Contributors

Nancy N. Jackson, a graduate of Brandeis and Washington Universities as well as the Earlham School of Religion, is active in the ministries and concerns of West Richmond (Ind.) Meeting, and teaches part-time at Indiana University East. (See QRT No. 49 for more.)

Dennis Dick, born in Pennsylvania and raised a Methodist in Texas, became a Friend during the Vietnam war. A member of Austin (Tex.) Meeting, he is a journeyman cabinetmaker (Local 1096, Oklahoma City). He and his wife Betsy are interested in encouraging experiments in Christian community and the traveling ministry among Friends. They are currently part of an extended household in Richmond (Ind.) and in December welcomed their first child.

Arthur O. Roberts, known to some as an artist in poetry and wood, has been a frequent contributor or commentator in the pages of QRT since 1961. In addition to three books of poetry and several other volumes, his Tomorrow Is Growing Old: Stories of the Quakers in Alaska (Barclay Press, 1978) and its microfilmed companion, Alaska Quaker Documents, constitute a definitive study in Northwest church history. With a doctorate from Boston University, he teaches religion and philosophy at George Fox College. He has been active in Northwest Yearly Meeting and various Quaker movements such as the Association of Evangelical Friends, Friends World Committee for Consultation, QTDC, and the Faith and Life Panel.

Sandra Cronk, a sojourning member of Middletown (Penna.) Meeting whose home Meeting is Princeton (N.J.), is currently teaching Quaker faith and practice and the devotional life at Pendle Hill. A Ph.D. in the history of religions from the Divinity School of the University of Chicago, she is active on Philadelphia Yearly Meeting's Committee on Worship and Ministry, and the Philadelphia area New Call to Peacemaking.
