3. Belgian MFA SYG and acting political director Van Raet urged forceful US support in UNSC for getting UNAMIR out of Rwanda - Dallaire told he argued had nothing to do with UNAMIR mandate UNAMIR force especially Belgians were vulnerable Belgians could not afford to lose more peacekeepers ^{in the harrowing circumstances in which they lost} 10 last wk
 Belgian withdrawal would gut UNAMIR but Belgium did not want to be forced into a unilateral decision UNSC should take the decision to withdraw UNAMIR troops for their safety. DS. expressed condolences for deaths of 10 Belgian peacekeepers and deaths of Belgian civilians in Rwanda. He agreed ^{UNAMIR} mandate seemed no longer to fit the circumstances.

UN planned to hold its report on Rwanda until the completion of the Arusha talks - questioned utility of helping OAU assign troops force BYG. The OAU was only fit for political or diplomatic work not peacekeeping. If you put them something practical to do, you'll end up with a mess. terribly weak organization. Rwanda not the place for OAU to experiment direct the ~~act~~ situation was urgent. Considering that we want for Arusha to end. - feared UN could be accused of interfering in the peace process.

4. Further The Ssg was extremely concerned at how the USG's new criteria on RKO had affected UN action on Rwanda which he termed a major disaster. His analysis was that the U.S. had led negatively which in turn caused support and potential donors (like Australia) to get cold feet.
He said he could not sleep at night as the genocide continued in Rwanda because of their major fault of the UN, greater than all the others. While he acknowledged that lack of French leadership ^{with} ~~with~~ (500 F. paratroopers could have contained the situation) would looked to U.S. for leadership. While in South Africa, African leaders had told him that by putting the brakes on Rwanda, the U.S. had deterred any effective ~~action~~ ^{UN action} to stop slaughter. In Somalia, the U.S. decision to provide humanitarian assistance had served as a magnet for others. In Rwanda, we were repelling aid.
