

Levi Pennington

People

1964

Christmas, 1964

Levi T. Pennington
George Fox University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.georgefox.edu/levi_pennington

Recommended Citation

Pennington, Levi T., "Christmas, 1964" (1964). Levi Pennington. 426.
https://digitalcommons.georgefox.edu/levi_pennington/426

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the People at Digital Commons @ George Fox University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Levi Pennington by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ George Fox University. For more information, please contact arolfe@georgefox.edu.

Christmas, 1964

SAID Joseph to Mary that first Christmas day,
“O Mary, my darling—oh, what can I say?
Now is fulfilled God’s prophetic word,
And Jesus, your son, is now Jesus, my lord.
God has revealed His great mercy afresh;
Through you has clothed Himself in human flesh.
How shall we train this divine Son of God?—
We who are kin to the dust and the clod?”

“FEAR not”, said Mary. “Our God will direct.
Help from His wisdom we now can expect.
Heaven’s best gift has been placed in our hands.
We are but human, but God understands.
We shall have help from the King on His throne—
And mother love, Joseph, is much like his own.”

L.T.P.

Best wishes for Christmas, the New Year and all the years that are to be.

Levi T. Pennington

I hope and believe that all is going well with your new jobs.
Best wishes always.