Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church 1998

Monday, July 20, 8:00 a.m.

■ 1. Northwest Yearly Meeting convened its 106th annual sessions on Monday, July 20, 1998 on the campus of George Fox University under the theme "Abiding in Christ." Presiding Clerk Mark Ankeny read the short version of the Northwest Yearly Meeting Values Statement, and a time of reflection and prayer followed the reading.

■ 2. Mark Ankeny introduced visitors to Yearly Meeting: Mary Lord from Baltimore Yearly Meeting representing Friends Committee on National Legislation and Roland Kreager from Friends World Committee for Consultation.

■ 3. Harold Antrim, associate superintendent, introduced those assuming new pastorates or making pastoral changes for 1998—1999. Pastors: Caldwell—Toby and Janine Schroeder; Newberg Hispanic—Angel and Marvelis Diaz; Reedwood—Paul and Miriam Bock (Interim Clerk of Pastoral Team), Lynn Clouser (Minister of Pastoral Care), Caryl Menkhus (Minister of Children's Education); Lynwood—Bill and Lisa Moormann; Hillsboro—John and Rebecca Donathan; Homedale—John and Martha Beck; Sprague River—Robert and Camilla Adams; Entiat—Cindy Josephson (new wife of Terrance); Spokane—Lorraine Watson; Greenleaf—Ronald and Debra Mulkey (Associate Pastor), Billie Conant (Visitation Pastor); Camas—Julie and Dave Mueller (Children's Ministry Leader), Cheryl and Pete Emerson (Children's Ministry Leader); Clackamas Park—Dana and Jeff Anderson (Maturity Pastor); Four Summits—Rich and Nadine Miller; City's Edge—Trey and Stephanie Doty, Dan and Beth Banham. Youth Pastors: Lynwood—Tom Heuberger; Melba—Jamie Blenker; Metolius—Nate and Amy Macy; Newberg—Heather Taggart; Netarts—Matt Lacy; Vancouver—Nick Abraham; West Hills—Noel Carey and Ron Crosby.

■ 4. Joe Gerick, superintendent, gave a report of some of the highlights of his year of service. He especially appreciated the opportunity to attend the celebration of the new Yearly Meeting in Peru. He saw improvements in Peru since his last visit. There are better roads, vehicles, and many cell phones. He felt the nationals were taking more responsibility in directing the affairs of the church. He reported that the Board of Missions will concentrate on training of pastors and teachers. He also served on the executive committee to select a new president for George Fox University, and felt confident in the choice of H. David Brandt from Tabor College. He enjoyed leading four men's retreats and other teaching responsibilities. He's enjoying contacting people throughout the Yearly Meeting.

■ 5. Mark Ankeny also enjoyed attending the Yearly Meeting celebration in Peru. He felt that the Peruvian Yearly Meeting was very joyful about the new status of being an official Yearly Meeting.

■ 6. Don Staples, assistant presiding clerk, read the recommendation of the Executive Council that Joe Gerick's appointment as General Superintendent be extended through June 30, 2000. Mark Ankeny explained that the Executive Council had conducted a comprehensive performance review of Joe Gerick. During discussion, a Reedwood Friends' representative brought a concern regarding the job description of the general superintendent. The presiding clerk invited the representative to share additional concerns with the Executive Council later in the day. Several people spoke in affirmation of the recommendation. This was approved.

■ 7. Don Staples, assistant clerk, read the recommendation of the Executive Council that Harold Antrim's appointment as Associate Superintendent be extended through June 30, 2000. This was approved.

■ 8. Mark Ankeny asked for affirmation of the work done by the Commission on Family Life and Commission on Fine Arts for the Family Fun Day held Saturday, July 18. He explained the purpose of the Silent Auction was to raise money for the Richard H. Beebe Memorial Pastoral Counseling Fund which supports pastors going through times of crisis. This Fund needs to be renewed yearly. The Commissions were affirmed by the meeting.

■ 9. The business meeting approved the presentation by the Mission Board on Sunday, July 19.

Theme: Where in the World is Waldo?

The Mission Rally began with an EFI report about the missions of Asia, Taiwan, and North Central India (which is 100 years old), the Philippines, Hong Kong, Indonesia and Nepal (a relatively new mission). There are 16 churches in Nepal and the work is flourishing. Cambodia has two missionary couples from Southwest Yearly Meeting.

The three teachers from NWYM (Carleta Baker, Allyn and Holly Dhyes) reported on their year's work at the Friends School in Ramallah. There are 950 students attending the school, and some are potential leaders of Palestine. These teachers feel called to teach peacemaking and reconciliation skills.

Bill Kelley talked about the diversity of missionaries and mission fields, and yet two billion people have never heard the gospel.

A team from Newberg Friends Church provided music.

Hector and Verna Munn spoke of their three-year assignment to Rwanda with EFM, where they filled in until David and Debby Thomas arrived. In recent years 500,000 people have been killed in wars in Rwanda. The Munns served in several capacities, and returned to the Northwest in December of 1997. Lon Fendall, formerly of Northwest Yearly Meeting and now Academic Vice President at Tabor College in Hillsboro, Kansas traveled to Burundi this summer and has done research on starting a theological school in the region, under the direction of EFI/Africa Region.

Ron Stansell announced that Peru Yearly Meeting was formally constituted in the past year, after approval of Northwest Yearly Meeting in the 1997 sessions. A Latin American Friends Pastors Conference is being planned for December 1999 to be held in Central America. It will include 300 pastors of EFI/Latin America and Friends

United Meeting churches in Cuba. The YCEW team from Northwest Yearly Meeting spent three weeks in Cuba painting the inside of a church, and other ministries. They were led by Ron and Carolyn Stansell.

There are more friends in Latin America than in North America.

Ken and Tonya Comfort and Katie brought greetings from Peru Yearly Meeting where evangelism and discipleship are their main goals.

Jerry and Kerri Clarkson with Rachel and Melissa talked about the 500 unchurched people in the town of Waldo, Bolivia (a real place!) along with other small unreached people groups of Bolivia. Aymara people have been NWYM's main focus through the years.

Warren Koch introduced Hal and Nancy Thomas, describing their many skills and experiences including the completion of PhD's in missions and anthropology. They will be sent to Bolivia in early 1999 to the Bolivian Evangelical University to start a new master's in Missions (Intercultural Studies) program. Roscoe Knight led a prayer of dedication for Hal and Nancy.

[Formal board reports as distributed to Yearly Meeting attenders appear in the Addendum of the Minutes.]

■ 10. David Hampton, Director of Finance and Development, gave the treasurer's report from the 1997 audit of the Yearly Meeting books performed by Nixon, Abbey and Company. December 1997 ended the fifth consecutive year that the Great Commission income exceeded expenses. Income was $587,482 and expenses were $587,154. Harold Ankeny and the business session affirmed David Hampton's work (see appendix).

■ 11. David Hampton reported on the Friends Fund which is the Department of Development for the Board of Stewardship. Because of the deficit there hasn't been staff available to aggressively market Friends Fund to the Yearly Meeting. Efforts are focused primarily on existing relationships (see appendix).

■ 12. The following revision to Faith and Practice was read by Tom Stave, clerk of the Faith and Practice Revision Committee, for a second reading - (pp. 40-44 of the 1987 Faith and Practice).

pp. 40-44 Sections dealing with the following committees in local churches: Elders, Education, Peace and Social Concerns, Stewardship, Nominations, and Fine Arts. In each of these sections, following the sentence ending "...the terms of one third expiring each year," add this sentence: "Normally service should be limited to no more than two consecutive terms unless other qualified individuals are unavailable." This was approved.

■ 13. The session closed with prayer.

Tuesday, July 21, 8:00 a.m.

■ 14. The meeting opened with a time of quiet worship.

■ 15. The minutes of the Monday meeting were read, corrected, and approved.

■ 16. Additional Representatives were introduced.

■ 17. Mark Ankeny introduced visitors to the Yearly Meeting: Duduzile Mtshazo, member of Central and Southern Africa Yearly Meeting. She lives in Soweto, South Africa and teaches nursing. She comes directly to us from North Pacific Yearly Meeting where she has been Friend-in-Residence. Currently Dudu is assistant clerk of Friends World Committee for Consultation and clerks the planning committee for the FWCC triennial to be held in New England in the year 2000. Also introduced was Ann Stever, presiding clerk of North Pacific Yearly Meeting. Ann has met a number of NWYM Friends through the Pacific Northwest Quaker Women's theological conferences, FWCC, and the 1992 Western Gathering of Friends. Ann lives in Seattle, Washington. The third visitor was Fred Johnson from Mid-America Yearly Meeting here on behalf of Barclay College.

■ 18. Dayton Durley, candidate for recording as a minister, gave his testimony.

■ 19. Dea Cox, clerk of the Council of Elders, gave his annual report. He said the Elders have a concern for connectedness across the Yearly Meeting as they have read through the Faith and Practice looking at the agreements we made together. Their concern is for deep commitments and high aspirations. They are concerned about the supplying of new pastors for the Yearly Meeting. There are people in nearly every church feeling called to ministry. Each church needs to encourage and nurture these gifts and provide opportunity for development. The various church reports have described many great ministries occurring in the local meetings. He said they have had some serious problems to deal with this year. It was suggested that at the end of the Yearly Meeting sessions, an evaluation form be passed out for giving suggestions and feedback. Another suggestion was made that the people of NWYM gather together without an agenda of business for a unified time of prayer. Dea said the Elders are making an effort to become more involved and encouraging to local church elders, and to future ministers. It was suggested that the Elders supply names of candidates for ministry and missions to boards such as Missions, Ministerial Service, etc. A concern for more focus on prayer was expressed. Concerning preparation for those called to ministry, Dea said there are a variety of ways to prepare. If one is called to serve, he/she needs to prepare to serve. The report was approved.

■ 20. A letter from Nampa Friends Church to the Representatives was read by Assistant Clerk Don Staples, concerning the lack of the name "Friends" by some NWYM churches. Also Mark Ankeny expressed a concern from Reedwood about who we are and our Friends identity. After a time of prayer and reflection approximately 20 people expressed various concerns. Many people were concerned with the fact that the Faith and Practice instructs churches to use the name Friends. Others felt that individual churches know their own situations and should be allowed to name their church accordingly. Others were concerned that churches need to emphasize Friends' teachings. Some felt that churches lacked integrity if they didn't clearly identify their connection to Friends. Mark Ankeny asked us to reflect on these comments and consider action on Wednesday.

■ 21. Aaron O'Neill, candidate for recording as a minister, gave his testimony.

■ 22. Jerry Baker, pastor at Netarts, dismissed us with prayer.

Wednesday, July 22, 8:00 a.m.

■ 23. The business meeting opened with quiet worship and prayer.

■ 24. The minutes of the Tuesday morning business meeting were read, corrected, and approved.

■ 25. Mark Ankeny announced that the Board of Evangelism took action granting McMinnville Friends extension church status under Northwest Yearly Meeting. Representatives are present.

■ 26. Don Staples read a letter from three recent Earlham School of Religion graduates: Derrie Watson, Melanie Weidner Watson, and Noel Carey. The letter expressed appreciation for the work of the Tuesday business session, especially in the discussion of including the name of Friends in the title of NWYM churches. "It seemed to us that individuals worked to maintain a worshipful intent and were also careful with their language, pace, and passions."

■ 27. Representatives from the High School Youth Yearly Meeting named their new officers for the coming year, read an epistle describing their week at Yearly Meeting and read the minutes of their business session. The new officers are: Presiding Clerk - Jeremy Weaver; Assistant Presiding Clerk - Brook Payton; Recording Clerk - Bethany Crosiar; Conference Coordinator - Matthew Kaufman; Youth Exchange Representative - Aliesje King.

The high school epistle was read and approved:

A feeling of joy and peace came over the little town of Newberg, Oregon as our annual NWYM sessions began on the campus of George Fox University, July 18-24, 1998. This past year has seemed long and full of struggles, but Christ has joined us once again in body, mind, and spirit that we may glorify Him in business and worship.

The youth gathered and journeyed to Tilikum Day Camp for a time of fellowship and fun. This gave us the chance to meet new people and to become reacquainted with old friends. Most of all it was a chance to observe and enjoy God's magnificent creation.

Joining us this week were three adults and nine youth from New England Yearly Meeting, two adults and seven youth from Mid-America Yearly Meeting, and one adult from Ireland. We embraced them with love and were excited to share our spiritual walks with them. Through this sharing we discovered many awesome similarities and differences between programmed and unprogrammed meetings, and built some strong friendships.

The rest of the week was spent in worship and business. Ninety-eight high school youth met in a small basement room to praise God and lift our voices to Him. Through prayer and open worship we were challenged to let God fill us up and to love one another. God was truly in our presence, speaking to us and through us.

In our business meetings we elected officers for the following year and discussed various youth events put on by the Yearly Meeting.

We shared our personal faith and spiritual walk in worship sharing groups. We spent time meditating on Scripture and listening for what God might want to say to us through His Word as well as a time for God to speak through others' experiences. We learned to give our burdens to Christ, to shine His light, and to be servants.

As a service to the community, we worked with Habitat for Humanity to cut down dead and diseased trees. The money from the remaining trees will be used to build homes for the needy. It feels good to know that the little things we do in Christ's name help others in a big way.

Every night we gathered with young and old to worship our Father. Joe Gerick, our Superintendent, shared messages straight from his heart. In open worship the Holy Spirit united us in one body: Christ's body; with one common goal: to grow closer to the Lord. God spoke through both young and old; women and men.

We will end the week with our annual beach trip. It's a time to enjoy nature and to spend time with Christ. Christ has truly proven Himself to be the One and only King.

"Give thanks to the Lord for He is good; His love endures forever." Psalm 107:1

Reneé Rittenhouse, High School Assistant Clerk

■ 28. Don Staples read a letter from the Gibara, Cuba Monthly Meeting expressing appreciation for the work of the NWYM YCEW team visit to Cuba June 22 - July 13, 1998. "They have accomplished not only physical work which is praiseworthy but have also given an example of the true Quaker spirit of love, simplicity, and service, and they have left a mark that will last in our memory across the years."

■ 29. The Junior High Youth Yearly Meeting representatives introduced their new officers, read an epistle describing their week, and read the minutes of their business sessions. They described their workshops, worship experiences and service projects. Their new officers are: Presiding Clerk - Noah Palmer; Assistant Presiding Clerk - Julie Brown; Recording Clerk - Sarah Smith; Conference Coordinator - Haley Thornburg.

The Junior High epistle was read and approved as follows:

Greetings to all Friends everywhere!

The Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends met at George Fox University in Newberg, Oregon from July 18-24, 1998. During this week, 41 junior highers got together, anticipating an amazing week filled with laughter, games, and most importantly time with God.

The week was kicked off with a Family Fun Day for which many youth volunteered. Afterwards, the eight junior high and senior high officers introduced themselves to the rest of the attenders. The day was concluded with our annual trip to Tilikum Day Camp (owned by the University) for a barbecue and games. We also were organized into family groups and given an hour to get to know each other and make up a skit, which was later performed for everyone.

The rest of the week consisted of countless activities. The junior high had workshops, all about Quaker history, distinctives, and roles that we can play today in the world. These workshops were taught by Mike Huber (pastor of West Hills), Gregg Koskela (children's ministry pastor of Newberg), and Colin Saxton (copastor at North Valley).

Tuesday night was Youth Night, with the evening worship service being led completely by the junior and senior high. No one who was there could say honestly that God did not touch them.

The junior high service project this year was spending time at care homes, getting to know the elderly. Everyone enjoyed this fun experience as they saw God in one another.

When we weren't doing something else, we played incredibly wet, wild games; made friends; and just plain enjoyed each other and God's presence throughout the week. We also spent an awesome day at the beach.

When asked, some of the junior highers described Yearly Meeting as "an amazing experience with God and a blast to have with other Quakers," "original," "exciting," "spirited," "spiritually inspiring," and "different from any other yearly meeting out there."

In Christ,

Holly Dobbeck, Junior High Assistant Presiding Clerk

■ 30. Bruce Bishop, youth superintendent, announced he feels released from his call as of July 1, 1999. Missy Bullock has also felt released from her call as youth program coordinator. Missy will be pursuing her gifts in music ministry. Bruce is experiencing a new call to explore vision and leadership development within the Yearly Meeting. He has served as youth superintendent for 11 years. Many expressions of appreciation for Bruce's leadership and guidance were given. A time of prayer for Bruce's future ministry, and thanks for his years of effective ministry followed.

■ 31. The 1999 Great Commission Program Budget (GCPB) was presented by David Hampton. He explained that the Yearly Meeting Board of Stewardship limited the increase to 5%. The GCPB is mainly received from church pledges. Twenty-one churches are not current on fulfilling their pledges for 1998. During a time of questions from the floor of the Yearly Meeting it was mentioned that the increased costs for Yearly Meeting children's programs for child care and Tilikum are very hard on young families. The clerk suggested David take the budget back to the Executive Council to see if this could be changed.

■ 32. Ron Stansell, co-clerk of the Board of Missions gave the annual missions report. Highlights of the report included sending short-term teachers to the Ramallah Friends School in Palestine; the recognition of the national church in Peru as an autonomous yearly meeting; the hiring of a mission's administrator - Duane Comfort; the seminary development in Peru; the Friends Center at Bolivia Evangelical University; and the commissioning of Hal and Nancy Thomas to develop a Master of Arts in Missions program in Bolivia. Ron Stansell read a letter of commendation for services given in Rwanda from 1994 to December 1997 by Hector and Verna Munn. A standing ovation was given by the business meeting for Hector and Verna. The report was approved.

■ 33. Dea Cox, chairman of the Board of George Fox University, gave its annual report. It was a difficult year due to the lingering illness and death of Ed Stevens. In other ways George Fox had a good year. The enrollment increased to a record 2,257 students. It has received recognition throughout the West and beyond for academic excellence. The graduate programs are expanding. Tom Johnson served as interim president as well as dean of Western Evangelical Seminary. The University made an aggressive effort to recruit Quaker students this year. They were sent applications and contacted by admissions counselors. Referral forms were sent to all churches. Only 14 churches returned them. Dea Cox suggested that churches need to counsel their youth concerning attendance at GFU. There were 182 potential NWYM students for the 1998-1999 year. Out of those who applied, 41 were accepted. Much effort has been made to assist Quaker students financially. A Quaker leadership program, funded by Friends Church Extension Foundation, has been added which will award $1000 each in scholarships to 17 recipients this year. They will be mentored and engage in a service project. It was requested that an opportunity for dialogue be provided between university staff, board, students and yearly meeting members concerning the spiritual life of the university. Dea Cox said staff and students generally give high marks to the school in this area.

■ 34. Norma Beebe and the Family Life Commission introduced Yearly Meeting couples celebrating their 50th wedding anniversaries during 1998 as follows: from Newberg—Wayne and Bertie Roberts, Harold and Betty Ankeny; from Lynwood—Bertram and Eleanor Frazier; from Cherry Grove—Jim and Corrine

Gilroy, Glen and Colleen Lambert; from Vancouver—Finley and Norma Randolph; from Greenleaf—Carroll and Maxine Winters; and from Boise—Charles and Evelyn Hickerson.

- 35. Earl Tycksen, pastor at Nampa, closed with prayer.

Thursday, July 23, 8:00 a.m.

- 36. The meeting opened with silent worship and prayer.
- 37. The minutes were read, corrected, and approved.
- 38. Mark Ankeny was asked to write a letter of appreciation from the Yearly Meeting to Tom Johnson, interim president of George Fox University during the 1997-98 school year. He was described as "a gift from God."
- 39. Timothy Wenzig, candidate for recording as a minister, gave his testimony.
- 40. Rachel Hampton, assistant clerk of Board of Peace and Social Concerns, gave the annual report. She said the Peace Place Kids Program has been moved to the parsonage at Piedmont, and the church will be put up for sale. The 1997 Thanksgiving offering was the largest in recent history. It is going for completion of a medical clinic in Kenya, a region of close to 200,000 Friends. The medical team to Peru will also share this offering, allowing for the purchase of much needed equipment and supplies. Newberg Friends is sending Matthew Callison for a short-term project with the Christian Peacemaking Team, and Social Concerns will help. The Board is requesting a letter be sent to President Clinton on behalf of Northwest Yearly Meeting asking for his signature on the treaty to ban Land Mines. The letter follows:

Dear President Clinton:

In keeping with our belief that all life is sacred and a gift from God, the people of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church commend you for your willingness to sign the Ottawa Ban Treaty which will rid the world of anti-personnel landmines. We would like to avoid continued mutilations and loss of life by asking you to sign the treaty now instead of waiting eight years. In 1997, then chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General John Shalikashvili concurred "that the United States should support a total ban on anti-personnel landmines." We ask that you support the treaty by signing it today.

The report and letter were approved.

- 41. Cathy Knox, clerk of the Board of Education gave the annual report. Appreciation was expressed for Suzanne Livingston, Merry Harmon-Penna, and Esther Troyer for their excellent work as YM childcare workers. Cathy announced a search committee for a new youth superintendent has been named: Esther Troyer, Garth Mickelson, Michelle Brooks, Shawn McConaughy, Sheila Hoyer, Leslie Hodgdon and Heather Taggart. Paul Bock and Clyde Parker are consultants. Christian education specialists are available to consult with local churches. Phil Baisley explained the purpose of the new Power Boxes for all churches to use in Christian education teacher training. All NWYM GFU students will receive a $200 grant from the Yearly Meeting. The names of seminarians receiving scholarships were read. Presently 50% of seminary tuition is being contributed by the Yearly Meeting. An outpouring of support for this concern resulted in an offering of $3,356.

■ 55. The following statement from Mary Lord of Baltimore Yearly Meeting was read by Don Staples: On July 21, 1998 President Clinton signed legislation to preserve Underground Railroad sites. Baltimore Yearly Meeting General Secretary Frank Massey and his son, Brian, were invited to be present in the Oval Office, representing the Religious Society of Friends in recognition of the role Quakers played in the Underground Railroad.

Dear Friends Everywhere:

The Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends met in its 106th annual sessions on the campus of George Fox University, Newberg, Oregon, July 18-24, 1998.

Our general superintendent of Northwest Yearly Meeting, Joe Gerick, was the speaker for the week. His theme was "Abiding in Christ"-desiring to model, encourage, teach, and facilitate the growth of a deep spiritual communion with God. This year's theme is a call to encounter God in such a manner as to be evermore transformed into the image of Christ.

There were thirty-three workshop opportunities available on Monday through Thursday afternoons.

The Friends Women's Missionary Fellowship (FWMF) banquet was well attended. Speaker Kerri Clarkson, who had just returned from the mission field in Bolivia, gave an uplifting account of highlights from their first term on the mission field and their time spent in language school. On Tuesday a reception was given for all the missionary women: Carleta Baker, Kerri Clarkson, Tonya Comfort, Holly Dhynes, and Verna Munn.

Speakers for the Friends Men banquet were Jerry Clarkson, just returned from Bolivia; Ken Comfort who will return to Peru soon; and Rich Miller, pastor at Four Summits in Vancouver, Washington. They explained the work being done in their various fields.

We were blessed when the following ministers were recorded: Dayton Durley, Shawn McConaughy, Aaron O'Neill, and Timothy Wenzig.

The Tuesday evening session was planned and conducted by the youth. What a blessing they were to all of us in a time of sharing, witnessing, prayer and confession. Many of the youth gathered at the altar for a time of prayer, making restitution, and proclaiming victory in Jesus. There was a beautiful spirit manifesting the healing power of Jesus. This was a wonderful service ministering to all who attended. We wish all of you could have been there!

We pray for continued blessing of God upon our young people-the hope of our future.

The epistle was approved.

It was suggested that the Board of Stewardship should appoint someone as a "watch" person to oversee the two insurance agents and report this name to Executive Council. The person should be well informed on insurance, preferably working currently in insurance, but a volunteer.

The Executive Council presents the following nominations to the George Fox University Board of Trustees for a three-year term: Gloria Attrell, Kenneth Austin, Dealous Cox, Richard Evans, Gilbert George, Fredric Gregory, Margaret Lemmons, Stanley Morse, Victor Peterson. ■ 71. The Children's Epistle was read by Don Staples:

Greetings from the Children of Northwest Yearly Meeting!

There are 86 of us gathered here in Newberg, Oregon. Some of us have been able to spend these very hot days in air-conditioned rooms playing and getting to know other little friends. There is a church here in town that we've hired to do our nursery and pre-school childcare and they use the money for their missions projects.

The rest of us spend our days out at Tilikum Day Camp and we have been very glad that God made trees and lakes for our enjoyment. Our evenings are spent on the George Fox University campus and we've had lots of neat stories, learned some new songs, found all sorts of treasures in God's Word and in the world He made!

We enjoy gathering together and trust that your gatherings were just as beneficial and fun for you! May God keep you in His care and in His will.

■ 74. Mark Ankeny presented a concern from Melba Friends Church and several other constituents regarding the failure of the National Friends Trust (NFT) caused by the United States government shutdown of Harmon and Associates. Dave Hampton, NWYM Director of Finance and Development, explained NWYM's involvement in NFT and the process that all the affected yearly meetings used to cover outstanding debts due to NFT's failure. The yearly meetings involved in NFT agreed in March, 1997 that each trustee would be responsible for their own insurance losses. The Executive Council in February of 1997, decided to use proceeds from the Richardson Fund as a one-time emergency to cover all the insurance losses of its pastors in the amount of $36,462 as well as legal fees, and immediately secured replacement insurance.

Concern was voiced that NWYM churches were not fully informed of the NFT failure. Dave Hampton explained that the yearly meeting office notified local churches of the situation even prior to the collapse. Dave explained how numerous pieces of information were sent to each affected employee and in some cases to all pastors and other clerks within the local meetings. Since many local church representatives were unaware of the NFT collapse, some expressed concern that local meeting leaders need to disseminate information to people in the church about such far-reaching concerns.

Representatives and other members present raised the following concerns over these financial matters:

- A perception among Friends that NWYM did not fully inform other yearly meetings about the illegal activities of Harmon and Associates.
- Grief over the financial loss incurred by individuals within NWYM and across the United States who invested in Harmon and Associates and subsequently lost their investments.
- A concern that representatives were not directly informed about this issue.
- Concern that NWYM care for our widows who were financially harmed by the Harmon and Associates investment scheme.
- Concern over the fact that although Phil Harmon hasn't attended or been involved in the Friends Memorial church for the last 15 years, he retained non-resident member status at that church. With this status he represented himself as a NWYM Friend, leading some Friends across the country to the conclusion that NWYM had insider knowledge about the legality of Harmon and Associates' activities. Though NWYM did not have any more knowledge then the other affected yearly meetings, some expressed concern that we had an obligation to report our lack of knowledge.
- Concern that NWYM did not discipline Phil Harmon correctly. Others expressed the structural difficulty of disciplining a non-resident active member who did not place himself under the local meeting's authority. Others expressed the need to love Phil as a Christian brother.

Throughout this discussion there was a deep sense of grief for those who have been personally injured by the illegal activities of Harmon and Associates, for the yearly meetings who still have debts to cover as a result of the National Friends Trust collapse, for the damage done to Friends' integrity, and for Phil Harmon and his family. The gathered body suggested ideas for a minute to be written by Mark Ankeny, Presiding Clerk, on behalf of the yearly meeting. His minute follows:

The gathered members of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church (NWYM) are grieved over the losses incurred by Friends yearly meetings through the failure of the National Friends Trust (NFT) and experienced by individual investors through the illegal business enterprises of Harmon and Associates. We do not condone any illegal activity and are distressed over the dishonest practices carried out in the name of Friends.

Though Phil Harmon held non-resident active membership in a NWYM church, we have had no direct accountability for his actions during the past 15 years, except as a trustee member of NFT. We regret, however, the false perception given by Harmon and Associates to trusted Friends that Phil Harmon was accountable to NWYM. Although we have no legal responsibility for the actions of Harmon and Associates we do have, as Christians, an obligation to help those who have been financially harmed and to pray for the restoration of Phil Harmon through Christ's forgiveness.

We challenge the Executive Council of NWYM to work with local meetings to identify NWYM individual investors in Harmon and Associates who need financial assistance and to create a process for concerned individuals to contribute to an assistance fund established by Melba Friends Church.

There was a time of prayer.

■ 75. Mark Ankeny read the adjourning minute. The 1999 sessions will meet July 24-30 on the campus of George Fox University.

ADDENDUM

ANNUAL REPORTS

July 1998

Council of Elders

The Council of Elders serves in a pastor-counselor relationship to the Yearly Meeting and are advisors to the Yearly Meeting clerks and superintendents. In fulfilling these duties, we receive the State of the Church report from the elders of the local meetings. During this past year we have spent considerable time reviewing our response to these reports with a decision being made to use the reports as an early warning of problems that may be developing, so we can offer our assistance at an earlier time when it may be more effective. We are also using the reports to be an entry into increasing the connectedness between the church and the Yearly Meeting.

The Council has worked with a number of churches and pastors in conflict resolution, community restoration, and moral failure. Results have been mixed. Although we have felt God's blessing on our efforts, the result has not always been as successful as we would have liked.

Another concern of the Council is about supplying adequate pastoral leadership to Yearly Meeting churches. We are concerned that relatively few of our young people are feeling a call to pastoral leadership. We would encourage the local churches to be constantly challenging our youth to seek and understand God's plan for their lives. We also need to remind ourselves that a call to serve is a call to prepare, and we need to assist our young people in preparing for a life of service to God and the church. In this light, the Elders also recognize that full-time service requires a living wage and urge churches to be liberal in salary considerations for their pastors.

We have continued our work with a variety of peacemaking efforts and programs. We are trying to get a number of our members trained in the peacemaking seminars conducted by Peacemaker Ministries. We are increasingly using their process in our work with churches, and have a small budget to help the churches in this process.

The State of the Church reports this year are generally positive with reports of growth in numbers and enthusiasm in many of our churches, and a significant listing of people who have been gifted and called into ministry.

Although there seems to be a number of problems, the Elders remain optimistic about God's care for us and the Church and believe that if we are faithful He will lead us to a grand tomorrow.

DEPARTMENT OF CHURCH EDUCATION

The Department of Church Education has focused on three projects this past year as we strive to become a better support for the local CE programs. We recognize the tremendous work that is being accomplished by hundreds of local CE volunteers and feel deep gratitude toward each worker. With this sense of appreciation and concern we have worked on the following projects:

Church Education Specialists: Verne Martin and several other committee members have compiled a list of individuals within our Yearly Meeting who are willing to consult, by phone, with local churches in the wide variety of CE ventures across our Yearly Meeting. This list will be presented to the constituency at the 1998 Yearly Meeting sessions. We are deeply indebted to each specialist and the faithful work of Verne Martin.

Child Abuse Prevention: Dean Griffith clerked a subcommittee that has completed a draft document of a Child Protection Policy for Yearly Meeting activities. This draft will be discussed at the Education Board meetings in July. Dean Griffith and Verne Martin have been extremely helpful in accomplishing this task.

Power Box: Phil Baisley, EFI CE Consultant, presented to the Department a wonderful CE kit borrowed from Eastern Region Yearly Meeting. This kit will contain teachers' training materials, CE idea packets, children's books and videos, resource books, and other items. The "Power Box" will be distributed at Yearly Meeting to each local CE clerk. Again, we are thankful for the work of various members of our department on this project.

Finally, we appreciate the Yearly Meeting education reports that are compiled by our local churches. Our department reviews these and seeks ways to respond to requests from the reports and analyze the needs of our local churches. We thank Mandy Milam for her work on compiling the information from the individual reports.

Our commitment is to you. Please stay in contact with your local Education Area Secretary about concerns, questions, and victories you see at your local church.

DEPARTMENT OF GENERAL EDUCATION

The recent roles of the Department of General Education have been the oversight of the NWYM seminary scholarship program, NWYM scholarship contributions to Quaker students attending George Fox University, and support of Quaker schools.

The Department supported eleven seminary students preparing for pastoral roles within the Yearly Meeting. The students are attending four seminary/graduate programs that offer courses compatible with their spiritual gifts and call. Support is 50% of the tuition costs.

During Midyear Board meetings held in January, the current status of our seminary students was reviewed. The accounting procedure was modified to simplify the recordkeeping. The WES bibliography was updated and will be distributed to seminary students and others interested in the Quaker listings (for a small charge).

The Department of Christian Testimonies continued to meet with this Department till it can gain the support needed to maintain its objectives.

The GFU/Church/NWYM partnership continues to provide scholarships for NWYM youth attending George Fox. The University will match (up to $600) any church contribution, and the Yearly Meeting contribution is $200. After some confusion about the Yearly Meeting portion of the scholarship, Don Black of GFU has confirmed that the above policy will be implemented.

DEPARTMENT OF YOUTH

The Department of Youth gathered on two different weekends this year for business, worship, learning, and communing. The first was the annual Youthworker's Training Conference, October 17-19, 1997 in Bend, Oregon. Paul Bock reported on an "adolescent spirituality" project piloted by the San Francisco Theological Seminary. Paul is serving on its board of directors and Newberg Friends Church is one of the 20 churches selected to be involved. The program focuses on implementing a model of youth ministry based on a spiritual formation model and experiencing intimacy with God through teaching and spiritual practices/disciplines. Experience with this project has led us to plan a focus on spiritual life at the Fall Youthworker's Training Conference in 1998.

Also discussed was the "Quaker Leadership Program" being established at George Fox this fall. Natasha Jabusch reported on her work with Bruce Bishop and the Board of Education to establish this program, which will award $1,000 scholarships to 18 NWYM students at GFU in order to encourage Quaker leadership across the disciplines.

The Community Expectations and Restoration Policy (formerly known as Behavior Guideline) was updated and approved at both the fall and spring Department retreats. The focus of this policy is to encourage the youth involved in broken trust issues to be responsible in the restoration process.

The June 12-13 retreat was held at the K House in LaGrande. The following items were discussed and action taken as needed:

The Friends Youth Executive Committee (FYE) was encouraged to pursue Twin Lakes in Northern Idaho as the next Midwinter location. The greatest concern voiced was with the winter transportation issue. We agreed to urge all participants to take safety precautions.

Eric Muhr reported on the success of the first ever Eastside Junior High Jamboree. Treasure Valley High School Youth Exec tackled this weekend with the focus "Jesus Christ, Superhero." Forty-four kids attended, representing eight Friends churches and three other denominations.

Bruce Bishop and Missy Bullock have both felt released from their calls as youth superintendent and youth program coordinator (previously youth ministry assistant). Missy will be pursuing her gifts in music ministry and Bruce is experiencing a new call to explore vision and leadership development within the Yearly Meeting. In response to this announcement, a search committee representative of a variety of youth ministry advocates has been formed. The greatest values we hold in this regard are a unity of philosophy and a desire to wait upon God and listen for direction. The existing timeline is: 1) The search committee will meet during Yearly Meeting with Missy and Bruce; 2) advertise positions by August 1; 3) close applications by mid-September; 4) interview after closing in September, October, and November; 5) present recommendations to Youth Department at a special meeting November 21. Those involved on the search committee are: Esther Troyer

Heather Taggart and Leslie Hodgdon, Co-Clerks

FRIENDS YOUTH EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

This year's Youth Executive (Exec) Calendar, complete with pictures, quotes, important youth activity dates and fun facts, was finished and sent out on time to about 1,300 Quaker youth and youth leaders in December. This publication has been well received, and we are pleased with the results.

The annual Midwinter camp for high schoolers took place December 27-31, 1997 at Metolius Friends Church. About 50 youth, 10 counselors, and five staff were in attendance. Erik Edmundson was the main speaker on the topic of "Whiter Than Snow." Eric Muhr and Shawn Penrose were the class speakers.

In April the Friends Youth Exec sponsored the 19th annual Northwest Yearly Meeting Volleyball Tournament held on the George Fox University campus. Over 40 teams competed in three different categories for nine trophies and the overall sportsmanship award. The top finishers were: Quaker Division: Newberg 4 - first; Greenleaf 4 - second; and Greenleaf 3 - third; Friends A Division: Eugene - first, and Hayden Lake - second; Friends B Division: Newberg 3 - first, and Tigard - second; Sportsmanship Award - Netarts.

For the first time ever, all of our YC teams have leaders and enough student applicants to do ministry this summer. YCEW (Youth Challenged to Expand their Worldview) traveled to Cuba. The team members included Evan Burns (Spokane), Matt Kaufman (Newberg), John Minthorne (Tigard), Brook Payton (Newberg), Adam Puckett (Deschutes), and Trisha Taylor (Sherwood). Team leaders are Ron and Carolyn Stansell (Newberg).

YCAM (Youth Challenged through Arts in Ministry) visited Yearly Meeting churches this summer with a program of music and drama. Led by Joe Millard (Silverton) and Jill Fjeldheim (Talent), the team included: Stephanie Blattner (Newberg), Danielle Kaufer (Medford), Elise Macy (Metolius), Jennifer Lobe (McKinley Hill), and Kim Warrington (Newberg).

YCCM (Youth Challenged through Children's Ministry) held Vacation Bible Schools at Entiat, Quincy, Marion, and ParkCenter Friends churches. Eric Muhr (Meridian) and Audra Turner (Silverton) served as leaders. The team members included Erin Eichenberger (Newberg), Michael Fisher (North Valley), Janell Hampton (Newberg), Janelle Hembree (Rose Valley), Laura Lea Kinser (City's Edge), Laurie Osterud (Sherwood), and Jeremy Weaver (Newberg).

The 1997-98 Exec members are: Presiding Clerk - Christina Muhr; Assistant Clerk - Adrienne Gerick; Recording Clerk - Annette Nelson; Calendar - Annette Nelson; Midwinter - Glenn Geurin; Volleyball - Shawn Penrose; YCCM - Tami Burton; YCAM - Mike Hampton; YCAM Assistant - Ben Macy; YCEW - Joseph Thouvenal; Members-at-Large - Kathryn Crisman, Joyce White, Amy Chapman, and Shana Rubesh.

Christina Muhr, Presiding Clerk

Board of Evangelism

The Board of Evangelism is charged with being concerned with the pastoral, evangelistic, and church extension work of the Yearly Meeting and giving special attention to finding places open for gospel witness within or contiguous to the Yearly Meeting. The primary source of income over the years for this work has come from the closing and selling of property of churches which have been discontinued. While the Board recognizes that closing a church may be part of the life-cycle of churches, it is still not pleasant and we seek to avoid that decision.

Many years ago several individuals within the Southwest Washington area had a vision for continuing evangelism and expansion of the Friends work. As a result, they purchased property through personal sacrifice. Over the years the property became very valuable but the location was difficult to evangelize. A few years ago the property was released to the Board of Evangelism and a portion was sold to help fund a church plant in the area. This effort ultimately became unsuccessful. Last year a buyer made a substantial offer on the balance of the property. The Board is waiting for closing to occur sometime this Fall. The proceeds from these two sales will establish a significant source of income for the Board for many years and will increase our ability to underwrite evangelism without churches closing before new ones can open. To maintain the integrity of both the vision for evangelism and the finances, the Board is establishing an endowment fund. In this Fund the principal will be kept intact and with wise investments continue to grow. The Board will use only a portion of the profits to finance church planting in the Northwest, keeping alive the dream of evangelism by those individuals to benefit all areas of the Yearly Meeting. Please pray for wisdom for the Board to be good stewards of this trust and wise in its investment toward evangelism.

Last year the concept of hiring a Director of Church Planting was approved. This person would be hired by the Board of Evangelism and work full-time in the areas of developing leadership, giving oversight to existing extension churches and planting new churches. Since last year we have been prayerfully seeking whom God would have us to hire. We are currently in dialogue with several potential candidates. Please pray that God would direct us to the right individual.

This year was also a good year for church planting. Four Summits in Vancouver, WA began preview services on May 17, 1998. This exciting work is pastored by Rich and Nadine Miller. City's Edge, which started last year, has been approved as an extension church and is pastored by Trey and Stephanie Doty and Dan and Beth Banham. Their ministry area is Beaverton. Preview services for this group began June 14, 1998. Both works plan to hold their grand opening on Sunday, September 20, 1998.

The Quaker Leadership Program is a new program developed this year and underwritten by the Friends Church Extension Foundation. This program provides a scholarship to students at George Fox University to develop leadership and ministry potential, and to increase the impact of Friends students and Quaker thought on campus. Natasha Jabusch was selected to be the first intern this year and to help develop and launch the program. There are 17 students participating for the 1998-99 school year. Many thanks to Bruce Bishop for working to develop this program.

The Board also sponsored a Call to Ministry Conference on March 13-15, 1998 at the Aldersgate Conference Center in Turner, Oregon. Approximately 40 people attended. There was great enthusiasm for exploring what God's call might look like in the lives of each attending. For some it was a confirmation time; for others it was a time of exploration. Speakers represented many styles of ministry from the Northwest with time for prayer and interaction. The next Call to Ministry will be in 2000.

Other extension churches are doing well this year also. Friends Church of the Valley is ministering to approximately 50 people weekly through either Sunday mornings or weekday evening meetings. They have also established a school this year called Valley Friends Academy taught by Wendy Behr and Jan Rodriguez. Other extension churches include Nampa and ParkCenter in Idaho, Sprague River and Windrose in Oregon, and Quincy in Washington.

Thank you for your prayers and your support. We are looking forward to another exciting year as we seek God's plans for the Friends in the Northwest. When all of us come together and share our resources, the little that each of us gives becomes multiplied by the many and the results are often far beyond what we imagined. Such is the Harvest Ministry started by the Board several years ago. Your support helped prepare the way for new works this year and will help the churches we desire to plant in the next three years. If you have not yet taken the opportunity to be a part of this outreach we invite you to do so. Thank you for your faithful support and we look forward to a continuing partnership with you in evangelizing the Northwest.

Board of Ministerial Service

At these 1998 Yearly Meeting Sessions the Board of Ministerial Service is delighted to be recommending four candidates to be recorded as Friends ministers:

Dayton Durley, pastor at Clackamas Park Friends Church. Dayton received a call to ministry in 1975 while pursuing a career with the U.S. Postal Service. Following that call, Dayton served Clackamas Park as a youth sponsor and Bible study and discipleship leader prior to terminating with the postal service in 1992 and working full-time for the church, first as a janitor, then associate pastor and finally as pastor. Dayton entered the recording process in 1994.

Aaron O'Neill, member at West Hills Friends Church. Recommended for recording by West Hills, Aaron has served that meeting as clerk, Sunday school teacher, and occasional preacher. Working in the field of computer repair, Aaron has been able to work with a flexible schedule which has released considerable time for ministry, including a major leadership role in the Yearly Meeting Bible quizzing program.

Shawn McConaughy, copastor at North Valley Friends Church. Shawn, the son, grandson and great-grandson of Friends ministers, has served at North Valley ever since college days at George Fox, first as a youth intern and then as pastor. During a portion of this time he has shared pastoral ministry with his wife, Katrina, and now does so with copastor, Colin Saxton.

Tim Wenzig, area pastor at Hayden Lake Friends Church. Tim knew God's call as a child but "chose to pursue life on my terms" until surrendering to Christ as a mature adult. Discipled by Hayden Lake Friends, Tim received his call to ministry in 1991-92 and subsequently made the transition from self-employment to full-time ministry at the church. Currently, Tim shepherds over 60 families in Coeur d'Alene.

In addition to working with these candidates — and many others in process — the Board spent a great deal of time at Fall Retreat streamlining and fine-tuning our recording process. As a result, the Board feels much better equipped to serve the Yearly Meeting and the candidates recommended by the various meetings.

Board of Missions

Several exciting and remarkable events occurred during this past year. One of the most notable was the sending of short-term tentmaking teachers to Ramallah Friends School in a partnership ministry through Friends United Meeting. Allyn and Holly Dhyne and Carleta Baker have been our first teachers in the school. This has been a great short-term opportunity for young adults interested in cross-cultural ministries. Another exciting event was the recognition of the National church in Peru as an autonomous yearly meeting. Another important event is the hiring of a mission administrator. After years of struggling with less than half-time paid staff, it was obvious that we needed more adequate staffing in the NWYM office. After searching for a half-time person (and with the encouragement of the NWYM office staff) it became apparent that a full-time administrator was both more desirable and more "hirable." After interviewing several candidates, Duane Comfort was hired and will begin duties in September. This administrator will play an integral role in helping the Mission Board through a transitional time as the missionary personnel in Bolivia and Peru are scaled back and as new NWYM fields are opened in new regions of the world.

Our South American fields continue to change and grow. In Peru the largest change has been a total rethinking of their Bible education structure as they plan to institute a seminary program. This, combined with the appointment of Peruvians as "national missionaries," continues to move our NWYM missionaries more into the role of training leaders and less into the front-line church planting roles. The Board has just reappointed Hal and Nancy Thomas to work at Bolivian Evangelical University as directors of a new program in missions. This will be one of the first university-level programs training South American Christians to be cross-cultural missionaries.

Reports from the field were summarized as follows:

BOLIVIA FRIENDS MISSION

LAPAZ REGION: Bolivia Friends Mission is now in its 67th year of ministry in the Department of La Paz. The Mission has entered into a mature relationship with the National Bolivian Evangelical Friends Church (INELA). The Mission no longer directs or initiates but wholly operates in participation with INELA, which is now a completely self-governing and mostly self-supporting organization. In a few years it may be possible for the Mission to concentrate on other unreached fields within Bolivia or function with only a minimal presence there.

Personnel and Duties: Jerry and Kerri Clarkson and daughters, Melissa and Rachel, have just completed their first term of missionary service in Bolivia. Primarily, Jerry served as a professor of theological education for San Pablo Theological Seminary (SPTS) and the Friends Center for Theological Education in La Paz (CESTA). He also taught intensive seminary courses for the national missionaries and rural pastors who are not able to attend regular SPTS classes. He worked closely in participation with INELA and the national missionaries in providing new believers' classes, new leaders' classes, and district workshops on Friends Doctrine. He also counseled INELA leaders as they worked toward new theological education policies and through difficulties of the new INELA constitution. Jerry has continued to serve as legal representative for the Mission, Joint Council secretary, treasurer of SPTS, treasurer of the Aymara Literacy Publishing Company (CALA), and secretary, as well as one of the primary editors, for the Interdenominational Committee for Theological Education by Extension.

Kerri has supported Jerry in his ministries by hosting events and activities. She has hosted a monthly young women's group teaching homemaking skills while homeschooling Melissa and Rachel.

INELA: One year ago relations with the Bolivian INELA were somewhat strained due to INELA's promotion of CESTA in opposition to SPTS and due to changes in mission policies of property purchase support. Through the year, adjustments were made and relations between INELA and the Mission are improved.

Current INELA officers through January 1999 are: Sabino Chalco, National President; David Tintaya, 1st National Secretary; Rodolfo Mendoza, 2nd National Secretary; La Paz Regional Executive Committee: Remigio Condori, Executive Secretary; Timoteo Choque, General Secretary; Salustiano Aspi, Financial Secretary; Victor Quispe, Missions Secretary; Pablo Sosa, Secretary of Human Development; Sabino Chipana, Secretary of Pastoral Development. National missionaries under the direction of the La Paz region are: Sixto Mamani, working in the far South Yungas; Dionisio Lucasi, working in the Alto Beni and frontier; Antonio Mamani, in Cochabamba; Demitrio Poma, in Sucre.

INELA has become independent and the Regional Executive Committee is fairly self-sufficient. They are beginning to make plans for celebrating 75 years of Evangelical Friends work in Bolivia during 1999.

Theological Education: Since the closing of CESTA in December 1997, two programs are available for theological education: Patmos Extension Bible Institute and SPTS.

Due to recent encouragement by INELA leaders, Patmos has shown remarkable growth. Fourteen extension centers are functioning and two centers are scheduled to open in the fall of 1998. Over 120 students are now studying in the program which is completely administered by INELA Director, Salustiano Aspi.

The Mission subsidizes a scholarship fund for INELA theological students attending SPTS, Bolivian Nazarene Theological Seminary, the Center for Theological Education International in Cochabamba, and Bolivian Evangelical University in Santa Cruz.

National Missionaries: Four national missionaries have been working in distant areas in evangelism, discipleship, and church planting. All of these missionaries report growth and new congregations in their respective areas.

Sixto Mamani and his wife, Susana, have worked in the far South Yungas for three years. He has helped to establish congregations or aided church growth in seven localities.

Dionisio Lucasi has worked for two years in the Alto Beni and edge of the Beni. He has established congregations or aided church growth in five different places, and occasionally visits mission points in Yucumo and El Palmar of the Beni. He works with Aymara, Quechua, and Moseten people groups and has had contact with members of the Chimani tribe in the Beni.

Antonio and Julia Mamani are using their years of experience as national missionaries and missions secretary to establish congregations in Cochabamba and surrounding areas. Through radio broadcasts, Antonio has contact with many new Christians or non-Christians in Cochabamba. In just three months he established one congregation with seven families of new believers with the possibility of two more congregations in the next few months.

Demitrio and Pascuala Poma are new national missionaries working in Sucre. Aymara believers from La Paz established a congregation in Sucre two years ago. This congregation has recently been recognized as a monthly meeting.

Church Growth: INELA reports 167 active congregations in the La Paz region. Rapid growth in the number of congregations is largely due to the national missions program.

Other Mission-Supported Programs: The Mission subsidizes a fund for health care of pastors and for pastoral retirement. Plans are to phase out this subsidy within the next few years, as INELA is able to develop its own health and retirement plan.

Conclusion: Although there will not be a North American missionary in La Paz for the next year, the INELA is capable of administering their work. The need for continued financial assistance in certain programs and continued education of pastors and leaders remains. The national missions program is becoming successful and needs to become self-supporting in the next few years. Pray for the continued growth and maturity of the INELA, its leaders and pastors.

SANTA CRUZ REGION: Personnel and Duties: Ed and Marie Cammack arrived in the city of Santa Cruz, June 11, 1997. They are living in the mission home.

The primary task of the Cammacks has been theological education. Shortly after arrival, Diego Chuyma shared his vision with Ed and David Tintaya for a Friends Center on the Bolivian Evangelical University (BEU) campus. The Santa Cruz Friends churches approved the plan on January 3, 1998. Friends Center classes started on the BEU campus, February 14. Diego is the director and professor. Seven students are taking classes. The goal of the Friends Center is to train pastors and lay leaders to have a good knowledge of God's Word and to live what they believe. The TEE program has been restarted.

Ed and Marie Cammack taught classes in the churches on topics of the family and Christian living. Ed meets every Wednesday at noon with David Tintaya and Diego Chuyma to continue developing plans for the Friends Center. They also discuss church development in the Santa Cruz region. Another important ministry is the monthly Pastors' Fellowship meeting in the Cammack home. This has been a time of rich fellowship, sharing, and prayer; a time for Cammacks to be a pastor to the pastors. The Cammacks also gave emphasis to reviving the Friends churches in the San Julian District.

In the city of Santa Cruz, the Florida Friends Church, pastored by David and Arminda Tintaya, and the Nueva Esperanza Friends Church pastored by Diego Chuyma, are the strongest. The Santa Cruz Friends Missionary Church and Salmon Friends Church are meeting. The Santa Cruz Friends Missionary Church sponsors a year-old church plant at El Torno, a small town 18 miles from Santa Cruz. Abram Carrillo, a BEU theology student, and Marcial Losa, a lay leader from the sponsoring church, lead this group on Sunday mornings.

The Cammacks also visit the Sucre Friends Church congregation every three months. It is a delightful group very appreciative of the time spent with them. Demetrio Poma and Pascuala are serving as national missionaries there doing discipleship and leadership training with TEE materials.

PERU FRIENDS MISSION

Personnel:

A. Northwest Yearly Meeting Missionaries:

1. Dan, Tami, Forrest (10), Rebekah (8), and William (4) Cammack: The Cammack family has just completed their eleventh year as missionaries to Peru under NWYM. This was their second year of living in the city of Puno where they could work more closely with the Comfort family.

As a family, the Cammacks have visited churches on the Altiplano and the Coast and participated in special events in both places. Dan and Tami have taught classes in the residential Bible school program, served as advisors to some of the students in their ministry assignments, and more recently, started providing premarital counseling. Dan has been assisting the directors of both the extension and residential Bible school programs as well as working with them and the Peru Yearly Meeting's Secretary of Education to develop plans for seminary-level training. Dan's responsibilities also include teacher training, ordering and transferring literature and Bible school materials from Bolivia to Peru, and distributing them within Peru, and handling the Mission's commitments in regard to the Arequipa Center. Tami is responsible for home schooling the children and providing hospitality for guests.

2. Ken, Tonya, and Katie (4) Comfort: The Comfort family has also just completed their eleventh year as missionaries to Peru under NWYM. They lived in Puno until returning home for furlough in December. They have been visiting the local churches of NWYM to update them on the work in Peru. In April, Ken traveled with Mark Ankeny and Joe Gerick to Peru to officially recognize, on behalf of NWYM, the Peruvian Friends Church as a yearly meeting (PYM).

While in Peru the Comforts were responsible for evangelism and church expansion, training and encouragement of the national church leaders and pastors, and representing the Mission to the PYM's Executive Council.

B. National Missionaries

1. National Missionaries from Bolivia: Ten years ago the first national missionaries from Bolivia came to Peru to help train leaders, strengthen local churches and support church-planting efforts. Now, with the naming of Peruvian national missionaries this year, there is a decreasing need for personnel from Bolivia.

Emilio Vilca was committed to working himself out of a job, wanting his successors to be Peruvian Friends. So it was with a great deal of satisfaction that he returned to Bolivia last August after four years of faithful service, to be replaced by a Peruvian. One Bolivian national missionary family is left: Esteban, Gaby, and Jonatan (4) Ajnata are stationed in the city of Arequipa midway through their three-year commitment. They have been working hard at discipling Friends leaders in that city and are now beginning to see results as these leaders are launching church planting efforts and taking on more financial responsibility. Esteban has also been helping the PYM develop its plans for seminary-level training, as well as serving as one of the teachers in the residential Bible school.

2. National Missionaries from Peru: In January of this year the PYM's Group of Representatives approved Teodoro and Maxima Alanguia and Fernando and Jesusa Choque as Peru's first national missionaries. Their assignment is to strengthen local churches and help them plant new churches.

Field Mission Organization: Because missionary staff in both countries has decreased in size, Bolivian and Peruvian councils have been combined into one "Joint Council." This council meets for business about six times a year. Ken Comfort was presiding clerk of the Joint Council until November at which time Dan Cammack was chosen to take his place. Jerry Clarkson has served as secretary during the entire year.

In Peru, Ken Comfort serves as the legal representative and Tonya Comfort as the treasurer.

The Peruvian Friends Mission staff is about to complete the second year of its current five-year plan and, with God's help, has been able to achieve several of its goals this year. They are: 1) the purchase of an "almost new" Toyota double cab pick-up for the PYM thereby concluding the Mission's commitments in the area of transportation; 2) the recognition of the Peruvian Friends Church by NWYM as an official Yearly Meeting; 3) a shift in the national missionary program toward releasing Peruvian Friends to serve as national missionaries; and 4) the administration of the residential Bible school by a Peruvian Friend rather than a missionary. Significant progress has been made toward building a library in Ilave (thanks to NWYM's Friends Women Missionary Fellowship) and converting the Bible school programs into a seminary.

National Church Organization: The Peruvian Friends Church divides its Yearly Meeting sessions into two parts. The business part, called Group of Representatives, takes place in January, the inspirational part of yearly meeting is held over Easter weekend.

Some of the more significant decisions made by the Group of Representatives this year are: 1) The churches will return to the system of giving a tithe of their income to the Yearly Meeting; 2) Teodoro Alanguia, Fernando Choque and their wives will be the first Peruvian national missionaries; 3) the concept of a seminary was approved and support was pledged for the construction project this year and for the operating expenses of the seminary next year (1999); and 4) the Ancomarca area was officially recognized as a new quarterly meeting (the Alto Andino Quarterly Meeting). Peru Yearly Meeting is now made up of eight quarterly meetings.

The Executive Council has been concentrating most of its efforts on the national missionary program, plans for a seminary, and now the seminary building construction. The positions on the council are not paid positions, but most of the Friends who occupy them carry heavy responsibilities.

The Friends Youth organization is fairly strong. Its annual activities include a conference and a camp, as well as other activities held at the local level. There is contact between the youth organizations of Bolivia and Peru.

The Friends Women organization sponsors an annual conference, but it is often poorly attended. The president of Friends Women tries to visit most of the quarterly meetings during the year to give encouragement.

Peruvian Friends Church was recognized as a Yearly Meeting this year. This is an acknowledgment of Peruvian Friends' commitment to the gospel of Jesus Christ and their ability to start new churches that reflect that same commitment. It's also recognition of their strong leadership base and the capability they have to manage their own affairs. It is not yet an acknowledgment of actual financial independence so the Mission and PYM continue to partner on projects that Peruvian Friends would have difficulty doing on their own. These include the national missionary program, the Bible school programs that will soon be transformed into a seminary, and the seminary building construction project. Both the Mission and the PYM are contributing some financial and human resources to all of these projects. The Mission is committed to reducing its support.

Education:

A. Theological Education by Extension (TEE): In 1969 the Mission started a TEE program called "Instituto Biblico Los Amigos" (IBLA). Over the greater part of the last two decades the national church has been administering this program. At this year's Easter conference the whole Yearly Meeting congratulated three graduates: Roberto Maquera, Alberto Maquera, and Cirilo Maquera. Their first assignment as graduates was to each plant a church! There are now a total of 25 IBLA graduates, 17 of whom are active in positions of leadership within the PYM.

B. Residential Program: The "Instituto Biblico Educacion Cristiana" (IBEC) program was founded in 1989 in the city of Arequipa. It developed into a residential Bible school offering classes during the summer months (January through March) and targeting mostly young adults. For a while its base of operations alternated between Arequipa and Ilave, but because of the growth in enrollment, IBEC is now largely based in Ilave at the PYM's headquarters. Formerly IBEC was administered by missionaries from Bolivia and NWYM. This year, for the first time, the program was in the hands of a Peruvian director, Constantino Garcia (an IBLA graduate). The enrollment broke all previous records with almost 30 full-time students and 10 part-time students. For the first time in IBEC's history all of the quarterly meetings were represented in the student body. There is now a total of 16 IBEC graduates, 11 of whom are active in ministry among Friends in Bolivia and Peru. Two graduates are pursuing further studies in other countries.

C. Seminary Plans: Steps are being taken to convert IBLA and IBEC into a seminary that can officially open its doors in January of 1999. The commission is seeking an agreement with the Bolivian Evangelical University that would allow Peruvian students who have studied in the seminary to transfer credits to BEU so that they can obtain the equivalent of a bachelor's degree without having to spend five years in Santa Cruz. The commission also plans on initiating the process to obtain recognition from the Peruvian Ministry of Education so that some degrees can be given in Peru that would have national and international value. One of the keys to obtaining this is to have an adequate infrastructure for the seminary; hence the seminary building construction project. Work has already begun on the project and a work team from NWYM will be coming to Peru in late October to help on the finish work. Then, in 1999, a second story will be added.

D. George Fox Technical High School: The high school that is located at the PYM's headquarters in Ilave is now almost five years old. It is now offering the full five years of high school required in the Peruvian educational system. It will be graduating its first students this coming December. The Class of 1998 has about 12 students.

Three years ago the high school opened another campus in Juli. Between Ilave and Juli there are now about 100 students. Ramon Mamani is the director of both campuses. The administrative load is overwhelming and he earns a pitifully small salary but feels the sacrifice is worth it.

Church Growth: There has been a sudden burst of church planting in the last six months. A new church was planted in Arequipa toward the end of January in "Cerro Verde." Juan Limachi, an IBLA graduate and pastor of the Sivican Chico Friends Church (Andes Quarterly Meeting), recently planted a new church and, Roberto Maquera, one of the new IBLA graduates, just held a tent meeting in a community close to the Lago Quarterly Meeting.

The Mulla Friends Church, once a strong church, has been inactive for six years. Thanks to the efforts of the Andes Quarterly Meeting and national missionary, Teodoro Alanguia, Mulla has once again opened its doors.

The church planting effort in Puno was discontinued for lack of local leadership. Those who participated in this acquired valuable experience and are looking for another opportunity.

There are currently about 46 congregations meeting on a regular basis for worship and another five that are meeting off and on.

EVANGELICAL FRIENDS MISSION

The past year has been one of growth, of challenges, and of satisfying ministry in EFM. I still have the comfortable feeling that God is in charge. Partly because of positive reports from visiting teams, I am more impressed than ever with the caliber of people He has given on each field as co-laborers, both missionaries and national workers. In 1997 the number of churches under EFM increased by 33, from 77 in 1996 to 110 in 1997. Twelve of those new churches were in Nepal and 15 in Rwanda.

MEXICO: It appears that existing churches are getting stronger. Manuel Chavarria has worked very hard at trying to complete legal requirements so EFM can be properly registered, and trips to the border every six months won't be necessary. Building at Jalatlaco has been delayed until we are sure the registration is completed. It hasn't been easy, but EFM is now registered as a Civil Association. This qualifies the Mission to receive financial help from Compassion for the children's ministry at Jalatlaco. At least 70 kids come on Tuesdays and Wednesdays for food, Bible training and some health care.

The Tultepec church was closed because of zoning restrictions, and some from that church are now meeting with the body at La Familia. The pastor at Tultepec, who also claimed to be a lawyer, was found to be deceitful and an extortioner. He has been imprisoned.

Norval Hadley went to Guatemala the first of June to help plan a pastors conference which will be held in Chiquimula, Guatemala December 8-13, 1999 for pastors from all Central America yearly meetings, including Cuba, with representatives there from Bolivia, Peru and US Hispanic churches. This is a project of Evangelical Friends International/Latin America Region.

Prayer is requested for at least one more missionary couple who will go to help the Chavarrias in Mexico.

MUSLIM MINISTRY: The Roy Twaddell family moved from Denver to Yorba Linda, CA where he has been pursuing Arabic language study, further mentoring Abraham Sarker who replaces him as Director of International Friends (EFM's foreign student ministry in the US), and where he has been doing research and preparing to move to Jordan about September 1. The Twaddells will still receive support from EFM, but are seconded to Venture Middle East. Roy will be marketing director for a new wheelchair factory VME is starting with cooperation from the Jordanian government. This project not only gives much-needed help to the disabled but it also provides jobs for Christians, many of whom are under economic oppression.

Three weeks every three months Twaddells will be released to seek to build relationships, perhaps through Jinky's dentistry, with one of the largest unreached people groups which we are calling the Q people.

Abraham Sarker has finished his college work at Dallas Baptist University, and enrolled for graduate work. Abraham has obtained a work visa so he has become a full missionary under EFM. He has had a powerful ministry in churches he has visited. He needs about 40 more supporters who will give $25 a month. He has rented an apartment off campus where his student church can meet.

INDIA: The Hunerwadels have had good success recruiting strong national workers for the ministry to the Garhwali. Carl is director of the music department at Woodstock School and this has been very consuming. Peggy attended the EFI/Asia Region meetings in the Philippines and the Hunerwadels have now hosted a group from Bob Adhikary's work in Nepal for a very fruitful visit. They have much in common and have great fellowship. Peggy has enrolled in a leadership extension course of Azusa Pacific University that requires her to take three weeks of class work in Manila every June for three years.

The work of Friends of Garhwal is moving strongly under the leadership of Edwin Singh. National workers are living now in a couple of villages. A Hindu sadu heard that Edwin is a religious teacher and traveled many hours to find him. He accepted Christ and is now committed to take the gospel to the people he formerly influenced as a Hindu.

NEPAL: It is amazing to see the zeal with which Friends workers in Nepal evangelize and plant churches—12 new ones last year. Visitors have been impressed with the strength of the ministries of both the Vanlals in Kathmandu and the Adhikarys on the India border. They have spoken favorably of the quality of our workers and the tremendous contrast between the darkness of the lost and the light that comes through the gospel. Several Campus Crusade trained workers are helping to plant new churches in Nepal. In Janakpur, a stronghold of Hinduism, a strong group is growing. Arun, one of the believers there, was expelled from his home for becoming a Christian. When John Vanlal and the team visited there, they had opportunity to share the gospel with his family and explain what had happened to him, and 11 more trusted Christ as Savior.

PHILIPPINES: Jaime Tabingo has done some good training, especially with young people. Three of them have committed their lives to ministry. He did an outstanding job of hosting EFI/Asia Region meetings at a resort outside Manila last April. Over 150 attended including visitors from eight countries.

NAVAJO MINISTRY: The best thing happening at Rough Rock is that the Harrolds are building ever stronger relationships with the Navajo people. They feel that as a result of the prayer team ministry there is a new openness when they visit Navajo homes. We still hope to see more successful evangelism, but that is slow in coming. The Harrolds have done some effective deputation visits this past year across the US and Canada. Seven young people from the reservation attended camp at Quaker Ridge in Colorado.

RWANDA: One marvels again at the zeal and success of national workers in evangelism and church planting. There are about 15 new churches this year in Rwanda, many among returnees. Willard and Doris Ferguson have focused on training. Hector and Verna Munn came home in December after two and a half years in Rwanda. We cannot honor them enough for their huge contribution to the ministry there. The Thomases have finished formal training in language study. They are expecting another baby this fall. They have been a great help to the Fergusons. It is hard to hear of continued killing, especially in the Ruhengeri area. Four of our pastors cannot live in their own homes and five of our churches have had to suspend meetings because of the violence. People can't get into their gardens and are coming to the pastors for food, and the pastors don't have enough to feed their own families. There were three robbery attempts at the Ferguson home, one successful. Just before Willard and Doris came to the US for a month with family in June, they moved into the home of Baptist missionary friends, the Bennetts. In fact the Bennetts have invited them to stay until a team from Rose Drive Friends Church in California goes August 22 to build another home on the Kagarama Church property where Fergusons can live in a much more secure setting.

IRELAND: I visited the Todd and Celesta James family and some Friends meetings in Ireland in August, 1997, and my wife and I were back for Ireland Yearly Meeting in April 1998. The Jameses are from the Rose Drive Friends Church and have served in Ireland for 18 years under Greater Europe Mission. They asked to come under EFM partly because Celesta has had several invitations to teach in a university and GEM had no provision for working wives. The EFM Executive Committee approved adopting the James family and ministry into EFM, and the transition was made January 1, 1998. Todd has a very effective sports ministry, called SportsLife, which is quite appropriate since the Irish are so sports minded. We have yet to see what might result from Celesta's witness if she accepts a teaching position. We have taken on a ministry in another unreached people group. Though 95% are Catholic, Todd estimates less than half of one percent in Southern Ireland really know what it means to be Christian. As expected, financial support for their ministry moved with them very smoothly to EFM.

FINANCES and PRAYER: Financial and prayer support for EFM continues to increase. We adopted a budget of $990,000 for 1998, which requires about $19,000 income per week. We generally fall far short of that during the summer months and pick it up again at year end, so we are trying to build up a reserve fund that will see us through the lean times. We send appeal letters to the entire EFM constituency twice each year—to 22,000. If we struggle too much to meet our budget it could be because too much is given outside our budget—over $132,000 last year. Some of that was for very worthy projects like the $65,000 for sister churches and relief in Rwanda. Over $9,500 was for personal gifts to missionaries. This could get out of hand because givers don't realize how much others are giving. But generally support for EFM has been very good this year.

Board of Peace and Social Concerns

God has blessed the Board of Peace and Social Concerns in many ways this year. We thank Him for those who have given of their time and talents to encourage Christ's love to those around us, such as Rosannah Stone, who works with the children of North Portland at Peace Place in the former Piedmont Friends Church.

Board members have labored long and hard and are thankful for the many successes this year. The Executive Council made the hard decision to sell the Piedmont church building. The management of that property has been time consuming and was not directly related to our ministry in the community. This fall the Peace Place Kids Program will be in the house adjoining the church property. The previous tenants were asked to leave. Cleanup and other preparations are being done in hopes that the house will be ready for the children's ministry in the fall.

The 1997 Thanksgiving Offering was the largest in recent history. More than $17,000 was given for the medical team to Peru and for the completion of a medical clinic in Grace Kuto's (member of Tigard Friends) village, Chwele, Kenya. These projects will be recipients of the Thanksgiving Offering again this year.

The Board held its second Peace Retreat in November of 1997. About 30 people attended. The Young Adult Friends who traveled to Northern Ireland reported during the retreat along with a presentation by Peggy Parsons about keeping peace in the family. The next peace retreat will be held in March 1999.

In the tradition of our history of peacemaking, Newberg Friends Church hopes to send a young man for a short-term project this year with the Christian Peacemaking Team. The Board of Peace and Social Concerns would like to help support that project.

Vicki Stave, Clerk

Board of Stewardship

The Board of Stewardship meets during Yearly Meeting sessions and at Midyear Board meetings to accomplish its duties and responsibilities as outlined in the Faith and Practice. In addition, the Board's administrative committee (Stan Muhr, clerk; Roger Minthorne; Leo Crisman; R'Dean Smith, treasurer; Goldie Cline, bookkeeper; Joe Gerick, general superintendent; Harold Antrim, associate superintendent; Dave Hampton, director of finance and development; and Wayne Roberts, clerk of Friends Fund) meets monthly to keep current on stewardship matters. Elaine King, clerk of the Pension Board, also meets with the administrative committee. Copies of the minutes were distributed to all Board members in order to keep them updated on stewardship matters.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

Audits: Audits for the 1997 fiscal year were completed for the Yearly Meeting and Friends Fund. The Pension Fund was last audited for the 1996 fiscal year and an accountant's review was completed for Friends Church Extension Foundation (FCEF) for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1997. FCEF is currently in the process of obtaining the accountant's review for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1998.

Excerpts from the Yearly Meeting's 1997 audit appear in the Appendix. A detail of income and expense also appears in the Appendix. A complete copy of the audit report is available at the Yearly Meeting office.

Financial Consolidation: The Yearly Meeting's funds are classified as unrestricted, temporarily restricted and permanently restricted as required by the "Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 116." Revenue for the Great Commission Program budget is considered unrestricted and is spent for administration and board and commission programs as budgeted each year by the Executive Council. Designated, or temporarily restricted revenues such as faith promise, missionaries' shares, or new works are used by the board or commission having authority over them. When these temporarily restricted funds are spent, they are then considered as being released from restriction.

These statements show general administration expenses at 22% of total expenses. While this does reflect good stewardship of Yearly Meeting assets, it does not take into account the fact that this category includes the salaries of Yearly Meeting personnel that spend the majority of their time in ministry to the churches and youth of the Yearly Meeting.

Debt Reduction: An amount is budgeted each year to pay back to the Yearly Meeting the money which was borrowed from restricted funds several years ago to support the annual operating budget. The amount is now approximately $42,000 with a goal to complete the repayment of this amount.

Medical Insurance: The 1997 Yearly Meeting Minutes, Board of Stewardship report, contain a description of the collapse of the National Friends Insurance Trust (NFIT). The Yearly Meeting processed 187 unpaid claims for 45 employees totaling $50,701. These covered medical services from June 1996 through February 1997. Claims were paid at the rate they would have been under NFIT insurance or were negotiated with the provider for a net cost to the Yearly Meeting of $36,462. The Yearly Meeting has also incurred $10,048 in legal fees and expenses associated with this problem. Efforts continue to recover this loss through the courts.

Budget Process: The budget process in place for the past several years has been successful in keeping us in the black. The superintendents and board and commission clerks present their budget estimates for the next year during Midyear Board meetings. The Board of Stewardship, in turn, estimates the income based on the giving patterns of churches, organizations, and individuals. A budget for the following year is then proposed to the Executive Council in February. Based on requests, priorities, and discussions, a final budget is prepared for submission at Yearly Meeting sessions. The Yearly Meeting has made a commitment to not overspend revenue received. An evidence of this was at Executive Council earlier this year when the 1998 budget was cut as a result of reduced giving from churches to the Great Commission Program budget. Although these cuts were painful in some cases, they were necessary to maintain the commitment to not spend resources that are not on hand.

DEPARTMENT OF STEWARDSHIP PROMOTION

Stewardship Education: Articles appear in editions of the Yearly Meeting publication NWYM Connection. Recommended publications and books containing good stewardship information are available. There are stewardship materials at the Yearly Meeting office available to be checked out.

Survey Teams: Procedures are established to assist churches with insurance, property, liability, vehicle concerns and controls. At the church's request, members from the Board of Stewardship and knowledgeable persons will visit the churches and conduct a survey to determine adequate controls to help prevent losses and liability claims. Information can be obtained by contacting the Board of Stewardship through the Yearly Meeting office.

Mennonite Mutual Aid (MMA): The Stewardship Board supports the work of MMA in providing quality, socially screened financial services to the membership of Northwest Yearly Meeting. Each church is encouraged to have an MMA advocate to be the focal point for requesting grants from MMA and educating the church body on the availability of their services.

Stan Muhr, Clerk

DEPARTMENT OF BENEFITS - PENSION BOARD

Ministers Aid: Funds are budgeted annually to support retired pastors/spouses who retired before the present Pension Fund program started. Currently seven persons receive support from this fund.

Pension Board: A proposal is currently in second reading to integrate the Pension Board with the Ministers Aid Fund and create a new Department of Benefits under the Board of Stewardship. The Pension Board manages two funds for Yearly Meeting employees, the Pension Fund and the Retirement Benefit Fund.

Pension Fund: This fund contains pension accounts of current and former employees who are not yet retired and drawing pension benefits. As of December 31, 1997 the fund balance was $3,721,656 and consisted of accounts for 80 current contributing employees and 48 former, inactive employees. Funds are invested in a combination of stocks (58%), fixed income investments (39%), and other investments (3%). The total return on this fund last year was approximately 15%.

Retirement Benefit Fund: This fund makes monthly payments to retired participants from the Pension Fund. As of December 31, 1997, 40 individuals were receiving payments totaling $10,104 per month. The fund assets on 12/31/97 totaled $669,084 and are invested almost entirely in publicly traded stock and had a total return in 1997 of approximately 28%. There was a calculated, unfunded liability of $477,637 on 12/31/97 for the monthly payments to these 40 individuals based on their current age and expected life span. The Pension Board is taking action to correct this problem by not adding any new individuals to this fund and seeking additional funds to make up the shortfall. New retirees will now use commercial insurance companies to purchase a retirement annuity contract.

During the past year the Pension Board has:

- 1) Changed the equities manager to Ferguson & Wellman to improve returns.
- 2) Written a new policy and procedures for participants wishing to receive retirement benefits.
- 3) Drafted job descriptions and procedures for creation of the Department of Benefits under the Board of Stewardship.
- 4) Started process to obtain a legal review of the plan document.
- 5) Worked on plans to cure the deficit in the Retirement Benefit Fund.
- 6) Settled the Riggins case and recovered the Board's out-of-pocket expenses.

C. Elaine King, Clerk

DEPARTMENT OF DEVELOPMENT - FRIENDS FUND

For 26 years Friends Fund has sought to fulfill its two-fold mission of estate planning and planned giving. As the Fund enters the second quarter century that mission faces many changes and new challenges but the goal remains the same. The strong desire of Friends Fund is that everyone in Northwest Yearly Meeting have a completed estate plan and that funding be provided to Yearly Meeting ministries for generations to come.

Efforts made in the early 90s to control rapidly increasing operating deficits have been effective. The accumulated operating deficit that had climbed to $860,000 in 1990 has not increased since then. A consequence of this, however, is a lack of staff to aggressively market Friends Fund to the Yearly Meeting. Present staffing levels of approximately 1/3 FTE mean efforts are focused primarily on maintenance of existing relationships. As the financial situation of Friends Fund continues to improve, additional resources should become available to return to a more active program of attracting new estate plans.

TREASURER'S REPORT

A detailed report of 1997 income and expense is printed in the Appendix. The report is taken from the 1997 audit of Yearly Meeting books performed by Nixon, Abbey and Co. A complete copy of the audit is available at the Yearly Meeting office.

December 1997 ended the fifth consecutive year that income for the Great Commission Program Budget exceeded expenses. Income was $587,482.00 and expenses were $587,153.58. Seventeen churches exceeded their pledges, 23 matched their pledge exactly, and 11 fell short.

The Yearly Meeting continues to enjoy excellent returns on invested funds. Professional investment advisors work with the Yearly Meeting's broker to find the best income-producing opportunities while maintaining the socially responsible screens that are required.

Dave Hampton, director of finance and development, completed the settlement of unpaid insurance claims that resulted from the collapse of National Friends Insurance Trust. One hundred eighty-seven unpaid claims were processed for 45 employees totaling $50,701. These covered medical services from June 1996 through February 1997. Claims were paid at the rate they would have been under NFIT insurance or were negotiated with the provider for a net cost to the Yearly Meeting of $36,462. The Yearly Meeting has also incurred $10,048 in legal fees and expenses associated with this problem. Efforts continue to recover this loss through the courts.

The sale of property in Vancouver, often referred to as the "Mountain View Property," is pending approval of building plans by Clark County. The proceeds from this sale will be used by the Board of Evangelism to create an endowment for the funding of church planting efforts.

The Pension Board's long-standing problem with the Riggins property in Idaho has been settled. A negotiated pay off was accepted that covered the Board's out-of-pocket expenses on the property.

Personal comments: It has been a pleasure and a privilege to serve as your treasurer these last six years. I have had excellent cooperation from our superintendents, officers, staff, board and commission clerks and local church treasurers. As I "pass the torch" and join that illustrious group of "ex-treasurers," it is with the highest degree of confidence in those who deal with our finances in the Board of Stewardship, Friends Fund, Friends Church Extension Foundation, Pension Board, and all who work with our financial resources.

R'Dean Smith, Treasurer

Board of Trustees

Since the sessions of Northwest Yearly Meeting in July 1997, the Board of Trustees has dealt with the following items:

Washington Property Tax Exemption Reports. Washington property tax exemption reports have been submitted for six Washington church properties where title is in the name of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church ("NWYM"). These reports are required annually by March 31.

Sprague River Friends Church Property. We completed the process begun in October 1996 by deeding one lot in Sprague River to Sprague River Youth Programs. This was requested by the local church and it was approved by the NWYM Executive Council. This lot is small and it was valued by Klamath County at $300.

Loan on Oregon City Property. On October 20, 1997 we executed a modification agreement whereby Friends Church Extension Foundation ("FCEF") extended the maturity of its loan to NWYM on the former Hilltop Friends Church property from September 15, 1997 to September 15, 2000. This loan was paid in full on April 29, 1998. (See the next item.)

Payoff of NWYM's Note for Sale of Oregon City Property. On April 29, 1998 payment in full of $77,000 was received on a note and trust deed for the sale of the former Hilltop property in Oregon City to Mickey Schroer and Lee Anne Taghon. With the cooperation of FCEF, the Trustees signed and submitted documents needed so that this payoff could occur. From this payoff, the loan to FCEF of $23,875 was paid in full. (See the previous item.)

Whitney Friends Church Property. With the approval of the Executive Council, we executed a deed on five lots in Boise conveying title from NWYM to Whitney Friends Church. This gives Whitney ownership of all of its 14 lots.

Extension Church Names. We have recommended to the Board of Evangelism that NWYM register assumed business names for each of its extension churches in the state in which the church is operating or will operate. We believe this is required by the laws of all three states in which we operate, it establishes that the church being conducted in the respective name is under the control of NWYM, which is an Oregon nonprofit corporation, and it establishes a right to the name. We will work with the Board of Evangelism and NWYM staff to accomplish this.

When the extension church becomes a "local church" it would be expected to incorporate in the name being used and NWYM would surrender its registration of the name.

Sale of Vancouver Property. On October 21, 1997, we executed an earnest money agreement covering the sale of the 4.24 acres of property on SE 164th Avenue near McGillivray Blvd in Vancouver to Touchmark Living Centers which owns and operates Waterford at Fairway Village, a retirement complex, on adjacent property. Several conditions of the sale are being worked out and closing is now expected by October 15, 1998. (The sale proceeds will be placed in an endowment fund with income therefrom used by the Board of Evangelism to fund ongoing church planting activities.)

Sale of Piedmont Friends Church Property. Work has begun on the sale of the Piedmont Friends Church property in Portland as approved by the Executive Council in February.

Commission on Family Life

In a desire to promote "family togetherness," the Family Fun Day was planned and held on Saturday, July 18, 1998, 2:00 - 5:00 p.m. This has been a cooperative effort with the Commission on Fine Arts Clerk, Gary Burkholder. Many varied activities for children and/or children and parents were incorporated, along with music and the "Silent Auction."

The funds from the Silent Auction held during the last two yearly meeting sessions have underwritten more than 60 counseling sessions. In addition, it has provided for an "on-campus pastor counselor" for the annual Pastors Conference at Twin Rocks. Appreciation has been expressed for the availability of the pastor/counselor and the funds he needed for individual or family requests.

New materials are available to check out through the Yearly Meeting Office. New titles include: "Anger," "Stress," "Grandparenting," "Margins" (the area between your life and your limits), and "Parenting Adolescents."

The "Traveling Trunk" for adolescents can be viewed at our table in Bauman — this contains videos, books, games, etc., for either home or church use prepared by Teresa Lamm and Lori Tuning for the Commission on Family Life.

An updated media catalog has been prepared. The Yearly Meeting office will send two copies to each church. Please check with your church secretary or pastor for this.

The following workshops were held during the sessions: "Common Disorders of Children and Adolescents" and "Anger and Its Components" (Karen McConaughy), "The Mourning After" about grief (Doris Sanford), "Raising Kids in the Public School" (Don Staples, Moderator), "Health Issues for Seniors and Disabled" (Gene and Naomi Brown), "Effective Grandparenting" (Ralph Beebe, Moderator).

The Commission recognized several couples celebrating their 50th anniversary during 1998. They were presented a bouquet and anniversary card.

We appreciate your input from time to time. Please contact any of the following CFL members with ideas and suggestions that could be helpful to our constituency: Norma Beebe, Deloras Rusco, Rich Miller, Mari Kay Smith, Teresa Lamm, Bob and Michelle Brooks, and Lori Tuning.

Norma Beebe, Clerk

Commission on Media

The primary work of the Commission on Media during the past year has been the completion of the NWYM web page. After nearly two years of work, the Northwest Yearly Meeting web page is officially available to be viewed by the general public [www.nwfriends.org]. The Commission on Media is recommending that the Yearly Meeting Office include the web page address (URL) on official letterhead, just as it would the phone number and mailing address. The web page is also being publicized to the general public through prepared press releases and submission to internet search engines.

Individual churches are encouraged to publicize the page through their local bodies. Space is also available on the NWYM server to host local church pages, which would be more specific in details and programs than the "generic" individual pages created by the Commission for each church. There is no charge to be included on the server, and assistance is available for creating those pages.

The primary purpose of the page is to introduce individuals not familiar with NWYM to the churches, events, values, and work of Evangelical Friends in the Northwest. Secondly, the page provides information to members of our churches regarding NWYM events and activities. Eventually we hope to have an accurate representation of all boards, commissions, ministries, and committees and their projects. There is also a generic page for each church in the Yearly Meeting, outlining staff, meeting times, locations and contact information.

Every attempt is being made to keep the web page current. However, it should be noted that with an organization the size of NWYM, there may be information on the web page that is out of date or inaccurate. The Commission is doing all it can to maintain an accurate representation of the Yearly Meeting through this page.

Anyone who is interested in utilizing the NWYM web page for their church, board, commission, or committee or has pictures, changes, or updates to existing information on the page, should send the information to the Yearly Meeting Office, attention Commission on Media.

The Commission is continuing to explore ways of using the media to enhance and promote Northwest Yearly Meeting. It is the desire of the Commission to utilize the best media available to creatively communicate with NWYM members, individuals who are interested in Friends work, and those who are seeking a relationship with Jesus Christ, how the Yearly Meeting is reaching out. This is being done through "The Connection," Barclay Press, and by making available computer training and assistance to the local church bodies upon request.

David Maurer, former Clerk

BARCLAY PRESS

The ministry of Barclay Press is primarily through printing, and also includes publishing and the distribution of Sunday school curriculum. This work goes on because of the skill and commitment of the staff. The most obvious example has been Dick Eichenberger.

At the end of 1997, Dick retired from full-time work at Barclay Press. On December 30, 1997, Dick's coworkers (both current and former), family, and friends honored him with an open house during the day and a retirement dinner that evening. A plaque presented to Dick included the following statement:

"Dick Eichenberger has left his mark on Barclay Press. In 1965 Dick brought his printing talent and youthful energy to the printing and publishing arm of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends. His wife, Kathryn, was in her second year of a 33-year career at George Fox University; daughter, Jenny, was in the fourth grade; and son, Steve, was in the fifth. During the past 32 years his energy level has not declined. His work, words, and attitude have planted and nurtured the ideals of commitment, excellence, and diligence within the company and within the lives of coworkers. Dick's primary role at Barclay Press has been as pressman, but he also served as general manager (1979-84, 86-87). He is a skilled troubleshooter with any piece of equipment in the shop and a meticulous proofreader. Dick's friends cherish his gentle thoughtfulness; his fellow workers respect his tireless commitment; customers appreciate his craftsmanship and passion for excellence; and all admire the unassuming way he lives his life in humble consideration for others."

Current full-time and regular half-time staff are: Donna Allison, Mike Comfort, Susan Fawver, Sharon Holdahl, Chris Holm, Cindy Lauinger, Alice Maurer, Dan McCracken, Les Peterson, and John Weinrich. Other part-time staff include Gertrude Ankeny, Jean Clark, Dick Eichenberger, Gene Hockett, and Jennifer Varner. The new names this year are John Weinrich, an experienced and skilled pressman, and Chris Holm. As an important part of our commitment to growth and long-term financial viability, Chris fills a new full-time sales/marketing position.

The Barclay Press board and staff continue to deal with financial losses during recent years and the need for growth in order to support the cost of the facility constructed four years ago and the investment made in technology upgrade.

Dan McCracken, Manager

Friends Women Missionary Fellowship

"Spiritual Milestones" has been the theme for this year for the women of Evangelical Friends International — North America (EFI-NA). The programs brought the challenge to consider the spiritual milestones that have brought us to our faith and service to God and see how we can help others, and to remember our sisters in second- and third-world countries who have such terrible burdens to carry every day. Devotionals were taken from Catherine Cattell's and Phyllis Cammack's cheerful writings, giving inspiration to serve others and to follow the Lord.

The FWMF banquet at Yearly Meeting (1997) was held at George Fox University. Carolyn Stansell, our guest speaker, arrived "breathless" with suitcase in hand, to tell of the months spent at Bolivia Evangelical University. She and Ron visited churches in Peru and Bolivia, did sightseeing in other countries. Carolyn told of the need for knowledge and spiritual help in these places. The banquet theme was "Catch the Knowledge Train" with FWMF areas responsible for decorations. Pauline Koch was the able banquet coordinator.

A joint retreat was held at Twin Rocks, Oregon, October 9-12, 1997, with the theme "Fill My Cup." Becky Towne of Rocky Mountain Yearly Meeting was the special speaker with music led by Jeanne Leonard and Rachel Vanden Hoek. Early prayer time was led by Alice Maurer. The highlight of the retreat was the "high tea," served in three courses with a background of harp music. Each woman brought her own teacup and saucer to use—one with a special story. It was a wonderful time of fellowship! A fun auction on Saturday evening raised money for the homeschool supplies for missionary children.

At the retreat, Yearly Meeting women selected and pledged support for home and foreign mission projects to the amount of $7,300.00. Eleven out of thirteen reporting groups raised funds just under $10,310.00 for missions, and $6,687.00 was raised for local projects such as church furnishings, cookbooks, meals, etc.

Seven spring rallies were held this year with the theme "Add to Your Faith Knowledge," II Peter 1:5. The total offerings received was $2,937.43 for bookshelves and Spanish books for the Ilave Seminary in Peru.

There is an increased awareness among FWMF women of the great need to support our missionaries with money and prayer. Pressures are great, and all need to pray and expect the "unusual" answers to our prayer while reaching other peoples with the Good News of Jesus Christ.

Volunteers on Wheels

A story is told of a boy scout who spotted an elderly lady standing on the street corner. Applying what he had learned, he took her arm and helped her across the busy intersection. However, she complained, because she had just been waiting there and did not want to cross that street. What that seems to illustrate is that a perfect match, or as some call it, win-win, occurs when you have someone with a need and someone who will respond to that need. That is what led to the formation of Volunteers on Wheels some fourteen years ago, helping to meet needs. For that to happen, there need to be willing workers and organizations with needs. Maintaining a proper balance is not easy, for if the needs exceed the willing workers, either one of two things happen: One is saying "no" to the requests and the other is to overwork the willing few. It is almost as bad to have many willing workers standing around with nothing to do.

Every January, it is the practice of the President of the United States to give the State of the Union Address. While this often becomes another opportunity to brag about things that are going well, it was originally intended to be an assessment of where we are as a nation as well as an appropriate time to define goals for the future. I believe that the purpose of an annual report, like a state of the union address, is to inform members of where we have been, where we are, and where we are going. Looking back through the records has helped me assess our current state of the organization which I would like to share at this time.

In the very first Communique in October 19, 1984, Bill Loewen wrote, "As of this date, we have a membership of 67 persons...." He added, "My conclusion is that there is a lot of work out there to which we need to respond with our time and talents." For a variety of reasons, age, health, etc., the numbers began to dwindle. In his annual report dated, July 1, 1995, Executive Director Phil Fendall wrote, "A major concern of us is that our membership has plateaued. If we don't experience steady growth, we are in danger of a serious decline." There were only 29 members at that time. He reported that a sub-committee had been appointed to look into member recruitment. The response to the need for more willing workers has been gratifying. This year, while losing two members, eight additional members have been added. The current membership now stands at 51. This should allow us to meet more needs as well as ease the burdens among those who have been so faithful.

To summarize the state of VOW, we can note that the number of willing hands is increasing, and the requests for help are staying about the same. More needs to be done to expand and broaden our areas of service. Often the requests seem to come from a few organizations and these tend to be in the Newberg and Portland areas. We have been able to travel out of state for several projects and there have been inquiries from as far as Kansas. However, finding people who are willing to travel those greater distances may be a limiting factor.

Also there was concern that VOW members were being identified as carpenters and cement finishers while the early intent was to offer assistance in a variety of ministries. During the last two years, VOW has assisted in six vacation Bible schools and two more are scheduled for this summer. The service provided by those willing hands is just as vital as driven nails and smooth finishes on sidewalks.

As of today, our record of service stands at 23,100 hours donated, 139,131 miles driven, and at least $220,219.75 in savings to the organizations. Those are impressive numbers. But in God's work, the results cannot always be measured in dollars. How would you place monetary value upon Christ's willingness to die on the cross for us?

Thanks are in order to the faithful members of the Executive Board, particularly Doris Morris who keeps the minutes and the financial records, and to Margaret Wright who records the statistics of the projects.

When politicians close their speeches, it is customary to state, "May God bless you and may God bless America." While that may seem trite, I think it's good that they do that for at least for now, it is still legal and politically correct. We know that God has blessed VOW and as we continue in His work, He will continue to do so. Thank you, and may God bless you, VOW, and America.

Gary Fendall, Executive Director

George Fox University

President Stevens Dies at Age 57. Dominating the University's attentions this past year was deep-felt concern for George Fox's longtime president, Edward F. Stevens, who suffered a serious stroke on June 7, 1997, and had been on medical leave. After months of treatment for the stroke and the brain tumor that caused it, he experienced a rapid deterioration of his condition and died May 21 in a Portland care center.

The loss of this nationally known leader, close friend and brother in the Lord, who was known to everyone simply as "Ed," is deeply felt by the entire university community. In his decade and a half at George Fox, President Stevens directed the institution to unprecedented growth and national recognition.

David Brandt Selected as 11th President of George Fox. Following President Stevens' stroke and subsequent treatment, George Fox's Board of Trustees in September named Thomas F. Johnson, dean of the University's Western Evangelical Seminary and former president of the University of Sioux Falls in South Dakota, as interim president of George Fox.

In December the Board determined that Stevens' long-range condition and treatment would prevent him from returning to the rigorous demands of the presidency and authorized a nationwide search for a permanent replacement. That search reached a formal conclusion June 20 with the selection by the Board of Trustees of H. David Brandt as the University's 11th president.

Brandt, 59, has been president of Tabor College in Kansas the past three years. He has an extensive background in teaching, college administration and business, and has been associated with four other Christian colleges nationally in addition to Tabor. He begins his duties at George Fox August 1.

Art Major Added. George Fox last fall added art as an undergraduate major. Art classes long have been offered at the University and many students have minored in art, but formal addition of the new major coincided with the hiring of a second art professor.

Prominent Names, Faces Teach Classes During 1997-98 Academic Year. Former U.S. Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon continued his new role as a faculty member this year at George Fox, where he is Herbert Hoover Distinguished Professor. During the fall he taught a three-credit history class on the life of President Hoover, and in the spring he taught a class on post-World War II American history.

Another prominent Oregon face was added to the George Fox faculty this spring when Mike Donahue, longtime news anchor and reporter for KOIN-TV in Portland, began teaching part time as an adjunct instructor of communication arts.

In February, the University announced that popular author and speaker Richard Foster, a George Fox alumnus, will return to his alma mater this fall as visiting professor of spiritual formation.

Gifts Support University. Just before his death August 29 at age 88, Newberg resident John "Jack" Holman gave more than $500,000 to establish an endowment for student scholarships, bringing Holman's total gifts to George Fox to more than $2 million.

In August, George Fox announced what was at that point the largest single individual gift to the University in its history. The $1 million gift by Margaret Edwards, Portland, was designated for the University's endowment to strengthen a scholarship fund for students interested in science or health-related professions.

In September the Murdock Charitable Trust of Vancouver, Washington, awarded $189,000 to George Fox to boost basic research in science. In March a reception was held to thank noted psychologist Joseph Matarazzo of Portland, past president of the American Psychological Association, for donating his extensive personal library of psychology books and journals to George Fox.

That same month, Interim President Tom Johnson announced George Fox was receiving a $3 million gift—the largest in the University's 107-year history—from a husband and wife who have asked they not be publicly identified.

As the end of the fiscal year approached, the University was notified of another $1 million gift to bolster the endowment.

Record Enrollments Reach Full Decade. For the 10th year, George Fox last fall set an all-time enrollment record of 2,255 students. A total of 1,372 were traditional undergraduates, with the remainder in the University's seminary, graduate and continuing education programs. Then in January, a 10th record spring enrollment was set, with 2,174 students, of which 1,291 were traditional undergraduates. The University has more than quadrupled its enrollment since the mid-1980s.

George Fox Achieves 'Best' Recognition For Tenth Time. The most popular annual review of the nation's colleges and universities has now recognized George Fox University for a full decade as one of America's top schools. For the 10th year, George Fox last fall was included in U.S. News & World Report magazine's listing of "America's Best Colleges," particularly for its academic reputation. For a third time, George Fox also was noted as one of the best values among those schools. The University for the fourth consecutive year was ranked second in academic standing among regional liberal arts colleges in the West, and was in a three-way tie for fifth overall.

WES Marks 50th Anniversary. The 50th anniversary observance for the University's Western Evangelical Seminary was capped off in September with a celebration dinner in the Portland area. It was in September 1947 that the first classes of what was then called the Western School of Evangelical Religion were held in the Jennings Lodge area southeast of Portland. The school eventually changed its name to WES, moved to Tigard in 1993, and merged with George Fox College when the University was formed in July 1996.

Templeton Again Boosts Science/Religion Studies. Three times this year—and for the fourth through sixth times in the past six years—a George Fox faculty member or program has secured a Templeton Foundation award to further science or related education with a Christian perspective.

A $5,000 award last fall funded two lectures by noted scientists this academic year and was secured through the efforts of engineering faculty member Robert Harder. A $2,000 award in December went to psychology professor Rodger Bufford for scholarly writing. Another $10,000, to be split between the University and religion faculty member Paul Anderson, was awarded in the spring for a science/religion course to be taught by Anderson.

Tom Johnson, Interim President

Greenleaf Friends Academy

The Lord has continued to bless the Academy this past year. Enrollment held steady at 300 in grades K-12; and preschool cared for more than 40 children.

A major project at the beginning of the school year was unforeseen. Several trusses in the gym roof split due to wind damage. The expense of tearing out and replacing the 48-year-old roof was covered by the school's insurance company. Praise the Lord! The restoration was completed in November and included a much higher ceiling, better lighting, new wall coverings, a sound system, and stage curtains. Other major projects included the remodeling of the library and boys and girls bathrooms in the original hall.

Maxene Brown was hired as the business manager last summer and has done an outstanding job maintaining the school's finances. An administrative team approach was used to implement the business of running the overall school program.

The team consisted of Charla Thomas, preschool director; Peggy Timson, elementary coordinator; Lola Lynch, curriculum director; Diane Miller, secondary program director; and David Smitherman, superintendent.

High school students began the year at First Week, a spiritual retreat held at Quaker Hill. Ron Crecelius was the featured speaker. His spiritual insights and experiences were well-received by students and faculty. Spiritual Emphasis Week for elementary students was held in April. Pastor Brian Dyer from Ustick Nazarene Church in Caldwell spoke. Secondary students appreciated the ministry of Troy Covey of FISH Ministries during their spiritual emphasis week.

Incorporated into this year's weekly schedule were chapels and family group meetings. These activities were mostly student led and benefited the spiritual life of the student body.

Our athletic program was very successful as seven of our varsity teams competed at state level. The baseball team won the state championship for A-4 schools.

The high school choir, ensemble, and jazz band traveled to Utah, Wyoming, and Colorado this spring performing in churches, schools, the Air Force Academy, and Focus on the Family.

There were five major fundraisers to help fund the general budget. These included the tractor pull, Christmas Dessert, auction, which brought in $58,600.00; fun run, and 4th of July Buck-a-roo Breakfast. Each event was a great success.

Thirty-seven seniors graduated Sunday, June 7. Pastor Steve Fine of Greenleaf Friends Church gave the commencement address.

On a personal note, I have accepted a position with the Association of Christian Schools International, headquartered in Colorado Springs. Jess Kennison has been hired as superintendent for the upcoming year.

Greenleaf Academy and constituents are thankful for the good school year the Lord has given us, and are also thankful for the friends who continually remember GFA in their prayers.

Ken Smitherman, Superintendent

Barclay College

This summer will be one of transition at Barclay College. Maurice Chandler, former vice president of development at George Fox University, has been selected by the College's Board of Trustees to succeed Walter Moody as president in July.

The "State of the College" at the close of this year is as follows:

The off-campus ADVANTAGE! degree completion program for working adults now has established sites in Pratt, Dodge City and Larned with possibilities of expanding the program into Garden City, Wichita and several out-of-state areas. This successful program has been developed on the premise that the College for years has tried to increase the number of students who come to our campus with meager results. In order to increase our student body, we had to increase the confines of our rural campus and take the College to prospective new students. It is a well-known fact that the fastest growing population requesting educational services is the adult population and specifically working adults. Our first classes—a total of eight graduates—from Pratt and Larned joined on-campus students for commencement in May. We received very favorable comments from these graduates and some are already enrolled in graduate degree programs that start this summer.

Enrollment in the Fall of 1997 was the highest it's been in many years with a full-time equivalency of 125 which includes the ADVANTAGE! students.

Financially, we have developed realistic budgets (i.e., balanced budgets), encumbered funds for summer salaries and expenses. These actions, along with increased enrollment and loyal giving by alumni and friends, have enabled us to pay ALL salaries and bills on time for the past 2½ years as well as have our audits in the "black" two years in a row with a third expected when the current fiscal year ended in June.

Our new Christian School Elementary Education program has been well-received and we are in the process of hiring a full-time faculty member for that department.

Our commitment to excellence in education and Christian lifestyle is being strengthened through stressing QUALITY across the board. We have raised our admissions standards, made some improvements to our buildings and grounds, and begun the process of applying for regional accreditation, to name a few advancements.

A Capital Improvements/Endowment Campaign, the first such endeavor in more than 30 years, was launched in February. As of mid-May, more than $1.5 million had been raised or pledged toward the three-year campaign goal of $3.75 million.

There is renewed spiritual emphasis with the establishment of "Spiritual Emphasis Week," "Missions Emphasis Week" and increased prayer outreach.

Significant progress has been made toward stabilization of the College. There is more work to be done. Please continue to uplift Barclay in prayer as the College faithfully continues to "prepare students in a Bible-centered environment for effective Christian life, service and leadership."

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT AUDITORS

Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church
Newberg, Oregon

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church as of December 31, 1997 and the related statements of activities, expenses and costs by function, and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the organization's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

Except as discussed in the following paragraph, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

As explained in Note 2 to the financial statements, we were not engaged to audit The Barclay Press, Inc. a wholly owned subsidiary of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church with unaudited net assets of $89,484 as of December 31, 1997. Generally accepted accounting principles require consolidation of the financial statements of a wholly owned subsidiary.

We were unable to satisfy ourselves as to the completeness of the fixed assets, stated at $912,704 in the accompanying financial statements as of December 31, 1997. It was not practicable to extend our auditing procedures sufficiently to satisfy ourselves as to the carrying value of real properties in which the Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church held title as of December 31, 1997 because complete detail cost records of fixed asset acquisitions and disposals were not available.

In our opinion, except for the effects of not consolidating the financial statements of The Barclay Press, Inc. and such adjustments, if any, as might have been determined to be necessary had we been able to ascertain the acquisition value of certain land and buildings, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church as of December 31, 1997, and the results of its operations and the changes in its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.
