Building Character

by Manfred Tschan

The competitive arena provides a never-ending list of tests and choices: Team or individual? Short term or long term? Humility or boldness? Discipline or freedom? Truth or loyalty? Creativity or preparation? Process or results? The letter or the spirit? Athletics or academics? Justice or mercy? Roots or wings? The easy way or the right way?

Our coaches will spend as much time helping you find answers to these questions as they will on improving your left foot. Your character will always be more important to your success than your left foot. Your left foot may determine what kind of player you are, but your character determines what kind of player you can become.

Creating Memories

Championship seasons make for great memories. So do record-breaking seasons. And some of the best memories come from struggling valiantly with teammates who were not quite good enough to end up on top. Our soccer alumni gatherings make it abundantly clear: Your best soccer memories will not be about your achievements. They will be about your teammates. Our coaches will make sure that you have quality teammates.

Academics First

The men's soccer team has won a "Team Academic Award" from the NSCAA every year since the award was instituted. Coaches and teammates expect academically gifted players to strive for top honors in their classes. Teammates will not allow fellow players to settle for merely passing classes. Graduating on time and with honors is a very good reason to play soccer at George Fox University.

Experiencing the World of Soccer

The NCAA allows teams to take a "foreign tour" once every three years. Meeting people from foreign cultures, watching practices

“ Your left foot may determine what kind of player you are, but your character determines what kind of player you can become. ”

and games of top professional clubs, playing international friendly matches, and experiencing the hospitality of the local clubs and universities leave lasting impressions on everybody. To share in our last trip go to blogs.georgefox.edu/soccer.

Honoring the Beautiful Game

The game of soccer deserves your full love and passion. At George Fox, we do our best to keep the game beautiful. While our style or formations may change to reflect the talent of our players, we always play attacking soccer. We focus on the quality of play, rather than winning the game. Our teams have a reputation for playing hard, yet we usually lead our conference in fewest fouls committed and fewest cards received. If you love soccer, you will love playing at George Fox.

Excellence in Academics and Athletics

The Northwest Conference and NCAA Division III Experience

National Collegiate Athletic Association Division III

Colleges and universities in the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division

III place their highest priority on the overall quality of the educational experience and on the successful completion of all students' academic programs.

Division III institutions seek to establish and maintain an environment in which a student-athlete's athletic activities are conducted as an integral part of the student-athlete's educational experience.

Division III consists of more than 400 institutions, making it the largest division in the NCAA. All Division III institutions award no athletically related financial aid to any students. Division III sponsors 13 national championships in men's sports, 14 in women's, and eight national collegiate championships that are combined with other divisions.

George Fox University has been a member of the NCAA since 1995 when – along with the other institutions in the Northwest Conference – it elected to transfer its membership from the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

States. Its nine members are all private colleges or universities located in Oregon or Washington.

George Fox left the Cascade Collegiate Conference to join the Northwest Conference in 1995, shortly before the Northwest Conference shifted national affiliation from the NAIA to the NCAA. Leaving behind years of success at the NAIA level, the conference embraced the move as one that would foster equity, sportsmanship, and genuine concern for the student-athlete in all endeavors of competition.

The Northwest Conference

The nine colleges and universities in the Northwest Conference are known for their academics and athletics.

The conference is building a reputation as one of the most competitive NCAA Division III alliances in the country. In the academic arena, every Northwest Conference institution has been ranked by U.S. News & World Report as a top-tier school in its category.

Formed in 1926, the conference is one of the oldest athletic alliances in the western United

George Fox University was established in 1885 by Quaker settlers as Friends Pacific Academy. Herbert Hoover, the 31st president of the United States, attended the academy before it became a college in 1891. The George Fox name honors the founder of the Friends (Quaker) church.

George Fox offers bachelor's degrees in more than 35 majors, degree-completion programs for working adults, a seminary, and 16 master's and doctoral degrees.

George Fox offers unique programs. Every incoming freshman is provided a laptop computer to use and keep upon graduation. Students also can take advantage of the university's study-abroad program. George Fox pays transportation costs for a three-week overseas

CURTIS AND MARGARET MORSE COMPLEX

George Fox University soccer, baseball, and softball teams play home games on the Curtis and Margaret Morse Athletic Complex.

Located on the northeast section of the campus, the complex was renovated in 1989 using a major donation from Curtis and Margaret Morse, avid supporters of Bruin athletics. Four generations of the Morse family have attended George Fox.

All three Morse Fields are natural-grass surfaces. The soccer field, home to both the men's and women's soccer teams, has seating for 250 spectators.

The baseball field has seating for 250 spectators. Directly behind home plate is the concession stand and press box. The field measures 330 feet down the left-field line, 365 to the left-field power alley, 380 to dead center, 370 to the alley in right, and 330 down the line in right.

The softball field, which has an all-dirt infield, has seating for 100 fans. The outfield fence is 205 feet down the left-field line, 200 down the right-field line, and 200 to straightaway center.

Fund-raising efforts are now under way for a new athletic field complex located on 24 acres of land donated to the university by Newberg business owners Ken and Joan Austin.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

are an important part of George Fox University, home to one of the Northwest's most successful small-college sports programs. Winning programs, of course, are accompanied by a proper balance between academics and athletics. At George Fox University, student-athletes compete for conference and national titles at a Christ-centered university where professors and coaches help them grow in mind, body, and spirit. Intercollegiate athletics competition provides for practical application of what is learned in the classroom and at practice.

At George Fox, the values of athletics are integrated with the goals of Christian higher education in a process that includes:

- Physical conditioning
- Managing emotions
- Courage
- Teamwork
- Cooperation
- Graciousness in winning and losing

THE UNIVERSITY fields teams in 14 varsity sports, eight for women (golf, volleyball, soccer, cross country, basketball, softball, tennis, and track and field) and six for men (soccer, cross country, basketball, baseball, tennis, and track and field). More than 15 percent of George Fox's traditional undergraduate students participate in these sports. Their records over the years serve as shining testimonies to the administration's conviction that an institution can play for the glory of God, follow the rules and ethics of its governing organizations, and be successful on the fields and courts of competition at the same time.

Consider the growing legacy:

- George Fox has earned district or conference titles 18 times during the last decade.
- George Fox athletes have earned more than 300 All-America and All-America Scholar-Athlete honors.
- Seven of the 12 coaches on staff have been named Coach of the Year at various levels a total of 26 times.
- George Fox coaches have held their positions for an average of 10 years, and together have accumulated more than 1,500 collegiate wins.
