CONTRIBUTORS

MARGERY POST ABBOTT is a released Friend currently writing and traveling in the ministry, with the support of Multnomah Monthly Meeting in Portland, Oregon. She has published widely, including her 2010 book, To Be Broken and Tender and co-editing the Historical Dictionary of the Friends (2012). Her writings carry a concern for the whole of the Religious Society of Friends, and she works to engage Friends of all traditions. Her concern for making Friends' voice heard more widely in the world takes her regularly to Washington, DC, where she has served as presiding clerk of Friends Committee on National Legislation. She regularly offers workshops on discernment, support and clearness committees, and prophetic ministry among Friends.

PAUL ANDERSON is Professor of Biblical and Quaker Studies at George Fox University and Extraordinary Professor of Religion at the North-West University of Potchefstroom University of South Africa. His contextual introduction to the New Testament, From Crisis to Christ, is now available with Abingdon (2014), and Paul has co-edited the third volume of John, Jesus, and History: Glimpses of Jesus Through the Johannine Lens (2015). Paul's new forward to Elton Trueblood's A Place to Stand makes it available to new audiences (2014), and he is the editor of the new Quakers and the Disciplines Series with FAHE.

STEPHEN W. ANGELL teaches Quaker Studies at the Earlham School of Religion. He lives in Richmond, Indiana, with his wife Sandra and two cats, and he is a member of Oxford Friends Meeting in Oxford, Ohio. Two highlights of his summer of 2015 have been teaching Quaker Studies courses at the Cuban Quaker Institute for Peace in Gibara, Cuba, and at Woodbrooke Quaker Study Center in Birmingham, England. He also attended the first graduation ceremony for the Cuban Quaker Institute for Peace in May, as 16 Cuban Friends graduated with certificates in Quaker Studies or Peace Building.

MICHAEL BIRKEL is a member of Clear Creek Friends Meeting in Richmond, Indiana, and teaches in the Religion Department at Earlham College. His research and writing has focused on Quaker history and spirituality. Michael has also been active in interreligious dialogue, and his most recent book, Qur'an in Conversation, grew out of that concern.

SUSAN JEFFERS is a member of Ann Arbor Friends Meeting (LEYM, FGC). Toward the end of a varied business career, she undertook a study of the Bible and early Friends' writings, and encountered the living Christ. She completed an MA in Biblical Studies at the Earlham School of Religion (1999), and taught Bible, Quaker Studies and New Testament Greek as adjunct faculty for a number of institutions, mostly online.

DAVID JOHNS taught theology for twelve years at the Earlham School of Religion and before that was on the faculty at Wilmington College. He is now Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of the College at Union College in Kentucky. David is the author of Quakering Theology (Ashgate, 2013), a contributor to the Oxford Handbook of Quaker Studies (2013), and the editor of The Collected Essays of Maurice Creasey (Edwin Mellen, 2011).

JON R. KERSHNER has a Ph.D. in theology and has taught on Quakerism and theology for Barclay College, University of Lancaster, and Earlham School of Religion. He has authored several articles and book chapters on Woolman and other topics. He lives in Seattle with his wife, Jessica, and daughter, Lucy, where they attend North Seattle Friends Church.

RUTH PITMAN is a lifelong Friend of the Conservative persuasion. She majored in math at Earlham College and in German at the University of Nebraska and the University of Toronto. She grew up in Philadelphia and now lives in Ohio. She has written for QRT from time to time since the 1960's.

CAROLE DALE SPENCER, PhD. is Associate Professor of Christian Spirituality at Earlham School of Religion. She is the author of Holiness: The Soul of Quakerism, and many articles on Quaker history, theology, and spirituality. She is a member of Reedwood Friends Church in Portland Oregon, and a recorded minister in Northwest Yearly Meeting. She has four sons and nine grandchildren. She loves hiking in the Pacific Northwest, photography, and art.
