GEORGE FOX TO ADD SOCCER TO NAIA PROGRAM

George Fox College, without a major fall sport since the college dropped football in 1968, will add soccer as a full NAIA sport beginning this fall.

The Bruins will play an eight-game slate in the Oregon Intercollegiate Soccer Association leading to NAIA playoffs, according to George Fox Athletic Director Sam Willard. The college has been accepted into the OISA, Willard said.

At the same time Willard announced the hiring of former collegiate soccer All-American Doug McKenna to become the Bruins first coach.

McKenna, who played at Seattle Pacific College for four years, was named a Northwest Intercollegiate Soccer Conference All-Star both his sophomore and junior years and to the All-Far West Team with All-American standing as a junior.

Three times the SPC Falcons went to the NCAA Division 2 West Coast Regionals and in 1974 were national runners-up. McKenna, who injured his knee in the seventh game of his senior year, was captain of his team both as a junior and senior.

The new GFC soccer leader, a center and midfielder, holds two SPC school records: most goals in a single game with four, and most assists in a single game at three.

McKenna currently is recruiting his first team while finishing a doctorate in psychology at the University of Minnesota, to be received in August.

George Fox will play in a nine-member Northern Conference of the OISA. The sport will not be entirely new at the college.

For the last three seasons George Fox has formed a club team, competing with city and community and small college teams. Two years ago the Bruins were 9-1 and last fall produced a 6-1-1 record.

And the beginning of soccer will actually be a reinstatement after more than four decades of absence. During the late 1920's soccer was a major sport and in 1929 the college's soccer team was rated "highest in the Northwest," scored upon only once during the season. In three years the teams lost only one game, scoring 28 points to 6 by opponents.

Colcord Field, adjacent to the college's new sports center and former home of football squads will serve as the soccer field.

The return to a fall sport has been a goal of the college since it dropped football with a plan to improve the intercollegiate college picture overall. College board and administrators at that time put an increased emphasis on basketball with a goal of making the Bruins among the best in NAIA District 2. George Fox has been in the NAIA District 2 playoffs six of the last seven years, last year with a 20-8 mark, the best in the school's history.

The plan was then to bring other sports to the same level. Last spring George Fox was second in the NAIA district championships in track. Three team members went to the NAIA nationals with one, Steve Blikstad, second in the nation in the steeplechase.

The emphasis is now going to soccer with McKenna saying he plans to use his alma mater as "my model." Seattle Pacific took its team from a first-year venture to national title contender in a five-year period.

"I hope we can move as quickly as they did," McKenna says. "I think we can get some good athletes, and I'm willing to work with them to develop a strong program."

George Fox's first-year schedule is Clackamas Community, Oct. 1; University of Portland, Oct. 8; Reed College, Oct. 15; Pacific University, Oct. 19; Portland Community, Oct. 22; Judson Baptist, Oct. 26; Warner Pacific, Nov. 5, and Lewis and Clark still to be determined.

Other members of the OISA are Linfield, Willamette, Western Baptist, Oregon College of Education, Oregon State, University of Oregon, Lane Community College, Southern Oregon State, and Oregon Tech.

GFC FALL SPORT ATHLETES HONORED

Eleven George Fox College athletes have been honored for their participation in Bruin fall sports.

Five men were singled out for their efforts in cross country and soccer and six women for honors in volleyball and field hockey.

Dave Molstad, who helped the Bruins to the NAIA District 2 cross country championship and a national 22nd place finish, was named team captain for the harriers. He is a senior, from Baker, Mont.

Tim Rochholz, a junior from Wichita, Kansas, was tabbed Most Inspirational, and Clair Thomas, a Quincy, Wash., senior, was voted Most Improved.

In soccer, Rod Williams, junior, Milwaukie, was selected Most Valuable and Butch Hart, a Salem, junior, was given the Most Inspirational Award.

The Most Valuable in field hockey was Jeanette Myers, a senior from Roseburg. Kelley Davidson, sophomore, Lincoln City, was named Most Improved.

- more -

Volleyball honors include Most Valuable to Joni Snyder, a junior from Dundee; Most Inspirational to Jean Frost, a freshman from Arlington; and Most Improved to Tari Bates, a freshman from Portland.

Awards were conferred by a vote of team members and presented by the respective coaches of each sport at an awards dessert in Newberg.

BRUINS WIN FIRST SOCCER MATCH

George Fox College won its first game in NAIA competition Friday (Oct. 28) downing Concordia College 4-1.

The Bruins also dropped matches Wednesday and Saturday to Judson Baptist (4-1) and Lewis and Clark (9-0).

Butch Hart, substitute goaltender for injured Bruin John Bellamy received praise from coach Doug McKenna. George Fox played last week under a handicap of losing four players to ineligibility, three starters for the squad in its first year of official competition.

George Fox travels to Portland Saturday to meet Warner Pacific. Game time is 1 p.m.

Sam

Met with Doug McKenna today. Showed him through the new gym, got biographical data on his soccer career, then we talked for about a half hour on his plans, needs, etc.

There are several things he wanted me to relay to you.

1. He is in favor of taking down the football goal posts.

The field needs to be 110 ~~feet~~ long and a minimum of 50 wide

He would like the width as large as possible, about two-yards from the curb. This means the track storage needs to be moved during soccer season.

2. How about soccer goals. Do we use the ones on the field now? How are they to be anchored? How about nets?

3. He is concerned about uniforms. As he remembers it you told him he will need to order new ones. Is this right? He would like to make plans now (this summer) if he is to do the ordering. He also wants to know if you have a supplier you prefer.

4. He will need a minimum of 12 soccer balls for practice. We could only find two in storage.

5. He would ~~very~~ much like to start a practice camp. He says you should proceed to try to cancel or postpone the opening game with Lewis and Clark, but he is willing to try to play the second game on Oct. 1. Since the last week of September is Mini-term week we are wondering if he could not have players staying in the dorms and eating in the commons since they will be open this week anyway.

He needs an answer soon so he knows what to plan on.

6. He would like to write a letter to all incoming and returning male students telling about the new soccer program, saying he is interested in anyone who has played on an athletic team in high school, even if they have had no previous background in soccer. He is willing to train them. He will write the letter if you will approve it being sent and I handle the mailing and printing, etc..

He's a great guy. Can hardly wait to get started, and hopes he can take the soccer program to the level of the basketball program and within a couple of years. That's what SPC did and that's his background. Sounds good!

His going back to Minnesota, then will return about the first of Sept, for a stop, then will be back for the camp and faculty workshop.

Barry

BRUINS START FIRST SOCCER SEASON

"Much better than expected," is George Fox College soccer coach Doug McKenna's quick assessment of his squad as the Bruins begin practice for their initial year in full college competition.

McKenna Monday greeted 18 players with three more expected by week's end as the Bruins ready for their first game Saturday against Clackamas Community College.

McKenna, after just a day of observation of his team, says the strength, surprisingly, may be in scoring. "Our front line is very strong, and should have some scoring punch," he says.

That's expected to come from returning senior Amadu Koroma who has played for the Bruins' club-level organization. Koroma, a 9.8 100-yard dash man, is quick and skilled, McKenna says. He's expected to be paired with 5-7 Tim Sherman, also timed at 9.8 in the 100. Sherman is a freshman from San Jose, Calif., and will play wing opposite Koroma.

McKenna, a former NCAA All-American when he played for Seattle Pacific, also is impressed by another returner, Rod Williamson, a junior from Milwaukie. He'll be a central defender for the Bruins after gaining experience the last two years when the Bruin club-level team finished 9-1 and 6-1-1.

BRUINS DROP SOCCER OPENER

"Even toward the end of the game the guys didn't let down," says George Fox soccer coach Doug McKenna. "They were aggressive, but Portland took advantage of those first-game errors."

That was McKenna's assessment after the soccer Bruins dropped their first match of the season Saturday, 10-0 to a strong University of Portland squad that leads the Oregon Collegiate Soccer Association.

"It was a matter of a strong team in the peak of its season (the Pilots are 11-4-1 on the year) against a first-year squad in its first game," McKenna added.

Saturday (Oct. 15) George Fox will match up with Reed College with McKenna expecting different results in the 2 p.m. contest in Portland. That's partially to some refinements in the line-up. Speedy Anadu Koroma, a returnee from last year's club, will move to center forward in order to more effectively utilize his speed and ball control. Veteran Milwaukee junior Bud Williamson will assume the important center midfield duties.

McKenna, in his first year of college soccer coaching, says he's looking for a fast-moving game Saturday because both teams play aggressively.

GEORGE FOX SCHEDULES FIRST SOCCER GAME SECOND TIME

George Fox College Saturday (Oct. 8) will play its "first" soccer game of the season for the second time.

The Bruins will meet the University of Portland Pilots in a conference match in Newberg.

Last Saturday the Bruins travelled to Canby for a scheduled Oregon Intercollegiate Soccer Association match, only to learn that Clackamas Community College had cancelled the contest. Game officials also had not been notified, so the match was declared a forfeit to the Bruins.

George Fox Coach Doug McKenna expressed disappointment at the cancellation, but is looking forward to the October 8 University of Portland match.

"We will be at a disadvantage," McKenna says. "They (the Pilots) have gotten off to a good start with several games behind them already." Portland coach Dennis O'Meara says, "We're looking forward to playing George Fox--they have a good soccer background."

The Pilots boast a 9-4-1 record so far, as well as a perfect 2-0 conference mark. Last weekend they captured top honors at the Portland area Cosmopolitan Soccer Tournament.

Game time at Colcord Field in Newberg Saturday is 2 p.m.

PACIFIC SOCCER PLAYERS FACE TOUGH WEEK

Pacific University's soccer team, 1-3 in OISA action so far this season, face a pair of must-win contests this week.

The Mozafar Behrooznia-coached Boxers entertain Portland Community College ~~Monday~~ evening and George Fox College Wednesday, and Behrooznia gives his squad a good chance of winning both games.

"We are playing as a unit right now," Behrooznia says, "and I think we are ready to play just about anyone."

The Boxers tuned up for this week's schedule with a 2-1 win over the Forest Grove Condors of the Willamette Soccer League last week. Firous Farivar and Mike Cardoni scored for Pacific.

Asked to single out individuals he thought were playing particularly well, Behrooznia answered this way: "I'd like to praise the entire team. All their hard work is beginning to pay off, and it's nice to see."

SOCCER BRUINS BOW TO PORTLAND COMMUNITY

George Fox College's young soccer team, under the direction of rookie coach Doug McKenna, dropped a 6-0 decision to Portland Community College Saturday (Oct. 21) in Newberg.

McKenna thinks the score is deceptive. First of all, PCC is one of the top three teams in the Oregon Intercollegiate Soccer Association, according to McKenna, and three of the six PCC goals were "own-goals" or, goals for PCC scored by George Fox defensive players by mistake.

The third positive factor McKenna draws from the game is the Bruins holding PCC scoreless in the second half, apart from one "own-goal."

"John Bellamy is improving rapidly," McKenna says, "he is on the way to becoming a top goalie."

"Amadu Koroma also had a good game," he added.

Wednesday, the Bruins were to travel to Portland to meet Judson Baptist. George Fox hosts Lewis and Clark at home Saturday (Oct. 29). Game time is 2 p.m.
