THE EVERGREEN 1954
PREPARES THE MINISTRY
BY LEARNING
Several advances were made this year in the library. Provision for part-time graduate study for the librarian and the increasing demands in the library necessitated addition of an assistant. Mrs. Almon White, who has had previous experience in public and school libraries in Ohio and Iowa, gave competent help in this position.

Both the number of total volumes in the library and the total of cataloged books were enlarged this year. In the periodical section a number of new subscriptions were added especially in the Christian Education department. Additional shelving was built for both the library and the WES Book Store, which are operated co-operatively. The vacating of the administrative offices in Koehler Building afforded much needed space for the expansion of the library and the book store.

The future vision for the library lies in a rapid crystallization of plans for a new building adjacent to the administrative offices.

It would be difficult to imagine a parsonage where there lived a good minister of the Gospel without imagining as well the faithful minister's wife who is a constant source of spiritual strength to him. WES has recognized the responsibility of the pastor's wife and has done all in its power to help her become a better one. It is the concern of all that the women of the Seminary might be thoroughly saved, sanctified, and established in their faith. The WES Women's Organization has been formed for this purpose. Truly through this group the bond of fellowship between the Seminary women is strengthened and their lives are enriched.

The activities of the Seminary Women this year were quite extensive—one of the highlights being in the fall when the group traveled to Trout Creek Camp for their two-day retreat. The spiritual blessings received there shall never be forgotten. At the monthly meetings of the group, various speakers are invited to speak who will help meet the problems often arising for the pastor's wife or other women in full-time service. A definite missionary emphasis is made at some meetings. The membership includes wives of students and faculty members, women students, and the women within the Seminary staff. Officers for the year were Margaret Ritter, President; Mary Lindahl, Vice-President; Eleanor Day, Recording Secretary; Joan Swift, Corresponding Secretary; Bethel Kienitz, Treasurer; and Mrs. Kenneth Wesche, Advisor.

Perhaps the outstanding opportunity of the year came to the Seminary Women through the gracious offering by the faculty of the courses in Bible Study, Theology and Christian Education. Dr. Wesche, Dr. Fuhrman and Dr. Byrne were willing to give generously of their time for the classes which met on Monday evenings. The knowledge received and spiritual establishment gained will be of great help in some of the future parsonages of the world.

Mrs. Charles Ritter, President
From a spiritual standpoint, the year 1953-54 was a high one in the lives of both students and faculty of WES. The annual Fall Retreat is a time when both students and faculty draw aside for two days of spiritual and physical refreshing. This year we went to Trout Creek Camp, where inspiring messages by Dr. Mueller and much good physical recreation enabled us to start the school year off in a real spiritual way. With the start of the Fall Retreat, right on down to the Doctrinal Emphasis Week, the Lord truly met the spiritual needs of the students and faculty alike. It is remarkable to see how the Lord has provided for WES, both spiritually and materially this year. We believe that the steady stream of prayer from noon-day prayer meetings and the regular Thursday evening prayer meetings had no small part in such great blessings this year. We have found that God is faithful to those who are faithful to Him. May we hold steady, and keep God's blessing upon WES in the years to come.

P. H. Pike
In their white coats and maroon bow ties, this group stepped out on the platform of many churches during the past year to represent WES to people in Northwest Canada, Washington, Oregon and California. They preached the gospel through negro spirituals, great hymns of the church and other sacred numbers to many different denominations. The eighteen men also gave the testimony of their own Christian experiences. Concerts were sung as far north as Chilliwack, British Columbia, and as far south as Long Beach, California. Youth for Christ, Brotherhood groups, Youth Rallies, banquet, revival meetings and local churches all were inspired by the Seminaires. The group's director, Rev. Roy P. Clark, Th.B., A.B., is widely known as "The Preacher at the Piano," broadcasting nightly over KVAN, Vancouver, Washington.

During and after the Christmas holidays, the Seminaires made a nineteen-concert tour of southern Oregon and California. Another trip was made into northwest Canada over the weekend of April 23 to 26. Nearly every Sunday afternoon and some Thursday nights have seen the Seminaires gathering in their cars and traveling to sing for banquets and in local churches. A total of fifty concerts were sung by the group during the year.

The objectives of the Seminaires is to present the gospel through word and song and to acquaint people of the holiness churches with the work and needs of Western Evangelical Seminary.
STUDENT LIFE
PERSONNEL
Christian or pagan, every generation receives a heritage.

An American heritage is basically Christian, although it is sometimes only traditionally so. Too many times the adult realizes too late the kind of heritage that is being passed on from his generation to the next.

The Christian has the privilege and responsibility of passing on the heritage that will perpetuate the fundamentals of the Christian Faith. The earlier in life this fact is realized the more beneficial the heritage should be.

WES has a part in this heritage since the Seminary has the responsibility of training full time Christian workers. Therefore, WES must be at its best in providing an adequate Bible-centered, life-related training for ministerial students.

To this end WES is committed with seven full-time and three part-time members of the faculty and staff. If Christianity is to be vital in the next generation it must be just as vital in the present one.

That the next generation might become heir to a theology that can lead to a vital experience of salvation, WES is committed to pass on the principles of that salvation through its teaching ministry and example.
KENNETH P. WESCHE, M.A., B.D., D.D.
Dean-Registrar, Professor of English
Bible and Missions
Dr. Wesche was principal of the Tientsin Bible Seminary in North China for nearly ten years, and a professor at Asbury Theological Seminary from 1941-1946. He came to the faculty of WES in the fall of 1949.

HERMAN E. MUELLER, B.D., Litt.D.
Professor of Biblical Literature and Practical Theology
Dr. Mueller served seventeen years as Conference superintendent in the Minnesota Conference of the EUB church. He has had wide experience as pastor, administrator, and educator before coming to WES in 1947.

ELDON R. FUHRMAN, A.B., B.D., D.D.
Professor of Theology
Dr. Fuhrman's experience as an evangelist, his thorough scholarship and practical spiritual emphasis, has enabled him to make an outstanding contribution to WES. He came to the faculty of WES in December, 1951.

HERBERT W. Byrne, M.S., B.D., Ed.D.
Professor of Christian Education
Dr. Byrne received his Ed.D. degree from Bradley University, June, 1952. His experience in the pastorate and evangelism has given him an excellent background for a practical teaching ministry.
NOBEL V. SACK, A.B., S.T.B.
Professor of Church History
Prof. Sack came to WES as a part-time instructor in the fall of 1952. He has completed all resident work for the Th.D. degree. His contribution as a faculty member is enriched by his experience as a pastor, chaplain and college professor.

ROY P. CLARK, Th.B., A.B.
Professor of Music
Prof. Clark came to WES in the spring of 1952 as a part-time faculty member. He is now completing his Masters degree in music. His varied background of musical training, his college and church experience in directing, his popularity in radio programs and production makes him a vital asset to the Seminary.

PAUL HUDSON WOOD, M.A., Ed.D.
Professor Speech
Dr. Wood came to WES as a part-time instructor in the spring of 1949. His eminently successful ministry in the pastorate and evangelistic field over a quarter of a century makes him a valuable member of the faculty.

BETTY C. FUHRMAN, A.B.
Librarian
Miss Fuhrman did graduate work at Asbury Theological Seminary and had practical experience in library work before coming to WES in the fall of 1950. She is now completing the Masters degree in Library Science.

GLADYS AYERS
Secretary
Miss Ayers is highly trained as a secretary and has successfully worked in both religious and professional circles. She came to WES in July, 1952.
