NEW BUSINESS MANAGER

PHIL SMITH, a professor of philosophy at George Fox University, is the new business manager for Quaker Religious Thought. All correspondence regarding subscriptions and other business matters should go to Phil Smith, c/o Religion Department, George Fox University, Newberg, OR 97132. E-mail: <psmith@georgefox.edu>

Paul Anderson had filled this position temporarily following Ted Perkins' resignation after many years of faithful service. Thanks to the efforts of Phil and Paul we are in the black again, and things are going well financially. We appreciate your special gifts. A George Fox student, Natasha Jabusch, is serving as a QRT assistant under Phil Smith's direction. We are grateful to the Department for providing this service.

GEST FELLOWSHIPS

The Quaker Collection of Haverford College announces the availability of three $1,500 Gest Fellowships for one month of research using Quaker Collection materials to study a topic that explores the connections and relationships between various ways of expressing religious belief in the world. The fellowships, which are for dissertation research, post-graduate or social activist study, may be used for any one month period between July 1, 1999, and January 31, 2000. Application deadline February 1, 1999. For more detailed information contact: Ann W. Upton, Quaker Collection, Haverford College, Haverford, PA 19041, or E-mail: <aupton@haverford.edu>
