MINUTES Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church 2004

Monday, July 19, 8:15 a.m.

■ 1. Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church convened its 112th annual sessions on Saturday, July 17, on the campus of George Fox University with the meeting of the Council of Representatives. The theme for this year's sessions is "Becoming Incarnational Christians," drawing on 1 John 4:17.

■ 2. Ed, Joan, and Jessica Fegles and Ken Thornburg opened the Monday morning session leading the meeting in singing. Attendance was estimated at 200. Bruce Bishop and Nancy Almquist introduced the theme for this year's sessions, focusing on the covenantal relationship into which God invites us, including readings from Jeremiah and Hebrews. Presiding Clerk Lon Fendall introduced himself, Assistant Clerk Don Staples, and Recording Clerk Ron Mock.

■ 3. The representatives who were not present on Saturday were seated.

■ 4. Visiting Friends were recognized and welcomed, including: Newton Garver, from New York Yearly Meeting and Buffalo Monthly Meeting, the official representative from the Friends World Committee on Consultation (FWCC); Carl Magruder representing Quaker Earthcare Witness; Nancy Yarnall, from Corvallis, Oregon, representing the western field staff of the FWCC; and Phil Baisley, from Richmond, Indiana, representing Earlham School of Religion.

■ 5. Lon Fendall reviewed the search process for a new general superintendent which took place in the last year. Cleta Crisman, Karen Folwell, Ken Beebe, Bob Schneider, Lorraine Watson, and Ron Woodward were thanked for their service with Lon on the search committee. Lon reviewed the action of the Executive Council and those present at Midyear Board meetings in January to allow for an interim appointment of a new general superintendent for one year, with the decision of whether or not to extend the appointment to a full three-year term to be made at this Yearly Meeting. On April 3, the Executive Council approved the appointment of Colin Saxton for a one-year term beginning July 1, 2004, and recommended that his appointment be extended by the Yearly Meeting to June 30, 2007. Lon read a minute from North Valley Friends Church releasing him from ministry at that congregation to take up the position of general superintendent. The Yearly Meeting approved the extension of Colin's term through June 30, 2007.

■ 6. Lon Fendall read a report from the Epistle Committee noting that epistles from 21 yearly meetings in the United States, 11 yearly meetings outside the U.S., and 7 other Friends groups around the world had been received. The committee noted the growing practice of posting epistles on the internet rather than sending paper copies. The committee has compiled received epistles, including those from the internet, in a binder so attenders can review them.

■ 7. Lon Fendall introduced new general superintendent, Colin Saxton, who reviewed the list of pastoral changes for 2003-2004: Art House Friends – Trevor and Betsy Smith, pastors; Entiat – Gary Thomas (Carol), co-pastor with Fred Ness; Eugene – Sam McElwain (Janet), youth pastor; Hayden Lake – Mike Foster (Tia), youth pastor, Garth Mickelson (Vicki), community outreach pastor, and Stan Perisho (Shirlene), pastor to seniors; Marion – Ken Maben (Jennifer), pastor; McKinley Hill – Barry Eronson (Paula), pastor; Meridian – Chris Tiner (Stephanie), youth coordinator; Metolius – Tracy Graves (Kelsie), youth pastor; Netarts – Josh Bunce (Marcy), youth pastor; North Valley – Leslie Hodgdon, youth pastor; Rose Valley – Joe Gerick (Ann), interim pastor for July and August.

■ 8. The meeting worshipped in song. Then Bruce Bishop reviewed “sense of the meeting” decision making as practiced by Friends, describing it as spiritual discernment rather than consensus, and suggested some practices Friends might adopt this week to help the meeting discern the Spirit’s leadings.

■ 9. Lon Fendall reported on the Saturday representatives meeting, its approval of the nominating committee report (see minute #58), and its review of the Yearly Meeting agenda. The following minute from the Saturday meeting was read:

The representatives met on Saturday, July 17, and heard numerous reports of discussions in monthly meetings about the proposal to add the word “evangelical” to the name of our Yearly Meeting. We commend the people in the churches of our Yearly Meeting for the time and prayerful thought they have given to discussing this issue. The representatives were in unity that we should not bring a proposal forward to the Yearly Meeting for discussion at this time. We feel there has been considerable benefit from having the discussion and are confident that our Yearly Meeting will continue to be both evangelical and evangelistic.

Lon Fendall invited comments and questions from the Yearly Meeting. A suggestion was made to note where appropriate on letterheads, etc., our membership in Evangelical Friends International. This suggestion was referred to the general superintendent.

■ 10. David Hampton, Yearly Meeting treasurer, presented the financial summary of the Great Commission Budget for the year. He noted that last year the budget was under stress to the degree that staff cuts were made. This was due to a reduction in the percentage of local church income devoted to the Great Commission Budget combined with a poor general economy limiting the increase in overall congregational income. However, in the past year congregations did not reduce the percentage of their contributions, and their incomes rebounded overall. As a result, contributions have run 6% above projections, generating surpluses by the end of 2003, which were used for retiring previous deficits, adding to funds for retired ministers, and creating reserve funds. The 2004 budget will likely also have surpluses, although not to the extent necessary to restore last year’s staff cuts. Some staff needs have been filled with interns. Some of this year’s projected surplus has been devoted to increasing the Yearly Meeting subsidy of the costs of Yearly Meeting sessions from $6,000 last year (from the Yearly Meeting endowment) to $10,000 this year from the Great Commission Budget plus $14,600 from the YM endowment (about 40% the cost of running Yearly Meeting). The aim is to reduce the cost of attending Yearly Meeting sessions this year and at least the next two years, and hopefully reverse the decline in attendance noted last year. The proposed budget for 2005 includes significant increases in the Board of Stewardship and Ministerial Service Board budgets and Yearly Meeting sessions subsidy. Smaller increases are proposed for Peace and Social Concerns, Trustees, Personnel, Missions, and Education. There is a proposed cut in the budget of the Commission on Ethnic Ministries. Detailed information packets were made available at the caretaker’s table. In response to questions from the floor, David expressed his confidence that adopting this budget would not foreclose options for creating the district superintendent positions, to be considered tomorrow by the Yearly Meeting. Action was deferred to a later session.

■ 11. The meeting worshipped in song.

Monday, July 19, 10:30 a.m.

■ 12. The meeting worshipped in song, silence, and a reading from Isaiah, with attention to the Yearly Meeting’s first core value: “Jesus Christ is present.” An estimated 245 were in attendance.

■ 13. David Woolsey, clerk of the Council of Elders, presented the Council’s report. In his remarks, David emphasized the challenge posed by the Pacific Northwest’s poor church attendance figures. He suggested this is partly the result of how we “do church” in the Yearly Meeting. He challenged churches to do the hard work of rethinking how church is done in their congregations, including urging established churches to undertake some “new work” activities, working to become “go-to-them,” incarnational Christians. The Yearly Meeting heard reports including: the creation of an outreach pastor at Hayden Lake; “Alpha” and an ESL tutoring program at Vancouver; a harvest party, block party, garage sale, and possible “simple” churches at Medford; use of an old schoolhouse for community events at Woodland; a youth-sponsored Habitat for Humanity house and splitting the youth ministry position into three part-time outreach positions at Silverton; welcome baskets to new residents at Tigard; a drama club and drama camp at Reedwood; an after-school program at Homedale; a country fair at West Chehalem; a youth community service week at Second Street. An informal lunch hour meeting on the topic of community outreach will be held on Tuesday at noon, hosted by David Woolsey and Colin Saxton.

■ 14. Gregg Koskela, clerk of the Friends Center Board, presented a report on the center’s activities. The center has been staffed with Dick Sartwell as director and Tonya Comfort as administrative assistant. Funding is this year’s priority, along with developing Friends-related programs at George Fox Evangelical Seminary. Gregg introduced Jules Glanzer, dean of the seminary, who explained the work of the seminary, where Friends are 7% of the student body, one of 31 denominations represented. Four Friends graduated from the seminary this year. The Friends Center is the only denominationally-specific program at the seminary. Jules reported signs of growth at the seminary, in increased inquiries from prospective students, new degree programs and scholarships, and new educational models that allow students to study without taking up residence in the Newberg/Portland area.

■ 15. Lon Fendall redirected the meeting's attention to the proposed 2005 budget. The meeting decided to delay final approval of the budget until after the discussion of the district superintendent proposal.

■ 16. Bruce Bishop reminded the meeting of God's desire to be in covenant relationship with us. The meeting worshipped in song.

■ 17. The meeting adjourned to Tuesday at 8:15.

Tuesday, July 20, 8:15 a.m.

■ 18. Ed, Joan, and Jessica Fegles and Ken Thornburg opened the Tuesday morning session leading the meeting in singing and prayer. Attendance was estimated at 205.

■ 19. Bryan Christenson, a candidate for recording as a minister, gave his testimony.

■ 20. Representatives not seated on Saturday or Monday were recognized and seated.

■ 21. Ron Stansell, clerk of the Board of Missions, presented its report. He highlighted encouraging trends in giving, and the Yearly Meeting's most recent new fields in North Africa and Russia. He also explained the new mission statement for the board ("To model and proclaim God's love cross-culturally in ways that will transform people and produce healthy Christ-centered fellowships.") and how the board's various activities relate to it. An increase in budget of over 25% for 2004 (and a further increase in 2005) is projected to be met largely through an increase in missionary shares giving in support of individual missionary staff. Ron also praised the work of Duane Comfort as the Yearly Meeting's missions administrator.

■ 22. Chuck Mylander, director of Evangelical Friends Mission, presented the EFM report from Spring 2004. Chuck led the meeting in prayer for three missionary couples (Edwin and Nivedit Singh in India, Bob and Debbie Adhikary in Nepal, and Jeremy and Betty Smuck in Mexico) and highlighted recent events in each of these three mission fields.

■ 23. Ron Stansell, director of the Evangelical Friends International Council, gave its report. He highlighted the first EFI Council meeting to be held outside the United States in New Delhi, India, and the rapid growth in mission work in Asia. He also reported significant expansion of mission work sponsored by yearly meetings outside the U.S. The historic vision of a Friends movement "evangelical in nature and worldwide in scope" seems to be coming to pass.

■ 24. The meeting worshipped in song. Bruce Bishop led the meeting to reflect on being in covenant together with God, reading from Colossians. Arthur Roberts encouraged members to use the Friends Connection bulletin inserts, Fruit of the Vine, and Yearly Meeting Minutes as means of connecting with each other, as if they were letters from cousins in the "family of Friends."

■ 25. Ken Redford, clerk of the Board of Evangelism, presented its report. He emphasized how the board has found opportunity to redirect its energy in the aftermath of the departure of Harold Behr. John Macy is serving half time as director of New Works; Bruce Bishop's tenure as field secretary for leadership development has ended; and the board has proposed the creation of district superintendent positions. In response to questions from the floor, Ken reported that the board will be considering how to avoid the sense of isolation that contributed to the withdrawal of the Four Summits congregation from the Yearly Meeting.

■ 26. The meeting worshipped in song.

■ 27. Representatives from the various areas were directed to gather in various sectors of the auditorium to name area secretaries and/or nominating committee members, where needed.

Tuesday, July 20, 10:30 a.m.

■ 28. The meeting worshipped in song. Raelene Fendall read from Hebrews and James, and urged us to heal broken relationships and seek and give forgiveness. The meeting worshipped in silent prayer and song. Attendance was estimated at 230.

■ 29. Aletha McKennon, clerk of the Fine Arts Commission, gave its report, with an emphasis on its passion for connecting people who have gifts in the arts, including plans for several gatherings and celebrations of the Yearly Meeting's artists during the next year. Aletha presented awards in recognition for lifelong achievement in the arts to Ron Crecelius, Dick Cadd, Harlow Ankeny, and Norval Hadley (the members of the Four Flats Quartet).

■ 30. Ken Redford (clerk of the Board of Evangelism) and Dave Woolsey (clerk of the Council of Elders) presented a proposal to create four district superintendent positions, each at 10 hours per week. The district superintendents would serve each of the following regions: Boise Valley/Greenleaf areas; Inland/Puget Sound areas; Portland/SW Washington areas; and Salem/Southern Oregon areas. Each district superintendent would support churches, especially new works; improve connections among churches; intervene in conflicts early; and provide leadership and elder training. In response to questions from the floor, Ken and Dave and General Superintendent Colin Saxton clarified that

- * funding is in place for two years;
- * district superintendents would not replace area superintendents;
- * expense reimbursements would not be divided equally among all four positions, but would be tailored to the different logistical needs of the regions.

- * district superintendents would report to the director of new works development, but would only be accountable to the general superintendent.
- * the Yearly Meeting's Faith and Practice references to an assistant superintendent and field secretaries is out of date, and will need to be revised anyway.
- * there is no provision in the proposal that excludes senior pastors from being a district superintendent.

Colin expressed his support for the proposal, including the built-in evaluation after two years. He promised to hold district superintendents accountable to prevent them from overcommitting, in light of their 1/4-time status.

A minute from Olympic View meeting was read (and endorsed by several others in this meeting) in opposition to the current version of the proposal, raising concerns over how funding provisions might make the district superintendents too dependent on an individual board, adequacy of quarter-time employment, and confusion over the emphasis on New Works. Dave Woolsey reported that the Council of Elders considered these issues in January, and that work was still underway to address them. Ken Redford worried that delaying the proposal would put a serious burden on the general superintendent.

Decision on the proposal was held over until Wednesday morning.

- 31. The meeting worshipped in song.

Wednesday, July 21, 8:15 a.m.

■ 32. Ed, Joan, and Jessica Fegles and Ken Thornburg opened the Wednesday morning session leading the meeting in singing and prayer. Jessica read 2 Corinthians 5:17-20. General Superintendent Colin Saxton also drew on Colossians 1 to encourage the meeting to consider what it means for a group to be covenanted with another, creating commitments that go beyond individual relationships. Attendance was estimated at 210.

■ 33. George Fox University President David Brandt and Board Chair Kent Thornburg presented a report on the university. Kent noted that the university board has been restructuring its committees and will have need for new trustees in the future. He encouraged members of the meeting to provide suggestions for possible board members. He also noted the university has been operating with balanced budgets and is financially sound. Half or more of the members of the meeting in attendance were either students, alumni, employees, or board members of the university. David reported that the university did well in several accreditation reviews this year, enrollment has continued to grow, and faculty and students typically report their work on the campus is in response to a sense of calling from God. David gave credit to the GFU baseball team and coaches for the way they impressed people at the NCAA Division III baseball tournament with their Christlike character on their way to winning the national championship, and the national publicity the university has received as a result of their success and having a pitcher drafted by the New York Mets. In response to a question from the meeting about how college costs can be managed by families committed to Quaker simplicity (and on limited incomes) without incurring crushing debts, David cited relatively low employee wages as a sign of the university's care to keep costs low. He and Kent also encouraged further exploration of how the university could partner with churches to provide additional support. Ron Stansell reported that the Board of Missions is looking into creating a college debt retirement program for new graduates going into missions. David Brandt noted that 4/7 of the university board must be Friends under the board bylaws, and that incoming board chair Barbara Palmer is a Friend worshipping at Second Street Church. Presiding Clerk Lon Fendall encouraged the Board of Education to find a way to explore a partnership between the Yearly Meeting and the university to support Friends students. Lon invited questions from the floor about the university board members up for appointment this year by the Yearly Meeting: Carrie Lamm-Bishop, Dale Hadley, Gloria Attrell, Ken Austin, Gary Chennault, Dea Cox, Keith Galitz, John Lim, Stan Morse, Victor Peterson, Stan Leach, and Steve Fellows.

■ 34. Ron Mulkey, clerk of the Board of Education, presented its report. He reported that the board is working on redefining its direction this year, partly as a result of needing to adjust to the loss of Irene (Rice) Dunlop's staff position in the Yearly Meeting office. He mentioned four areas of focus this year: children's yearly meeting, the G.O. newsletter for children, the C.E. workers retreat last fall, and an improved child protection policy for churches.

■ 35. Bruce Bishop reminded the meeting that "sense of the meeting" decisions include sharing dissenting views, which may change the meeting's direction, or lead the dissenter to stand aside or, in rare cases, report an inability to unite with the group.

■ 36. The meeting worshipped in song.

■ 37. The following minute was read from the Executive Council:
The Executive Council has discussed the issue of the district superintendent positions being funded by a single board. The council acknowledges the importance and complexity of this aspect of the district superintendent question, and the council agrees to address this issue and bring a recommendation to the Yearly Meeting a year from now. Meanwhile, the Executive Council encourages the adoption of the District Superintendent Proposal.

Several Friends spoke in favor of adopting the proposal now. The following draft minute was proposed by the presiding clerk:

The Yearly Meeting has studied the proposal to release four individuals to serve as district superintendents, ministering to pastors, leaders, and members of our established churches and new works. We have noted the concern that individuals in these positions might be expected to do far more than one-quarter time and have been assured that our general superintendent will help keep their work load at a manageable level. We have also noted the concern about funding coming only from the Board of Evangelism. We have learned that the Executive Council has agreed to study this issue. We will hear their report a year from now.

We are united in believing that there will be substantial benefits from the district superintendent plan, in multiplying the ministry of our general superintendent and in serving our pastors, church leaders, and members. We commend the Board of Evangelism and Council of Elders for developing this plan and expect to hear next year about its effectiveness.

Discussion of the proposed minute followed. At 10:05 the meeting took a break.

Wednesday, July 21, 10:30 a.m.

■ 38. The meeting worshipped in song. Bruce Bishop read from 1 Peter emphasizing that we have been chosen as a people of God. He also encouraged the meeting to be indifferent to everything other than God's desire. Attendance was estimated at 345.

■ 39. Deliberation continued about the creation of district superintendent positions. A concern was raised about whether it would be more useful to reinstate staff cuts from a year ago in youth and children's ministry. However, the meeting approved the following minute:

The Yearly Meeting has studied the proposal to release four individuals to serve as district superintendents, to minister to pastors, leaders, and members of our established churches and new works. These appointments will be for a minimum of two years. We have noted the concern that individuals in these positions might be expected to do far more than one-quarter time and have been assured that our general superintendent will help keep their work load at a manageable level. We have also noted the concern about funding coming only from the Board of Evangelism. We have learned that the Executive Council has agreed to study that issue. We will hear their report a year from now. We recognize the need for a broader study of Yearly Meeting staffing and will hear a progress report from our general superintendent a year from now.

We are united in believing that there will be substantial benefits from the district superintendent plan, in multiplying the ministry of our general superintendent and in serving our pastors, church leaders, and members. We commend the Board of Evangelism and Council of Elders for developing this plan and expect to hear next year about its effectiveness.

■ 40. Anna Baker, one of the Yearly Meeting representatives to the Friends World Committee for Consultation, reported on their attendance at the FWCC Triennial Meeting in New Zealand. She introduced Newton Garver, the representative from the FWCC, who brought greetings from FWCC and New York Yearly Meeting. Anna also introduced Nancy Yarnall, representing the western field office of FWCC in Corvallis, Oregon, who brought further greetings. Sharon Jones Hayden from North Seattle Friends described FWCC as a switchboard providing the context for Friends to meet and work together. She described the intense interest other Friends have shown in our Yearly Meeting's evangelical understanding of the Friends distinctives. Patty Federighi from North Seattle Friends announced there will be a regional FWCC meeting at North Seattle Friends in February.

■ 41. Phil McLain, coclerk of the Commission on Family Life, presented its report. He highlighted the video resources that are available to local churches, including showing short video clips on child rearing and domestic violence. He also asked for those with special concern for mother-daughter relationships to contact a member of the Commission, which is reevaluating the future of programming in this area. The meeting recognized and prayed for several couples who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversaries this year: Elmer and Marcelene Adams, Marvin and Maribeth Hampton, Phil and Georgia Lamm, Bob and Marcena Monroe, Ernie and Muriel Ostrin, and Richard and Mildred Powell.

■ 42. Assistant Clerk Don Staples read the following minute from the Executive Council:

The Executive Council recommends the extension of the call of Paul Bock as youth superintendent of Northwest Yearly Meeting for one more year, through June 30, 2006. Our new general superintendent, Colin Saxton, concurs in this recommendation.

We have discussed the possibility of changing the two-year call to a three-year call as has been approved for the general superintendent. That proposal will be considered as a Faith and Practice change in the future in the context of a broader look at Faith and Practice language dealing with superintendents and other staff.

The minute was approved by the meeting.

■ 43. Youth Superintendent Paul Bock introduced the outgoing and incoming officers of the Youth Yearly Meeting:

■ 44. Mark Kelley, clerk of the Board of Ministerial Service, presented its report. He reviewed the work of the board in preparing candidates for recording, recommending recording of ministers, and encouraging and motivating those who have been recorded.

■ 45. The Council of Elders, upon recommendation from the Board of Ministerial Service, recommended to the Yearly Meeting that Bryan Christenson be recorded as a minister of the gospel. Approved.

■ 46. Don Staples announced the availability of Yearly Meeting evaluation forms and encouraged members to complete them.

■ 47. The meeting worshipped in song. The meeting adjourned until Thursday morning.

Thursday, July 22, 8:15 a.m.

■ 48. Ed, Joan, and Jessica Fegles and Ken Thornburg opened the Thursday morning session leading the meeting in singing. Joan read from 1 Corinthians and Hebrews. Two attendees shared how they have experienced covenantal relationships between churches and the Yearly Meeting. Attendance was estimated at 180.

■ 49. Clerk Cathy Knox, assisted by Gary Townsend, presented the report on the Commission on Communications and Barclay Press. Raelene Fendall is clerking the Epistle Committee in place of Jackie Hausinger. Jim Fields has developed two workshops on conflict, which he is willing to present to churches on request. Archivist Dick Votaw has only received material from two churches, and would like greater participation. The Yearly Meeting web site is active. The YM Faith and Practice is now on the web in PDF downloadable form.

■ 50. Edwin Cammack, clerk of the Commission on Ethnic Ministries, presented its report. A study of nationalities represented in our churches is continuing, with approximately 25 different nationalities identified so far. The commission is working to refocus its work promoting ethnic ministry in our churches, and in the community, despite having trouble securing good attendance at commission meetings. Edwin appealed to members to consider whether they have a vision for ethnic ministry that would draw them to serve on the commission.

■ 51. David Hampton, Yearly Meeting treasurer, reopened the discussion of the Yearly Meeting's Great Commission Budget for the next year. He announced that next year he will host a workshop early in Yearly Meeting to allow people to ask detailed questions about the budget before it is brought to the floor for consideration. In response to a question from the floor, David explained that the $1,000 decrease planned in the budget for the Commission on Ethnic Ministries is due to an agreement with the Piedmont Peace Place to move it toward self-sufficiency by cutting its subsidy by $1,000 per year. This cut is offset by an increase in the Peace and Social Concerns budget of $1,000 each year. Increases in the Stewardship Board line-item represent a combination of returning items to the Great Commission Budget that in recent years had either been cut or covered with other funds, and revamping the retirement benefits for retired Yearly Meeting pastors and staff. A suggestion to have all Yearly Meeting spending, including areas not covered in the Great Commission Budget, come to the floor for approval will be passed along to the Board of Stewardship. The following budget was approved by the meeting:

2005 GREAT COMMISSION PROGRAM BUDGET

■ 52. The meeting worshipped in song.

■ 53. Rachel Hampton, clerk of the Board of Peace and Social Concerns, presented its report. The Thanksgiving Offering will go toward Christian Peacemaker Teams. Two representatives of the Yearly Meeting are volunteering at this point with the Christian Peacemaker Teams: Matt Chandler is a full-time CPT volunteer working in Iraq, and Tricia Brown is a reservist working annually in Canada with Native American conflicts. Jeanette Rutherford presented a minute from Klamath Falls Friends Church on Iraq, largely inspired by Klamath Falls member Ken Magee who has been working with Northwest Medical Teams in Iraq and Liberia. The minute calls upon the governments of the United States and other nations around the world "to exercise as their primary purpose care for the poor, the hungry, and distressed persons everywhere." It stresses that "preparing for and waging war not only is contrary to this aim but leads us away from God." It exhorts "people of faith...to wage peace and to implore their governments to do the same" and urges that "means used to establish freedom and justice be as diverse and true as the cultures and nations which host them."

■ 54. Rachel Hampton read the following proposed minute drafted by the Board of Peace and Social Concerns for the Yearly Meeting concerning Iraq.

The Holy Spirit gives us the ability and responsibility to witness current events in Iraq as ambassadors of Christ. Not concealing our distress, our concern, even our tears, we search our hearts and the Scriptures, and as Northwest Yearly Meeting Friends we make the following statements:

We reject the assumption that God led us to invade Iraq. We see from history that leaders of war have excused immoral action by claiming that "God was on their side." Our nation's attempts to promote freedom by military means have resulted in thousands of deaths.

This action is in stark contrast with the Gospel imperative to love your enemies. We call on our leaders to repent of violence in Iraq, to accept responsibility for our actions, to seek to understand the grievances held by those with whom our nation is in conflict and to end the suffering and death caused by war.

Several members of the meeting expressed opposition to the minute. Suggestions were made to edit the minute in various ways to focus more narrowly on a message of peace and nonviolence, to avoid attributing motives to people, to shift the focus to what we can do in the future rather than grievances about the past, to express grief for deaths in Iraq and for Iraqis suffering under the Hussein regime, to note that only a relationship with Christ offers true peace. In response to an inquiry about whether the Board of Peace and Social Concerns would also bring minutes on abortion and same-sex marriage, Rachel explained that the board was trying to avoid overlapping with the Commission on Family Life. At the direction of Presiding Clerk Lon Fendall, the section of the Faith and Practice dealing with Christian Witness to Peace was read aloud. The meeting worshipped in silent prayer.

- 55. The meeting worshipped in song, and then recessed for a break

Thursday, July 22, 10:30 a.m.

- 56. The meeting worshipped in song. Attendance was estimated at 220.

■ 57. Frank Engle, director of marketing at Friendsview Retirement Community (formerly Friendsview Manor), presented its report. The Charles Beals Health Center was dedicated Sunday afternoon, July 18, as part of major facility expansions at Friendsview. Frank reported that Friendsview has been able to resume extending charitable assistance to pastors and missionaries who are without the means to fully pay entry fees or monthly fees. Three couples are now residents with the help of the charitable assistance fund. Frank introduced Dennis Russell as the new executive director of Friendsview. Friendsview is now beginning to serve some third-generation residents. Dennis reported that Friendsview residents are more involved in its oversight than anywhere else he is aware of, working through as many as 28 different resident committees to complete the current strategic plan. He also reported his perception that Friends' values govern the decisions and direction of the board and staff.

■ 59. Don Staples highlighted various features of the statistical report, noting a decline in memberships and attendance, and a baby boom at Rose Valley Friends.

■ 60. Rachel Hampton, clerk of the Board of Peace and Social Concerns, presented a revised proposed minute:

1. The Holy Spirit gives us the ability and responsibility to witness to current events in Iraq as ambassadors of Christ. Not concealing our distress, our concern, even our tears, we search our hearts and the Scriptures, and as Northwest Yearly Meeting Friends we make the following statements:
2. We believe that God does not lead people to war. We are concerned that the current violence has resulted in death and brokenness to many.
3. War is in stark contrast with the Gospel imperative to love your enemies. We call on all peoples to repent of violence and to seek to understand the needs of one another. We pray for Christ's guidance in ending this conflict and to end the suffering and death of all war.
4. As Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends, we invite all peoples to experience true peace and freedom through a personal relationship with God through Christ.
5. Our historic Quaker peace testimony states:

"We believe the precepts of Christ our Lord and the whole spirit of His Gospel call us to live at peace with all people. Therefore we consider war and violence incompatible with the holiness we profess. We ask our leaders to choose nonviolent alternatives for sustaining economic and civil order. We respect government as an instrument of God to restrain evil and promote justice, and we submit to it in matters that do not interfere with obedience to Christ our Lord. When conflicts arise among persons, we will resolve them in a spirit of humility, with love for those who oppose us, and in accordance with biblical methods of peacemaking. (See Matthew 18 and George Fox's 'Gospel Order.')

Several Friends commended the Board of Peace and Social Concerns' work to recast the minute into a more positive tone, taking into account the concerns raised earlier. The importance of acting out of our concerns was emphasized. Some wondered whether endorsing a minute like this was a good use of our energy.

■ 61. Raelene Fendall presented the proposed epistle from the Yearly Meeting. Friends suggested some additions. The meeting approved the revised Epistle, reproduced at paragraph 69 in the Addenda below.

■ 62. Presiding Clerk Lon Fendall asked the meeting whether it was ready to approve the minute as proposed and revised by the Board of Peace and Social Concerns. Lon explained that there was no other business before the Yearly Meeting, so that a Friday session would be solely for the purpose of considering this minute. Some Friends expressed their unease about uniting around the minute without further opportunity to reflect upon it together. Others expressed their readiness to approve the minute now. The presiding clerk decided that the Yearly Meeting would reconvene tomorrow morning at 8:15 am.

Friday, July 23, 8:15 a.m.

■ 63. Ed, Joan, and Jessica Fegles and Ken Thornburg opened the Friday morning session leading the meeting in singing. Bruce Bishop commended the meeting for doing the hard work of hearing God this week, as an expression of our commitment to be a covenanted community, and led us in prayer. Friends shared with each other individually how they had seen God at work this week. After an extended period of silent prayer, a few Friends spoke. Attendance was estimated at 110.

■ 64. Presiding Clerk Lon Fendall reported the Nominating Committee still needs three names for the Memorial Committee, and to fill two new vacancies on the Committee on Correspondence. He invited Friends to prayerfully consider who might be called to these tasks.

■ 65. Lon Fendall invited the meeting to resume consideration of the minute proposed by the Board of Peace and Social Concerns. Friends offered various suggestions for wording changes. Considerable interest in making the statement general about all wars was in tension with others who preferred that the statement specifically address the current conflict in Iraq. Others preferred that there be no statement from the Yearly Meeting. After a period of silent prayer, the clerks proposed the following minute:

The Holy Spirit gives us ability and responsibility to witness to events as ambassadors of Christ. As we search our hearts and the Scriptures, in the light of the current violence occurring in countries around the world, as Northwest Yearly Meeting Friends, we make the following statements:

1. Our historic Quaker peace testimony states:

"We believe the precepts of Christ our Lord and the whole spirit of His Gospel call us to live at peace with all people. Therefore we consider war and violence incompatible with the holiness we profess. We ask our leaders to choose nonviolent alternatives for sustaining economic and civil order. We respect government as an instrument of God to restrain evil and promote justice, and we submit to it in matters that do not interfere with obedience to Christ our Lord... When conflicts arise among persons, we will resolve them in a spirit of humility, with love for those who oppose us, and in accordance with biblical methods of peacemaking. (See Matthew 18 and George Fox's 'Gospel Order.')

2. As Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends, we invite all peoples to experience true peace and freedom through a personal relationship with God through Christ.

3. We make a corporate and individual commitment to pray for the protection of all persons. We pray for the comfort and healing of body, soul, mind, and spirit of individuals and families personally impacted by the violence of war.

Friends discussed the revised minute at length in a spirit of prayerful discernment, with deep feeling expressed on the concern for maintaining a witness against violence while also standing with those in the Yearly Meeting who are serving in the military, or have loved ones doing so. Several Friends expressed appreciation for the benefit of the discussion in shedding light on the peace testimony. The meeting concluded that it was in unity to accept the following Minute, and to request that representatives invite their monthly meetings to discuss this minute:

The Holy Spirit gives us ability and responsibility to witness to events as ambassadors of Christ. As we search our hearts and the Scriptures, in view of the current violence occurring in countries around the world, as Northwest Yearly Meeting Friends, we make the following statements:

1. Our current and historic Quaker peace testimony states:

"We believe the precepts of Christ our Lord and the whole spirit of His Gospel call us to live at peace with all people. Therefore we consider war and violence incompatible with the holiness we profess. We ask our leaders to choose nonviolent alternatives for sustaining economic and civil order. We respect government as an instrument of God to restrain evil and promote justice, and we submit to it in matters that do not interfere with obedience to Christ our Lord... When conflicts arise among persons, we will resolve them in a spirit of humility, with love for those who oppose us, and in accordance with biblical methods of peacemaking. (See Matthew 18 and George Fox's 'Gospel Order.')

2. As Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends, we invite all peoples to experience true peace and freedom through a personal relationship with God through Jesus Christ.

3. We make a corporate and individual commitment to pray for the protection of all persons. We pray for the comfort and healing of body, soul, mind, and spirit of individuals and families personally impacted by the violence of war.

■ 69. Epistle from the Yearly Meeting:

To Friends Everywhere:

Greetings from the 112th sessions of Northwest Yearly Meeting gathered on the George Fox University campus in Newberg, Oregon, USA on July 17-23, 2004. Our theme "Becoming Incarnational Christians" is based on 1 John 4:17, "As He is, so are we in this world." We have been inspired by daily multi-sensory presentations of the "I Am" sayings of Jesus as the Bread of Life, the Vine, the Light, and the Living Water. Our guest speaker Robert Mulholland, an author and theologian from Asbury Theological Seminary, inspired us to be incarnational Christians in the world through intimacy with Christ.

A reception was held to express appreciation for the ministries of Joe Gerick and Bruce Bishop. This year Joe completed 12 years as general superintendent. Ministries Joe provided leadership to included establishing new works called "simple churches," assisting major transition in our mission outreach, and implementing Journey to Wholeness retreats and Prayer and Healing seminars. Bruce served on the Yearly Meeting staff for 17 years in discipleship and training of youth and young adults and spiritual discernment and leadership training throughout NWYM.

In the keynote message, our new general superintendent, Colin Saxton, challenged us to examine opportunities change brings to our lives and to NYWM. He urged us to take responsibility, work together in the discipline of loving one another and "to be a pipeline rather than a container," allowing the life that is poured into us through Christ's Spirit to flow out naturally in each and everything we do.

As in other recent years, Bruce Bishop and the worship discernment task force continued teachings on discernment and integration of worship and business, with major emphasis this year on covenant relationships. We arrived at some business decisions easily, even joyfully. These included approving the call of the new General Superintendent Colin Saxton for a full three-year term, extending the call of Youth Superintendent Paul Bock, recording a new pastor, Bryan Christenson, and approving a budget based on increased giving in response to the financial challenges of the past two years. After several periods of discussion about staffing priorities, oversight, and funding, we were able to approve the creation of four district superintendent positions, which will be of great help as our yearly meeting seeks to strengthen connections with our member churches and new works. Representatives heard reports from many meetings of their careful consideration of a proposal to add the adjective "evangelical" to our yearly meeting name. These discussions were valuable. We are confident that we will continue to be both evangelical and evangelistic, even though we do not feel led to change our name. We heard encouraging reports from Greenleaf Friends Academy and George Fox University, which provide valuable training to all ages on behalf of our yearly meeting.

With the theme "To Russia. . .with Love" the Missions Rally featured Patrick and Christy Neifert and Liz Sugden, who are under appointment to Russia and will be in language study this year. The Neiferts will study in Moscow while evaluating ministry methods and sites. Our Teaching Abroad program has expanded to include one teacher in Hungary. Fourteen teachers from NWYM and elsewhere will teach under this program in Asia. Chuck Mylander, director of Evangelical Friends Mission, urged us to pray for Friends who are suffering persecution in India and Nepal. Ron Stansell, Evangelical Friends International Council director, noted the encouraging maturity of non-Western groups of Friends churches in that they are sending their own missionaries and developing cross-cultural ministries.

We learn and share our activities in a variety of ways in the more than thirty-five workshops offered during the week. One expression of our concern for peace in our fearful and war-torn world was a workshop led by Matt Chandler, who will be returning to Iraq as a member of a Christian Peacemaker Team there. Here is a verse from "The Reconciliation Song" we sang, which demonstrates how our concern for peace intertwines with our concern for evangelism.

Oh let us be the generation of reconciliation and peace,
And let us build on one foundation til He comes and the wars of men shall cease.
Let us share the love of Jesus without hypocrisy.
Let mercy and forgiveness begin with you and me.
Let us be the generation of reconciliation and peace.

[Morris Chapman, Buddy Owens, and Clair Cloninger, authors, Maranatha! Music, 1995]

Our four delegates to the FWCC triennial in New Zealand were joined by Nancy Yarnall, FWCC Western field staff person, and Newton Garver, FWCC representative from New York Yearly Meeting, in reporting on the warm welcome and inspiring fellowship they experienced at the triennial.

The members of the Four Flats Quartet (also called the World Vision Quartet)—Harlow Ankeny, Dick Cadd, Ron Crecelius, and Norval Hadley—were honored by the Fine Arts Commission for their lifetime of musical ministry.

The enclosed epistles from our young people describe their yearly meeting activities. Elementary children came and sang a song for us on Tuesday evening. Middle school and high school youth include the Sunday afternoon missions rally and all the evening services in their schedule. A highlight for all of us was when they provided leadership in worship at the Wednesday evening service. They concluded the service with an extended period of silent worship then sang a blessing to the adults. We responded by singing it back to the youth. The musical blessing was written for the occasion by Erik A. Edmundson, one of the youth leaders. We include it here as a blessing for you.

God Sends You

by E.A. Edmundson, 2004

May the Lord be near you,
Always there to guide you.
May our Lord of love
Fill you to the full.
Then you'll shine God's glory
Continuing the story:
God still loves the world,
So God sends you.

■ 70. Epistle from the Senior High Youth:

Dear Friends of the world,

Greetings from the youth of the Northwest Yearly Meeting! Our week of fellowship began with a fun-filled evening at Camp Tilikum. We used our creativity and humor through skits to demonstrate for one another what might take place if we ignored the respect guidelines. The Fawver Center, where we ate a delicious BBQ, had been decorated with colorful bouquets of flowers, table coverings, and even little bottles of bubbles—quite the special welcome. Later that evening, we watched a slide show of last year's Friends' activities including camps, a volleyball tournament and retreats.

We joined Newberg Friends Church for Sunday morning worship this week, after our own gathering in Memorial Park. During the first night's evening service we joined the adults to hear our new superintendent, Colin Saxton, speak. Colin shared what God had placed on his heart concerning our community. There were many laughs and "aha" moments as he shared his excitement about "setting sail" and untying the ropes that keep us from achieving our purpose as people of God. We are thankful to God for all that He will do through Colin.

The theme during this week includes listening and learning around four "I Am" statements of God. A question we as a Yearly Meeting have asked ourselves is "How can we be Incarnational Christians?" Each night the youth, as well as the adults, have the opportunity to experience one of the "I Am" statements, visually, thoughtfully, and even using our sense of smell. For example, Sunday night we were surprised to smell baking bread as we entered the auditorium. This helped us to connect our need for Christ to our hunger for bread, based on the scripture "I am the Bread of Life."

Our service projects this year were cleaning up and blazing trails on the George Fox University campus, as well as picking fruit for the residents of the Friendsview Retirement Community. We realized that the purpose of the service project wasn't necessarily to complete huge projects, but rather to build community and see God through a different experience.

At various times throughout the week we, as youth, had the chance to hear about this year's YCEW and YCAM teams. YCEW stands for Youth Challenged to Expand their Worldview, and YCAM stands for Youth Challenged through Arts in Ministry. The teams are made up of several youth and leaders who challenge themselves by dedicating four weeks, or more, of their summer to ministry. YCAM ministered by traveling around the Northwest to different churches, youth gatherings, etc. to share about being "in Christ" through drama and music. YCEW spent several weeks in El Salvador, and ministered by participating in the nationals' worship, building facilities for Friends youth camp, and developing friendships with the El Salvadorans that will last for eternity.

Our youth program had the opportunity to send a youth representative, Jesse Lamm, to Alaska Yearly Meeting. The youth program in Alaska consisted of a two-day youth rally: worship through songs, hearing a talented drummer, listening to a speaker, praying and enjoying fellowship with the other 30, or more, youth and their leaders. Jesse shared his testimony about his trip to Russia the previous year. When he returned, Jesse shared with us that the worship gatherings for the adults were often in Inupak, a language native to Alaska. This was a challenge for him since what takes 30 minutes to say in Inupaqi, might take five minutes to say in English. Through Jesse's fellowship with another yearly meeting, we hoped to learn how different gatherings work, their priorities, how their youth programs work, and the challenges they face. Although we did learn a lot on these topics, perhaps the most interesting things we learned were about the culture of Alaska and the unique qualities of their programs.

Our challenging, yet refreshing call throughout our business this year has been to make room for more meaningful business. We did not want, however, to erase times we hold dear, such as meeting with our family groups (trust groups where we build community on a smaller level) and adult workshop time. As youth we felt our business had become a cycle of discerning next year's officers only for them to come back and lead us in discerning the following year's officers. Eric Muhr, one of the high school counselors, informed us (humorously) that back in the day when people older than his parents came to Youth Yearly Meeting, the program mainly consisted of working as cooks in the kitchen.... Wow, how far we've come in our strife to help youth be more involved in business! Encouraged by the fact that God had worked in the youth of old to change the YYM program, we approved that the officers of the next year would discern around "adding more meat to our business."

Finally, as most years, we spent a day at the beach simply to relax, reflect, and enjoy what God has been doing in our friends and our surroundings.

Respectfully submitted,

Anna Knierim, senior high assistant presiding clerk

■ 71. Epistle from the Junior High Youth:

Hi,

This Yearly Meeting of 2004 was very exciting. On Saturday, the day Yearly Meeting began, we went to Tilikum, home of the famous NWYM slide show. Tilikum is a children's day camp where you sing, play, and have a lot of fun. Sunday we worshiped at Newberg Friends Church. Then we (most of us) ate lunch at the Friendsview Manor, a retirement home. At Monday's business meeting we had a guest speaker, Liz Sugden, a missionary in Russia. We also helped George Fox (the university we are using for Youth Yearly Meeting) by cleaning out Hess Creek. We found a wide variety of things from tires to stuffed animals. In Tuesday's business meeting we had guest speaker, Matt Chandler, share with us what it is like to live in Iraq. On Wednesday we went to the beach to play in the sand and have a lot of fun, returning from there on Thursday afternoon. Friday we moved out, leaving our friends and returning to our families.

Respectfully submitted,

Ethan McCracken, junior high assistant presiding clerk

Paul also encouraged us to share something that God was telling us with the Body because it might be the "missing piece" to what the adults need. He reaffirmed that he wants us to be present.

43. Laura Fodge brought to our attention that Jesse Lamm, who attended Alaska Yearly Meeting sessions as our youth representative, was not mentioned in our epistle. Some wondered if our epistle was already too long; others stated that it would be good to include so other yearly meetings know this is still a part of what NWYM youth are involved in. It was approved to include that in our epistle.
44. Laura opened the floor for any business that might need to be discussed. Jesse Lamm stated this was his favorite YYM because of the productive business that we had done.
45. There was discussion of the Memorial Service we attended this afternoon with the adults. Comments were positive about being involved with this, with one person stating they wished there had been pictures of those folks who had passed away so the youth could see the individuals of whom memories and stories were being told.
46. Joyce White shared information we need to know about the beach trip for which we will leave after the evening service. Paul Bock also shared guidelines for the trip.
47. Laura Fodge closed the meeting in prayer.

49. Laura debriefed the week, asking questions about how people felt. Many of the youth shared the various aspects of what meant the most to them, including: small family groups, fellowship, the speaker, the beach trip, songs and worship, the service project, the adults' response to Youth Night, laughter, appreciation for the youth officers and their conducting of business, witnessing the growth in listening to God together, the ministry of the evening worship team, encouragement by the adults and how they give us their time, etc.

51. Following some final announcements by Cherice Bock, Anna Knierim closed the meeting with a prayer from Hebrews 13.

Respectfully submitted,

ADDENDUM ANNUAL REPORTS July 2004

Council of Elders

As we prepare for another Yearly Meeting session and a new church year, it is good to look both back and toward the future. During the last year the Council of Elders (CoE) has continued its effort to be more proactive in the role of pastor-counselor to the Yearly Meeting. It has been a blessing to see local churches work through difficult situations this last year, allowing both those churches and the CoE to move forward with the Lord's work. We have been able to work closely with the Board of Evangelism on the District Superintendent Proposal. We see this as a way to promote sharing the Good News as well as increasing our connectedness across the Yearly Meeting. We have continued to work with the Response Team and appreciate their preventive efforts to help local churches avoid crisis situations. To this end, they are sponsoring a number of helpful workshops at Yearly Meeting sessions.

The look back also brings into focus several concerns:

- The need to deal with churches in decline in a truly helpful way.
- The continuation of a problem mentioned in this report a year ago: "Distractions that cause the Yearly Meeting or local congregations to lose sight of the 'mission statement' that Jesus left His followers."
- A review of the Pastors and Recorded Ministers Reports reveals a strong call for unity. The sense is that we have been going in many directions. We take this concern seriously.

Our look forward should be a view of opportunity. We have been blessed by the leadership and vision of Joe Gerick and Bruce Bishop. Each has pointed to a path that can lead us toward becoming the church God intends for us to be.

As we begin a new church year with a new superintendent, and with a Yearly Meeting session focus on becoming "Go-to-them Christians," the CoE will have a prayerful look at how we "do church." This will be our first priority. We invite each of you to join us in prayerful consideration of what kind of people God is calling us to be in today's needy world. Colin Saxton, our new superintendent, has posed some challenging questions for us to consider:

- 1) As NWYM are we living in and living out the life of Jesus Christ?
- 2) Within NWYM does our love for one another and sense of mission reflect the presence of Jesus among us?
- 3) In what way is God calling the people of NWYM to serve as agents of light, love and grace in our culture?

Colin further suggests that some questions from Brian McLaren's book, The Church on the Other Side: Doing Ministry in the Postmodern Matrix, may be helpful as we conduct the business of the local church and the Yearly Meeting.

- 1) Does this help uncommitted people become followers of Jesus?
- 2) Does this help followers of Jesus become better followers of Jesus?

- 3) Does this enhance the development of authentic Christian community?
- 4) Does this empower, equip and deploy the Church for a missional identity for the good of the world?

"...for we realize that our life in this world is actually His life lived in us." 1 John 4:17b (J.B. Phillips)

DEPARTMENT OF CHURCH EDUCATION

This continues to be a year of transition for the Department of Church Education as we work in partnership with the local church in Christian education ministry. I appreciate the invaluable work of each of our department members and volunteers who have chosen to come alongside in service to the education ministries of our Yearly Meeting.

The Department of Church Education has chosen to focus on four areas of service that we believe are important to the many local church volunteers, our families who attend Yearly Meeting sessions and helping to provide safe environments for our children within our local meetings.

We first want to express a tremendous thanks to Carla Anderson, from North Valley Friends Church, who has come forward to share her vision for Children's Yearly Meeting sessions and to volunteer her time to making this vision a reality. Pray for those who work with our kids at Tilikum Day Camp, and that during the evening sessions they will discover their own connectedness to this dynamic movement called Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends. Our Children's Yearly Meeting sessions reflect the core values of: "Jesus Christ is present" and "We are called to be and to make followers of Christ."

We want to also express our appreciation for the continued work of Betty Comfort on the G.O. Children's Missions Newsletter, sponsored by the missions and education boards. This periodical continues to be an example of how our Yearly Meeting boards can work together and accomplish what seems extremely difficult to accomplish alone. Give us suggestions concerning future ideas you might have for G.O. You can contact either Betty Comfort or Verne Martin, the Education Board representative to G.O. The children's missions newsletter reflects the core value of: "We are called to be agents of God's peace and love to everyone."

Last November, Irene (Rice) Dunlop organized our second C. E. Workers Retreat at Twin Rocks Friends Camp. Caryl Menkhous, the retreat guest speaker, shared about spiritual formation in children. It was a life-transforming experience for those in attendance. Pray for our department as we make plans for this year's C.E. Workers Retreat that God will bring the increase in attendance and spiritual growth. The focus of this year's retreat reflects the core value of: "The Holy Spirit transforms and empowers us."

Finally, we spent considerable time during Midyear Boards with Vicki Wolk-Laniewski, an attorney, discussing the Yearly Meeting's Child Protection Policy. The Board of Education and Youth strongly encourages each and every one of our churches to establish and implement a Child Protection Policy in their local meeting. We believe that this is a scriptural, moral and legal responsibility that we all share as a movement concerned and committed to the very best for our children and the children of our communities. We want to be available to support our local churches as they do this important work. Plan to attend the Child Protection Policy workshops at Yearly Meeting this year. Continue to pray for each of our churches that God will give wisdom and understanding to the local meetings as they work on this important policy. Please contact us with your questions and concerns. We believe that the Child Protection Policy reflects the core value of: "We are called to live out Christ's love."

DEPARTMENT OF GENERAL EDUCATION

The recent roles of the Department of General Education have been oversight of the NWYM seminary scholarship program, Friends Center support, connection to George Fox University (GFU), implementation of the Lancaster Scholarship, and support of Quaker schools.

The department has continued to support pastoral training through the Friends Center. With the center's director, Dick Sartwell, the department is developing a program for tuition assistance for New Works pastoral seminary education.

Three students have been supported this year through the seminary scholarship program.

During October, the Board of Education and Youth held its fall retreat at Reedwood Friends Church. A new vision for the Department of General Education was discussed. The number of "traditional" pastoral candidates has declined in recent years. Bivocational and New Works pastoral leadership have directed some of our churches. These ministers need seminary training and the department considered how this could be financed.

During the January Midyear Board meetings in Newberg, a proposal was submitted to change the distribution of funds from the GFU/church/Yearly Meeting "match" program toward more support for the Friends Center and the training of current pastoral leadership. This proposal will be considered more fully during 2004 Yearly Meeting sessions.

With the death of Lois Tish this past year, the department will miss a long-time member and advocate for building the Quaker collection in the George Fox Evangelical Seminary Library.

Dwight Kimberly, clerk

DEPARTMENT OF YOUTH

The Department of Youth is made up of all of the youthworkers in the Yearly Meeting who wish to participate. We meet two times a year, once in the fall for a brief meeting during the Youthworkers' Training Conference, and once in the spring for a two-day business meeting.

The topic for the yearly Youthworkers' Training Conference in Bend was "Making Space for Sabbath" for youthworkers. Miriam and Paul Bock of North Valley Friends led the group through various exercises and worship experiences focused on resting in Christ and renewing our spirits. At the business meeting, we approved next year's topic, which will be ministering to post-modern youth. We also approved Paul Bock exploring the possibility of moving our retreat to a different location.

The June business meeting was the first meeting since Sheila Hoyer's position at the Yearly Meeting office ended. Because of this, we spent a lot of time focusing on the different programming elements that Paul Bock has been responsible for this past year. In particular, we looked for ways that we can better release him to do more pastoral care for youthworkers. We also heard reports regarding YouthQuake, Bible Quizzing, Young Adult Friends, and Friends Youth Exec. Of note, the Department of Youth will begin investigating this coming year whether or not we should continue our involvement in YouthQuake. No decision is being made at this point, but we are starting the process of collecting feedback and information.

FRIENDS YOUTH EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

This year began with a renewed energy from the discernment process of last year, which concluded that Friends Youth Exec. (FYE) and its programs continue to be valid conduits for ministry. Both those on FYE and outside sources agree that God is continuing good work within FYE and its programs. We considered the benefit of better publicizing for our programs, enjoyed fruitful fellowship, and grew through many learning experiences.

Friends Youth Exec. Committee members for 2003-2004 were: Lauralea Kinser, clerk; Steven Beardsley, assistant clerk; Daniel Guidry, recording clerk; Loida Verdes, treasurer; Amanda Keaton, Calendar director; Cheri Spading, Midwinter director; Jeremy Baker, Volleyball Tournament director; Kimberly Hayes, YCAM director; Amy Watson, YCCM director; Peter Crackenberg, YCEW director; Brittney Zosel, Joel Thomas, and Julie Brown, members-at-large; and Paul Bock, advisor.

Midwinter: At Rose Valley Friends Church, a good batch of high schoolers, counselors and staff worshiped, played in the snow, ate amazing food, and made new friendships while rekindling old ones. Speaking on prayer, Erik Edmundson encouraged us in moving, living and breathing in the presence of God. Joel Bock, Rick McNeal and Tami Burton facilitated times of worship for this retreat. Arthur and Becky LaBrant were our amazing cooks, keeping us full of energy for all our snowball games and ski-day.

The Youth Challenge (YC) programs continue to provide opportunities for high school youth to minister to others. YCCM (Youth Challenged through Children's Ministry) is in the off-year position in the YC rotation.

YCAM (Youth Challenged through Arts in Ministry) toured the Northwest in June and July with drama and music presentations. YCAM members are Abby Gray (North Valley), Elizabeth Woods (Hayden Lake), Aimee Jury (South Salem), Joel Pruitt (Newberg), Elizabeth "Liz" Peterson (Entiat), with leaders Hannah Penna (Olympic View) and Joe Millard (Greenleaf).

YCEW (Youth Challenged to Expand their Worldview) went to El Salvador where they worked at youth camps in the area. Team members included: leaders Dwight Burton (North Valley) and Micah Lehman (Greenleaf), along with Tony Warfield (Sherwood), Gabriel "Gabe" Goecks (Camas), Ellie Saxton (North Valley) and Sarah Calicott (Eugene).

The Volleyball Tournament was full of firsts, friends and fun. For the first time the Sportsmanship award went to Melba. Friends A division winner was Iglesia Los Amigos (Newberg), Friends B winner was Sherwood, and first in the Quaker division was Hayden Lake II. At the ice cream social on Friday night, friends mingled and enjoyed company over delicious vanilla ice cream. Round-robin games began Friday evening and continued through Saturday noon. In the afternoon playoffs began and the last competing teams were cheered on by an enthusiastic crowd. The awards ceremony was a fitting celebration and send-off for the many played-out participants.

FYE thanks all those who contributed to the success of its programs. First we are thankful for God's amazing work, and we are thankful for the parents who shared their youth's lives with us. We are also thankful for the youth who have invested in these programs, and to those who taught, led, worked for, supported FYE programs financially, and for those who prayed with us.

Lauralea Kinser, clerk

Board of Evangelism

As a board we have found ourselves experiencing a great deal of transition this year. The Lord has allowed two major factors to prompt us toward this state of transition:

- 1) The resignation of Harold Behr
- 2) A diminishing reserve of endowment funds

Harold Behr agreed to serve as director of simple churches with Evangelical Friends Church Southwest and resigned as Director of New Works with Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends effective September 1, 2004. Harold has been described as a "whirlwind" of vision and energy and has certainly contributed greatly to God's kingdom in his years of service with us. Harold and Wendy are much loved and greatly missed.

What will ministry look like from here? Harold's resignation has afforded us the opportunity for reevaluation of our priorities. Our board has been using these past 10 months to do more than just "scramble" to fill Harold's shoes (not exactly possible anyway!). Instead, we believe the Lord has been leading us to use this time to completely reevaluate our purpose, strategy and mandate as a ministry arm of this Yearly Meeting. Since Harold's resignation, the Board of Evangelism has been spending time in prayer, thought and discussion as to how we should proceed in 2004 and beyond.

As a group, we have felt led to the following major decisions this year:

- 1) Our board extended a call to John Macy for service as director of New Works development. John is currently serving on a half-time basis. John and Karen have been working very closely with Harold and Wendy Behr these past two years and have been involved in every aspect of our New Works ministries. We recognize that service on a half-time basis is limiting to our potential for expanding New Works at the present. We have, therefore, narrowed our focus onto a singular and primary goal for this year. Our major objective this past year has been to stabilize and to offer encouragement and support to our existing New Works leaders through this transition time. We are still in the process of seeking and forming plans toward the aggressive expansion of ministries and church multiplication for the coming months and years.

- 2) Our board has proposed the formation of district superintendents to help fill some of the void we would anticipate in calling a half-time director of New Works development. Additionally, we sense that these district superintendent positions are vital not only to the New Works community, but also to the overall health of existing local meetings. It is our hope that both sets of needs could be served by the formation of these new ministry roles.
- 3) Our board chose not to renew Bruce Bishop's call for service as field secretary for leadership development effective July 1, 2004. This decision was made in light of our diminishing endowment funds and in light of our developing call toward new and different ministry directions toward the fulfillment of our board's mandates. Our board wishes to thank Bruce for his tireless and excellent work in his role as field secretary for leadership development. Bruce's passion for Christ's leading and his commitment to Northwest Yearly Meeting are truly inspirational and noteworthy.

"New Works" Activity Report

Art House: Cottage Grove, OR (Trevor and Betsy Smith)

Art House has undergone significant changes in the past year. The originating pastor (Dan Gilliam) resigned and returned to the East Coast. In the interval, Trevor and Betsy Smith have assumed leadership of this group. They have been transitioning from a group with primary emphasis on the art culture of their community to reaching out to their community through a playgroup meeting in their community each week. In addition, they have concentrated on development of community within their own fellowship. They have made several changes this past year – all appear to be helping them move into a cohesive group with ministry that is consistent with who they are.

Chenev Friends: Cheney, WA (Ed and Lois Marston)

Ed and Lois are impacting their community in wonderful ways. Ed has joined several area pastors for accountability and prayer on a weekly basis. They are meeting with two groups in the area, and Lois meets weekly with a women's fellowship. As with many of our pastors, they are bivocational. Some of Ed's work takes him out of the area during the work-week, which is a disadvantage. They report making inroads in evangelism within their neighborhood and community.

Christus Church: NW Portland, OR (Trey and Stephanie Doty)

This past year has been one of encouraging progress in NW Portland. Besides a name change (from NW Portland Project to Christus Church) there has been confirmation for Trey and Stephanie of their call to continue planting this work. Their core group is coalescing and has answered the call to step up to a new level of commitment. Part of this involves considerable work for Trey in leadership and discipleship training. These next months will involve the planning and implementation of these projects. Trey has completed his formal chaplaincy training and is now fully certified. In addition, Trey has an interest in providing a site where potential urban church planters could come and experience first-hand what is involved in urban ministry.

Destiny Friends: Wheeler, OR (Dan and Mindy Burns)

The Burnses continue to minister faithfully in this small town on the Oregon Coast near Rockaway Beach. They are finding that inroads into this community require persistence and presence over the long haul. Many previous church planters have left in a short period of time due to discouragement. They have now been there much longer than most, and people are beginning to believe the Burnses are committed to this community. This perception is bringing increased openness to their ministry. A large obstacle for them has been isolation and their need to travel out of the immediate area for work. This has, however, allowed them to network in other communities along the North Oregon Coast. The encouragement of Jerry Baker and the Netarts Friends meeting has been much appreciated. They express much joy as they are now beginning to see more fruitfulness resulting from their patient planting efforts in this region.

Dundee Community Fellowship: Dundee, OR (Tom and Jaymi Fieldhouse)

Tom and Jaymi have experienced some transitional changes in their work. One core group couple moved from the area, and another are located physically several miles from Dundee. They continue very active in the community and with children's ministries. The adult gathering has become less prominent in their overall picture at present. Their plans are to refocus their vision and reach out to others in their immediate neighborhood and see if God would give them replacement members for their core group. In the interval they have been in fellowship with the West Hills Friends meeting.

Friends Church of the Valley: Cave Junction, OR (Alan and Lori Franks)

This meeting is currently in transition. Alan and Lori are leaving the Cave Junction area and relocating in Brookings, OR, where his work is located. He has spent much time in the last years commuting to Brookings where wages are higher. This has taken him out of Cave Junction more than would be optimal. This has left a small group in Cave Junction without an obvious leadership replacement. Colin Saxton and I are in process of meeting with this group to discuss the viability of this meeting. During the past year this group disposed of some real property that no longer met their needs as a place to meet. We plan to spend some time with Alan and Lori after they have settled in the Brookings area. We will assess together their vision and reevaluate their calling as planters, this time to the Brookings area with a totally new start-up group.

Friends House: Meridian, ID (Craig and Karla Morton)

This work has not transitioned into the Nampa area as was originally planned. We have, therefore, withdrawn the Nampa designated funds from support of this work. Craig and Karla report progress is slow, but inroads are being made into their neighborhood and developing relationships. They have been bivocational as well as busy raising their family. Considerable contact and effort has been made by Ken Redford to encourage and strengthen ties with the Board of Evangelism as well as with Meridian Friends. At this point the full potential of this new work has yet to be realized. I believe that this next year will be an important marker as to the viability and future of this ministry.

Household of Faith: La Conner, WA (Jay and Lori Haines)

It has been a pleasure to watch the development of this new work in NW Washington. Jay and Lori initially worked primarily within the Native Americans of their region, but have since shifted their focus to the community surrounding the Quaker Cove Camp. They have considerable involvement in the camping program, and a recent winterization and update of the camp chapel allows them to meet there with their Sunday gathering. In addition, they are meeting with another group in their home during the week. Jay has been developing relationships with other pastors and leadership within his region. He reports that God has brought them two couples with considerable experience and maturity, both able to lead the group activities whenever it is necessary for the Haineses to be gone. This gives considerable freedom for their involvement in outreach to the Cook Islands, as well as to potentially be available for short-term assignments to other groups in need of encouragement or help. We are exploring this possibility further.

Also as an outreach of Household of Faith, Alfred Morris in the Cook Islands (South Pacific) has been licensed under NWYM. Jay is planning a trip to the Cook Islands in December 2004. We are in discussion with the Board of Missions to consider sending a representative with Jay to assess the potential for NWYM involvement in that mission field. Alfred is currently pastoring one church gathering on the main island, and has contact with two Cook planter pastors – one in Australia and another in New Zealand. Jay plans to explore how these pastors might also be further assisted in their efforts among the Cook people.

Iglesia Los Amigos: Greenleaf, ID (Jorge and Elida Sileoni)

This is one of the newest ministries within the New Works groups. Currently meeting in the Greenleaf Friends facility, it has been assisted in many ways by this church fellowship, for which we are very thankful. The primary need identified by this pastor was the desire to connect for fellowship with other Hispanic groups in his area. Ken Redford agreed to try to help me make connections of this type for them. Discussion needs to occur regarding the best means for NWYM to encourage cross-cultural ministries. This culture seems to desire a facility-based, event-oriented meeting, which is their current format.

Lighthouse Friends: Spokane, WA (Rick and Kelly Bralley)

Rick and Kelly have met with little success in their effort to plant a New Work in Spokane. Kelly's health has suffered greatly and their financial situation has likewise suffered with her inability to generate income for the family. It is apparent that they desire to cease planting efforts and move into a more traditional ministry position in an established meeting. I am encouraging them along these lines. All funding for Lighthouse Friends from the Board of Evangelism ceased as of June 2004. We wish them well in future endeavors.

The Meetinghouse: McMinnville, OR (Steve and Phyllis McKinney)

The McKinneys have expressed disappointment in the lack of growth and expansion of their planting efforts in McMinnville. While there have been individuals touched significantly by their efforts, they have not seen the growth within their core group and gathered times necessary to sustain and financially support their continued efforts. They are continuing their residence in the McMinnville facility and meeting with their group weekly. There is currently no support from the Board of Evangelism and the McMinnville fund is depleted. A Hispanic group is also currently using this facility once or twice weekly for their gathering in the Mac area.

New Life Friends: Vancouver, WA (Dave and Renee White)

New Life continues to be vibrant, ever-changing and challenging. We rejoice with Dave and Renee as they continue to listen to the Spirit of God as He directs this work. Their passion to impact the lost and dying of the Rosemere community is inspiring. There are now three residential houses functioning as a ministry base to men and women transitioning from drugs/alcohol into society. Two of these have been financed through the NWYM Friends Church Extension Foundation (FCEF). The Sunday meeting encompasses 150-200 people, with children and youth programs in place. The addition of part-time staff in the office, administration and youth programs has been of great help to Dave White. We are in an ongoing discussion with Dave and Renee about turning the oversight of the congregation (pastoral care) to another staff person so he can concentrate on that ministry that most fits his gifting and vision. This area is most draining on Dave's limited energies, and one segment of New Life that would greatly benefit from additional staffing. Intentional discipling of the numerous new believers to maturity is an area needing additional attention. This will also improve the funding base of New Life, allowing the expansion of ministry as God directs. This will require identifying the appropriate person with a unique mix of pastoral skills and background to minister in this unique community setting. Besides finding the right person, preparation on the part of Dave and his team to fund this new position must also be undertaken. We will continue to work with them along these lines.

River of Life: Post Falls, ID (Mike and Carmen Slothower)

In visiting with Mike and Carmen you soon learn that they have quickly grown to love the people of River of Life, and have also found life in Post Falls to be much to their liking. Quickly they have made friends and incorporated the lifestyle into their own family life. Mike shares readily of the growth in his own life as well as being excited about how God is at work among them in Post Falls. This work is one that might be called a hybrid combination of a facility-based meeting, but utilizing the Simple Church model of building community and small group foundations to build the local meeting.

We have so enjoyed our opportunities to visit them and see the excitement of God at work, daily showing Himself strong as they seek to hear and follow His voice.

The River: Redmond, OR (John and Karen Macy)

Significant changes have occurred in The River ministries with John and Karen taking oversight of the New Works for NWYM. With the need for John and Karen to be out of the area with fair regularity, this has markedly lessened the dependence on them for leadership. There are currently three house groups meeting weekly in several locations throughout central Oregon, as well as numerous other small groups meeting on a less frequent basis. A team that puts on a Journey to Wholeness in Christ Seminar has been formed out of the central Oregon ministry. The other team for NWYM is formed from individuals of several meetings from the west side of the Cascades. This team has conducted three Journeys this past year and plans to continue these endeavors. We are also excited to help sponsor Troy and Ruth Longstroth as they teach English in China this next school year. Their house group will be under other leadership in their absence.

My assessment of The River is that the planting efforts have resulted in a number of people throughout central Oregon whose lives are forever changed. Now the work of expanding the Kingdom of God further into the communities where these people are living has begun.

The Springs: Davenport, WA (Vern and Carol Landt)

This is a wonderful and unique work of God within the beautiful wheat country of eastern Washington. In a decidedly rural setting, Vern and Carol are quietly ministering to the surrounding friends and neighbors through community meals, prayer and fellowship gatherings and intercession. Carol has been continuing to use her Elijah House training, working with people one-on-one, as well as serving on the Prayer Team of the Journey to Wholeness teams. We have also asked them to come alongside the Quincy meeting, and the Landts have traveled to Quincy several times since the first of the year to encourage them. There is a cooperative effort among the New Work groups in the Spokane area to meet and encourage one another occasionally – a wonderful opportunity to share and be encouraged with what God is doing.

The Olde Meetinghouse: LaGrande, OR (David and Carla Arnold)

David and Carla continue to view their work here as “a commitment for the long haul.” As they commit themselves and their lives to living and walking among these people, opportunities continue to arise for sharing the Good News of Jesus. This work is centered on folk music (primarily Blue Grass) and dance, as the relational element that draws them together. From within this venue develop friendships, community, and caring for one another, which then grow into fruit-bearing opportunity of shared lives and the “hope that lies within.” Although growing God’s Church in this manner can be tedious, time-consuming, and difficult, David and Carla are certain that the fruits of their labors are even now being seen. Probably the biggest difficulty for them at this time is the lack of a committed core group to come alongside them and assist in the work. We are encouraging them and praying with them about this need.

Field Secretary for Leadership Development Report

Since Midyear Boards, I’ve been working to “finish well,” winding down my responsibilities and ensuring that there is appropriate covering for ongoing programs. My involvement in ministries throughout the past six months has included the following:

- Hosting the Call to Ministry Conference in April. Sixty-one adults of all ages explored together what it means to be called into vocational ministry. The Board of Evangelism will host this program again in two years.
- Leading workshops at four different churches, focusing on personal and corporate discernment. I will continue to be available, upon invitation, to lead these or similar workshops in our churches, under a minute of ministry from the Council of Elders.

• Teaching at the Young Adult Friends retreat – Samuel School III, and the senior high retreat – Samuel School II.

• Working with the 18 Quaker Leaders Program students at George Fox University. I will continue to administrate this program under a stipend from the Friends Church Extension Foundation.

• Meeting with numerous young adults, pastors, and leaders for one-on-one discussions about where God was active or leading them. The Board of Ministerial Service has written a minute of ministry giving me accountability and “official approval” to be available for one-on-one mentoring of emerging leaders.

• Helped in training sessions for the Representatives, supplying them with what they need to be a gathered people who can help us hear God’s desires for NWYM.

• Working with the discernment teams and the format for the morning and evening worship gatherings at YM sessions. The evening task force has agreed to do it next year to provide stability. I will not be involved.

Planning the Focus Conference for pastors held in September each year has been part of my responsibilities. Dick Sartwell is planning the Focus Conference for this coming September.

I am grateful to the Board of Evangelism for creating this position and sharing it with the wider Yearly Meeting for the last five years. I look forward to continuing involvement in NWYM, currently under the minutes of ministry from the two boards mentioned above, in the future as God directs. My plans for this next year are to take a personal sabbatical from paid ministry; simply serving our churches through teaching and workshops as requested; and spend time discerning God’s leading for the next step in my life and move into it with joy and confidence next year.

Thanks for all your support and encouragement over the last 17 years; for letting me be part of your lives and express my calling among you.

Bruce Bishop

Board of Ministerial Service

The Board of Ministerial Service has been busy this year exploring new ways to support the gifts of ministry throughout our Yearly Meeting.

The Department of Leadership Development has taken an active role in ensuring that each new pastor and each prospective minister in our Yearly Meeting be paired with a caring, seasoned mentor. As department members have talked to new ministers, they have discovered a wide range of experience. Several new ministers and pastors find themselves in ministry situations where they are encouraged and given positive direction. A few, however, find themselves in difficult situations and departmental members have “gone the extra mile” in supporting those individuals.

If one of the members of your church is exercising a new gift for ministry, please contact me or Anna Baker, who is clerk of the Department of Leadership Development. We would welcome the opportunity to partner with churches in nurturing new ministers.

The Department of Leadership Development is now providing a place of accountability and support for the ministry of Bruce Bishop. Our Yearly Meeting has benefited from Bruce's mentoring of youth and young adults. As God leads and his time permits, Bruce will continue his ministry of nurture.

The Department of Pastoral Care launched new programs designed to encourage and motivate those who have been established in ministry. This spring, they sent out the first issue of The Pastor's Journal for NWYM to all recorded pastors, highlighting results from the annual minister's report. This department is also working with the Pastors Association to establish goals for ongoing education for everyone already in the ministry.

The Department of Recording updated our reading list. This list provides a good introduction to Friends beliefs and life, as well as foundational studies in various aspects of ministry. Copies can be made available to anyone interested in broadening and deepening their understanding of our faith and approach to community life.

The Board of Ministerial Service recommends that Northwest Yearly Meeting record Bryan Christenson. Bryan came to Friends a few years ago, after many years of pastoral service in another denomination. He started attending George Fox University and 2nd Street Community Church. His ministry was quickly welcomed at the church, and he was attracted to the Friends approach to waiting on God in silence. Bryan and his wife, Barbara, pastor our church in Hillsboro, Oregon.

Mark Kelley, clerk

Board of Missions

The arduous process of opening new fields of cross-cultural ministry for Northwest Yearly Meeting sometimes seems slow and painstaking. At times like this we look back over a year and rejoice greatly at actually how quickly new workers have applied and been trained, and how individuals and churches of the Yearly Meeting have responded with finances. A regular flow of funds is now coming for new ministries in North Africa and Russia, while at the same time supporting Christian teachers in Asia and Hungary and Hal and Nancy Thomas as they train Latino (and other) missionaries in South America. Giving is also generous to the exciting worldwide ministry of Evangelical Friends Mission (EFM). The EFM report follows this one, and should be considered carefully. Great advances are being made by EFM especially in Asia and Africa and NWYM is an important player in those efforts.

Teaching Abroad To date 22 people have served at least a year in Asia with the Teaching Abroad program. The program has been expanded to include one teacher in Hungary. For the coming year of 2004-2005, our largest group ever has applied and been approved. A total of 15 teachers will be supervised through the program. This is a significant increase from last year and has a healthy mix of Friends from NWYM and elsewhere. Recently published information from Asia reaffirms the strategic value of this type of ministry in living out the Gospel in politically sensitive areas where public verbal proclamation by Westerners is prohibited. Our Asia strategy is to place teachers in one general region to maintain meaningful team interaction, to encourage quality professional service, and to keep a high spiritual and Christ-centered tone to our witness. Our teachers regularly report exciting Kingdom opportunities and the great blessing of meeting and knowing new followers of Jesus.

Latino Missionary Training Hal and Nancy Thomas direct and teach in a master's program at the Bolivian Evangelical University in Santa Cruz, with most of their energies focused upon the preparation of Latino missionaries from several Christian denominations, although a number of Friends students are now completing regular undergraduate programs. The Thomases have students and former students ministering for Christ in Italy, India, Honduras, Spain, Mexico, and an indigenous tribal group of South America. Others apply their formation to mission outreach within their own barrios and in efforts to raise support for cross-cultural mission in other parts of the world. Students are completing both the master's program and diploma programs in missions. Hal and Nancy are also major participants in a doctor of ministry program offered at several sites around Latin America. The Thomases recently taught at the opening of the program in Brazil.

South American Concerns In addition, NWYM maintains fraternal relations with Bolivia Yearly Meeting and Peru Yearly Meeting in South America. Fragile democracies are vulnerable in both nations. The region of southeastern Peru occupied by Friends was rocked during the past year by social instability—even the mayor of the city of Ilave, the site of the Peru Yearly Meeting headquarters, was killed in a public attack. Bolivia has likewise suffered social unrest with stout supporters of the cocaine traffic seeking populist support. In both countries, however, the churches move forward, requesting our faithful prayers and encouragement. A Mission Board-sponsored visit to Peru is planned for the coming year to encourage Friends and to assist in pastoral leadership training.

North Africa The Bill Kelleys and the Paul Morses in North Africa move ahead toward their goals of offering services to the culture and to build friendships for witness of Christ and His love. The Morses have established a guest house to entertain expatriate and national guests related to a business enterprise being conducted for the benefit of the nation where they are living. They are living in a large northern city of their nation. The Kelleys continue in extensive language study and are seriously considering a plan to offer educational services for which there is a demand. Relationships and warm friendships have been built to honor Christ and to build the Kingdom.

Russia At Midyear Boards, Liz Sugden of Vancouver Friends was commissioned by the board to begin raising support for ministry in Russia. She and missionary candidates Patrick and Christy Neifert have made significant progress toward meeting the goals for their finances and have now been placed under full appointment to begin language study this fall. The Neiferts leave soon for Moscow and Liz Sugden plans to enter a Russian Studies program at Columbia International University in South Carolina. They have established four major goals for the coming year: 1) to gain fluency and effectiveness in the Russian language; 2) to claim a clear grasp of Russian culture; 3) to investigate and evaluate ministry sites; and 4) to investigate and further clarify ministry methods and strategy. The Board of Missions shares with the Neiferts and Liz a dream of a network of Bible studies leading to house churches and a social services center for youth and others. The Board of Missions and our Russia team have also covenanted together to pursue a "strategy of prayer" as relationships are built and as Bible study and discipleship training curriculum are selected. Prayer may actually be our most meaningful "strategy" for the coming year!

Vision Casting and Marketing Since last Yearly Meeting sessions, the Board of Missions has become increasingly aware of a need to clarify, streamline and simplify the strategy of the board and the programs we promote. We acknowledge that the "mixed approach" in funding is confusing and discouraging for many. Some missions support comes through the treasuries of local meetings and other giving comes by designation to individual ministries. In addition, we have multiple ministries to support: South America, North Africa, and Russia. Furthermore, our relationship with Evangelical Friends Mission presents a complex and confusing picture to the local churches, even to the most committed of missions-minded people in the pews, not to mention the more casual attenders.

To alleviate the confusion, we are attempting to develop the following:

- A Mission Statement for the board.
- A list of our six primary activities.
- Five overarching purposes at work in all of those activities.
- A training program for missionaries, board members and others who will regularly present our activities and purposes with exciting updates that bring those purposes and programs to life for us.

The objective is to show how the Lord is working and leading, to clarify how there are similar goals in all the activities, to communicate to our constituency how to give and where their giving goes, and to do so in a fashion that does not pit one ministry against another in competition. We are making good progress on this, and are presenting "mobilizer workshops" at Yearly Meeting. An outline of our efforts follows:

Mission Statement: "To model and proclaim God's love cross-culturally in ways that will transform people and produce healthy Christ-centered fellowships."

Current Activities of the Board of Missions of NWYM:

1. Cooperate fully with Evangelical Friends Mission (EFM).
2. Train Latino missionaries at the Bolivian Evangelical University (BEU).
3. Pursue new ministry in North Africa.
4. Open new ministry in Russia.
5. Support Christian teachers abroad in China and Hungary.
6. Expand mission awareness and opportunities on behalf of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Overarching Purposes of the Board of Missions of NWYM:

1. To provide relevant services through culturally-sensitive ministry.
2. To share Christ through friendship evangelism.
3. To build self-multiplying Christian communities.
4. To develop independent national leadership.
5. To develop a support network for cross-cultural workers.

Finances While we are halfway through 2004, a look at the Board of Missions finances for the year 2003 tells a story of positive response by the Yearly Meeting. Total actual expenses for 2003 were $342,760. We had anticipated having to draw up to $67,560 from our reserve funds to meet our needs, but that much was not required. Giving was so good, only $10,000 was actually used. As a matter of fact, with an improved investment return due to better stock market performance and with a series of year-end memorials and bequests to the Board of Missions, we actually ended the year with a small increase in reserves rather than a reduction in reserves and only a small operating deficit for the year. That was exceptionally good news.

Where did our funding come from? In 2003, thirty-five percent came from the Great Commission giving from the local churches of Northwest Yearly Meeting. Without that base, our missions efforts would be impossible. Thirty-seven percent, however, came from Missionary Shares given by individual Friends to support our missionary staff. In addition, eighteen percent came from Faith Promises, individual undesignated giving and offerings taken during Yearly Meeting sessions. Ten percent came from memorials and estate bequests. Each of these channels serves to bring funds directly to the missions ministry of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Our budgeted expenses for 2004 are $431,573, a sizeable increase over the year 2003. Our funds continue to come from the same sources: the Great Commission budget, Missionary Shares, Faith Promises, undesignated giving, offerings at Yearly Meeting and bequests. We praise the Lord that giving for the first six months of 2004 has been healthy, and we feel the Yearly Meeting has clearly "bought in" to the vision of new fields in North Africa, Europe and Asia.

EVANGELICAL FRIENDS MISSION Director's Report to Regions/Yearly Meetings

Vision

One of the goals of Evangelical Friends Mission (EFM) is for our mission fields to send their own missionaries. It's exciting to see this happening.

Tual Khan Pau who serves in Myanmar (Burma) is being supported by the evangelical Friends churches in Asia. It was exciting to see their leaders pledge support for the next three years. Taiwan Yearly Meeting will pick up whatever the others do not send, so the ministry in Myanmar is on a solid financial footing. Two small Friends groups in Myanmar are now meeting regularly.

Rupuk is the national leader in Bhutan where John Vanlal (Vanlalthriata) visits. It's exciting to see more and more people come to Christ. We have one main church in Thimphu, the capital, and two small groups in other parts of the country.

Jeremy and Betty Smuck are approved candidates for central Mexico with Evangelical Friends Mission. We also approved Aguas Calientes, Mexico, a city of a million people with only 6,000 evangelicals (.6%). By way of contrast Mexico City has 10% evangelicals and Oaxaca (another city we visited) reportedly has 18-20% evangelicals. We feel like prospectors who discovered a vein of gold! Jeremy and Betty are raising support, and looking for more team members to serve with them.

News from EFM Mission Fields

India (Calcutta or Kolkata as it's called in India) D. K. Sarker and his wife, Choity, our newest national leaders, are leading a growing movement. They now have seven other evangelists, all supported from within India who minister in some 28 house churches. Hayden Lake Friends Church “spiritually owns” this ministry and underwrites the salary of D. K. Sarker. Their prayer support is invaluable.

India (Mussoorie) Edwin and Nivedit Singh are leading an emerging people movement to Christ. In the last couple of years the number of believers has jumped from 100 families to 400 families! Pray that the Lord will give wisdom in shepherding this remarkable movement. In June 2004, a vicious attack against several Garhwali leaders by Hindu radicals left several of our disciples beaten, three kidnapped and others threatened. The kidnapped believers were later released.

Ireland Todd and Celesta James and Kathi Perry are starting a new evangelical Friends church in a suburb of Dublin called Ringsend. They are making steady progress.

Mexico Under the direction of Dan Cammack, Ernesto Ramirez (superintendent) and Coco Horta, we are beginning a new theological teacher training program. EFM will fly in experienced Spanish-speaking teachers from Guatemala, Bolivia, Peru and the United States. These people will train Mexican nationals who will begin their own Bible Institute. Please pray!

Navajo Mel and Sandy Harrold are working on several practical projects—a new roof for the church, plumbing repairs, rebuilt bathrooms—all greatly needed. One of our four Friends pastors, Tom Harvey, went to be with the Lord in January 2004. His son-in-law, Eugene Begay, is replacing him. Mel Harrold will be discipling him and giving guidance. Sandy is discipling a young Navajo youth who is showing promise for future leadership. Pray for her.

Nepal We have two yearly meetings, one led by John Vanlal and the other by Bob Adhikary. Both are doing well, winning people to Christ and planting new churches. The 10th Anniversary Celebration in May was a great event. We now have a total of about 35 churches in Nepal.

Dr. Samson Retnaraj is not only chief of anesthesiology at Patan Hospital (the leading medical center in the country), but also a leader in medical camps to Friends churches. He, along with Vanlals and Adhikarys, are investigating community health education as an addition to our ministry there.

The political situation continues to deteriorate with tensions from the Maoist insurgents and unrest among the political parties in Nepal itself. Pray for safety in travel, and an open door for witness for our missionaries and national leaders.

Philippines New students, new leaders, new churches—all are typical of the growth of evangelical Friends under the leadership of Jaime Tabingo in the Philippines. Canyon Hills Friends Church in Yorba Linda, California, is “spiritually owning” this ministry. In particular they are providing loan funds for “apartment churches.” This unique idea provides a first floor church with three apartments for rent on the two stories above the church. The rental pays for the church within five years or so. Additional money beyond maintenance goes to missions and church planting. Pray for God’s best.

O People Roy and Jinky Twaddell are working part-time with EFM, and continuing their ministry to Farsi-speaking refugees in England and Germany. They also create gospel radio broadcasts and have two small churches within a closed Muslim country. Currently Roy is working with Yorba Linda Friends Church and Hill of Hope Foundation in training Muslim people in this country, as well as starting several Simple Churches. Jinky hopes to open a dental practice this fall.

Rwanda High schools, elementary schools, churches, cell groups and leadership training are all ministries in Rwanda. We have over 60 churches, four high schools and four elementary schools. Rwanda continues as our largest mission field. David and Debby Thomas are serving well in this beautiful land.

The Great Lakes School of Theology in Bujumbura, Burundi, is a joint project of Burundi, Congo and Rwanda yearly meetings. The goal is to train trainers who will in turn prepare their own people for ministry. Until June 30, 2004, Willard and Doris Ferguson were serving as interim directors. Pray for additional interim directors and faculty for the coming year.

Coalition for Hispanic Ministries CHM under the direction of David Byrne is a related ministry of EFM. They have their own board and EFM gives partial support. David is working on both certificate and credit programs in Spanish at the Houston Graduate School of Theology. Training through video courses (and soon DVD’s) is a help to many Spanish-speaking churches. David also plays a role in the annual gathering of Hispanic Friends in North America. Pray for the Lord’s continued blessings!

What else is going on?

Missions Mobilizers Conferences with major speaker Larry Walker and local speakers in each location have been well-received. Conferences in Colorado Springs, Newberg, Yorba Linda and Wichita have been held so far. People find themselves informed, inspired and challenged.

Look for the next round in the coming year. More information will be coming from EFM and your Yearly Meeting or Regional Office.

A special tribute to James Morris, the second director of EFM, who went to be with the Lord in April 2004. We walk along the trails that he blazed. We appreciate his wisdom, leadership, intercession and love for people. May the Lord comfort his wife, Doris, in her bereavement.

Our thanks to all who pray, give, send, go, and mobilize a missions movement among our churches. The Day is coming when we will worship around the throne with followers of the Lamb from every tribe, language, people and nation. As Larry Walker said, we do missions for three reasons: 1) God gets the glory, 2) the nations get the gospel, and 3) the church gets the good life.

“The church God blesses gets outside of itself.”

Chuck Mylander, EFM director

Board of Peace and Social Concerns

The Board of Peace and Social Concerns emphasizes that we in Northwest Yearly Meeting are called to live out Christ’s love, and that we are called to be agents of God’s peace and love to everyone. We also emphasize that God is the source of life and all human life is sacred.

During the past year we have had two peace education coordinators: Peggy Hanson and Cherice Bock. Peggy organized a conscientious objector training workshop in the fall, featuring J.E. McNeil from the Center for Conscience and War. About twenty people attended and were trained on how to counsel youth at the time of draft and when they are interacting with military recruiters in the school. J.E. also discussed how to help members of the military who wanted to claim conscientious objector status. Cherice is working with youth, obtaining contacts in each church who can counsel the youth and organizing peacemaker retreats for them.

Other things we have worked on are:

- Three editions of The Concern have been published on the Yearly Meeting web site. We will continue to publish three to four times a year.
- The Board of Peace and Social Concerns appoints three members to the Friendsview Retirement Community Board of Trustees. This year we appointed Peggy Hanson and Chuck Scott. We still have an opening for another person.
- We sent out peace education packets to all the high school juniors in the Yearly Meeting.
- We have several workshops during Yearly Meeting sessions this year.
- Matt Chandler from Newberg Friends went to Iraq with Christian Peacemaker Teams several times this past year. Currently he is home and available for speaking engagements.
- We released Kayla Walker from West Hills to attend the international Friends World Committee for Consultation last January.
- We assisted Dorinda Taylor from Rose Valley in leading several Alternatives to Violence workshops in area prisons.
- We assisted Dwight Burton in working on his master's degree in a peace-related major.
- We released Tricia Brown from North Valley Friends to go with her daughter to Canada with Christian Peacemaker Teams to work with a native group.
- We held a joint peace/fine arts retreat with about 30 people attending.
- We assisted Peggy Parsons in traveling to Burundi to work with Friends who have been affected by post-traumatic stress disorder.
- We cosponsored a peace rally and march in Portland, Oregon, along with 120 other organizations. We had Friends literature tables at that rally and several others in Oregon and Washington.
- We will have a literature table at a Vancouver Peace and Justice Fair.

Board of Stewardship

We are praising God for His increased provision in both the local churches and the Yearly Meeting. Last year (2003) saw its first increase in general fund giving at the local church level in three years. As the resources in the local church increased an average of 3.5%, so did the commitment to the Great Commission budget. Church giving to the Yearly Meeting Great Commission Budget increased 4.3% in 2003 following a decline in 2002. Church pledges for 2004 are continuing this positive trend.

We made some difficult decisions last year regarding staff reductions in the Yearly Meeting office. As difficult as these decisions were, the result is that these reductions in staff expense coupled with the increased resources from local churches have resulted in ending the year in the black. The increased funding of the Great Commission budget from the local churches was beyond what we had anticipated but still would not have been sufficient to fund the staff positions that were eliminated.

The funding of Yearly Meeting sessions in 2003 proved to be a significant challenge. Dramatically reduced funding from the Yearly Meeting Endowment Fund resulted in folks having to pay nearly 100% of the cost of attending. This had a negative impact on attendance last year. Recognizing that our annual sessions are one of the most important things we do as a whole Yearly Meeting, the Stewards are working on releasing more resources in support of future Yearly Meeting sessions. A $19,000 estate gift was designated for this purpose, which erased the accumulated losses from prior years and provided a $10,000 cushion for future years. The Stewards recommended, and the Executive Council approved, an additional $10,000 from the Great Commission budget in both 2004 and 2005. This will supplement that increased funding from the Yearly Meeting Endowment Fund that together provides for significantly lower costs for attending Yearly Meeting sessions in 2004.

DEPARTMENT OF BENEFITS (PENSION BOARD)

Pension plan participants were pleased to see positive returns in their accounts after three straight years of negative returns. Overall, the pension plan experienced a 14.5% gain on investments after a negative 12.3% loss last year. At year end total plan assets were at $5,309,000 and contributions to the plan in 2003 totaled $655,000, more than double last year.

The Department of Benefits is also responsible for employee insurance. At this time, the department only provides a Yearly Meeting-wide program for dental, life, and long-term disability insurance. Individual churches are responsible for obtaining their own medical insurance coverage. Repeated double digit annual increases in health insurance premiums are proving to be a challenge. The department continues to be on the lookout for ways to assist local churches in reducing this burden.

DEPARTMENT OF DEVELOPMENT (FRIENDS FUND)

Last year (2003) marked a banner year in the history of Friend Fund. Friends Fund was responsible for distributing over $600,000 to Yearly Meeting ministries last year, the largest one-year total ever. Because a portion of this distribution was to Friends Fund, the fund was able to reduce its notes outstanding from $610,000 to $470,000. Net income was a positive $55,000 for the year. The negative fund balance was reduced from $(586,000) to $(462,000). This deficit balance is very adequately covered by future irrevocable gifts of $581,000. The long-term future continues to brighten and the board is looking for creative ways to expand the ministry of Friends Fund.

Dave Hampton, Yearly Meeting treasurer

Northwest Yearly Meeting Trustees

Since July 2003, the Northwest Yearly Meeting Trustees have dealt with the following things.

1. Sale of Bend Property At the request of the Board of Evangelism and with the approval of the Executive Council in July 2003, we closed the sale of the former Deschutes Friends Church property in Bend for $217,000. Terms were $77,217 cash down and $139,783 on a note and trust deed payable with interest monthly and principal due $70,000 January 31, 2005, and the balance January 31, 2006.
2. Rewrite of loan from Friends Church Extension Foundation for purchase of Vancouver property for New Life Friends Church As anticipated the loans for this purchase reached $425,000 and were reduced to $207,069 as of February 24, 2004, from the sale of the former Rosemere church and parsonage. The maturity of the remaining loan has been rewritten to mature November 1, 2005. Repayment of this amount, interest and taxes is expected to come from income from the corner portion of the property, which is now occupied by a Papa Murphy's Pizza franchise, or from other sources determined by the Board of Evangelism.
3. Sale of Friends Church of the Valley property in Cave Junction At the request of Friends Church of the Valley and the Board of Evangelism, we completed a sale of property in Cave Junction, Oregon, formerly used by Friends Church of the Valley, a mission point. The property was not in good condition and had suffered some vandalism and storm damage. The sale price was $35,000; the purchaser paid $4,474 down in cash and assumed a loan balance owed to a previous owner of the property.
4. Washington Property Tax Exemption Reports Washington property tax exemption reports were prepared for six Washington church properties where title is in the name of Northwest Yearly Meeting. These reports are required annually by March 31.
5. Purchase of two houses for use by New Life Friends Church At the request of the Board of Evangelism, we have purchased two houses in Vancouver, Washington, which will be used by New Life in its program of assisting men and women who have come out of prison or are breaking addictive behavior and are ready to be integrated back into society. One house is for men and one for women. Total cost of $268,000 was financed with loans from Friends Church Extension Foundation. Title is in the name of Northwest Yearly Meeting but New Life is to make the monthly payments.

Commission on Communications

The Commission on Communications continues to facilitate the sharing of information within the YM as well as to all individuals interested in NWYM. Our nine-person commission works together in several arenas to accomplish the task.

The NWYM Connection is our primary printed media. Sherry Macy is the faithful editor of this newsletter that is sent to churches to be distributed on a monthly basis. We currently have an excellent working relationship with Vineyard Graphics (formally Barclay Press) to print the Connection. We appreciate their state of art production. Sherry welcomes your comments and ideas. Please contact her at sherrymacy@earthlink.net.

The NWYM Web page is found at: www.nwfriends.org. Gerald Lemmons is our web master and is currently in the process of completing a major revision of the site's appearance. The web page highlights ministries, boards, commissions and resources within the Yearly Meeting as well as links to local churches and other evangelical Friends organizations. Many documents of special interest include: Faith and Practice, Yearly Meeting Minutes, NWYM Connection, Roberts Reflections, GO, Volunteers on Wheels (VOW), New Works, Young Adult Friends, peace education, Quaker Wagging (FWMF newsletter), missions information, Concern (newsletter for Board of Peace and Social Concerns), Mennonite Mutual Aid's Top Drawer, the Commission on Family Life's catalog of available resource materials, and FWCC information. Entities of the Yearly Meeting who are not yet represented on the web site or local meeting (churches) who have not linked to the web page are encouraged to send the information to: gmllemmons@juno.com. We would encourage all churches to list the web site in their Sunday bulletins and other official documents to help direct new "friends" with interest or questions to the NWYM site.

The commission continues to value "unofficial" relationships of encouragement and support with several important aspects of the Yearly Meeting.

The NWYM Archives are located at George Fox University and managed by Dick Votaw. The Archives are the appropriate place to bring historical documents of local meetings, boards and commissions. Dick will help with questions to determine what and how to place documents in the archives. He may be contacted at: dvotaw@georgefox.edu.

Barclay Press, directed by Dan McCracken, continues to do important work that we support and encourage. Barclay Press continues to publish books (but not print them) of special interest to Friends. This last year their web site has taken on a new look and includes: Discover What's New as you review a summary of the most recent additions to the site. Step into the Conversation Café to read and respond to thoughtful, current material served up regularly by our family of contributors. Browse through the Bookstore for Barclay Press publications and selected titles from authors published elsewhere. In the Writers' Lounge, become acquainted with and ask questions of Barclay authors. And Stop at the Information Desk to learn more about Barclay Press and the Friends Church. Give us your thoughts, or contact us at the web site: (<http://www.barclaypress.com>) for more specific information.

Epistle Committee, clerked by Jackie Hausinger, writes a brief summary of our YM sessions to send to other Yearly Meetings across the United States and world. She also receives similar Epistles from other Yearly Meetings and reports on them during a business session. Jackie will lead two workshops again this year: one to read the Epistles received during the year from other yearly meetings, and a second to write the Epistle from our yearly meeting sessions. She can be contacted at: rapunzl45@aol.com.

The commission also sends a representative (Paula Hampton) to EFI-North America each year to represent NWYM Communications Commission. EFI projects that we work with include: The Friends Voice and the Publishers of Truth essay contest.

This year three workshops are being sponsored by the Commission on Communication: Back by popular response will be Jim Fields on "Conflict - A Positive Approach." In addition Eric Muhr will host a meeting of the minds for church secretaries, and Dick Sartwell will discuss area connectedness in "Getting the Family Together Again."

The commission is always open to hear ideas and concerns about how we can better facilitate communication and information within NWYM.

Cathy Knox, clerk (cathykn@open.org)

Commission on Ethnic Ministries

The Commission on Ethnic Ministries continues to give $6,000 each year to Peace Place at Piedmont in Portland to help them finance their program. This is an after-school program to tutor African-American children with their schoolwork. The program also teaches children to make good choices and decisions. These children learn that they are important and have value. Reedwood Friends Church in Portland also participates in this program. The commission is thankful for a dedicated staff that contributes to the program's success.

Last year the commission reported about people of various nationalities attending Friends churches in NWYM. This continues to be an opportunity for Friends to have a fruitful ministry in diversity. It broadens the worldview of people through building friendships and learning the customs and values of one another. Friends churches are doing the mission of the church as they welcome people of other nationalities to become a vital part of the congregation. Then opportunities come to reach out to the extended families and friends of these people.

Another open door of doing the mission of the church is the workplace. Friends people work alongside people of different nationalities. This experience presents Friends the opportunity to build friendships with these people and be an example of a life in Christ. Ed and Marie Cammack, after serving as missionaries in Peru and Bolivia, now are having a fruitful ministry in the public schools. They work among Spanish speakers and people from other nations. The commission wants to hear about other Friends who are doing friendship evangelism among people of various nationalities in their workplace.

Plan to attend the Commission on Ethnic Ministries workshop Tuesday afternoon to learn more about these challenging ministries among friends.

The Commission on Ethnic Ministries is seeking more people with a vision for ethnic ministries to serve on the commission. It's an opportunity to be a vital part of doing the mission of the church among Friends. Please talk to Ed Cammack about your willingness to be on the commission.

Edwin Cammack, clerk

Commission on Family Life

In our society today, divorce is common, same sex marriages are being legalized, and children are growing up without the family ties that make them nurturing and responsible adults. We, of the Commission on Family Life, are doing what we can to help the churches of the Yearly Meeting deal with the problems facing the families in their meetings. It's a big job!

One of the ways we can help is to offer video lessons for families concerning parenting, healthy marriages, and specific age group problems such as teenage sex and empty nest syndrome. These programs come with lessons for discussion and can be used by the churches in their Christian education programs to meet the particular needs of their church families. Those programs are listed in the resource catalog that has been sent to every church and may be borrowed for no cost.

The commission is sponsoring a workshop this year, which targets an area that is becoming a major concern for many churches - that of domestic violence. The workshop, presented by Amanda Strawser from the Yamhill County Women's Crisis Hotline, will discuss some of the major reasons for familial abuse, including how young people learn behaviors that may eventually end in violence within the family. This workshop would be useful for people working with teenagers as well as elders and ministers who are often called upon to assist when family problems arise in their meetings.

The Family Fun Day and Auction have not only provided fun times for the whole family, but the proceeds from the auction go to fund the Richard Beebe Memorial Fund, which assists pastors and their families with counseling when they are experiencing problems. In addition, the Commission on Family Life has provided a counselor at Twin Rocks Friends Family Camp and at Pastors Conference, and many families have been helped by that service.

The commission continues to provide financial assistance to the Mother-Daughter Retreat that is held in the fall, which is growing in popularity as mothers and their pre-teen daughters spend a weekend bonding together.

To encourage marital commitment, we recognize couples who are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary with flowers and a card during the Yearly Meeting sessions.

The Commission on Family Life welcomes your suggestions about ways we can help your family, church, or the Yearly Meeting. Contact any CFL member or send your ideas to CFL, c/o the NWYM office.

Commission on Fine Arts

This past year was one of reorganization and discoveries. We found that. . .

The Yearly Meeting is full of creative people. . .

Yearly Meeting 2003 brought three new members to the commission. During that week we offered workshops, HOOT performances, picnics on the lawn, and the Creation Station. Many people joined us in those activities, and we are always excited to witness those hidden talents out there.

The Arts have connections. . .

We are excited to begin discussions with other boards and commissions and see how the Fine Arts Commission might combine with other groups to work on joint projects.

Artists can be peaceful. . .

For the first time in March 2004, the Fine Arts Commission and the Board of Peace and Social Concerns combined our retreats at Twin Rocks Friends Camp. Both groups had their separate workshops but met together for worship, meals, and an eventful sing-a-long. Derek Lamson led the artists' clinics on many stimulating topics exploring worship in and through the arts. There were eight in full-time attendance for the Art section. It was a revealing time for each person to see how the creative parts of their lives could be opened up to God, and more blessings came from our corporate time with the "peacers." It is our plan to combine both retreats again next year.

Artists can be flexible. . .

The QuAC (Quaker Arts Connection) did not happen this last fall as was planned, due to many issues. With God's blessings, we intend to continue this event in the near future.

New Horizons to come. . .

This year we are encouraging people to share their creativity with others. Worship using creative expression is our goal, and we hope to facilitate this both on the individual and corporate levels.

We are sponsoring four workshops during Yearly Meeting to help people find others who enjoy creative expression like they do. We also hope that this will start a new section of Yearly Meeting with the addition of an Arts Fair next summer. We have a kind of art fair this year with The Quilt Project under the theme "Becoming Incarnational Christians." We hope you will check out the beautiful quilts that were made and will be hanging in the gallery at Bauman.

This year we plan to start the Yearly Meeting CD project. We have a strong desire to see and hear God's message through the music of Yearly Meeting individuals. If this is of interest to you, come talk to us at the Ministry Fair, the Hoot, or any time during Yearly Meeting.

We continue to look for opportunities to praise God and honor His work through His people, who through the arts have sought and listened to the Holy Spirit. This year we recognize Harlow Ankeny, Dick Cadd, Ron Crecelius, and Norval Hadley for their life-long ministry through music and evangelism to the glory of God.

Superintendent's Report to Executive Council and Council of Representatives

I am thankful for the kindness, blessings, and support shown to me and my family over the last few months as I was being interviewed and eventually called to serve as superintendent. Now that I am just getting started, I am eager to begin working with each of you in the mission God is seeking to accomplish through us. I will confess I have a great deal to learn and I am quickly trying to assess the "lay of the land" to see where my energies will best be spent. Thankfully, you have already assembled an excellent staff in the NWYM office to teach and train me!

Prior to coming on staff, I outlined four areas that I sensed needed attention. Here are a few ways I have begun to approach these and some thoughts on other concerns I am hoping to give energy to in the coming year.

1. Develop a greater sense of connectedness between the NWYM office and local churches and work to facilitate a sense of interconnectedness between the various NWYM congregations, ministries and boards/commissions.

- a. We have begun weekly staff meetings for a period of worship, share information, strategize and begin to assess needs. I am organizing a staff retreat for the fall to establish priorities for the coming year. This is especially critical with Bruce Bishop's departure from staff and Duane Comfort's return to missions administrator.
- b. We put out the first monthly pastor/planter e-letter in July. It provides information, encourages resource sharing and attempts a bit of inspiration/encouragement.
- c. Visited one Area Rally and I am attempting to do another in southern Oregon soon.
- d. Working with the Council of Elders and Board of Evangelism on the District Superintendent Proposal. This is also giving us an opportunity to do an initial reassessment of the overall NWYM staff structure.
- e. Will be contacting the clerks of our boards and commissions in the coming months to discuss how I might support their work.

2. Provide pastoral support and identify ways to further nurture and equip local pastors and Meeting clerks, and individuals in NWYM.

- a. Working diligently at phone, email & personal visits with pastors/planters. I am visiting and speaking regularly in churches/New Works to establish a renewed sense of connection with and support from the NWYM office/superintendent.
- b. Responding to requests for help with problems, questions and specific projects.
- c. Attempting to work with and encourage Dick Sartwell in formulating a strategy for training and releasing interim pastors to serve in churches. We both see this as a long-range strategy for assisting churches in transition.
- d. Developing a list of possible candidates for pastoral ministry/church plants—both in our YM and beyond (in school, serving elsewhere) and I am attempting to remain connected in the hope they might one day serve in the NW.
- e. In the process of contacting the members of the Church Response Teams to meet with them and discuss ways this ministry can further serve NWYM.
- f. Speaking at a local church retreat over Labor Day weekend. I am available for others.

3. Facilitate a process for clarifying our corporate sense of mission and strategic planning for future ministry/outreach.

- a. Right now, I am trying to “hear” what is going on with various churches/boards. Over the next year, I am hoping the Executive Council will develop an even deeper sense of unity and spirit of cooperation in carrying out our mission.
- b. Encourage areas where God seems to be moving. For instance, in my mind there is a great opportunity for growth in planting Hispanic churches. This concern is shared by several people in NWYM. I am beginning to contact and connect those people in an effort to encourage this ministry. Similar opportunities exist, I believe, in regard to our social concerns efforts.
- c. Reviewing past minutes to see what concerns have been raised.
- d. Begun to make some initial contacts with folks who have expertise in the area of visioning/long-range planning. I would like to continue to do some research with this in the hope of coming back to you with an update/process proposal next spring.
- e. Dave Woolsey and I would like to host an ongoing discussion (hopefully leading to real action!) this year on the subject of “Being Incarnational Christians.” We have a first gathering scheduled for Tuesday lunch of this week. I would like to ask the boards/commissions to consider how they are encouraging incarnational ministry (How is Jesus being made visible?) through their work as they meet this week.

4. Identify structural/organizational changes that allow the Yearly Meeting office to serve NWYM churches and ministries.

- a. I would like to ask the Executive Council permission to work with Lon and possibly others on a review of our Executive Council structure. How does the EC best serve NWYM?
- b. We will continue to review our staff responsibilities and needs in response to clarifying our sense of mission and focus.
- c. Continue to assess the organizational structure outlined in Faith and Practice.

Other concerns/queries:

1. Leadership development—raising up and releasing a new set of ministers among NWYM. Who among us is being called to particular service and how can we best support them?
2. Further develop an environment within NWYM that is missional in focus. How might we work together to create natural avenues for service, outreach and evangelism on both the local and Yearly Meeting level?
3. Work to eliminate any “us vs. them” mentality that may exist between established churches and New Works. How can we all be integral to the healthy, effective ministry of NWYM?
4. Encourage support for NWYM ministries. Are our resources focused in the areas God is calling us to address?

5. Pastoral transitions—How do we help churches connect with available pastors?

Thanks again for the opportunity to serve among you!

Colin Saxton, general superintendent

Friends Women's Missionary Fellowship

As yearly reports from local groups come in, it is exciting and rewarding to read how women in NWYM have supported not only our own mission endeavors but have reached out around the world thru EFM and other mission organizations. A total of $8,075 was given to four NWYM projects and seven EFM projects.

Last July, 196 ladies attended the yearly banquet and were blessed by speaker Doris Ferguson, who with her husband, Willard, recently retired after 40 years on the mission field in Burundi and Rwanda. The offering received at the banquet amounted to $3,467 for Rwanda Leadership Training.

Fall retreats were held at both Quaker Hill and Twin Rocks, with the theme “O Come Let Us Adore Him.” Approximately 160 ladies heard Jan Wood urge them to prepare their hearts for Christ. Income from the auctions was $1,624 to be used for the Kelley children's education.

Six area rallies were held with 120 ladies attending. Each luncheon was lovely as each area carried out the theme of “Reaching Out.” Offerings for emergency medical needs of teachers abroad totaled $2,635.

Of the groups reporting, there were 1,734 books read from the recommended reading list.

Quaker Waggins, our FWMF publication, is currently sent bimonthly to 230 ladies. Information can also be found on the NWYM web site.

We have lost many precious prayer warriors this year. As God calls these ladies home to Him, I pray that God will raise up more ladies to support and intercede for our foreign and home workers. God's need for the Friends Women ministry in this dark, hurting world is not over. The need is greater than ever for prayer, encouragement and financial support. We are praying for the future of Friends Women and seeking His will as to how best to support missions and provide fellowship for our local ladies. We desire His leading as we look forward to the future.

Volunteers on Wheels

Volunteers on Wheels (VOW), an agency of Northwest Yearly Meeting, completed its 20th year of ministry on April 30, 2004. VOW members experience satisfaction and joy as they go from place to place working on projects. We help Christian organizations with physical needs, enabling them to concentrate on their mission.

Our annual RENDEZVOUS in May at the Jefferson County Fairgrounds in Madras was a highlight of the year. The weather and fellowship were great and enjoyed by all in attendance. (The hailstorm waited until after the barbecuing of hamburgers was done!) Some members arrived early and worked on building a ticket booth for the Madras Police Department to be used at the fairgrounds. Seven new members were welcomed. Memorials for two deceased members, Lyle Wilson and Jim Morris, were noted. We prayed for absent members experiencing health problems. Gary and Ellie Fendall led our singing times and Jerry Dillon led our devotional times.

The statistician's annual report shows 4,622.5 hours of donated labor, with an estimated $49,791.00 saved on the following projects:

- 1) George Fox University – worked on improving the porch on a house and building a handicap ramp (357 hours)
- 2) Barclay College – removing floor tile and painting walls and floor in Bears Den, working on the new maintenance building, and computer/office work done in Admissions and Financial offices (658.5 hours)
- 3) Twin Rocks Friends Camp – building steps to new bridge, mailings, laundry, making kitchen cloth items, kitchen work, housekeeping, work on the maintenance structure, the Victory Circle and the miniature golf course (916 hours)
- 4) Greenleaf Friends Academy – painting buildings and yard work (122 hours)
- 5) Tigard Community Friends Church – sorted and organized the books in the library (140 hours)
- 6) Quaker Cove Camp – worked on improving the old chapel to be used by the Quaker Cove Friends Church (242.5 hours)
- 7) Eugene Friends Church – much work has been done on the new addition and is continuing to be done (2,226.5 hours mostly done by three VOW members)

Since VOW started in 1984, approximately $478,344 is estimated to have been contributed in labor saved at many NWYM and other Christian organizations.

VOW Statistical Report

April 1, 2003 through March 31, 2004: 1984 to March 31, 2004:

| Miles Traveled: | 26,094 | Miles Traveled: | 305,006 |
| Dollars Saved*: | $49,791 | Dollars Saved*: | $478,344 |

*These are dollars saved by the groups that VOW has helped.

The Executive Board and officers for the 2004-2005 year will be: co-presidents—John and Janet Lyda; vice-presidents—Norman and Margaret Winters; secretary—Margaret Lemmons; treasurer—Gerald Lemmons; statistician—Arline Watson; Gene and Betty Comfort; Ked and Nina Dejmali; and Floyd Watson.

On an aside, an informal survey was taken and showed the average number of years of marriage of people in VOW to be 46 years, and the total number of years is 1,334. Richard and Odessa Ayers was the highest with 63 years and Jerry and Alice Dillon close behind with 62 years, 11 months.

VOW is a group of retired folks who have a good time serving others in Jesus' name. New members are always welcomed. It's as easy as checking the Yearly Meeting web site: www.nwfriends.org.

Evangelical Friends International Council

Since Northwest Yearly Meeting is my home Yearly Meeting in the United States, I make an effort to submit an annual report of the highlights of the organization called the Evangelical Friends International Council, of which NWYM is a part through Evangelical Friends International/North America Region. I serve as a volunteer director and travel annually to one or more activities of the EFI Council. This report is not comprehensive, but tries to focus on new initiatives from the past year. A similar report is made to the EFI/North America Region Coordinating Council.

EFI Council Meets The Council met in New Delhi, India, May 9 and 10, 2004, marking the first time for the council to meet outside of North America. This was an overdue location for a meeting since EFI worldwide consists of roughly 150,000 Friends, 110,000 of them outside of North America. The council consists of regional directors from Africa, Asia, Latin America, North America, the Council Director and observers Chuck Mylander and Carolyn Stansell. Chuck is the director of Evangelical Friends Missions (EFM) and Carolyn is the EFI Council financial bookkeeper.

Items of mutual concern were discussed, including membership, relationships with non-evangelical Friends, finances, and regional reports. Ron Stansell accepted the invitation to serve for another three-year term, through 2006.

EFI/Asia Region Meets The May EFI Council meeting in Delhi was followed immediately by a leadership gathering of 150 near Mussoorie, India, in the foothills of the Himalayas. Friends from eleven out of thirteen ministry sites around Asia joined for inspirational worship, study and joyful fellowship in a region of sharp persecution against Christians and stark material and spiritual poverty. Praise and worship groups used many other languages like Bengali, Maithailee, Garhwali or Nepali for presentations and reports. Different ministries reported on growth in their areas and the unique nature of local problems, economic needs or leadership challenges, followed by group prayer for requests listed visually for all to see.

A large number of new Christians from the local Friends ministry attended and new ministries from Bhutan, Myanmar, Kolkata (India) and Kerala state (India) were officially welcomed into the EFI/Asia Region. The Myanmar mission is financed entirely by pledges from Asian Friends. Cambodian Friends delivered 400 crisp $100 bills for the work in Myanmar, a tithe of their tithe from new Christians who still live in the shadow of the "killing fields" of Cambodia. Friends from elsewhere pledged $10 a month, or more, to complete the Myanmar missionary budget. Taiwanese Friends are taking special leadership in this project. Friends from Karnataka state (India) and Indonesia were unable to attend due to visa problems and schedule conflicts.

John Vanlalhriata (Vanlal), EFM worker in Kathmandu, Nepal, was named the new EFI/Asia Region director to replace outgoing director, Jaime Tabingo. Edwin Singh (India) was chosen as vice director, Bob Adhikary (Nepal) is the new secretary, and Joe Huang (Taiwan) is treasurer. Jaime Tabingo continues on the Executive Committee as a member-at-large.

In the last decade Friends have had a large increase in new fields in Asia, affirming the world consensus that Asia is the continent to watch during the twenty-first century. Friends are encouraged to recognize this increasing "critical mass" for Friends ministry in Asia and pray we might be faithful to the overwhelming opportunities. Hindus, Muslims, and Buddhists are overwhelmingly the dominant religions, plus a strong dose of "secular non-religion." Friends believers in Asia may still number under 15,000 but the potential for growth is huge, given the hundreds of millions in India, Indonesia and neighboring nations (and not to mention China!) and given the spiritual vitality of these new Friends groups.

Non-Western Missions Several EFI groups of churches are sending their own missionaries or developing cross-cultural ministries including the development of new works in Myanmar (Burma) by EFI/Asia Region, in Bhutan by Nepali Friends, to Cambodia and Nicaragua by Central American Friends, to Uganda and Tanzania by Friends in Rwanda and Burundi, and from Taiwan Yearly Meeting to various places elsewhere in Asia. In addition, it is known that there are cross-cultural Friends ministries within Bolivia and Guatemala and perhaps elsewhere about which Westerners do not know. The expansion of Friends is clearly being shared broadly by Western and non-Western Friends.

EFI/Europe Region A new EFI Region is yet to be formed in Europe, but the vision for such has not been lost. Hopefully when it happens it can include Friends ministry among some non-Europeans of the region by EFM, the new works by Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends in North Africa and Russia, and existing works in Ireland, Hungary, Romania and the Balkan nations by EFM and Evangelical Friends Church—Eastern Region. Recently published reports note the activities of non-Western Christians in Europe, and Friends might become a part of that movement.

The Next Event EFI/Africa Region has started plans for a Pastors Conference for Friends of Central Africa, including leaders from Burundi, Rwanda, Congo, Tanzania and Uganda. It is hoped this meeting will take place in the summer of 2005. Regional Director David Niyonzima and others met recently and are projecting a gathering of 125 pastors and leaders to meet in the eastern Congo city of Uvira, not far from Bujumbura, Burundi.

Personal Thank you to Friends in the Northwest for the many questions and expressions of interest in the work of the EFI Council. Carolyn and I consider it an unequalled privilege to have friendships with Friends leaders around the world and we are happy to collaborate for another three years. The real work of EFI happens on the Yearly Meeting and Regional levels, but the Council attempts to maintain worldwide communications and encourages the completion of regional projects. While EFM is a missionary arm of Friends from North America, the EFI Council includes many autonomous Friends yearly meetings who do not have EFM ties. Thus the EFI Council helps maintain a Friends identity around the world that is truly "evangelical in nature and worldwide in scope," a slogan used by evangelical Friends in the United States fifty years ago! The slogan has become a reality that bears careful watching!

Barclay Press Report

The Conversation Café is now into its second year. This positive addition to the long-term ministry of Barclay Press has proven to be an excellent supplement to the continuing print materials. Twenty-nine helpful articles are now available online. Global issues addressed in these articles include peacemaking in Iraq, teaching in Ramallah, genocide in Rwanda, and political unrest in Haiti. Other topics speak about voting, sharing Christ, postmodernism, male/female relationships, and much more, as writers share personal experience and insight.

A monthly online book discussion, "hosted" generally by each book's author, began at the Conversation Café section of the site in January. Books have included Citizenship: A Christian Calling (by Lon Fendall), Rumors of Another World (by Philip Yancey), Sexuality and Holy Longing (by Lisa McMinn), At Home with the Poor (by Jean Thomas), Powers, Weakness, and the Tabernacling of God (by Marva Dawn), and Sacred Rhythms (by Christine Sine).

Also during the past year, 26 writers have submitted journal entries for the Conversation Café. Each writer shares his or her thoughts by posting an entry each weekday for two weeks.

Traffic to the site and purchases from the online bookstore indicate a consistent interest in the Barclay Press offerings at www.barclaypress.com.

Barclay Press has published several books this year: Citizenship: A Christian Calling by Lon Fendall, released in October, At Home with the Poor by Jean Thomas with Lon Fendall, in December, and Understand My Muslim People by Abraham Sarker, scheduled for release this fall. Two other books in process are The Secret Colors of God (a book of poems by Nancy Thomas) and a book about discernment by Bruce Bishop, Lon Fendall, and Jan Wood.

With a focus on the great commission, spirituality, and social responsibility, Barclay Press seeks to deliver publications that stimulate positive change in the life of the reader. Barclay Press has approximately 50 book titles in print that share our Christian message with believers and with seekers.

Longstanding quarterly publications from Barclay Press continue to offer adult Sunday school curriculum and daily devotional readings. Adult Friend, beginning its 59th year, provides Bible study curriculum for Friends churches across the country. The companion piece, Adult Friend—Leader, has been produced for 50 years. Subscribers appreciate the daily devotionals shared by writers in Fruit of the Vine, the slightly younger publication.

Office staff members at Barclay Press are Liz Barr (Sunday school curriculum, Fruit of the Vine subscriptions, book orders, and general office tasks); Kati Voth (financial accounting and assistance with general office tasks); and Dan McCracken, publisher (management of the overall operation of Barclay Press including editorial oversight, marketing, and finance). Dan Cammack, Susan Fawver, Paula Hampton, Katharine Matchette, and Ron Woodward provide vital staff functions in the area of communication with churches, editing, proof-reading, and online communication. Sherry Macy, Phil Baisley, Donna Allison, and C.G. White do editorial and page layout services on a contract or freelance basis.

Barclay Press is located at 211 N. Meridian St., #101 in Newberg, Oregon—near the Northwest Yearly Meeting headquarters office and the campus of George Fox University. A board of directors with broad geographic representation from evangelical Friends governs the operation.

Greenleaf Friends Academy

On May 23, 2004, Greenleaf Friends Academy (GFA) completed its 96th year of operation with 21 seniors graduating. Our math teacher and basketball coach, John Ehrlich, addressed the graduates. John came to Greenleaf in the fall of 1963 from Friends University in Wichita and has been a tremendous model of Christ to our students.

A highlight for GFA this year was to have our a capella Full Measure Ensemble of 20 students travel to Italy where they had the opportunity to sing at over 30 venues including many large cathedrals such as St. Peter's in Rome. Their repertoire consisted mainly of Latin pieces that were composed to be performed in cathedrals. Their director, Ellen Morse, who just finished her 15th year at GFA, has done a superb job inspiring our students to perform with excellence and to be exceptional ambassadors for Christ and the school. Their singing was so moving that it brought tears to many who were visiting the cathedrals. After returning from Italy the ensemble gave a homecoming concert at St. Paul's cathedral in Boise. The director of music at St. Paul's congratulated the ensemble saying that he had never heard a high school group from any school, public or parochial, sing with such maturity and quality.

We were excited this spring to have sent 19 athletes to the Idaho State track meet and our boys brought home the third place trophy – our first since 1982. Congratulations to Coach Kelly Stauffer and her team for an excellent season.

Greenleaf Friends Academy welcomes new superintendent, Ken Sheldon, who comes to GFA from Heritage Christian Schools in Anchorage, Alaska. Ken has a strong commitment to the Lord, is a man of prayer, and cares deeply for children, desiring to see them become strong believers and mature in their faith.

Our enrollment this past year was approximately 270 with about 235 in kindergarten through twelfth grade and about 35 in preschool and day care. Our annual budget is just over $1,000,000. We have an excellent staff with 21 highly qualified teachers. We are accredited by the State of Idaho and the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges. We are a member of the Association of Christian Schools International whose current president is Ken Smitherman, a former GFA student and administrator.

We have capacity and could easily accommodate another 70 students. Please pray that our enrollment will grow and that GFA would continue to accomplish its mission to train effective ambassadors for Christ. About a third of our operating budget comes from sources other than tuition. We depend on the regular gifts from alumni and friends. We are blessed when families designate GFA for memorials to their loved ones. We are also excited when GFA is included in the estate planning of friends of the school. If you would like to give to the school or name Greenleaf Friends Academy as a beneficiary to your estate, please contact us by writing to P.O. Box 368, Greenleaf, ID 83626, by phone at 208-459-6346, or by email at gfa@cableone.net.

George Fox University

A major task for leaders is to know with certainty what in their organization must not change. Once that is clearly known, everything else must be available for possible change. Much has changed over the years at George Fox University. One thing that has not changed – and must not change – is our mission to “demonstrate the meaning of Jesus Christ by offering a caring educational community in which each individual may achieve the highest intellectual and personal growth, and by participating responsibly in our world's concerns.” We are enthusiastically committed to this historic mission that has guided the university for more than a century.

Strong organizations plan effectively for the future, and this past year we have begun careful planning for our future facilities. To continue to provide the high quality of education George Fox students deserve, we need to improve and expand the Newberg campus and pay attention to the quality of our space at locations in Boise, Portland, and Salem. This planning effort will bring significant changes to the university over the next decades. Such change is healthy and necessary and will require significant resources beyond tuition and fees.

George Fox University is committed to providing relevant, high-quality, Christ-centered education. Our intention is to accomplish our mission in partnership with the church in the Pacific Northwest.

This report shares highlights of the 2003-04 academic year.

ACCREDITATION WITH CONGRATULATIONS

George Fox University was assured of its academic accreditation when the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities made an evaluation visit in April following a year-long self-study by the university.

“I congratulate you on what you're doing,” said site visit committee chair Tom Cronin, president of Whitman College, when he gave the initial and informal exit report concluding the visit. The university was cited for “unified commitment to mission.” The once-in-a-decade review was ratified June 10 when the full Commission met in Nevada.

HOSPITAL PURCHASE PLANS ANNOUNCED

George Fox University and Providence Health Systems have announced plans for the university to purchase and take occupancy of the 58,900-square-foot Providence Newberg Hospital building and 8.3 acre site no later than April 2006. A letter of intent for the $3 million sale has been signed. Payment will be made when George Fox assumes occupancy. Purchase is expected to be funded through solicitation of grants and private gifts.

The current hospital will become available when the process of replacing it is complete. Construction is underway in east Newberg on a new facility twice the size of the current building. The university plans to use the property to accommodate its growing professional and graduate programs, either by renovating the building or by constructing new facilities on the site. The sale also includes five auxiliary buildings.

The hospital property, located at 501 Villa Road, is surrounded on three sides by the George Fox campus. With the purchase, the campus will expand to 85 acres.

EXPANDING THE MISSION WITH NURSING

Responding directly from its Christ-centered mission, George Fox announced a new program offering a bachelor of science degree in nursing. In making the announcement it was noted that "healing was a central part of Jesus' ministry and we believe we need to emulate his actions by education health-care professionals for today's world." Launching of the program is expected to help fill the need in the Northwest, which has a critical shortage of nurses. By 2008, when the first graduates complete the program, it is expected George Fox will contribute up to 40 new nurses a year to the region.

Classes will be taught on the Newberg campus and clinical experience will be offered at a variety of off-campus settings, including community hospitals, home-care and extended-care facilities, service agencies and schools.

GF: TOP TIER AND TOP VALUE – U.S. NEWS

George Fox University moved up one position in the top tier in the 2004 ranking of "America's Best Colleges" by U.S. News & World Report magazine. George Fox ranked 18th of 34 institutions placed in the top group out of 126 colleges in the "Universities – Masters" west region category.

The magazine again named George Fox one of its "Great Schools at Great Prices." GFU was ranked eighth for value. The much-discussed rankings are based on "a formula that relates a school's academic quality, as indicated by its U.S. News ranking, to the net cost of attendance for a student who receives the average level of financial aid. The higher the quality of the program and the lower the cost, the better the deal."

ENROLLMENT CLIMB CONTINUES

Enrollment edged toward 3,000 during the year with spring semester enrollment reaching 2,999, an increase of 86 over fall semester and 216 over the previous spring. The record enrollment marked the 17th consecutive year of growth. Traditional undergraduate students composed about 45 percent of the total, at 1,352. The Division of Professional Students enrolled an additional 294 in the adult degree-completion program. There were 1,353 graduate students, including 213 in seminary programs. Total enrollment compares to 549 students in 1986.

SERVING THE COMMUNITY AND BEYOND

Nearly 1,400 students and employees traveled to 56 work sites in the community on Sept. 10 for the fifth annual all-campus Serve Day. According to Campus Compact, a national coalition that promotes community service in higher education, George Fox apparently was the first institution to shut down entirely for a day of such activity. Students, faculty and staff did computer work, construction, painted, weeded, and cleaned for non-profits, public agencies, churches, retirement homes, cemeteries, and individual senior citizens. Service was not just a one-time endeavor. During the Christmas break 90 students participated in Winter Serve, helping at four locations in Oregon and Washington. During spring break nearly 80 students in six groups assisted others in sites in Nevada, California, Utah and Washington. They assisted the homeless, helped inner-city youth, assisted a camp for troubled youth, and provided Bible training.

GEORGE FOX CHOSEN FOR RICHTER SCHOLARS

Dartmouth. Yale. Northwestern. University of Chicago. That's good company for George Fox and selection for participation in the prestigious Richter Scholars Program has vaulted George Fox into the list along with nationally prominent universities.

George Fox is one of just 11 colleges in the nation chosen for the program that also includes California Institute of Technology, Claremont, Occidental, Knox, Southern Methodist and Wake Forest.

This significant and competitive research program expands opportunities for undergraduate and graduate students to learn and research topics outside the typical curriculum – rewarding independent thinking and individual achievement.

NEW STRUCTURE CREATES NEW SCHOOLS

In one of the final steps of formally becoming a university, two new schools were created to join three existing schools. The academic restructuring is designed to better integrate undergraduate and graduate programs. Announced was a new School of Behavioral and Health Sciences. It is being formed with the departments of undergraduate psychology, clinical psychology, sociology/social work, and the new nursing program. The new School of Arts and Sciences will include performing arts, visual arts, family and consumer sciences, biology and chemistry, health and human performance, history, communication arts, political science, math, computer science, engineering, religious studies, and writing/literature. Previously existing were the School of Education, the School of Management and George Fox Evangelical Seminary.

975 NEW ALUMNI

George Fox awarded degrees to more than 975 students in four ceremonies during the year – 30 percent more than the previous year. Diplomas included 580 bachelor's degrees and 395 graduate degrees. George Fox Board Chair Kent Thornburg, director of the Heart Research Center at Oregon Health & Science University, spoke at the December 20 midyear commencement when 215 diplomas were awarded. The largest number of degrees was given May 1 with 365 receiving undergraduate degrees and 315 given graduate degrees. Speaker was Yamhill County commissioner and Tilikum board member Leslie Lewis. In June 5 ceremonies in Boise, another 80 students received degrees, primarily through the Division of Professional Studies.

NEW LOGO INTRODUCED

After 31 years of serving as George Fox University's logo, the familiar script based loosely on the signature of George Fox is being replaced by a new logo that is a stylized representation of the university's Centennial Tower.

The new identifying mark was introduced in May. It is part of an integrated marketing campaign begun in 2003. Various university constituent groups were polled regarding new logo options. The tower logo was the favorite. Centennial Tower was built in 1990 – believed to be the final project of world-known architect Pietro Belluschi.

The new identity symbol will begin appearing as publications, promotions and projects occur through the year.

BASEBALL BRUINS WIN NATIONAL TITLE

"One heartbeat, one goal" was the motto for the George Fox baseball Bruins as they won the NCAA Div. III 2004 national baseball championship. The Bruins, who completed the season with a 40-10 school record, reached the top June 1 in Appleton, Wisc., when they beat No.1-ranked Eastern Connecticut State 6-3 in the championship game. The Bruins, unranked entering the West Regionals, became the first school since 1984 to win the championship in its nationals debut. Eastern Connecticut was seeking its fifth consecutive national crown. The Bruins won 17 of their last 19 games, beat nationally ranked teams in their final nine wins, and posted four wins in the title series.

Junior pitcher Scott Hyde was named the Most Outstanding Player of the series. He ended the year with 191 strikeouts, second-best total in a single season in D-III history, and raised his career total to 395, third-most ever. He was drafted in the seventh round by the New York Mets in the Major League Baseball draft. Junior Matt Gassaway became the first George Fox Bruin to win an NCAA national title when he threw the javelin 215-10 on the final day of Division III National Outdoor Track and Field Championships. He earned All-American status with his toss that was 4 feet 6 inches further than anyone else. He broke the previous George Fox record of 204-10. The Bruins finished 22nd in the men's standings in the national meet.

The Friends Center at George Fox University

God calls and equips people for ministry in so many ways. The desire of the Friends Center is to combine a solid academic seminary experience at George Fox Evangelical Seminary with the personal and practical and "Friendly" touch of relationships with other Northwest Yearly Meeting students and leaders. Dick Sartwell is the director of the Friends Center, and offers tremendous experience as a pastor as well as a heart to help people develop and deepen their call to ministry among Friends. Our responsibility as a board is to support Dick in his role and to support people who have a desire to prepare spiritually, practically, and academically for ministry in local Friends churches.

Over the past year, Dick has given time to teaching, developing promotional materials for the Friends Center, establishing our "presence" on the GFES campus, and hiring Tonya Comfort as an administrative assistant. Now, our board and Dick are turning our attention to one of the key pieces of education: funding. We've established priorities and policies for distributing scholarships to students. We've had some gifts that have enabled us to actively publicize availability of scholarship money. We're now taking the next step of actively seeking gifts to "The Pearl Fund," our way of strategically multiplying the resources we have to best help people prepare for ministry.

The best thing we can do for our Yearly Meeting is to develop healthy churches. One of the most significant ways we can do that is equipping leaders to minister within our churches. And a great way to help people prepare for ministry is to give them the resources to become Friends Center students. Please consider whether God is prompting you to give to scholarships for students preparing for ministry!

In the upcoming year, we hope to coordinate closely with the Board of Ministerial Service to see how we might help in providing continuing education opportunities for pastors. Friends Center is also offering a variety of courses available to anyone for credit or simply for enrichment. Some meet over an entire semester, others just for a weekend. We're really excited about Yearly Meeting in 2005.

Carole Spencer will offer "Quakerism as Holiness" during the workshop timeslots each afternoon during our Yearly Meeting sessions. This will be a chance for people already here from all over the Yearly Meeting to take a top quality class for credit or for enrichment. Please visit the Friends Center table or talk with Dick Sartwell for more information about any of these opportunities! I'm excited about what God is doing at Friends Center!

Accountants' Review Report

To the Board of Trustees of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church

We have reviewed the accompanying statement of financial position of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church (a not-for-profit organization) as of December 31, 2003 and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the year then ended, in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services issued by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. All information included in these financial statements is the representation of the management of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church.

A review consists principally of inquiries of Organization personnel and analytical procedures applied to financial data. It is substantially less in scope than an audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements taken as a whole. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Based on our review, with the exception of the matter described in the following paragraph, we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

As disclosed in Note 6 to the financial statements, management has informed us that the Organization has not determined the cost of its defined benefit pension plan in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, which require the cost of employees' pensions to be recognized over the employees' respective service periods and a liability to be recognized when the accumulated benefit obligation exceeds the fair value of plan assets. The effects of this departure from generally accepted accounting principles on financial position, changes in net assets, and cash flows are not reasonably determinable.

Our review was made for the purpose of expressing limited assurance that there are no material modifications that should be made to the financial statements in order for them to be in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. The supplemental information as listed in the table of contents is presented only for supplementary analysis purposes. Such information has been subjected to the inquiry and analytical procedures applied in the review of the basic financial statements and we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made thereto.
