of every dollar of available financial support. If the college furnishes financial aid to a student when this aid could be provided by the student's parents or the student's home meeting, or by the student's relatives and friends, just that much income is taken from the institution and it ultimately means that that much less can be paid to the members of the faculty, whose salaries are already the lowest in the entire state.

Perhaps the most important angle to the question, however, is that there is only so much help of this sort that the college can give. The student who accepts this help when he could pay his expenses is thereby depriving someone else of a similar opportunity. Wherever possible the expenses of the student should be provided, by himself, his parents, his home meeting, or by some other agency, rather than seeking for an opportunity for assistance which if left for someone else might give one more young man or young woman an opportunity for a Christian college education. This of course is not intended to discourage any one, least of all worthy young men and women who are members of Friends. Other things being equal the college authorities would naturally be most favorably disposed to young men and women whose membership is in the denomination which founded the college and has done more than any other group to maintain it.

Extra Curricular Activities

One of the most important phases of a college education and one of the most difficult to report, is that of the extra curricular activities of the institution, things that are not required by the curriculum, things without which a student could complete his work and receive his degree, but things without which a college education would be robbed not only of much of its pleasure but a very large share of its profit. No institution can educate any student; it can at best only aid him in his own education. It is the self-activity which makes him truly educated; and the voluntary activities of the student outside the class room may be among the most valuable of his educative processes.

The extra curricular activities of Pacific College are widely varied and ample in quantity for a student body even larger than our own. Indeed some of our activities are not always adequately carried out because of the multitude of other curricular activities.

Among the extra curricular activities on the physical plane may be mentioned the regular gymnasium work, provided for all students desiring it; the games and sports for both men and women students, with volley ball, indoor baseball, tennis and hiking as the principal sports for women; and football, basketball, baseball, tennis and track for men. The new Willamette Valley Conference in which Pacific College became one of the charter members, has furnished a considerable amount of additional competition this year with schools of more nearly Pacific College's size and class.

There have been numerous activities of an intellectual nature, in which would probably be classed the work of the Trefian Literary Society, Public Speaking contests, the publication of the college paper, the "Crescent," and the publication of the college's first annual, "L'Ami," and matters of that sort.

The social life of the college has been maintained by various social gatherings of classes and other organizations, some of them including the entire student body, as have some of the receptions in honor of new students, the Senior reception, etc.

The International Relations Club has continued to maintain its interest in the study of our relations with the other nations of the earth and "the things that make for peace."

Most important of all the extra curricular activities is the work of the Christian Associations, with their weekly religious meetings, their study of the things that concern the kingdom of God, their deputation work by which they seek to reach out and advance the interests of the kingdom, and their association with the Friends church and other churches in the work of God.

The special meetings conducted during the past year in the Friends Church by Merrill M. Coffin, with his opportunity to speak daily in the Pacific College chapel, were a spiritual help to many of the students, not a few of whom came into vital and saving relationship with Christ through these meetings.

A Look Ahead

It is sometimes difficult to appreciate the value of our possessions until we lose them. Perhaps Friends ought not to be reminded of the possibility of the loss of Pacific College. But nothing is surer than that the life of Pacific College depends on the support of the Friends of Oregon Yearly Meeting. Without that support the college would inevitably have to be abandoned, even with all the interest of others in the maintenance of the institution. In the year ahead of us every Friend who believes that Pacific College ought to be maintained should be earnestly exercised to support the institution, by aiding in securing new students and helping present or former students to return next fall, by financial aid and moral support, by advice and counsel and by prayers to the source of all wisdom and power.

Respectively submitted,

Levi T. Pennington, President Pacific College.

REPORT OF THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY TO PACIFIC COLLEGE

The interest in the work of the Auxiliary has been good throughout the year and the committees have accomplished much, and we are glad for a considerable increase in our membership.

Plans for landscaping the campus have been discussed and a plat of the campus, drawn by Howard Richards, has been sent to Mr. Samuel Lancaster, a landscape artist of Portland, who has promised to supervise the work with little or no expense to the Auxiliary. William Morse, a local florist, offers to pay a hundred dollars tuition a year for several years in plants and shrubs for the campus and he offers to cooperate with Mr. Lancaster in the planting of these shrubs.

A guest room is being furnished in Canyon Hall.

Realizing the necessity for a new dormitory in the not distant future, the Auxiliary has been considering this as a possibility for our next major project. We have examined several plans drawn by Lawrence, Halford and Allyn, architects of Portland, and their costs, but have reached no conclusion as yet.

These reports were approved by the meeting. Several Friends told of the splendid service rendered by the deputization team from Pacific College.

REPORT OF GREENLEAF ACADEMY 1934-35

The year 1934 and 35 has been a good year at Greenleaf Academy. The students have maintained a wholesome attitude toward their school work and the principles for which the school stands. The work of the teachers has been faithful and thorough.

Ralph Choate coached the boys' basketball and baseball. Esther Choate came one hour each week to direct the girls in gymnasium work. Margaret Jackson directed the Junior Class in their presentation of "The Patsy." She also coached some other one-act plays.

Lauren Irwin of Nampa, Idaho, spent one day each week at the Academy giving private lessons in piano and voice and chorus singing. His students gave a public recital on the 7th of May.

The community sponsored a lyceum course during the winter months which was of considerable value to the students. Two series of revival meetings were held at the church during the year. Arnold and Jennie Hodgins conducted the first series of meetings during the last half of September, and later in the year Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cox of the Portland Bible Institute held a few days' meeting for us. The School always cooperates fully with the Church in all such services and as a result many of the students are brought into a Christian experience and those who are Christians are strengthened in the Faith.

Our pastor, Fred C. Harris, spoke once a week at our chapel time for several weeks during the later part of the year. He gave a series of talks setting forth the plan of redemption, beginning with the fall of man and following on through showing the provisions that are made for our salvation.

The eight in our graduating class this year were Myrtle Altig, Lucile Roberts, Mary Rinard, Alice Herlocker, Dwight Macy, Verle Emry, Alvin Roberts and Calvin Hull. Mary Rinard was awarded the scholarship offered by Pacific College. The Academy Alumni Junior Scholarship was awarded to Anna Settle.

Rev. G. L. Fraser of the First Baptist Church of Caldwell, Idaho, preached our baccalaureate sermon. He emphasized the fact that the Bible is the word of God and that it is important that our lives and our nation be governed by the Word. Mr. Philip Soulen, State Inspector of High Schools of Idaho, delivered the class address. His theme was "The Value of an Education." Being a man of wide experience, he was able to present some very convincing arguments on the subject.

We are thankful for the opportunities that have been ours during the past school year. We are sure that much good has been done but it is the places that we have seemed to fail in that make us want to know more clearly the will of the Lord.

We are confident that the entire management of Greenleaf Academy is striving faithfully to carry out the Lord's plan for Greenleaf Academy and we go forth with great confidence in Him to face the problems of the future.

Respectfully submitted,
Frank D. Roberts, Principal.

81. The meeting met according to adjournment and waited upon the Lord for His blessing.

82. A minute was read for Errol T. Elliott, a Minister of Indiana Yearly Meeting, issued by Whitewater Monthly Meeting, and endorsed by Whitewater Quarterly Meeting. He was introduced to the meeting and responded with a brief greeting.

83. The following communication from the Trustees was read and that body was authorized to make these transactions:

The Oregon State Highway in their new location have laid out the right of way through the Rex Church property, necessitating either removal or sale of the church building.

The State Highway Commission have agreed to remove the church to a new location or give a cash settlement of about $600.00. After conferring with the Evangelistic Committee, and people of the community we feel that the majority are in favor of selling the property.

We, the Trustees, recommend the sale of this property. We also recommend the sale of the rest of the property which is valued at about $400.00, making a total of approximately $1000.00, for the entire property.

We therefore request the authorization of the Oregon Yearly Meeting to make these transactions and sign deeds for the same.

Trustees:

B. C. Miles
A. E. George
H. T. Hester.

84. The Trustees furnished the following information:

We are holding the following note:

Second Friends Church of Portland (with interest due from October 26, 1927).....	$432.00
Boise Monthly Meeting (With interest from July 20, 1929).....	500.00
Piedmont Church of Portland.....	500.00
Cash on Hand.....	$ 48.36

The Trustees have signed a quit-claim deed to August Persey for property in Scotts Mills as per instruction of Minute 42 in the 1934 Minutes.

We have received a deed to Oregon Yearly Meeting from W. S. Brown and wife to nineteen acres of land in Vale, Oregon.

We have filed a copy of the minutes for 1934 as the official record of the meeting.

Trustees:

B. C. Miles
A. E. George
H. T. Hester.

85. The Yearly Meeting sustained the decision of the Trustees indicated in the following communication:

The Boise Monthly Meeting have asked to be released from paying the interest on the $500.00 received from the Yearly Meeting as a loan for the building of their church. The Discipline states that after a period of two years the notes draw 5% interest until paid, all principal reverting to the original fund for a similar use.

On account of the provisions of the Discipline, we, the Trustees, feel this is beyond our power, if such were done it would set a precedent for all church loans from the building fund; we should advise them to include in their budget for each year, the amount they could pay, to apply on this interest, extending the principal until they can pay it.

Trustees:

B. C. Miles
A. E. George
H. T. Hester.

86. The Permanent Board presented a memorial for I. Gurney Lee, a minister who has passed away since last Yearly Meeting. This was directed to be printed in the Appendix.

The names of other Ministers and members deceased during the past year were read and appear in the Appendix. The Yearly Meeting paused in respect for the memory of those who have been faithful in their labors and have now entered into the presence of the Lord.

87. The meeting approved the following report from the Department of Home Missions and Social Service:

The late influx of people from the middle west has increased the opportunities for this committee. In Idaho and Oregon notable work has been done in visitation and ministration. One family joined the church as the result of being aided in finding work. Other families are attending where they found the people friendly and helping them to help themselves. Many families are attending other denominations because they are shown more friendliness there than by the Friends. The calls by the members on the sick and needy were 2,000, or less than one per member of the church. Nearly 400 religious services were held by groups, mostly in the large cities.

The ministrations include 1,061 bouquets or plants, 988 glasses of jelly, over 400 gal. of canned fruit and vegetables, nearly 200 bu. of vegetables, 1½ tons dried fruit, 1,900 garments, 44 comforters, 62 doz. eggs, some furniture and wood, 300 lbs. meat, lard, butter, and milk, many cakes, pies, honey, and other groceries. Besides this, foods and money to the value of $752.74 went for relief and $843 to Home Missionary work, including childrens' Farm Home, Salem Japanese Mission, Portland Bible Institute, and our own outpost work. Special mention should be made of the 16,919 hours of work given—for many feel they have nothing but time to give. This may be the best investment because of the personal contact that is made. One sitting up for weeks with a sick man was rewarded in saving a soul.

These facts have been gathered not with a fervor for statistics that carries our desire to be helpful to the extent that it is almost like putting "hands on the Ark," to help God; but we want to show some of the "steel shavings," that may be either a pile of refuse or if melted by real Godly love, could be the great steel shaft of the propeller, the Church, that would move society God-ward.

Marjorie B. Votaw, Supt.

The meeting listened to an address by W. P. Keebough, a worker in the Federal Relief program.

88. The Meeting approved the recommendation of the Executive Committee that Chester A. Hadley be retained as Superintendent of Oregon Yearly Meeting at a salary of $1200.00 and traveling expenses not to exceed $200.00.

89. The Executive Committee submitted the following which was accepted by the meeting.

93. The Nominating Committee presented the name of Walter P. Lee for Financial Secretary for this ensuing year. The meeting approved the nomination.

94. The Pacific College Visiting Committee submitted the following report which was accepted:

Some visited classes, and some chapel exercises and some visited dormitories and athletics. One member has assisted the deputation teams in reaching appointments. Most of the committee are parents of students and keep in touch with the College regularly.

Signed for the Committee,
Alison H. Rogers.

95. The organization of the Evangelistic and Church Extension Board, of the Meeting on Ministry and Oversight, of the Board for Aged Ministers, and of the Ministerial Association were read and will be found in the Appendix.

The Annual Meeting of the Ministerial Association will be held at Star, Idaho, 11th Month 5-7, 1935.

96. The Press Committee presented the following report which was accepted:

We have endeavored to attend to the object of our appointment. Press reports have been sent to Portland, Salem and Newberg papers. Arrangements have been made for reports of the Yearly Meeting to appear in the American Friend, Evangelical Friend, Pacific Friend, and the Friendly Endeavor.

On behalf of the Committee,
Herman H. Macy, Chairman.

97. The report of the Legislative Committee was read and accepted.

With our membership in three states, there are relatively few matters of legislation which are strictly common to us.

99. The Treasurer of the Yearly Meeting was authorized to pay a bill of $1.60 incurred in purchasing a record book for the use of the Meeting on Ministry and Oversight.

100. The reading of the summary of the reports on the State of Society was waived. The summary follows:

SUMMARY OF THE REPORTS ON STATE OF SOCIETY

The Quarterly Meetings uniformly report that the meetings for worship and business are regularly held. In some the attendance and punctuality is not so good as might be desired but one meeting reports an increase at the mid-week meeting and in the Sunday School. Friends are generally careful in the training of their children and instruction in the Scriptures, and a good many homes maintain the family altar. There is an interest in promoting spiritual life among the members and an effort to live consistent Christian lives, avoiding as much as possible complications in business and worldly influence. In some meetings there have been special revival efforts. The cause of peace and of temperance are promoted though one might wish for more zeal in maintaining Friends' principles on some matters.

Two meetings report that care is taken in the selection of those persons for public service who are in harmony with the doctrinal standards of Friends.

101. By a rising vote the Yearly Meeting expressed appreciation of the courtesies extended to visitors by Newberg Friends and of the efficient work of the Entertainment Committee.

102. Appreciation of the services of J. G. Bringdale for his services during the sessions of the Yearly Meeting was expressed and the recording clerk was directed to give him a copy of the Minute.

103. The meeting adjourned to meet at 7:30 P. M.

SEVENTH DAY, 7:30 P. M.

104. The meeting met according to adjournment.

105. The Oregon Friends Christian Endeavor Union had charge of the evening program, which was opened with a song service and prayer, followed by several special numbers in song. The Christian Endeavor award, a silver cup, for recognition of efficient services as Quarterly Meeting Superintendent for the year, was given to Orpha Presnell, of Boise Quarter.

Announcements of the three summer conferences were made.

The matter of the dormitory for Twin Rocks was presented, and subscriptions taken for that fund.

107. The President read his annual report, as follows:

To Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends:

In making this report, we, Christian Endeavorers, want the entire Yearly Meeting to feel that the Oregon Friends Union is truly the youth division of the church. We have been active in the Lord's work, and He has given His presence and power for the tasks.

The item of membership in our ranks is one of deep concern. The total membership for the fiscal year is 1004 against 826 of last year. This reveals a gain of 178. The largest gains are shown in the Junior and Intermediate departments.

We thank God for the 16 new societies organized since last Yearly Meeting. Without a doubt the greatest factors in our work are the three summer conferences; one at Twin Rocks, Oregon, one at Quaker Hill, Payette Lakes, Idaho; and the other at American Lake, Washington. We also had fraternal exchanges with Quaker Cove Conference of Puget Sound Quarterly Meeting of Indiana Yearly Meeting. These conferences are vital aids in spiritual, recreational and social growth. Approximately eight hundred were in attendance at these three conferences and two hundred and fifty-five persons knelt at the altars for definite experiences.

Twelve young persons from Twin Rocks Conference were received as delegates by the Quaker Hill group, and they are planning to send a like number to Twin Rocks this season. These three conferences have been supplied with leaders for this coming summer. A Boy's dorm has been built at Quaker Hill and a dormitory has been started on the Twin Rocks grounds. Regional rally banquets were held at Greenleaf, Idaho; Tacoma, Washington; and Portland, Oregon, at which a total of 905 persons attended.

Although the "Friendly Endeavor" has evolved into a Yearly Meeting journal as well as young people's paper, we as young people, still edit, manage and mail it. It has been published monthly throughout the year. Following the practice of a year ago, an annual edition was released at the close of the year in an endeavor to sum up the gains of the past period.

The "Friendly Endeavor" should receive the support of the entire church membership.

Much of the administrative work of the union is carried on through its Executive committee. The functions of financial secretary, missionary superintendent and Junior and Intermediate, Young Peoples and Alumni superintendents have been assigned to our regular officers.

Monthly reports were asked of each member. The summarized report is as follows:

Executive meetings held.....	9
Number attending.....	42
Cards and letters mailed.....	437
Cards and letters received.....	230
Quarterly Meeting Councils Held.....	18
Quarterly Meeting Rallies Held.....	20
Executive members attending.....	34
Visits to societies.....	94
Ex. members attending conferences.....	23
Miles traveled by executive members in direct interest of C. E. work.....	12,491

Friends lesson helps were published for nine months. Twenty-five study classes were held. A "Courageous Campaigners with Christ" chart was prepared with special emphasis on Quarterly Meeting and Yearly Meeting work, study classes, missions, scrapbooks and stewardship. Some five hundred White Gift Christmas gifts were sent to our home mission workers.

Approximately $3000.00 has passed through the various Yearly Meeting Christian Endeavor treasuries.

Several of our members have been led out into active Christian service and three plan to go to the foreign mission field this fall.

I, as President wish to give all glory to our Lord Jesus Christ for enabling us to work for Him and to thank all members of the Executive committee and of the Union as well as all pastors and others who have so graciously cooperated.

Respectfully submitted,
Milo Ross, President.

108. The report of the Nominating Committee was read and appears in the Appendix. The officers for the ensuing year were introduced, and Chester A. Hadley offered the prayer of installation.

109. The following report of the Children's Meetings was received:

We are praising the Lord for His gracious presence in the children's meetings. In the five meetings there was an average attendance of 25 children, doing various types of memory and hand work. Perhaps the most outstanding meeting was the one in which Mr. Bringdale brought a most vivid and impressive lesson to the children. The hand of the Lord was felt in the meetings, manifesting itself in a wonderful spirit. We feel that child evangelism is very important, and that real benefit was gained from these meetings.

Respectfully submitted,
Jean Gardner
Eilene Kenworthy.

110. The Meeting thanked the Clerks for their services during the session by a standing vote.

111. J. G. Bringdale gave the message of the evening.

112. The meeting adjourned until 8:00 A. M. First Day.

FIRST DAY, 8:00 A. M.

113. The meetings for worship were held as follows:

8:00 A. M. Devotional service.

11:00 A. M. J. G. Bringdale and Fred C. Harris preached. One pulpit in the city was supplied by a Friend.

3:00 P. M. Christian Workers League service, Edward Harmon gave the message. An offering amounting to $88.26, in cash and pledges, was taken for the Workers League.

114. The offerings for the Evangelistic and Church Extension Board in morning and evening services amounted to $57.00 in pledges, and $96.47 cash.

115. The Entertainment Committee's report was as follows:

Your Entertainment Committee placed 93 guests in homes, and served 1067 meals. Of this number 625 were guests of the Yearly Meeting, 217 meals were served to children and help.

Total dining room expense.....	$207.32
Cash from meals.....	$111.00
Cash from Yearly Meeting.....	96.32

Balance$207.32

We are grateful to all who helped with the entertaining.

Ida Van Blaricom, Chairman.

116. J. G. Bringdale brought the closing evangelistic message.

117. Conscious of the presence of the Holy Spirit throughout the entire session of the Yearly Meeting, and grateful for His guidance and restraint, with the prayer that the coming year may be even more fruitful than the past one has been, we adjourn to meet at Newberg, Oregon, 6th month, 10, 1936.

Edward Mott,
Sophia E. Townsend, Clerks.

Appendix

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our beloved Quarterly Meeting Superintendent, I. Gurney Lee, who went to his heavenly home First Month, Tenth, in the year of our Lord 1935, the following memoriam is submitted.

Since God in His infinite wisdom has taken from us our Quarterly Meeting Superintendent, I. Gurney Lee, we bow in silence and humility before Him who doeth all things well; knowing that in His good time we shall all meet again in that wonderful meeting God is preparing for those who love Him.

After being converted in his later thirties, he felt called to the ministry and for more than thirty years God's blessing rested upon him in that capacity.

At the time of his decease, he and his wife, Ida J. Lee, were pastors of Tacoma monthly meeting. His services as Evangelistic Superintendent of the Quarterly Meeting were most efficient in spiritual matters as well as in affairs of discipline and church government.

He stood in high esteem throughout Oregon Yearly Meeting and his sound judgment and discernment, were recognized by the many committees on which he served in the Yearly Meeting.

The concern for the spiritual well being of every member of the church lay on his heart, even through his last illness and up to the time of his going home.

Though tender in spirit he stood as the rock of Gibraltar in proclaiming the fundamental truths of God's marvelous power to completely deliver from sin. His memory will linger with us throughout the coming years as one of God's called and anointed laborers.

Respectfully submitted by the Memoriam Committee,
Lottie M. Brown
Elizabeth Haldy
Verna Brennan
Lewis Russell.
