ABOUT GEORGE FOX COLLEGE

George Fox College is the outgrowth of a desire by early Willamette Valley Quaker settlers who established Pacific Academy in 1885 for the Christian education of their children. The college division was organized in 1891 to provide more advanced instruction for students. In 1949, because of the many colleges in the Northwest with Pacific in their name, the College was renamed George Fox in honor of the founder of the Friends (Quaker) Church. The College is governed by a 42-member Board of Trustees elected by Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church, which comprises more than 8,000 members in 57 churches in Oregon, Washington, and Idaho.

The 60-acre rural, tree-shaded campus a half-hour drive from Portland has undergone major expansion in the last eight years with nine new buildings constructed at a total investment of nearly $10 million. The new facilities include a $2.7 million sports complex, an $800,000 academic building, two residence halls in a $1.25 million project, a $1.3 million fine arts/religion center, a $170,000 television center, a $520,000 dining commons/student center expansion, a $320,000 residence hall, and a $2.6 million chapel/auditorium opened in the fall of 1982. A new $100,000 all-weather track has been added, along with a new athletic field complex including baseball field, two softball diamonds and soccer field, completed in 1981.

College enrollment is 600.

Accredited by the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools, the College offers 27 majors in six divisions: Education, Fine and Applied Arts, Language Arts, Natural Science, Religion, and Social Science. George Fox is one of 13 members of the national Christian College Consortium. The College has a student-faculty ratio of 15/1.

George Fox students come from 16 states and 4 foreign countries. Nearly 40 religious denominations are represented on campus.

Alumni of George Fox are primarily in service-oriented vocations of Christian ministries, education, social work, and medical fields. The College's most prominent alumnus is the late President Herbert Hoover, who attended Pacific Academy.

GFC ATHLETICS

Intercollegiate athletics is an integral part of the overall education program at George Fox. Men's varsity athletic teams represent the College in baseball, basketball, track, cross country, and soccer. Women students compete in volleyball, basketball, track, softball, and cross country.

George Fox College competes as an independent on the varsity level. Its schedules are coordinated with the Northwest Conference and with other independents in the Northwest. George Fox is a member of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA), District 2, and the National Christian College Athletic Association, Region 8.

For students not participating in the varsity program, GFC has a complete intramural program including flag football, basketball, and volleyball.

Athletic facilities include the Coleman H. Wheeler Center for Sports and Physical Education; Colcord Field, which includes a football/soccer field and new all-weather rubberized track; and tennis courts. A new athletic field complex containing baseball diamond, two softball fields, soccer field, and archery range was completed in 1981.

Wheeler Center, completed in 1977 in a $2.7 million project, includes the James and Lila Miller Gymnasium with three basketball courts and seating for up to 2,500; multipurpose, class, and weight rooms; faculty and administrative offices; handball courts; dressing and therapy rooms.

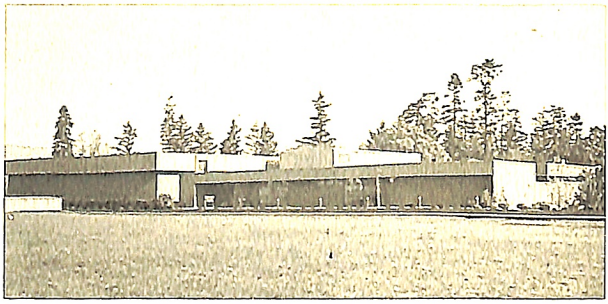
THE BRUIN NICKNAME

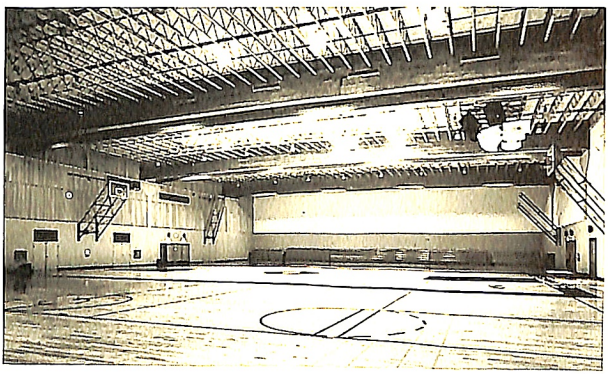
George Fox College is represented by the nickname and mascot "Bruin." But it's not always been so, even though it should have been.

The nickname comes from a real bear captured in 1887 just two years after Pacific Academy (the College's predecessor) was established. The small cub was captured in the coast range foothills west of Carlton when its mother was shot. The young cub was brought to campus by a student and later lived with a faculty member. When it grew to adulthood it was kept in a pit in what is now known as Hess Creek Canyon south of the campus. It escaped one too many times and was turned into steak for the dining table and the hide preserved on a frame and displayed in an early campus museum. When it deteriorated several years later, it was taken to a campus furnace room to be destroyed, but the framework proved a problem in dismantling, so it was left sitting in a corner. Students found the old Bruin skin later and began skirmishes over ownership, a tradition that continues 99 years later. "Bruin Junior," a replica, under a set of guidelines passed down for years, is fought over periodically in class competition, with the class able to physically drag the Bruin replica off campus declared the rightful owner until next "flashed."

Even with the Bruin tradition, somewhere along the line, the "Quaker" tag to athletic teams came into popularity with sports writers because of the College's church affiliation, and that nickname was used, along with a mascot "Foxy George," a little fox with a Quaker hat. Both gained acceptance for a period in the 1950s and 1960s until a vote of faculty, students, and administration in 1970 reinstated the Bruin nickname to its rightful place.

THIS IS WHERE THE GAME IS PLAYED





George Fox College is in its ninth year in the Coleman H. Wheeler Center for Sports and Physical Education. Completed in June 1977, the $2.7 million, 55,000-square-foot complex is the College's largest building. It contains the James and Lila Miller Gymnasium, the Bruin home court.

The sports center was designed by noted architect Pietro Belluschi, with a wooded canyon setting chosen as the center's location. The building features wood products and a large window area overlooking the adjacent natural terrain.

Three times larger than Hester Gymnasium, which it replaced, the Wheeler Center features a 116 x 174-foot gymnasium with three basketball courts and seating for 2,500 spectators. The gymnasium ceilings are 32 feet over the hardwood maple floor. The gym provides three volleyball courts and five badminton courts.

The building is entered on two levels – ground level on the east side through the nine doors for the general public and after crossing a 200-foot bridge; and on the second floor on the west side for campus personnel. There is a two-floor lobby featuring oak parquet floors.

Contained on the upper level are athletic administration and faculty offices, staff room, and class, weight, and multipurpose rooms.

The lower level contains a concession area and ticket sales area, dressing rooms, team rooms, laundry, equipment-issuing room, and storage space. An east wing of the building houses two handball courts.

The building is named for long-time Oregon lumberman Coleman H. Wheeler, former chairman of the board of Willamette Industries. The gymnasium is named for board member James Miller and his wife, Lila. He is the former president of Cascadia Lumber Co. The building was dedicated Oct. 17, 1977.

1984-85 HIGHLIGHTS

The superlatives come easy – 1984-85 was George Fox College's best season ever. What's not so easy is to adequately describe all that was accomplished by a team that went 27-7, set 24 school records, produced regional and national honors for the participants, hosted an NAIA District 2 playoff contest for the first time ever, and garnered third in the National Christian College Athletic Association national championships.

GFC was Oregon's top NAIA college. It was a team that produced more wins than any college in Oregon during the year. It was a team that never lost at home – 15 straight victories (17 over two years). Coach Mark Vernon's team not only won more games, but had the best winning percentage (.794), the fewest losses, the most points (2,668), the most free throws made (642) and attempted (874), the most assists (713), most steals (445), and best steal average (13.09).

In his third year of collegiate coaching Vernon was named NAIA District 2 basketball coach of the year and earned the same honors for NCCAA Region 8.

Honors also went to super soph Kenny Stone. The 6-6 forward, even as an underclassman, was named to the District 2 first team, headed the All-Northwest second team (with only upperclassmen on the first team), was named NCCAA regional player of the year and to the national NCCAA first team. He scored 17.2 points, collected 8.4 rebounds, and averaged 3.2 blocked shots a contest – once with eight in a single game. He moved out front as GFC's best shooter ever with a .579 career average.

Sophomore foward Curtis Kimbrough averaged a school-record 3.06 steals a game with 11 in one game. Junior guard Al Vasey moved his career assist average to 4.82 a game, the best average ever.

After falling to College of Idaho in the District 2 title game (leading most of the way but never going to the free throw line until the final minute), GFC marched through the NCCAA regional tourney to the national pairings, losing only to the eventual national champion (Point Loma) for a third place finish after victories over Olivet Nazarene College and Taylor University.

During the season the Bruins made a clean sweep of Northwest Conference foes with a perfect 7-0 record. Against other Christian colleges it was a 12-2 advantage. With Evergreen Conference and state schools the record was 5-2 for GFC, and with other schools it was 1-2 within district games.

A LOOK AT THE PAST

The game of basketball was invented by Dr. James Naismith in 1891, and it took just seven years for it to be brought to George Fox College (then called Pacific College).

College board member and community leader T. W. Hester and others first saw the game played at the Portland YMCA. They were captivated by the new game and secured a ball, which they brought back to the College. The first exhibition game was played shortly thereafter, in the winter of 1898, and the first site was the third floor of the old Commercial Hotel on North Main Street because the College had no adequate space for the new sport.

The first gymnasium on the campus was the upper part of one wing of an old academy building (Hoover Hall), built in 1885 and torn down in the mid-1950s. A one-room wood gymnasium building was constructed in 1916 and served until 1946, when the College opened Hester Gymnasium, a concrete block structure built partly by student/faculty labor at a cost of $40,000. The building, with a single hemlock playing floor and seating for 1,100, served through the 1976-77 season with opening of Wheeler Center.

College athletic affiliation in men's basketball over those years has gone from independent status to membership in the old Willamette Christian College Conference, the Metropolitan Conference, the Oregon Collegiate Conference, and back again to the present status as a major small college independent member of NAIA District 2 (joined in 1965). In 1973 George Fox was the district champion and has been in the district playoffs 11 of the last 15 years.

"Our greatest basketball year," according to a College publication, "The First Fifty Years" (published in 1941), "was reached in 1917 when Pacific College won the [Willamette Valley] league championship and defeated Oregon State College 34-25." There have, of course, been many significant wins, seasons, and players throughout the last 85 years. Much of that history, however, has been lost because of the lack of available information and incomplete records prior to NAIA membership in 1965. Highlights and records since that time appear on the following pages. Pre-NAIA statistics available show these marks: Bill Hopper with a 42-point game and 17 field goals, March 2, 1956, against the Greenleaf, Idaho, Town Team, and Cub Grimm in 1952-53 season with a 21.0 game average, and 26 free throws in a contest with the Oregon Medical School in 1953.

HOW IT LOOKS FOR 1985-86

What will the Bruins do for a follow-up for their best season ever?

Coach Mark Vernon says there will be no less effort to again reach that lofty perch that had the Bruins with the best record in Oregon/Washington small college action.

But the fourth-year coach cautions that the season record should not be used as a comparison to measure success this season. There is no question the Bruins may be even stronger in talent this year than last. But the Bruins also have a beefed-up schedule that puts them up against NCAA teams twice in early season and matched with NAIA District 1 power Central Washington also twice in early going. And the schedule calls for this year's Bruins to be on the road 13 of their first 15 games.

The Bruins do have players that have Vernon saying "the talent is really here – I'm excited about the type of people we have."

Although admitting his Bruins may be one of the favored teams in the district, Vernon stresses the squad must stay away from major injury to keep the prospect for a good season. "We're not extremely deep," Vernon notes. But talent there is: To four returning starters, George Fox has added a collection of newcomers – all MVP's of their district, or all-league choices.

By description the 1985-86 Bruins will feature intense pressure defense, something that is almost a tradition with Vernon. And the Bruins will be a quick team. It will be a fast-breaking squad that will make use of excellent passing that involves some of the top returning assist leaders in the district. The Bruins should be as high a scoring team as a year ago.

Outside shooting should be improved over last year with the addition of center Mike Redmond and the emergence of Eric Lautenbach. The team will have a good chemistry of outside shooting and strong inside play.

Obviously perhaps, they will be built around All-District and All-American Kenny Stone, the district's top returning player who averaged 17.2 points and 8.4 rebounds a game last year as a sophomore. The other key to Bruin success is junior forward Curtis Kimbrough, one of the most underrated players in the district, relied upon by the Bruins for rebounding, defensive skills, scoring power, and steals. They'll be assisted, literally, by senior guard Al Vasey, who has the best career assist average ever for a Bruin (4.82) and senior guard Les Harrison, who produced a team-high 4.5 assists a game last year.

Then there's transfer guard Toby Long, who averaged 16.5 points a game and was MVP of Washington Community College Region 3. Mike Redmond, who averaged 18 points a game last year, is a former MVP for Region 1 (Highline Community).

Stating that his goal is to be in the top four for reaching a district playoff game, Vernon says all in all "it should be a fun year."

COACH MARK VERNON

Mark S. Vernon is the current NAIA District 2 Coach of the Year. He holds the same honor for the National Christian College Athletic Association Region 8.

Vernon, the youngest coach in the district at the time, won the honors last year based on George Fox College's 27-7 record, best in the school's history, and a record that made it Oregon's winningest college in basketball – at any level – last season.

Now in his fourth year of collegiate coaching, all at GFC, Vernon, 32, has a longer tie with the Bruins. He came to the College in 1975 as a student and basketball player. Upon completion of his eligibility he remained with GFC as an assistant for three years (1977-78, 79-80, and 81-82).

With the departure of Sam Willard as coach, the College began a six-week nationwide search that started with more than 70 names. In the end, the search committee found the new Bruin coach they were looking for was already on campus. Vernon was named in May 1982. In his first season the Bruins were 15-16, in tenth place in NAIA District 2, up from 16th the year before. The next year the Bruins were 17-12 and in fifth slot. Last year it was 27-7 and GFC was second.

A 1977 George Fox graduate, Vernon, as a senior, was named the College's Outstanding Physical Education Major. The same year he was named George Fox's Outstanding Young Person in Teacher Education by Phi Delta Kappa, a national professional educators society.

In the fall of 1981 Vernon joined the GFC physical education faculty as women's volleyball coach, women's tennis coach, and basketball assistant, along with teaching assignments and supervision of the College's Wheeler Sports Center.

The new coach was assistant for the Bruins while working on a master's degree in physical education at Linfield College, with work completed in 1982. Vernon teaches physical education classes in addition to his coaching duty.

In 1981 Vernon led the volleyball Bruins to a 14-14 season, a turnaround from a 4-16 season the year before. In 1982 he took the women's tennis to a 9-1 record. Previously, on a part-time basis, Vernon served as women's softball coach in 1980 and 1981.

As a basketball Bruin, Vernon was a guard, establishing the Bruins' all-time career high average in assists (3.9) at that time. He was named the team's Most Inspirational Player by his teammates as a senior, a year the Bruins were 20-9. During Vernon's two years in a Bruin uniform his teams were 39-17, and Vernon compiled statistics that place him number 2 in the Value Point System, preceded only by All-American Paul Cozens.

Vernon also played one year at Highline Community College, Seattle, receiving both Best Defense and Hustle awards. He also played ball at West Seattle High School, where he was named Outstanding Athlete of the Year as a senior.

In addition to his basketball coaching at George Fox, Vernon assists with the summer Jack Ramsay basketball camps.

Vernon and his wife, Denise, 25, were married in August 1981. Returning to school last year after a couple of years out for work, she completed a degree in physical education. As a Lady Bruin in volleyball she helped her team to the National Christian College Athletic Association national title, named an All-American. Currently she is a dental assistant for Newberg dentist Lance Rosenau.

ASST. COACH STEVE GRANT

Steve Grant is in his fourth year with the Bruins, being named in 1982 to the George Fox physical education teaching faculty and to serve as men's basketball assistant and head women's volleyball coach.

Grant, 38, replaced Mark Vernon as Vernon stepped up to the head basketball position. The Bruin assistant is a 1969 graduate of Biola, where as a guard for the Eagles he was named Most Valuable both his junior and senior years. He then was named assistant basketball coach for two years, also assisting in soccer.

At Western Baptist in 1981-82, Grant coached the women's basketball team and was head men's soccer coach, guiding the Warriors to an 8-4-3 mark. Grant previously was at Salem Academy for 10 years. For nine years, until 1980, he guided the basketball Crusaders. He coached varsity baseball for five seasons, then varsity women's volleyball for five years, leading Salem Academy to the playoffs each of those years.

In his first season with the volleyball Bruins, Grant guided his squad to a 15-6 record and regional playoffs. In his second year it was 11-18. Last year it was 30-10 as George Fox won the National Christian College Athletic Association national championship in Chicago. Grant was named NCCAA national Coach of the Year as well as NAIA District 2 1984 Coach of the Year as his Lady Bruins finished third in district play.

This year the Lady Bruins were 16-18.

Grant and his wife, Kathleen, live in Salem. They have two children, Jeff, 13, and Bryan, 10.

ASST. COACH MATT MOUNT

Matt Mount enters the coaching ranks this year to become the new coach for the GFC jayvee basketball program and the second assistant to Coach Mark Vernon for the varsity squad.

A GFC senior majoring in physical education, Mount gives up his final year of college playing eligibilty to take the early coaching start.

Originally from Bainbridge Island, Wash., Mount, a 6-0 guard, played three years for Vernon and knows his system. Mount averaged 2.1 points a game last season, seeing action in 17 games. In high school he was an Olympic League Coaches' All-Star Team choice as a senior when his team went 20-4 and he averaged 16 points a game.

Mount, 22, wants to coach at AA or higher level after his graduation this spring. Meantime, he'll assist Vernon with varsity practices, in charting during the varsity games, and as the boss for the 12-man jayvee roster.

VALUE POINT SYSTEM

The Value Point System measures a player's overall effectiveness. It is computed by adding the points scored, plus rebounds, plus twice the number of assists, plus twice the number of steals. That figure is divided by the number received from adding twice the number of missed field goals, plus foul shots missed, plus twice the number of turnovers, plus twice the number of fouls.

BRUIN CABLE NETWORK

George Fox College basketball games are televised locally in Yamhill County on Liberty Cable Television Channel 7. The cooperative program with the George Fox College Video Center videotapes selected home games.

It is believed the George Fox program, founded in February, 1983, was the first small college program for broadcasting in Oregon.

Arrangements can be made for distribution of the game tapes to hometowns of opponent teams. Coordination of the Bruin Broadcasting Network is through the GFC Video Center, which supplies the production personnel and technicians. Primary announcers are Shaun McNay, a 1983 GFC grad, and Gene Christian, a 1985 grad. McNay is a GFC Admission counselor and Christian is GFC Alumni Director.

ON THE COVER

KENNY STONE, one of the best small college players in the Northwest, as a junior already is receiving many of the same accolades as previous NAIA District 2 MVP Randy Dunn, GFC's super senior two years back. Stone, named to the district's first team even as a sophomore, headed the All-Northwest second team last season with only seniors on the first squad. The Bruin "franchise," he led the Northwest last year in blocked shots. Details inside, page 15.
