

Levi Pennington

People

1946

Christmas, 1946

Levi T. Pennington
George Fox University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.georgefox.edu/levi_pennington

Recommended Citation

Pennington, Levi T., "Christmas, 1946" (1946). Levi Pennington. 421.
https://digitalcommons.georgefox.edu/levi_pennington/421

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the People at Digital Commons @ George Fox University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Levi Pennington by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ George Fox University. For more information, please contact arolfe@georgefox.edu.

Christmas, 1946

AN angel saw the world of men today,
And, bowed with grief and sorrow, turned away.
“Master”, he cried to Christ, “’tis hopeless. See
How utterly the world has turned from Thee.”
And then, above bewildered human Babel,
Rang out the voice of Jesus, “I am able.”

THE angel raised his head. Before his eyes
He saw again the star of Bethlehem rise.
Again he heard the choir of angels sing
Their glory song to Heaven’s eternal King.
The baby who that Christmas night had birth,
To Him was given all power, in heaven, on earth.
The angel raised his voice and sang again,
“Glory to God; peace and good will to men.” L.T.P

Christmas and New Year’s Greetings from
Levi T. and Rebecca Pennington