ABOUT GEORGE FOX COLLEGE

George Fox College, in its 103rd year, is one of America's Best Colleges. Five times it has been given that designation by U.S. News & World Report magazine. In 1993 GFC was ranked third in academic reputation among Western Regional Liberal Arts Colleges, including colleges and universities from Oklahoma to Hawaii. The magazine this year also named George Fox to its list of "The Nation's Most Efficient Institutions," second in the West.

This year, for the fifth time, the College was named to the Templeton Foundation Honor Roll of Character Building Colleges, the only Oregon college selected and one of 112 in the United States.

George Fox College is the outgrowth of a desire by early Willamette Valley Quaker settlers who established Pacific Academy in 1885 for the Christian education of their children. The college division was organized in 1891 to provide more advanced instruction for students. In 1949, because of the many colleges in the Northwest with Pacific in their name, the College was renamed George Fox in honor of the founder of the Friends (Quaker) Church. The College is governed by a 42-member Board of Trustees elected by Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends Church, which comprises nearly 8,000 members in 53 churches in Oregon, Washington, and Idaho.

George Fox is one of the nation's fastest-growing colleges. Enrollment has risen from 549 in 1986 to 1,557 in the fall of 1993, a 184 percent increase.

GFC students come from 30 states, one possession, and 12 nations. Nearly 40 religious denominations are represented on campus.

GFC ATHLETICS

Intercollegiate athletics is an integral part of the overall education program at George Fox. Men's varsity athletic teams represent the College in baseball, basketball, track, cross country, and soccer. Women students compete in volleyball, basketball, track, softball, cross country, and soccer.

George Fox is a member of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA), with men's and women's basketball playing in Division II. The other nine sports are not divided into divisions, but are playing one final season in District 2. The NAIA will eliminate the district format in favor of affiliated conferences in 1994.

For students not participating in the varsity program, GFC has a complete intramural program including flag football, basketball, volleyball, racquetball, indoor soccer, skiing, swimming, bowling, floor hockey, and tennis.

Athletic facilities include the Coleman H. Wheeler Center for Sports and Physical Education; Colcord Field, which received a new polyurethane surface in the fall of 1993; tennis courts; and the Curtis and Margaret Morse Athletic Field containing baseball diamond, softball field, and soccer field. The complex was opened in 1989.

Wheeler Center, completed in 1977 in a $2.7 million project, includes the James and Lila Miller Gymnasium with three basketball courts and seating for up to 2,500. Also housed are: faculty and administrative offices; racquetball courts; dressing, multipurpose, class, and therapy rooms; and a 1,500-square-foot weight room remodeled in the summer of 1993.

TONIGHT'S GAME

Tonight, at the end of George Fox College's final exams, the Bruins face their first test in the Cascade Collegiate Conference.

Eastern Oregon State College enters the week 4-2, coming off an 87-70 loss to University of Portland Saturday (Dec. 11). The Mountaineers opened conference play last night at Concordia College. EOSC, under first year coach Art Furman, returns six lettermen off last year's 15-12 squad. The Mountaineers lead the NAIA series 32-31 and last season swept the Bruins 93-70 in La Grande and 85-74 in Newberg.

"It's important to get off to a fast start in conference play," says GFC head coach Mark Vernon. "Eastern is a very talented team. I hope we start playing better at home."

George Fox is 7-3, but in a bizarre season where GFC's heralded offense has been carried by its questioned defense, GFC is 6-1 on the road and just 1-2 at home. Case in point is the home and home split with Linfield College. GFC, on Nov. 26, won in McMinnville for the first time since 1988, but the Wildcats last Saturday repaid the Bruins with Linfield's first Newberg win since 1987.

Four of GFC's top seven players didn't practice the day before the game because of illness, but all showed up to keep GFC close for a half. After the break, the Wildcats erupted for 60 points in the second half to bury the Bruins 95-79.

"Being 7-3 right now, I'm pleased with our record," says Vernon. "But we still have a lot of room for improvement—especially offensively. We need to improve shot selection and rebounding if we're going to contend in the conference this year."

The Cascade Collegiate Conference is beginning its first year after NAIA District 2 was dissolved last season. For additional information on conference and national playoff format refer to the NAIA page in your program.

Jamie Boutin remains GFC's scoring leader, at 16.3 a game. He's shooting an even .500 from the field, 60 of 120.

With 22 regular season games remaining, it appears that George Fox's 3-point season records will be under fire. Both Nick Haij and Justin Paola have gunned up 77 3-pointers. Haij has put down 29 and Paola 24. Haij set GFC season records last year with 68 makes in 187 attempts.

Grant Hartenstein leads the Bruins with 6.3 assists and Nate Linman is averaging a team-high 7.4 rebounds.

The Bruins' next action comes at the Lewis & Clark Tournament Dec. 29-30 in Portland. GFC hosts three straight home games Jan. 6, 7 and 8.

COACH MARK VERNON

Mark Vernon not only is the winningest men's basketball coach in George Fox College history, but he also ranks among the winningest men's basketball coaches in NAIA Division II.

In the last 11 years, his Bruins have won 234 of their 350 games. In 1992, after George Fox returned from its second trip to an NAIA national tournament in three years, his career winning percentage ranked fifth among active Division II coaches.

Vernon's teams have averaged more than 21 wins a season and produced four NAIA All-Americans, and one academic All-American. He's become the only GFC coach to post a winning road record: His teams are 107-83 outside of Newberg.

His efforts have not gone unnoticed. In 1985, he was the youngest coach in NAIA District 2 when he was named men's basketball district Coach of the Year for the first time. He repeated in 1987 and 1991. He was named National Christian College Athletic Association National Coach of the Year in 1987.

Vernon, 40, has his entire collegiate coaching career at George Fox, but the tie with the Bruins is longer. He came to the College in 1975 as a student and basketball player. He transferred from Seattle's Highline Community College, where he received both Best Defense and Hustle awards. While at West Seattle High School, he was named Outstanding Athlete of the Year as a senior.

As a GFC guard, he established what was then the Bruins' highest career assist average (3.9). He was named Most Inspirational Player by his teammates his senior year, a year the Bruins were 20-9. In his two years in a GFC uniform, the Bruins were 39-17.

A 1977 graduate, Vernon was named GFC's Outstanding Physical Education Major and Outstanding Young Person in Teacher Education. He remained with GFC basketball as an assistant for three years (1977-78, 79-80 and 81-82), while working toward a 1982 master's degree in physical education at Linfield College.

In the fall of 1981, he joined the GFC physical education faculty as volleyball coach and women's tennis coach. Vernon teaches physical education classes in addition to his coaching.

Vernon and his wife, Denise, were married in August 1981 and have two sons: Brett, born June 19, 1991, and Brady, born July 17, 1993.

THIS IS WHERE THE GAME IS PLAYED

George Fox College is in its 17th year in the Coleman H. Wheeler Center for Sports and Physical Education. Completed in June 1977, the $2.7 million, 55,000-square-foot complex is the College's largest building. It contains the James and Lila Miller Gymnasium, the Bruin home court.

The sports center was designed by noted architect Pietro Beluschi, with a wooded canyon setting chosen as the center's location. The building features wood products and a large window area overlooking the adjacent natural terrain.

Wheeler Center features a 116 x 174-foot gymnasium with three basketball courts and seating for 2,500 spectators. The gymnasium ceilings are 32 feet over the hardwood maple floor. The gym provides three volleyball courts and ten badminton courts.

The building is entered on two levels. After crossing a 200-foot bridge, the general public gain access through nine doors on the east side ground level. Campus personnel enter on the second floor on the west side. There is a two-floor lobby featuring oak parquet floors.

Contained on the upper level are athletic administration and faculty offices, staff room, classrooms, weight room, and multi-purpose room. The lower level contains a concession area and ticket sales area, dressing rooms, team rooms, laundry, equipment-issuing room, and storage space. An east wing of the building houses two racquetball courts.

The building is named for long-time Oregon lumberman Coleman H. Wheeler, former chairman of the board of Willamette Industries. The gymnasium is named for former board member James Miller and his wife, Lila. He is the former president of Cascadia Lumber Co.

A LOOK AT THE PAST

The game of basketball was invented by Dr. James Naismith in 1891, and it took just seven years for it to be brought to George Fox College (then called Pacific College).

College board member and community leader T. W. Hester and others first saw the game played at the Portland YMCA. They were captivated by the new game and secured a ball, which they brought back to the College. The first exhibition game was played shortly thereafter, in the winter of 1898, and the first site was the third floor of the old Commercial Hotel on North Main Street because the College had no adequate space for the new sport.

The first gymnasium on the campus was the upper part of one wing of an old academy building (Hoover Hall), built in 1885 and torn down in the mid-1950s. A one-room wood gymnasium building was constructed in 1916 and served until 1946, when the College opened Hester Gymnasium, a concrete block structure built partly by student/faculty labor at a cost of $40,000. The building, with a single hemlock playing floor and seating for 1,100, served through the 1976-77 season with opening of Wheeler Center.

College athletic affiliation in men's basketball has gone from independent status to membership in the old Willamette Christian College Conference, the Metropolitan Conference, the Oregon Collegiate Conference, and from 1965 through 1993 George Fox was an independent member of NAIA District 2. Currently GFC is a member of the loosely associated Cascade Collegiate Conference, a grouping created by the NAIA.

The 1991-92 Bruins produced GFC's highest national finish, advancing to the NAIA Division II quarterfinals with two national tournament wins.

BRUINS PARTICIPATE IN NAIA

The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) is a completely autonomous association administering programs leading to 23 national championships in 13 events. The NAIA includes 33 percent of America's collegiate athletic programs, representing 413 accredited four-year colleges and universities in 32 geographical districts spread over 49 states and Canada. The colleges have a total enrollment of more than 800,000, including approximately 60,000 varsity athletes.

Established in 1940 as the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball the NAIB evolved from the institution of a "National Small College Basketball Tournament" that was inaugurated in 1937. In 1952 the organization was renamed the NAIA.

NAIA national headquarters and staff are located in Tulsa, Oklahoma. The NAIA is governed by two bodies. The Council of Presidents, composed of one president from each district, is responsible for fiscal matters and supervision of the national staff. George Fox president Edward F. Stevens represented NAIA District 2 from 1987 through 1993 and was one of five U.S. college presidents selected to serve on the NAIA Council of Presidents Executive Committee, serving as chairman in 1992. The national Coordinating Council, elected by the membership, is responsible for organizing championship events, academic standards, and overseeing the committees and associations.

George Fox will play the 1993-94 season in the loosely-associated Cascade Collegiate Conference of NAIA, Division II. The grouping created by the NAIA is made up of nine teams: George Fox, Albertson College of Idaho, Concordia College, Eastern Oregon State College, Northwest Nazarene College, Oregon Institute of Technology, Southern Oregon State College, Western Baptist College, and Western Oregon State College.

Six teams will participate in the conference playoffs held February 24, 26, and March 2 at the sites of the highest-seeded teams. Selection and seeding is based on conference record, but in cases of ties, head-to-head results and the "Sempert" tie-breaking system will be used. The No. 1 and No. 2 seeded teams receive first-round byes.

Winner of the conference playoffs will advance to the 24-team NAIA Division II national tournament, this year hosted by Northwest Nazarene College in Nampa, Idaho. Two at-large berths also are available.

The NAIA Council of Presidents voted in September of 1993 to eliminate the district format by which teams had qualified for national tournaments since 1965 in favor of the affiliated conference structure. Until this season, GFC was a member of NAIA District 2, which divided into the Cascade Collegiate Conference and Northwest Conference of Independent Colleges (NCIC). GFC had played in the district playoffs 18 of the last 23 years.

THE BRUIN NICKNAME

George Fox College is represented by the nickname and mascot "Bruin." But it has not always been so, even though it should have been.

The nickname comes from a real bear captured in 1887 just two years after Pacific Academy (the College's predecessor) was established. The small cub was captured in the coast range foothills west of Carlton when its mother was shot. The young cub was brought to campus by a student and later lived with a faculty member. When it grew to adulthood it was kept in a pit in what is now known as Hess Creek Canyon south of the campus. It escaped one too many times and was turned into steak for the dining table and the hide preserved on a frame and displayed in an early campus museum. When it deteriorated several years later, it was taken to a campus furnace room to be destroyed, but the framework proved a problem in dismantling, so it was left sitting in a corner. Students found the old Bruin skin later and began skirmishes over ownership, a tradition that continues today. "Bruin Junior," a replica, under a set of guidelines passed down for years, is fought over periodically in class competition, with the class able to physically drag the Bruin replica off campus declared the rightful owner until next "flashed."

Even with the Bruin tradition, somewhere along the line, the "Quaker" tag to athletic teams came into popularity with sports writers because of the College's church affiliation, and that nickname was used, along with a mascot "Foxy George," a little fox with a Quaker hat. Both gained acceptance for a period in the 1950s and 1960s until a vote of faculty, students, and administration in 1970 reinstated the Bruin nickname to its rightful place.
