

1-1-2006

Contributors -- Quaker Religious Thought, nos. 106-107

Paul Anderson
panderso@georgefox.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <http://digitalcommons.georgefox.edu/qrt>

 Part of the Christianity Commons

Recommended Citation

Anderson, Paul (2006) "Contributors -- Quaker Religious Thought, nos. 106-107," Quaker Religious Thought: Vol. 106, Article 13.
Available at: <http://digitalcommons.georgefox.edu/qrt/vol106/iss1/13>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Commons @ George Fox University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Quaker Religious Thought by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ George Fox University.

CONTRIBUTORS

CHARLES CONNIRY, JR. is Associate Professor of Pastoral Ministry and Director of the Doctor of Ministry Program at George Fox University. He received his Ph.D. From Fuller Theological Seminary and has served in pastoral ministry within several denominations for 25 years. Chuck serves on the local resource committee of the George Fox University Congregational Discernment Project and is writing a book on discernment scheduled for publication next year entitled Soaring in the Spirit: Rediscovering Mystery in the Christian Life (Paternoster Press).

BRUCE BISHOP serves currently as the Interim Associate Superintendent of Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends (NWYM). For the last several years Bruce has been helping Friends relearn the theology and practice of discernment, offering workshops and practicums around personal and corporate spiritual discernment. As Clerk of the Elders at North Valley Friends Church, Bruce has had the opportunity to put it into practice, moving the Elders from a task-oriented committee to a discernment-based community.

PAUL ANDERSON is Professor of Biblical and Quaker Studies at George Fox University. His latest book, The Fourth Gospel and the Quest for Jesus, appeared this fall, and his letter to the Vatican, "Petrine Ministry and Christocracy," appeared last year in One in Christ. Paul directs the George Fox University Congregational Discernment Project and is a member of North Valley Friends Church. Paul was invited to the Vatican last month for the Conference for Secretaries of World Christian Communions serving as an advisor to Nancy Irving, General Secretary of the FWCC. There they met with Cardinal Walter Kasper at the Vatican and also received an audience with Pope Benedict XVI.

EDEN GRACE is a member of New England Yearly Meeting, currently serving as Friends United Meeting Africa Ministries Field Officer. She has a Masters of Divinity degree from Episcopal Divinity School in Cambridge, Massachusetts and has served on numerous boards and committees among Friends and in the ecumenical movement. Until this year, she was the Friends representative to the World Council of Churches, where she served on the WCC Central Committee. Eden played a significant role in helping the WCC adopt a "consensus model" for decision making, and she participated in the 9th Assembly of the WCC held last February in Porto Alegre, Brazil. She lives now in Kisumu, Kenya with her husband James and two boys, Isaiah and Jesse.

STEPHEN W. ANGELL teaches Quaker Studies at the Earlham School of Religion, where he serves as the Geraldine Leatherock Professor of Quaker Studies. William Penn and early Pennsylvania have been an interest of Stephen's since he completed an ESR Master's Thesis in 1982 on Penn's theories of religious toleration. Steve's latest book, which he co-edited with Paul Buckley, is The Quaker Bible Reader, available from ESR Press.

116 • CONTRIBUTORS

JANE E. CALVERT is Assistant Professor of History at St. Mary's College of Maryland. She earned her BA from Earlham College in 1993 and her Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 2003. Her new book [in-progress] is entitled A Sacred Institution: Quaker Constitutionalism and the Origins of American Civil Disobedience. She is currently working on two projects on John Dickinson— his collected political and legal writings and a biography. She has been an attender at Springfield Friends Meeting in Pennsylvania.

EMMA LAPSANSKY-WERNER is Professor of History, and Curator of the Quaker Collection at Haverford College, where she teaches—among other things—Quaker studies. Her recent Quaker related publications include Quaker Aesthetics and Back to Africa: Benjamin Coates and the American Colonization Movement. She is a member of Lansdowne Monthly Meeting, near Philadelphia.

HUGH BARBOUR joined Cambridge Meeting as a Harvard student in 1940, having spent his boyhood in China. He went on via Yale Divinity School and Union Seminary to teach at Syracuse, Wellesley, and for 38 years at Earlham College and School of Religion. His books include The Quakers in Puritan England, and he edited William Penn on Religion and Ethics. He also co-edited Early Quaker Writings with Arthur Roberts, and he co-authored The Quakers with Jerry Frost. After 15 years in and around Cambridge Meeting, he has retired with his wife Sirkka to Kendal-on-Hudson.

RUTH PITMAN is originally from Philadelphia but has lived and traveled among Friends of various sorts. She now lives in North Olmsted, OH, a suburb of Cleveland. Her article on Quaker symbolism appeared in QRT #50, and she serves on the Advisory Council of Quaker Religious Thought.

“BEN” PINK DANDELION is an honorary reader in Quaker Studies at the University of Birmingham and directs the work of the Centre for Postgraduate Quaker Studies, Woodbrooke and the University of Birmingham. He edits Quaker Studies and acts as Series Editor for the Edwin Mellen series in Quaker Studies. His books include The Liturgies of Quakerism (2005), The Creation of Quaker Theory (2004), the co-authored Towards Tragedy/Reclaiming Hope (2004) and The Sociological Analysis of the Theology of Quakers: the Silent Revolution (1996). He is currently working on a Cambridge University Press introduction to Quakerism.