CONTRIBUTORS

JEFFREY DUDIAK is Professor of Philosophy at The King's University in Edmonton, Canada, and adjunct Professor of Philosophy at the University of Alberta. He has been the Cadbury Scholar at Pendle Hill and has served as clerk of the Friends Association for Higher Education. His book on the relationship between Quakerism and Christianity, Radicalizing Spirit, was published by Friends United Press in 2015.

RHIANNON GRANT is a life-long Quaker who currently worships with Bournville Meeting, just down the road from where she works at Woodbrooke, the Quaker Study Centre in Birmingham, UK. Her academic work includes projects on Quaker ways of speaking about God, changing Quaker practices such as the use of 'afterwords', topics in philosophy and religion such as understandings of multiple religious belonging, and feminist and queer approaches to religion. Her hobbies include reading, writing, gardening, arguing about superhero films, researching British prehistory, and participating in Quaker committees.

JON R. KERSHNER teaches theology and church history at Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma, WA, and Quaker Studies at Lancaster University (UK). He has published on John Woolman, Quaker theology, and global Quakerism. His book on the theology of John Woolman (1720-1772), John Woolman and the Government of Christ: A Colonial Quaker's Vision for the British Atlantic World, is published through Oxford University Press (2018). He is co-chair of the Quaker Studies Program Unit at the American Academy of Religion and editor of Quaker Religious Thought. He is a member at North Seattle Friends Church.

ROBIN MOHR has served as Executive Secretary of the Friends World Committee for Consultation Section of the Americas since 2011. Until taking this position, she was a member of San Francisco Monthly Meeting in Pacific Yearly Meeting. She and her husband Christopher are now members of Green Street Monthly Meeting in Philadelphia YM, and they have two children, in high school and college. She holds a Bachelor of Science of Foreign Service from Georgetown University. She frequently writes for Quaker magazines, books and her own blog, What Canst Thou Say? robinmsf.blogspot.com.

LORRAINE WATSON is a life-long Quaker and is the pastor of North Seattle Friends Church. Lorraine grew up in Northwest Yearly Meeting and is currently in the process of leaving the yearly meeting and working with others to create Sierra-Cascades Yearly Meeting of Friends. Lorraine has a BA in Biology from George Fox College, which led to a career as a Medical Technologist. After 20 years, she returned to school and received a MA from Western Evangelical Seminary. Her passion is being a people of God that listen deeply for God's leadings and are courageous in living out those leadings.
