GFC WOMEN OPEN VOLLEYBALL SEASON

Losing their first contest due to "first game jitters" last week, the George Fox womens volleyball team, "will do much better than last year," Coach Marge Weesner predicts.

She sees a good season for the 17-member volleyball team with the returners and the new turnouts.

Coach Weesner said this year's freshman are about the best group of frosh talent to appear in several years.

Among the returners the womens coach is expecting things from is Kathy King, an elementary education major from Banks, Ore. She is listed as a good scorer for the GFC team with good serving ability. Lori Dworschak, a freshman from Molalla, Ore., and Mary Ann Mason from Shady Cove, Ore., also have good serving ability.

Co-captains for this year are Mona Barnett, Newberg, and Elaine Rhodes, Sherwood. Miss Barnett is a returning sophomore whose improvement will be an asset to the team. The other captain is a consistent scorer for the Bruin team who scored a total of 12 points at the game last Wednesday.

In the first contest, a double header at Willamette, the GFC women played Mt. Hood and Lewis and Clark Colleges.

The team had problems because of the tenseness and nervousness that season openers often bring. Towards the end of the second game the gals got it together giving Mt. Hood a contest. But they couldn't pull it out, losing 15-12.

Coming up for the Bruin team is the Willamette Invitational Friday and Saturday (Oct. 17-18) in Salem. The tourney will start at 6:00 Friday evening when GFC will play a round robin consisting of three matches. Saturday the two matches played will determine
