

1-1-2009

Contributors -- Quaker Religious Thought, no. 113

Paul Anderson
panderso@georgefox.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <http://digitalcommons.georgefox.edu/qrt>

Part of the Christianity Commons

Recommended Citation

Anderson, Paul (2009) "Contributors -- Quaker Religious Thought, no. 113," Quaker Religious Thought: Vol. 113, Article 5.
Available at: <http://digitalcommons.georgefox.edu/qrt/vol113/iss1/5>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Commons @ George Fox University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Quaker Religious Thought by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ George Fox University.

CONTRIBUTORS

JEFFREY DUDIAK is Associate Professor of Philosophy at the King's University College, Edmonton, Canada, specializing in contemporary Continental philosophy of religion and ethics. A life-long Quaker, he currently serves as clerk of Edmonton Monthly Meeting, as Canadian Yearly Meeting's representative to Friends United Meeting, on the executive of the Friends Association for Higher Education, and on the advisory council of QRT. Jeff's book on Levinas, The Intrigue of Ethics (Fordham University Press, 2001), made an important contribution to the field, and Jeff is currently gathering a collection of essays on Quakers and truth. He shares life with his poet wife, Julie Robinson, and his nine-year-old son, York, whose aspiration is to one day play baseball for George Fox University.

COREY BEALS Corey Beals lives with his wife, Jill, and two sons, Jonathan (6) and Daniel (4), in a hundred-year-old house across the street from George Fox University, where he has been teaching philosophy and theology for the last seven years. He worships at Newberg Friends and participates in an unprogrammed meeting there. He loves to hike, climb, kayak, walk, and he loves to dig his hands into garden soil and work with mud, wood or stone in restoring his old house. He has written a book on Levinas entitled Levinas and the Wisdom of Love (Baylor University Press, 2007) and is currently working on a book about invisibility. The purpose of his teaching, writing and living is to find ways for persons to move out of invisibility into faithfully seeing and being seen, knowing and being known, in truth and love.

GERARD GUITON is a member of Australia Yearly Meeting and worships in Northern Suburbs LM in Melbourne. An independent scholar with degrees from Manchester and Sheffield universities (UK), and a doctorate from Monash University (Melbourne), he is a former school teacher. After 20 years in the classroom, he worked in the field of development aid with World Vision Australia and Oxfam Australia. He has been Henry J. Cadbury Scholar at Pendle Hill (2004-05) and is the author of The Growth and Development of Quaker Testimony (Mellen, 2005). Published in various Quaker journals and newsletters, his current book project is provisionally entitled The Way of Revolution: the Early Friends, the Kingdom of God and the Future of Quakerism.