Christmas, 1955

Good!

OVER the clang of the noisy street
Where men of all classes and cultures meet,
Over the jarring sounds that come
From busy factories' clank and hum,
Over the screams of the howling gale,
The roll of thunder, the storm wind's wail,
Over the noises of war and strife
Where nothing is cheaper than human life,
Over earth's din let us hear again,
"Glory to God and good will to men."

NATIONS perplexed and a world in fear
Knowing destruction is ever near,
Hate and selfishness, greed for gain—
O, God of Love, was the Cross in vain?
Grant that thy servants may help fulfill
That glorious word of the Father's will
Heard from the sky at the Saviour's birth,
"Good will to men, and peace on earth." L.T.P.
