The Home Field

By Jack Willcuts

UNFORTUNATELY, the glamour and appeal of the home missions work is often not as challenging as the foreign field. Maybe we aren't all "born to wander and to roam," but the thrill of geography often dims our evaluation of actual spiritual needs. The lost souls of southern Oregon, the Washington Inland Empire, the Idaho mountains, and even the unchurched areas of our own city, are just as eternally and hopelessly lost without Jesus in their hearts as the Aymara Indians of the Bolivian Highlands.

The challenge of our own outpost work is as inspiring to prayer and giving if we can but see it through the eyes of our Lord. The sacrifices of many of our outpost workers is just as demanding and worthy as those faced by our missionaries. The problems involved in bringing Jesus to our "own" people often stagger our faith and tax our courage and resources as much as facing the enemy's ground in the foreign field. A home mission means infinitely more than just a weak sister church somewhere—it implies the opening of a pioneer work in the devil's territory. It means the determined advance of the Kingdom within our borders! The angels of heaven are as eagerly waiting to write down the new names of Smith, Brown and Jones of the O'Brien, Hillsboro, Spokane, Woodland and Sprague River communities as they are to inscribe the Condoni's, Mamani's and the Quispe's of Bolivia.

Eight specific times in the New Testament alone we are told that we must "love thy NEIGHBOR as thyself." Let us not sin by failing to pray and support our ambitious and worthwhile home missions projects. The Board of Evangelism is entering new fields as fast as funds and leadership permits. New calls are being considered every year.

(Editor's Note.—The above excellent article appeared in the Sunday bulletin of Second Friends Church, Portland, October 7th. It was written by the pastor, recently returned from Bolivia, and expresses a concern which he has on his heart. It is especially timely since, at this very writing, a financial "Call" is going out to the Yearly Meeting for the outpost at Hillsboro. It is imperative that a church edifice be built at Hillsboro soon if the work there is to progress as it should. It is earnestly hoped that every reader of the Northwest Friend will take this matter to heart and will pray much over his response to the "Call.")

Ambassador to the Pope

For the first time in American history the president of the United States has appointed an ambassador to the Church of Rome, at the Vatican. Churchgoers in tens of thousands of churches, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, are taking part in a mass protest to Washington.

A united action has been organized by the National Association of Evangelicals, of which Oregon Yearly Meeting is a part. This association has a membership of 1,500,000 persons, and a service constituency of 10,000,000. It is requesting all Bible-believing churches to send in their protest at once.

By this united action Protestants aim to forestall senatorial approval of President Truman's appointment of an ambassador to the Pope. It is hoped that every Friends church in Oregon Yearly Meeting will participate. Let us circulate petitions among our members at once—next Sunday—bearing the heading, "As loyal Americans, we protest the appointment of an ambassador or representative to the Vatican." Then

Stemming the Tide

By Scott T. Clark

"THIS is an evil generation." Luke 11:29. These shocking words of Jesus fell on the ears of a pressing multitude of people. Those people, especially the leaders, had a pretty good opinion of themselves. He told them of the awful wickedness of Ninevah, and yet they repented when they heard the preaching of Jonah. He told them of the Queen of the heathen South Country, who came to see the greatness of Solomon, and was amazed at his glory. But here a greater one than Solomon had come to turn them from their sins.

If that generation in the days of Christ was evil, what must we say of our generation? Satan has persistently carried on his work in every age; and every generation has been plenty wicked. But, judging from the Word of God and from facts of history, the sinful world is not getting any better morally nor spiritually. Conscientious parents and Christian people are greatly concerned about the wickedness all around us. Judges of courts of delinquencies are astounded at the present sinful conditions. Detectives, lawyers, and state officials are alarmed at the rapid increase of crimes.

But we need not argue to convince you of the wickedness about us. The pages of the newspapers are evidence of that. But we do need to awaken benumbed consciences, and to stir up even good people to feel the challenge, and to do something to save souls from ruin here, and damnation hereafter.

In this challenge we would appeal especially to the young people, for they face the greatest danger. We must keep up the standards of spirituality, for morals always decline when separated from vital Christianity. Missionary work proves this. Among the heathen, the morals are repulsively low, but when the Gospel is taken to them the morals are always lifted. Likewise when the Gospel is discarded or neglected, morals go down. When one gets liberal in his religion, he becomes also tolerant with modern sins. So, in order to guard our youth against the evils of this generation, we must have more revivals. Professed Christians must have a vital dynamic religion. Too many have lost their spiritual fire and the vision of lost souls.

May we mention some symptoms of moral decay? These are familiar to all of us, but may we become more concerned about them.

A DECLINE IN HOME TRAINING. Paul admonishes parents to bring up the children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. This would include consistent godly examples in the parents, family worship, spiritual instruction, church attendance, respect and obedience, and discipline and correction. How sadly these are neglected in our day! Many children have never learned to obey, and thousands have never had any religious instruction. Young people, start your home with a family altar and regular church attendance.

UNHAPPY AND BROKEN HOMES. There have always been some unhappy homes, the result of sin and selfishness. But the thing that concerns us, is the staggering increase of this evil. Surely this is an evil generation in this respect. We might go into figures, ratios, and tragic stories, with which we are all familiar, but these sorrows come pretty close home to many of us. Conservative estimates place about one-third as many divorces granted, as marriage licenses. The United States leads all nations of the world in this evil. The low standards of worldly society, and the influence of lustful moving pictures, have reacted upon the thinking of good Christian people. Not only are spiritual people concerned, but thoughtful people and state officials are becoming alarmed. What can be done? It is high time that we awake.

THE MOVIE EVIL. It has been truly said that the movie theaters have more influence in molding the moral character of our youth than all the schools and churches combined. And what kind of influence? Young people go out of movies with all kinds of evil in their minds—nakedness, lust, free-love, drinking, villainy, detectives, gun-play, murder. Many of these thoughts develop into actions which fill our delinquency and criminal courts. Many worthy attempts have been made to clean up the movies, but with very little success. Certainly this is an evil generation here. We are glad to know that some clean Christian sound films are now available, and they are doing much good.

DRINKING. There have always been people who would drink liquor, since the days of Noah, but the past has no such records as this present generation is making. America is drinking herself to death. Since the repeal of the Prohibition Amendment, the drink bill in the United States has reached the staggering figure of about nine billion dollars a year. Parents, and high school and college boys and girls, are drinking as never before. The enormous death toll on the highways, resulting from drinking drivers, makes travel unsafe for even sober people. It makes the picture worse when we are reminded that our capital city (Washington, D.C.) leads all other cities in the nation in the consumption of liquor. Where are we headed? However, there are a few hopeful signs. There is evidence of some reaction in public opinion. Many communities and counties have recently voted dry. Latest statistics show that over one-half of the counties in the United States are now dry.

CIGARETTE SMOKING. This modern sin has become too nearly universal. Here certainly is an evil of this generation. Those of us who do not indulge in this sin are in the minority, and are often regarded as rather peculiar. One of the slogans of tobacco companies is "A cigarette in the mouth of every boy and girl in America." And it looks as if they are nearing their goal. The saddest thing about this evil is the let-down of public opinion, even among good people. Many ministers no longer cry out against this modern sin, and some even indulge themselves. Even some professors in Christian colleges tell their young people that cigarette smoking is not a moral question; and each one will have to make up his own mind. What hope is there for our young people when some of our leaders do not take a stand against the present decline of morals?

CRIME INCREASE. Here our sense of decency and justice is shocked by the heinous, inhuman, brutal crimes committed almost daily in our communities. We can hardly think that rational human beings could, or would, do such awful deeds. We get the feeling that no one is safe any more. Our criminal courts are crowded; our reformatories, jails, and penitentiaries are filled. The average age of criminals has dropped, until now the majority of criminals are among the youth. And do we wonder why, when nearly every movie picture has some gun-play in it? A large number of radio dramas are built around some detective mystery and murder. Some state officers and F.B.I. officials are worried about this rapid increase of crime.

So, we might go on with the dark picture of this evil generation. Jesus certainly knew what he was saying. And he told us that evil would increase, and the love of many would wax cold. Is there any remedy? Will we become sufficiently stirred to take the challenge, or will we fold our hands in complacency, and think that maybe things are not so bad after all? That was the attitude of Israel when God's prophet cried out, "Awake, thou that sleepest!"

We feel that Christ is the only answer. Human philosophies have miserably failed. Social clean-ups are good, but they are not sufficient to stem the tide against the awful evils of our day. This battle must be waged on the spiritual basis. We plead for our young people.

May we make a few helpful suggestions in closing? First. Every one must have a good heart experience—sins forgiven, the heart sanctified through the blood of Jesus, and Christ dwelling daily in the heart. "Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord." If we keep the victory, we have to work at the job.

Second. Formulate pure high ideals. It is so easy to drift with the crowd. Demus forsook Paul's holiness missionary party, having loved the spirit of the age. Many today are letting down to lower ideals, not willing to bear the reproach of the cross and holiness. We need to take Paul's admonition to Timothy, "Keep thyself pure." We will not run to the things of the world, nor bear the appearance of the world. Stand like Nehemiah when the heathen neighbors tried to get him to come down to them; "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down." The Word gives us the highest ideals: "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

Third. Constant persistence. The battle against evil is a fight for life. It is especially a battle for our young people; but it is not for them alone; this battle continues through every age—youth, adults, maturity, and old age. The crown is at the end. "He that endureth to the end shall be saved." "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness." When life's problems baffle, and loads crush, and clouds hang low, and things do not seem to come out right; then look to Jesus, take fresh courage, and press on.

DIVINE GRACE. The battle is the Lord's, not ours. We are not able alone to combat the devil and resist the evils that surround us. God has promised us victory if we will be true. "God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble . . . Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary, the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about seeking whom he may devour: whom resist and never let you down." "Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us." Praise the Lord! By His grace we will stem the tide against the evil of this wicked generation.

New Selective Service Regulations

By Eldon Helm
Chairman National Service
Board of Service

AS MOST Friends undoubtedly know, President Truman on June 19 of this year signed the Universal Military Service and Training Act. Under this act, a conscientious objector now is to be deferred from military service only on condition that he be " . . . ordered by his local board, subject to such regulations as the President may prescribe, to perform for a period equal to 24 months such civilian work contributing to the national health, safety, or interest as the local board may deem appropriate, and any such person who knowingly fails or neglects to obey any such order from his local board shall be deemed, for the purpose of section 12 of this title, to have knowingly failed or neglected to perform a duty required of him under this title" (i.e., will be subject to five years in prison or $10,000 fine or both).

In revising the law, the Senate-House conference committee stated that civilian service by C.O.'s was not to be performed "through the establishment of, or assignment to, national work camps." Apart from this, it is not clear as yet what restrictions or conditions may be imposed on C.O.'s in their period of civilian work. Until the new regulations are issued, local boards will continue to defer C.O.'s.

Recently however, there have been some new regulations issued by Selective Service in relation to conscientious objectors. These are essentially the classifications used to designate C.O.'s other than those willing to do noncombatant armed forces duty. Most important of these is that the 4-E classification has been eliminated. Every 4-E man will now be given a different classification, which will be 1-O if the board continued him in the C.O. classification.

Perhaps the best way of describing these changes is to use the question and answer method, and thus directly answer some of the questions that any factual presentation might bring concerning conscientious objectors and their legal status and obligations as citizens.

What is a conscientious objector?

Selective Service defines a conscientious objector as follows: "Nothing contained in this title shall be construed to require any person to be subject to combatant training and service in the armed forces of the United States who, by reason of religious training and belief, is conscientiously opposed to participation in war in any form. Religious training and belief in this connection means an individual's belief in a relation to a Supreme Being involving duties superior to those arising from any human relation, but does not include essentially political, sociological, or philosophical views or merely a personal moral code."

What is meant by an "individual's belief in a relation to a Supreme Being involving duties superior to those arising from any human relation?"

Those of Christendom who feel that Jesus has a literal message for mankind here and now to "live in peace" and "follow peace with ALL MEN" hold that God is the highest authority and power. This is clear teaching and is in perfect harmony with the rest of the Bible. When Peter and John were commanded by their government officers to do things contrary to the Word of God to them, they refused saying that we ought to obey God rather than men. The Apostle Paul declared that he purposed first of all to please God rather than men.

How does a conscientious objector make known his testimony concerning participation in the armed forces to his draft board?

After he has registered, he will be sent a questionnaire by his local draft board. (SSS Form No. 100) When filling out this questionnaire, the registrant who claims exemption as a conscientious objector must sign the statement to that effect in the questionnaire and request the Special Form for Conscientious Objectors (SSS Form No. 150). Also in the section headed "Registrant's Statement Regarding Classification" he should fill in the classification that he is willing to accept.

What is SSS Form No. 150?

This is the special form for conscientious objectors, on which each must give statement concerning his religious training and beliefs, the organizations to which he belongs, and references. It is from the information on this form that the draft board must make its classification of the registrant as a C.O. This form must be returned to the local board within five days of their mailing date.

What classifications are available to C.O.'s under the new act?

1-A-O (Non-combatant duty in the Armed Forces)

1-O (Available for assignment to civilian service) This is a new classification, and replaces 4-E. There is no longer a 4-E classification.

1-W (C.O. in assigned civilian service)

1-S (High School students less than 20 years old, and college students who have been ordered to report for induction)

2-S (Regular student deferment) C.O.'s are eligible for student deferments and may accept them without prejudice to their claim for eventual C.O. classification, either 1-A-O or 1-O. Also C.O.'s are eligible for other classifications which denote deferment if they can qualify.

What if there is doubt that I can pass the army physical examination? Will 1-O men have the same chance of being reclassified 4-F?

1-O men will be given the regular army physical examination and must pass it before they can be ordered into civilian assignment.

How long after registration before I can expect classification?

Registrants may be sent classification questionnaires and be classified immediately after registration.

At what age can I expect to be called into civilian service if I am classified 1-O?

Registrants are eligible for military duty or civilian service at 18 1/2 years if the local board's supply of registrants over 19 is exhausted. Men classified 1-O can expect assignment to civilian service when appropriate regulations are issued.

If the draft board does not give me the classification which I feel I should have as a C.O., what should I do?

The registrant should make a personal appearance before his local board. A request for such an appearance must be made in writing within ten days after classification. This period cannot be extended by the local board.

If I have a 4-E classification, will I automatically be transferred to 1-O?

Not necessarily. Draft boards are required to classify a registrant in the lowest classification for which he is eligible. (1-A is the highest, all other classifications are lower.) Any C.O. who can qualify for a student deferment or a deferment because of dependency or some other reason may put in a claim with their local board. This should be done immediately. To qualify for a dependency deferment, the registrant must have a child. NOTE: Some local boards may use this reclassification period to assign 4-E men to 1-A or 1-A-O. No C.O. should assume that his C.O. classification will automatically be continued. All registrants should be certain that they are in close touch with their mail, so that no appeal rights will be lost.

If I am deferred, how long am I eligible for the draft?

Any registrant who was deferred on or after June 19, 1951, is eligible for the draft until his 35th birthday. Registrants who do not receive deferments are eligible for the draft until their 26th birthday.

The Service Board is deeply concerned to help C.O.'s find ways of giving adequate and meaningful expression to their positive pacifist beliefs in this particular world situation. We hope that it will be possible for C.O.'s to serve in work most adaptable to the individual ability; perhaps in hospitals, in industry, and for a limited number, overseas service. As soon as more information is available, another article will follow in the Northwest Friend.

Any questions or requests for further information regarding the new classification should be addressed to Eldon Helm, 633 N.E. 61st Ave., Portland 13, Oregon.

PORTLAND QUARTERLY MEETING:

The Saturday afternoon session of Portland Quarterly Meeting, October 27th, at Forest Home Friends Church was a time of blessing and fellowship. The meeting was opened at 2:30 p.m. by Ray Carter, and with Geraldine Willcuts at the piano, Kenneth Williams led in the singing of a few hymns. Several prayers were offered and testimonies given. Ray Carter read a portion of the 14th chapter of John. Lucy Clark Anderson sang, "There is no Disappointment in Jesus."

Two pastors new to this Quarterly Meeting, were introduced, Jack Willcuts, of Second Friends, and Irwin Alger, of Cherry Grove. Irwin Alger brought the message of the afternoon using the text, Exodus 33:14, "My Presence shall go with thee and I will give thee rest." It is our privilege to have God's presence with us at all times, even as was promised to Moses. The abiding presence of the Holy Spirit is a badge of identification that we are His. But we have something to do in His service to retain that presence. We must be witnesses, willing for all that God has for us, being filled with His Spirit.

The Missionary Committee took charge of the meeting at 4:15 p.m., Geneva Bolitho presiding.

Jack Willcuts read from Acts 6, of the appointing of the first deacons. They were men who had vision for more than the serving of tables. Then he told of the lives of some of the leaders appointed for the National Church of Bolivia: president of the society, Mariana Baptista; vice president, Pedro Quispe; treasurer, Silas Cassas, and evangelist Martin Pares. This was a thrilling word picture such as our notes cannot convey to readers.

About 4:50 p.m. Dale Darling, presiding for the Public Relations Committee, presented Earl Geil as speaker. Earl read Genesis 18:16, about God revealing His plan to Abraham. He spoke of our larger field of stewardship. The church needs tithes, time, talents, and influence of consecrated members. The seeming-impossible things can be done if we will sacrifice, have determination, and do plain hard work.

The session closed with a time of silent prayer.

At 6:00 p.m. 119 sat down to a fine dinner served by the Forest Home Church.

The Superintendent's CORNER

HIBBS ARRIVE IN BOLIVIA

"La Paz. Friday noon. All fine. Leland." Thus reads the telegram from our newest missionary family to arrive on the field in Bolivia, South America. This message came just a few hours after their plane had landed in La Paz on Friday, October 26. There will be days of difficult adjustment to the altitude and customs of a land, vastly different from their own. Let us be faithful to pray for these Friends.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Here at home it is Sunday school contest season. More schools than ever have entered the Christian Life national Sunday school attendance contest. Many pastors and superintendents have learned that this is a good way to stimulate interest and enthusiasm in the Sunday school. There should be statistical proof of the value of such a program in our reports next summer.

EVANGELISTIC CONFERENCES

The Evangelistic and Missionary Boards, in cooperation with the superintendent, have been conducting week-end conferences during the past month, and plan to cover the Yearly Meeting as soon as time permits. There has been much encouragement for us to believe in the value of these conferences, for we are convinced that when people know the need and are challenged with a program, they will respond. They have been doing that. We trust it will increase in effectiveness.

Frederick Baker, pastor of the outpost meeting in Hillsboro, has been presenting the challenge of home extension. Every Quaker in the Northwest ought to hear his message and see his graphically illustrated charts. Walter P. Lee, president of the Mission Board, presents the appeal for our outreach in Bolivia. Since he recently spent nearly three months on the field, he also has a first hand, burning message on missions which the Yearly Meeting ought to hear. Jack Willcuts, pastor at Portland Second Friends meeting, has been bringing powerful missionary challenges at Sunday afternoon rallies held in the Portland vicinity. The superintendent's responsibility has been to bring his concern on "Stewardship and Evangelism," and to present the total concern of the Yearly Meeting's responsibility.

WE DO HAVE A PROGRAM

Quakers in the Pacific Northwest do have a program of extension and evangelization. The prayers, tithes and gifts of every member should be dedicated to the proposition of making our program work. The fire and zeal of our founding fathers can be rekindled in this modern day in which we live if we are willing to pay the price for revival.

"If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." 2 Chron. 7:14.

—Dean Gregory

forward this petition, accompanied by a letter from the pastor to Senator Tom Connally, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. In addition, churches, pastors and individuals are asked to send a letter of protest to President Truman and to the senators from their state.

The senators from Oregon are, Guy Corden and Wayne Morse; those from Washington are, Warren G. Magnuson and Harry D. Cain; and those from Idaho are, Herman Welker and Henry C. Dworshak.

Do this at once. This is important. We must act now if we are to forestall the drift that will eventually curb our religious liberties in this country.

MINISTERIAL CONFERENCE

The date for the Ministerial Conference this year has been set for April 21-24. It is hoped that every pastor in the Yearly Meeting will plan now to attend. The place of meeting has not yet been decided upon. That, and the program, will be announced later.

FRIENDS MEMORIAL CHURCH, SEATTLE
Built by volunteer labor, 1949-51. Milo and Helen Ross, pastors.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

NETARTS WILL BUILD

A tract of land 200 x 230 ft. has been purchased by Netarts Preparative Meeting as the site of a new church building. For five years meetings have been held in the Community Club building, but with an attendance of 70 to 90 the facilities are greatly overcrowded. The purchased plot of more than an acre is located in a growing residential district, a little off but in view of the main highway. The land is well drained and gently rolling, with view of Netarts Bay and the ocean from the northwest corner. It is bounded by a 30 ft. right-of-way on three sides, and a 40 ft. county road on the other. There is ample room for a church, parsonage, parking area, and playground.

The Netarts work is an outpost of Newberg Monthly Meeting. It was started with assistance from the Evangelistic Board, and was the first outpost to become self-sustaining on the five-year plan. The Evangelistic Board invested $1800 in the meeting over a five-year period, and the meeting in return has contributed over $1000 to the work of the Yearly Meeting.

The meeting now has a parsonage worth $7000, free of debt, in the name of Oregon Yearly Meeting. It has cash on hand of approximately $1400; an additional $1500 above the operating budget is pledged by the congregation, and plans are being made to encourage help from the community, both in funds and in labor. It is estimated that $300 will be gladly donated by people who do not attend the church. This will give $3200 to be spent on the building. Friends in Newberg Quarterly Meeting, who gave over $500 to help build a parsonage several years ago, have indicated that they wish to help in the present project. While a building "Call" had been hoped for, there will be none, owing to the pressure of needs elsewhere, and no solicitation will be made through the Yearly Meeting.

The church is to be of simple design and structure, 26 x 40 ft., with full basement. The project is in charge of the Master Builder, while the pastor is looking after such details as getting the plans on paper, using a tractor to prepare the site, and preparing to act as works foreman. The meeting does not expect to hire labor, but to utilize the willingness of members and community to lend a hand, and is determined to keep clear of burdensome debt.

The use of the Community Club building has been much appreciated, and has made it possible to establish the work. The building is being fully utilized on Sundays, but is not available for many week-day meetings. A church building will permit special evangelistic meetings, special programs to encourage a larger attendance, and an integrated social program, all to enlarge the spiritual outreach in the community.

SPOKANE NEWS

The last week of September witnessed the convening of the Inland Empire Sunday School Convention with more than 1,000 delegates registered for the three-day gathering.

At the opening session First Friends, Spokane, won first place with 100% attendance of their 10 teachers and officers. This honor was tied with two other schools who had respectively 9 and 8 present. All three schools received $5.00 gift certificates as awards.

The entire convention was very helpful in all departments and avenues of work. Invited guest speakers were Dr. Murch, editor-in-chief of the United Evangelical Action; Nels Anderson, of Scripture Press; and Rev. Treflin, of Vancouver, Washington. These men were ably assisted by local leaders in the many departmental conferences, and other services. A feature of the closing service was the singing of a men's chorus made up of representatives of the various churches in the city, and directed by Randall Dicus.

The last Sunday of September the first rally and promotion day for the Sunday school was observed. At that time, due to the increase in attendance, two more classes were created and teachers for the same announced. The committee in charge, headed by Esther Mae Thomas, did a fine piece of work around the theme "Building Together."

The first week-end of October the second Inland Empire Quarterly Friends Conference was held by Hayden Lake and First Friends, Spokane. The gospel team of George Fox College, under the leadership of Miss Sill and Paul Mills, brought the messages in song and spoken word. These were indeed times of spiritual refreshing, and the blessings brought through their faithful ministry will long be remembered by these meetings.

High attendance record has again been reached this month. This time 63 were in attendance. Each Sunday new faces appear in the audience. Pray with the members of the congregation that we may profitably "redeem the time."

Increased attendance brings the problem of increased seating. The trustees and appointed members have been instructed by the business meeting to seek the best possible solution. Two new benches and two more tables for the preschool division have been built by Dale Kelly. That has helped the problem in two of the younger classes. However in the older classes the problem of seating is still unsolved. Every Sunday two of the classes must literally "take up thy chair and walk" in order to meet in their respective cloak-rooms. That moving-out-and-back-again always adds to the confusion, and uses time out of the morning sessions.

The pastor, A. Clark Smith, has spent ten days visiting his mother in Wichita, Kansas, and a part of the sessions of Kansas Yearly Meeting. The pulpit was filled in his absence by K. L. Eichenberger and Rev. Leo Totten, a retired Presbyterian minister.

MISSIONARY ACTIVITIES

By Walter P. Lee

Missionary interest in the home church is the life-line of missionary work in the foreign field. Reports of the missionary activity in many of the meetings of Oregon Yearly Meeting indicate that an effective life-line to Bolivia is being maintained.

While no reports were received from some of the meetings during 1950-51, most meetings did report giving many interesting facts.

The "calendar" project this year has received enthusiastic support quite generally throughout the Yearly Meeting, and may be expected to produce even greater returns for the evangelistic fund in Bolivia in the coming year, as the "birthday" plan is better understood.

Most meetings observe a regular missionary Sunday each month with the reading of missionary news letters, presentation of missionary skits, and missionary messages by the pastor or visiting missionaries. There were few, if any, meetings that failed to have missionary speakers during the year.

A number of special projects were supported by various meetings. Clothing has been sent to Bolivia, Japan and Korea. Among other projects Melba meeting gave approximately $500 as a memorial to Marie McClintock, to be used in building the first unit of a new administration building at the Helen Cammack Memorial Bible Training School in Bolivia. The number of students makes such a building necessary in the near future, and other contributions toward this building program will be needed and appreciated. The children of Star meeting saved their money in acorn banks, and contributed over $80 for the support of the missionaries' children. Other meetings might employ the same plan since this support must be raised outside the United Budget this year. Included in a number of projects Nampa meeting raised $80 for the evangelistic work in Bolivia. This, too, is raised outside the United Budget this year and deserves special attention. Most meetings use the birthday offerings to apply on the transportation fund for missionaries to and from Bolivia. Since transportation is expensive and the fund is being depleted, this needs special attention in all of our meetings. The fifth and sixth grade girls of Medford meeting have had a special concern along this line and have raised extra money for transportation.

A number of meetings report regular monthly prayer meetings for the Lord's blessing on the missionary work, some using a regular mid-week prayer meeting once each month, others having special prayer meetings. What a tremendous force would be exerted for God and His work if all of our meetings participated in such times of intercession!

This is the hour for Oregon Yearly Meeting to move through God's open door to Bolivia.

Anniversary Conference

The Medford Friends church is now nine years old. The anniversary was celebrated in a big way with a three-day conference from Friday to Sunday, October 12-14.

Three guest speakers were present—one for each day of the conference. Friday evening was a missionary rally. An inspiring presentation of our foreign missionary program was given by Walter P. Lee. He showed slides of our work in Bolivia. The message in song was given by Dean Gregory.

Saturday evening a challenge of the Northwest was presented by Frederick Baker. Ross McIntyre brought a special song. We learned that the opportunities for our work in the northwest are many and urgent. We must grow or we will die spiritually, and as a church. The service closed with a season of prayer and re-consecration.

Sunday was a full and happy day. Walter Lee brought the message at the eleven o'clock hour. Three young families were united with the church in membership. They are: Deane and Ardys Roberts and three children; Delbert and Hazel Tuning and baby; and Bob and Anna Mills and two children.

Talent and O'Brien joined Medford in a delicious dinner in Harmony Hall. The hall was beautifully decorated in fall flowers by the high school Sunday school class. Following the birthday cake, baked by Ardys Roberts, a program of musical numbers and the reading of the church history was given. Dean Gregory brought a short message. The presence of Clifton Ross, of Salem, was noted. He has been present at every anniversary since the beginning of the work.

Sunday night service began, of necessity, as a candlelight service, because the electricity was off. A fine spirit prevailed, with chorus singing and testimonies. The lights came on in time for the sermon by Dean Gregory.

The whole conference was an inspiration and the church looks forward to another year of "Christian adventure" with our Lord.

CORRECTION

In the September issue of the Northwest Friend there appeared a report of the Sunday afternoon missionary meeting at Yearly Meeting, which stated that "we now have the largest Protestant mission in Bolivia." Since there are a number of factors involved in judging the size of a mission, such as, number of meeting places, number of missionaries, and number of believers, we wish to make a correction of the above report to coincide with the speaker's statement. This statement was as follows: "From all available information it appears that our mission has the largest number of Protestant believers in Bolivia."

MARRIAGES

DYMOKE-BIRCH.—Miss Laura Birch became the bride of Richard Dymoke of Emmett, Idaho on August 19 at 3:00 p.m. at the Riverside Friends church, Caldwell, Idaho. Everett Puckett performed the double ring ceremony.

FLEETWOOD-SHATTUCK.—Evangelyn Shattuck to Lowell Fleetwood, at Mill City, Oregon, September 15, with Rev. Jull officiating.

BIRTHS

WILSON.—To Theo. and Jeanne Wilson, Vancouver, Washington, a daughter.

KING.—To Walter and Myrtle King, Vancouver, Washington, a son.

FISCHER.—To Raymond and Ruth Fischer, Portland, Oregon, a son, Murray Linn, born September 20.

PUCKETT.—To Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Puckett,

Portland, Oregon, a daughter, Gwendelyn Hope, born September 28.

CADD.—To Dick and Helen Cadd, Greenleaf, Idaho, a son, Jonathan Alan, born October 13.

DEATHS

GLOVER.—Mrs. Elizabeth Glover, of Salem, the mother of Mae Nordyke and Lela Street, went to be with her Savior October 8. Her smile and cheerful greeting were a blessing to those who visited her. Although confined to her bed for many months, she said she knew "that all things work together for good to them that love God."

DEIVERT.—Mrs. Sue Deivert, mother of Mrs. Harold Allen, of Medford, died at the Allen home on October 15. Clynton Crisman had charge of the funeral.

OBITUARY

Jesse L. Coppock, born November 30, 1863, in Clinton County, Ohio, passed away at his home in Peshastin, Washington, March 10, 1951, at the age of 87 years, 3 months, 10 days.

He was married to Luella Woolverton December 7, 1898, at Redwoods Falls, Minn. The couple celebrated their Golden Wedding December 7, 1948.

The Coppocks came to Peshastin, Washington, November 1, 1911, and for the past 41 years have resided here.

A Quaker church was organized at Peshastin in 1910, and a church was built and dedicated in 1917. Jesse Coppock took over the pastoral work of the church about 1918, and carried on as pastor until the church was purchased by the Congregational Church March 25, 1925.

It is interesting to know that his ancestors on both sides were with William Penn, when Penn settled in Pennsylvania.

BOOK STORES MOVED

The Better Book and Bible House, both in Portland and Spokane, have moved.

The store in Portland, however, has moved only from the third floor to the second floor of the same building. But the store in Spokane has moved from the old location in the Peyton Bldg., to a new street-level location about a block away. The new address is 824 Riverside Ave., Spokane 1, Wash.

ARE YOU MOVING TO GRAND COULEE?

The Grand Coulee basin in eastern Washington is now being opened up for irrigation, and the land is being sold. As a result, thousands of families are moving into this area, among them many Quakers, and those of Quaker persuasion.

We are very anxious to keep in touch with these families, and where possible to start Quaker meetings. If you are planning to move to the Grand Coulee basin, or if you know of others who are moving there, or have already moved, will you please let us know?

Write to the Board of Evangelism, 1619 S.E. 21st Ave., Portland 15, or to the General Superintendent, 1611 S.E. 21st Ave., Portland 15, Ore.

REVIVAL NEWS

G. Arnold Hodgkin will also hold a series of meetings at the Homedale meeting from November 28 to December 9.

William Murphy is holding a revival in the Rosemere church in Vancouver. The meetings started October 28th and will close November 11th.

Dorwin Smith begins evangelistic meetings at the Sprague River Indian Mission November 4th.

The following evangelists are available for service in this Yearly Meeting:

Alden and Esther White, 900-23rd Ave., South, Seattle 44, Washington.

William J. Murphy, Medina, Washington.

Carl F. Miller, 1300 Finlay St., Roseburg, Oregon.

Denver Headrick, Rt. 1, Box 462A, Tigard, Oregon.

Bernice Mardock and Elsie Gehrke, evangelists, children's workers, singers. 607 E. 3rd St., Newberg, Oregon. Use Solo Vox, vibraharp and accordian. Open dates.

C.E. Convention Planned

Preparations are now underway for a Christian Endeavor convention to be held in Tacoma on December 28-30.

Jack Willcuts will be the speaker, and it is hoped that the Four Flats will be on hand to furnish the music. A full schedule of classes and activities are planned to make the week-end enjoyable.

We anticipate a rich time of Christian Endeavor work. Plan now to attend the convention and pray with your executive committee that God will put his blessing upon it. More will be said about the convention later.

AROUND GEORGE FOX COLLEGE

News Notes

George Fox College completed its enrollment with 112 students. The freshman class suffered the greatest loss. But students who are seniors in high school now, and who are members of our churches or are attending our churches, number many more for the coming year. This places a great responsibility on everyone's shoulders. It is our responsibility to begin now and make sure that these students plan to attend George Fox College. One of our faculty members, who has taught here the longest, says that the faculty is the best trained in many years. A healthy spiritual tone prevails. Much praying is done together. Many faculty members have expressed concerns for our spiritual deepening. Students are anxious that we all obey God fully. "Thy will be done" is for our personal lives today. October 29 began the revival with Robert Waggoner, of Portland, as evangelist. Newberg across the past years has been visited by some great outpourings of God's presence. This must be repeated. Let us not linger in either the blessings or the defeats of the past, but let us go on steadfastly set to do the whole will of God.

After traveling more than 9000 miles by air, Wang Shan Ning (Samuel) arrived on the George Fox campus from the island of Taiwan, or Formosa. This young Christian Chinese has had two years of college work, one in Korea and one in Formosa. His father is a member of the national Chinese legislature. Sam was permitted to enter the United States by being one of thirty out of eighty candidates who competed by examinations for this privilege. Please remember Samuel in prayer. Please also pray for a student who wants to return to G.F.C. next semester, but is out this semester because he failed to mind God. Several instances of gifts specifically to help needy students have come to us since school started. For all this we humbly thank God.

We continue our application for accreditation. This would mean that our degrees would be good for teaching certificates at once in Oregon and surrounding states. Pray with us about this. We need $10,000 to help us balance the year's budget. Accreditation can then be assured. This is a bargain to Oregon Yearly Meeting if we can gain it for our students who want to teach.

Deputation work is again holding a place of real interest at G.F.C. Quite a number of students have accepted regular responsibilities as Sunday school teachers or C.E. workers in the churches of Willamette Valley; at least six are serving as pastor's assistants. Music groups are doing their best to answer the frequent calls for help to minister the gospel in song. One team journeyed as far as Spokane and Hayden Lake for a week-end conference in that area.

Outside speakers highlighting the chapel services thus far have included Rev. Fine, Supt. of the Free Methodist conference; Dean Gregory, Supt. of Oregon Yearly Meeting; Donald Edmundson, Portland architect; and Carl Byrd, pastor of the local Friends church. The Education department presented Loren Douglas, superintendent of the local high school.

Among our needs we list—

1. Fourteen scholarships for this year.
 2. Thirty-eight work scholarships of $162 each.
 3. A grand piano.
 4. Back issues of the American Journal of Physics.
 5. A vertical filing cabinet for the library, and one also for the Dean's office.
 6. A reostat for stage lighting.
 7. Microscopes for the Biology department.
- These should be up to 440 power, but smaller may be used.

IF YOU GRADUATE

Alumni of George Fox College have entered numerous occupations, a few of which are here listed: Agriculture, business men and women, ministers and missionaries, engineers, home makers, high school and elementary teachers, school superintendents (10 at present in Oregon), professors in colleges and universities, medical doctors and nurses.

Inspiration as well as sound training is needed if one reaches the higher fields of service in life. To make the most of one's self is a challenge. A good number of George Fox College alumni have pursued and obtained one or more of the following advanced degrees: M. A. (Master of Arts), M. S. (Master of Science), M. Ed. (Master of Education), M. For. (Master of Forestry), LL. B. (Bachelor of Law), B. D. (Bachelor of Divinity), D. D. S. (Doctor of Dental Surgery), Ph. D. (Doctor of Philosophy), M. D. (Doctor of Medicine).

Very recent graduates of G.F.C. have taken graduate study at the following schools: Linfield College, Lewis and Clark, Portland University, Willamette University, Western Evangelical

Laura's Diary

September 30.—Today was spent at Lents in Portland. After the morning service about 25 of us gathered in the church basement to eat our sack lunches. We also had chili, salad and pie arranged for us by Jane Laughlin. This was C.E. day at Lents, so those staying for dinner were the C.E.'ers and their sponsors.

In the afternoon we had two different sessions on C.E. with a half hour interval in between. The second period was open to everyone so there were more in attendance.

After this service Beth Hockett and I went out to Divonna and Ronnie Crecelius' for lunch and then back to C.E. and evening worship. I was the speaker at both of these.

October 1.—This morning I returned to Newberg. I have three main objectives this week—work on Junior Lesson Helps, get ready for Exec. meeting, and pack with the idea of being gone from this area for several months.

October 4.—Tonight we had a committee meeting at Cliff Ralphs in Portland. Ralph Beebe and Irwin Alger were the other members of the committee and the purpose was to arrange a tentative program for our hoped-for convention. Irwin Alger is a very efficient man and his typewritten suggestions speeded up the meeting considerably. My (and Beth's) time of retirement was postponed because of typing and last minute arranging of the "dummy" for the Lesson Helps.

October 5.—This evening at 5:30 fourteen members of the C.E. Executive met in the college dining hall to eat together. After this fine meal we had a short recess and then started our business meeting that lasted until 9:30 or 10:00. There were ten members of our Exec. not present. I trust next time there will be 100% in attendance.

October 6.—Exec. meeting was resumed at 8:30 this morning. I think we were through about 11:00 or 11:30. One of the decisions that was made was to definitely have our convention. I'm really looking forward to it.

I hurriedly finished my packing so I could ride to Portland with Cliff. Thelma Rose took me to lunch in Portland and then at 2:30 I boarded the bus for Boise. Arnold Lee was returning on this bus also.

October 7.—I arrived home this morning about 6:00 to discover that my mother had been badly bruised when knocked down by an auto. She seems to be recovering very nicely, but is still very sore.

I was so sleepy that I didn't know if I'd be able to stay awake in Sunday school and church, but Slim Mylander, the class teacher, and Paul Barnett, the preacher, were both so interesting that I didn't have any trouble at all.

This evening I again attended services at Boise. The C.E. lesson was conducted very nicely and Mr. Barnett brought a most inspiring message.

October 8.—This evening I journeyed to Caldwell to have charge of a meeting for the pastors and sponsors of Greenleaf Quarter. This was held at the Fendall's.

October 10.—This was a busy day getting ready to leave for Kansas and Oklahoma. This is the first day of my vacation! Yippee! I met Inez Butler at the bus depot and we traveled together as far as Dodge City, Kansas.

More about my vacation later—I am having a wonderful time.

SinCereley,
Laura Shook

NOTICE

All C.E. Northwest Friend correspondents!! Please send your reports from now on to Betty Hockett, George Fox College, Newberg, Oregon. Remember they are to be in by the 20th of each month.

Keep reporting each month, because some society may be helped by a report of what you are doing.

The C.E. groups at WHITNEY are in the midst of a contest to increase attendance. A point system has been worked out, giving points for each new person attending, staying for the evening service, etc. The person with the most points at the end of the six weeks' period will win a prize.

The EVERETT Intermediate C.E. reorganized their society September 23 with Gerald Pierce as president. The advisor, Frank Burris, feels encouraged for the coming year. Their Halloween party proved very successful as far as attendance and fun is concerned.

The SOUTH SALEM young people's group had a social at the home of Almon Lehman October 6. It included games, refreshments, and a short devotional time led by Sandra Nordyke. There was a C.E. business meeting Tuesday, October 16.

The members have quite a long prospective list and are praying that other young people will come to C.E. They want each young person who comes to come to know Jesus as their personal Savior.

Bob Adams, of Kamiah, Idaho, was elected president of the NEWBERG college-age C.E. in the elections held recently.

Other officers for the coming year are: Bob Sharpless, California, vice-president; Dorothy Oppenlander, West Linn, Oregon, secretary; Ted Eichenberger, Portland, treasurer; Ralph Beebe, Idaho, and Gerald Lemmons, Kansas, lookout chairmen; Wanda Pierson and Betty Brown, Idaho, prayer meeting chairmen; Elleta Wheeler, Arizona, missionary chairman; Jo Hendricks, Washington, and Janet Hinshaw, Newberg, publicity chairmen; Myra Sullivan, California, pre-prayer chairman; Virginia Peters, Talent, social chairman; Rosetta Ballard, Kansas, song leader, Joan DeZell, Medford, pianist; Paul Stanfield, Idaho, and Garth Reece, California, ushers; and Maribeth McCracken, Newberg, Northwest Friend correspondent.

On October 14 an installation service was held in the opening of the evening church service. Officers were introduced and then challenged to make this a year rich in service for Christ and the Church.

On Sunday afternoon, October 14, a group of young people went with John Fankhauser, assistant pastor, to the two nursing homes in Newberg to hold services.

This society has set $300.00 for its Yearly Meeting C.E. pledge, because they felt that if they really had a concern for the C.E. they could raise that amount.

On September 10 GREENLEAF C.E. had an executive meeting. Among some of the things discussed was whether they should continue the street meetings on Saturday nights. They considered getting some new song books and offering plates.

The following evening a hayrack ride with the Academy students, and a wiener roast near the Boise River were enjoyed.

September 30, Jo Ann Tuning brought a short lesson which was followed by a business meeting. The chairman of each committee gave a written report on what he had done the past month.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Portland Quarterly Meeting

CHERRY GROVE

Irwin Alger, pastor

Sunday school attendance stays at a fairly high level now, despite sickness and absentees for various reasons. The Lord's blessings are with us on the furnace fund. As He continues to bless it will soon be all pledged and collected.

The C.E. group has taken on as a project the decorating of the basement.

Mr. Alger has been diligently working around the church-parsonage grounds and has a garage long enough to put his car in now. A couple of the men turned out to help him last work day.

Our newly elected committee are as follows: Christian Education chairman—Pearl Brown, Edith Tabor and Eva Dover; Missionary committee chairman—Lydia Toole, Mrs. Will Elmer and Mrs. Kunz; Sunday school superintendent, Pearl Brown; Assistant, Mrs. Mitchem; Junior Sunday school superintendent, Mr. Herbert Sargent.

Myron Dover was appointed teacher of the young married people's class in place of Paul Toole, who is working away from home now. Mr. Alger is driving the bus.

The Paul Toole family had a very pleasant visit with the Harley Adams family in Nampa recently.

VANCOUVER FIRST FRIENDS

Roy P. Clark, pastor

Our young people, who have charge of the service on the fifth Sunday night of each month, gave us a most inspirational service on Sept. 30. Under the direction of Betty Spence, the service consisted of testimonies, sermonettes in dialogue, and special music.

A Brotherhood in our local church was organized on Sept. 26 with 15 men as charter members. Lewis Haisch was elected chairman and Walter King, secretary-treasurer. Besides pledging support for the Spokane project, the local group plans to use the organization for contacting and winning unchurched men in the city.

The women of the WMU sponsored a "silver tea" on Oct. 11 at the home of Dr. and Esther Brougher. More than 100 guests were present besides the local church women, and a $72 missionary offering was received, Julia Pearson was the featured speaker, along with a splendid musical program presented by Charlotte Zimmerly, Lucy Anderson, Ruth Corbin, Ruth Clark, Irene Haisch, and Mrs. John Failor.

Our church sponsored a "clothes-for-Korea" drive last month and sent 8 large cartons of clothing through the NAE office. Florence Mueller, whose son, Raymond, recently returned from a year of service at the Korean front, directed the drive and packed the boxes. Total weight of the shipment was estimated at 1000 pounds.

Ernest and Beatrice Fritschle were pulpit guests the morning of Oct. 14, and brought a blessed missionary service. They are soon to leave for Calcutta, India, to labor in a "faith mission." Their ministry will raise the missionary temperature of any church.

The church office recently printed a 16-page mimeographed directory, containing names of all members and friends of the church, together with their addresses and phone numbers, all officers and committees of the church and all organizations within the church. Floyd and Madge Parker did the work of organizing and printing the booklet and it is a fine piece of work. This consecrated couple also print the church bulletin every week, and their contribution in this way is much appreciated.

PIEDMONT

Herald Mickelson, pastor

Our young people gave us a most interesting Sunday evening service Sept. 30, under the leadership of Elizabeth Delano, and Bertram Frazier. "School Days" was the theme, and classes were held in geography, history, music, etc., replete with blackboard, ruler, visual aids, and exams. We must admit that the younger students beat the more advanced ones in finding the answers to some questions.

Several members of our congregation have been privileged to visit the new church at Spokane recently. Wilbur Pressnall with the Friends Brotherhood delegation, Walter and Geneva Bolitho and Ruth Huff in the interest of church extension, and Lucy Edmundson with a group from George Fox College. They all report a challenging field of work there.

We greatly enjoyed the evening service Oct. 7, when Rev. Charlotte Warren, returned missionary from Port Said, Egypt, and Miss Maxine Ensley, who had spent three years in Hawaii as a missionary, told us of their work in these fields, of which we had heard very little, previously.

Our WMU has been active in preparing a number of articles for use on the mission field in Bolivia, such as aprons and layettes for the native Christian women, and five five-gallon cans packed with foodstuffs such as peanut butter, dry cereals, water softener, and dried fruits for our missionary families' Christmas gift.

We welcome Hubert and Esther Armstrong home again after an absence of several weeks, while they were visiting their daughter, Mrs. Earl Craven, who lives in Wichita, Kansas.

Our pastor's mother, Esther Mickelson, attended the day-time sessions of the Sunday school convention, conducted by the Greater Portland Sunday School Association, Oct. 3, 4, 5, in Portland, and gave us an interesting and inspiring report of the convention recently.

FIRST FRIENDS (Portland)

Charles A. Beals, pastor

Rally day and church loyalty Sunday was held Sept. 16. There were 370 in attendance at Sunday school—not too far short of our goal of 400!

The church has just closed a successful two weeks revival with Hubert Mardock as evangelist. The Holy Spirit was present in convicting power, and many knelt at the altar of prayer renewing old covenants, accepting the Lord as their Savior, and finding the Holy Spirit in sanctifying power. George Fox and Cascade colleges furnished special music several evenings. Alvin Anderson was song leader.

Funeral services were held in the church Sept. 29 for George Haines who was killed in action in Korea. Burial was in the Friends Cemetery in Newberg.

About twenty of the women from our WMU attended the silver tea given by Vancouver First Friends women at the new home of John and Esther Brougher. We surely enjoyed the lovely, spacious home, delightful program, and tea and cakes.

Two students of the Multnomah School of the Bible, Dorothy Grove and Mrs. Bonnie Whitmore, have charge of our junior and primary churches Sunday mornings. About thirty youngsters attend.

A piano has been purchased for use of the newly organized primary department in the Sunday school. Peggy Hadley is the superintendent of this department.

The members of Ludlow Corbin's Sunday school class held a retreat at Twin Rocks Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 22, 23. The purpose of the retreat was "to have fellowship and worship together and to seek the will of God for the class for the coming year." Forty-five attended and reported a wonderful time. Frank and Genevieve Cole are presidents of this class. Thyra Funk, pastor of the Chapel of the Hills, brought the Sunday morning message.

Through the very generous gift of one of our Sunday school members, we will soon add to our audio-visual equipment a slide film projector. It will be available for use in Sunday school classes, Christian Endeavor groups, and teacher training sessions.

PARKROSE

Dillon Mills, pastor

Revival meetings began here Oct. 21, with Paul Mills, of George Fox College, as evangelist. The services will be held each Sunday morning and evening and Wednesday evening through November 25. Cottage prayer meetings are being held during these weeks.

The evangelistic services are being presented in conjunction with the fourth international Sunday school increase contest, sponsored by Christian Life magazine, which this school is entering again this year. Three individual prizes are being offered those who tally the most points during the contest: a full scholarship to camp next summer, a half scholarship, and five dollars toward camp expenses. In addition, weekly prizes are being given, and competition between the classes is fostered.

The Oct. WMU meeting was held at the home of Edna McCown the evening of Oct. 16. During the business session the women dressed story book dolls in preparation for a small Christmas sale.

Ernest Fritschle, former pastor of Holly Park, who is now preparing to go to India as a missionary early next year, was speaker here Sunday evening, Oct. 14.

ROSE VALLEY

Marlin Witt, pastor

We enjoyed Christian fellowship with a group of people from the Piedmont church Sept. 16. Attending our Sunday service were: Walter Bolitho, Ruth Huff, Mr. Snow and his son Jack. We appreciated having Jack as our pianist during the service.

Sept. 30 Ray Carter and Dean Gregory were with us. Ray Carter led the singing and Dean Gregory brought the message. We feel that this deeply spiritual and inspiring message was an encouragement to us as Dean had a burden on his heart concerning our church here in Rose Valley.

We had the pleasure of having Marlin Witt's mother from Idaho with us for a few weeks. Her testimonies in services were a real blessing.

Oct. 7 was missionary Sunday. Walter and Geneva Bolitho were here and conducted our service. She impressed us with the needs (spiritual and financial) of the missionaries, and also of the need for more workers in the mission field. Other visitors on this Sunday were: Paul Puckett (played the piano for us), Gerald Lemmons (led the singing), Martha Lemmons, Margaret Shattuck, and Laveta Severn.

Oct. 8 the high school class had a social, and a good time was had by all.

Oct. 12 the young adult class had a pot-luck dinner and a party afterwards at the home of Nadine Williams.

This month we have installed a pressure oil burner in our church furnace. We have also made plans to start work on the basement of the church this week. This will give us four new class-rooms which are needed very badly. The members of our church have been faithful in lending a helping hand with this work.

Salem Quarterly Meeting

MEDFORD

Clynton Crisman, pastor

Rally day was observed Sept. 16 with a fine program during opening exercises of Sunday school. An "efficiency," Deane Roberts, answered questions and advised representatives of each department why we should regularly attend Sunday school. This was also the round-up of the "Circle M" and "Bar-Nothing" ranches, who had been contesting to bring in the most "strays" for rally day. "Circle M," being the losers, are planning to entertain the others with a party Oct. 26.

Joan DeZell and Wanda Smith are attending George Fox College this year. We miss these girls who were so faithful in many responsibilities. They came home for the week-end of our anniversary conferences.

New officers for the C.E. groups have been installed recently. Intermediate president is Kay Johnson, and senior president is Pat Schroeder.

Our prayers and sympathy are with Marjorie Crisman and her family in the death of her brother in Korea. The Gideons had charge of Sunday morning service, Sept. 30, while Crismans were in Portland attending the funeral. That evening Mr. Charles Bussert, a ventriloquist and former chaplain at Walla Walla penitentiary, spoke to the combined C.E. groups. His dummies, Hector and Zeke, were very entertaining and taught us some good lessons too.

Sunday evening, Sept. 23, was a special time of blessing when two carloads from O'Brien came over to have part in the service. We were happy to get acquainted with them and God's Spirit was present.

Our first prayer unit meeting of the WMU proved inspiring and very worthwhile. Carolyn Adams is chairman of this unit.

We are making plans to enter the Christian Life contest again this year. Mysterious messages pertaining to a train ride have been received at Sunday school for several weeks. Finally on Oct. 15 a fine train was on hand and passes and tickets were given out for the trip, beginning Oct. 21. A parade is planned for Saturday afternoon, Oct. 20, led by a locomotive on rubber tires.

An anniversary conference, marking nine years for Medford Friends, was held Oct. 12, 13, and 14, with guest speakers being Dean Gregory, Walter Lee and Frederick Baker. Each service was filled with a forward look to the opportunities the church has now, both locally, in Oregon Yearly Meeting, and on the mission field.

SPRAGUE RIVER

Evert Tuning, pastor

The Philpotts, from the Friends church in Everett, Wash., stopped at the parsonage for a few minutes while in southern Oregon visiting relatives in Bonanza. We were glad to welcome these friends from the north.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schild, from Tillamook, Oregon, stopped at the parsonage for a few minutes on their way home from deer hunting near Lakeview. Mrs. Schild is an officer in the Oregon State Holiness Association, and a former school-mate of Evert Tuning's at what was then Portland Bible Institute. We were glad to renew friendship with these fine people.

Mr. Sanders, a member of the Cherokee tribe, and a member of the Church of the Nazarene in Eugene, was with us for a Sunday morning service Sept. 30. We hope he comes to see us again.

Visitors at the Louis Fowler home recently were his mother, brother Fred, from Marion, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Metcalfe and children from Salem. We enjoyed having them in our services.

An Indian Council is now in session. Among other business to be considered is the question of juvenile delinquency on the reservation. We commend these people for attacking this important issue.

We are planning to begin a series of evangelistic meetings with Dorwin Smith as evangelist Sunday, Nov. 4. We solicit your earnest, fervent prayers for us.

ROSEDALE

Merle Green, pastor

Last month Rev. George Wallace Scott, a missionary evangelist, and a member of the Church of Scotland, brought challenging messages both morning and evening on Sunday, Sept. 23. Our pastor accompanied Dean Gregory, the new General Superintendent, to Friends meetings in southern Oregon, thus Rev. Scott's services were welcomed.

Our Sunday school has entered the Christian Life Sunday school contest. Teachers and pupils alike apparently are really giving all they have to seeing the contest "put over."

The Cradle Roll superintendent, Geneva Riggs, reports the addition of eight new names to the cradle roll.

On Oct. 7, the Sunday school observed Rally Day. We aimed for an attendance of 100, but fell short by 3. We especially enjoyed the music of the Winter twins from George Fox College. Other students from the college attending that morning were Gay Foley, Wanda Smith, Marvin Hampton, and Roselle Ballard.

On the week-end of Oct. 5th, 6th, and 7th, the United Evangelistic Conference was held in our church. The messages of Fred Baker, Walter Lee, and Dean Gregory brought new challenges, and by God's grace we purpose to be faithful to these challenges. Several of our juniors and intermediates were present in all the services.

Richard Riggs was called into the United States army last month and is now stationed at Fort George Meade, Maryland.

We are glad to report that the attendance in all the services is on the up-grade. A special prayer meeting hour in behalf of the lost in the community is being held on Monday night in the church.

The WMU has purchased an electric Singer sewing machine for the parsonage use and Missionary Society's use on their "work days."

TALENT

Leroy Neifert, pastor

Talent Friends Church celebrated its eighth anniversary on Oct. 7, with all-day services. Special guests for the occasion were Rev. and Mrs. George Bales and family, first full-time pastors of the Talent group, Lillian Frazier, and the Votaws. The Medford church joined with us in the fellowship dinner and the afternoon service. Leroy Neifert brought the morning message; George Bales was the afternoon speaker; and the evening service was in charge of the young people's C.E. Special music for the day was under the direction of Opal Finley, and several very lovely numbers were sung and played. At the close of the afternoon service, the group went to the lot where the new church will be built and George Bales broke ground for the beginning of the work. Lillian Frazier prayed a prayer of dedication of this place to the work of the Lord and the winning of souls.

The George Bales family were entertained in the John Sample home while visiting Talent, and Lillian Frazier was a guest of Lily Welburn.

Work on the building program is going ahead. We see the Lord's hand in helping to get needed materials at very reasonable prices. Several loads of lumber are on the lot and enough cement to do the job is stored in the pastor's garage until the digging is done. We have also purchased nails. Both cement and nails are hard-to-get items and we feel that we secured them in direct answer to prayer. We are fortunate to have the use of Clem Finley's truck to haul materials, and willing folks to help with the work. All are bearing the burden of prayer and giving of their means as the Lord directs.

Guest speaker on Sunday morning, Oct. 14, was Fred Baker, representing the work of the Evangelistic Board of the Yearly Meeting. In the evening, Walter Lee showed pictures from Bolivia during the C.E. hour, and gave a missionary message during the evening service. We were inspired by these good services and challenged afresh to serve God to our utmost.

We are happy to have two new families worshipping with us regularly and others coming in occasionally. Our prayer is that our building program will in no way lessen our evangelistic zeal.

A contest is under way to increase the attendance of the Sunday school. The prize goes to the class which shows the greatest increase. The young married folks' class has set as their goal the doubling of their number.

The young people's class enjoyed a party in Verda Craven's home recently. The Bible Club for the junior girl's class meets in their club-house at the home of their teacher, Louise Sample, every Wednesday after school. They spend the hour in Bible study, hand-work, and playing games.

Week-end guests of the pastors in Oct. were his parents and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Neifert and David, from Citrus Heights, California.

A number from our church attended and enjoyed very much the Medford Friends' anniversary celebration.

Plans are being made for the Southern Oregon C.E. convention on Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 and 2, with Fredric Carter and Paul Mills as speakers.

SOUTH SALEM

Frank Haskins, pastor

The WMU met Sept. 25 at the home of Emma Aebischer. Julia Pearson, who was our guest speaker, gave an interesting and inspiring account of her classes in the Bible School and her work among the native women in Bolivia.

INSURANCE

Sept. 30 was our rally and promotion day. A program was given during the Sunday school hour and the presentation of the certificates of promotion. Three new babies were presented to the Sunday school by the cradle roll department. There were 30 members of our Sunday school who received pins for a year's perfect attendance.

Our Sunday school is entering for the second time the International Sunday school contest, sponsored by the Christian Life Magazine. The award given to the members of the junior, intermediate and adult classes, who bring the most persons during the contest, are pictures of Christ. The primary department will be given a View Master, and for the beginners and nursery classes, a book of Bible stories.

The intermediate choir meets at 6:00 every Sunday evening to practice under the leadership of Abe Voth. We appreciate and enjoy the help which the choir is giving in our evening services.

A delegation from the Portland Quarterly Meeting Brotherhood had charge of the evening services Oct. 14. Their message in song and the reports of their trip and visit to the new work in Spokane were an inspiration and blessing.

"Family night" was held Oct. 18 in the church basement. There were 70 in attendance, and after enjoying a pot-luck supper, Myron and Adria Dearing entertained the group by showing slides of Oregon scenes which they had taken during their trips over the state. A food shower was given at this time to our pastor and family.

HIGHLAND AVENUE Edward Harmon, pastor

The WMU met at the home of Lorraine Robbins Sept. 27. The meeting was called to order by the new president, Deva Armstrong. Ethel Bohl gave devotional thoughts stressing the fact that Jesus Christ should be the chief cornerstone of the foundations of our lives, and then led in heart-felt prayer. Reports of those attending the Yearly Meeting banquet were given. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Sunday morning, Oct. 7, Hugh Gookin, missionary to Venezuela, spoke, telling of his call to the mission field. He and his wife sang. His mother attends our church, and Hugh did when he lived near. Then Friday evening, Oct. 12, Ted and Elma Koehler were at the church for a service, giving their testimonies and showing a beautiful missionary film, "Torch in the Night," a sound film in full color presenting the gripping challenge of the 10,000,000 souls of Central America.

The church took part in the United Evangelistic Conference this week end and were challenged by Fred Baker's message Friday evening when he spoke on the work of the Evangelistic Board. Everyone enjoyed the missionary pictures and Walter Lee's comments Saturday evening. The other churches united for an afternoon missionary rally Sunday and were privileged to hear Jack Willcuts in a stirring message. Walter Lee brought the concluding message Sunday evening and made us realize what a challenging program our Yearly Meeting has—the challenge of the outpost work, of the college, and of our mission field. Special music for the series was furnished by Dean Gregory, Jacquelyn Davis and a trio—Jacquelyn Davis, Eleanor Burton and Verna Keller.

The Sunday school teachers voted to enter the attendance contest sponsored by the Christian Life Magazine, and are making a tremendous effort to contact absentees and to build their classes. The first Sunday of the contest the attendance was 134. The teachers are planning to have a meeting at 6:30 each fourth Sunday of the month. Those who are coming from the college to help us each Sunday are Virginia Peters, Wanda Pierson, and Howard and Bethlin Harmon.

Robert and Ella Miller celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary Sunday, Oct. 21. Many friends called at their home during the afternoon, and the church joined in praying that this couple may have more years together and that their lives will continue to be a blessing to others.

Oct. 18, an enjoyable time of fellowship was had by the thirty adults and children who met in the basement. After a bountiful meal and a time of visiting, the film, "Your Children's Emotions," was shown. All the parents felt that this film provided by the public health department helped them to understand their children better.

We miss Clifton Ross from our midst, but are glad that he is able to help with the work at O'Brien.

Boise Valley Quarterly Meeting

WOODLAND
Hal May, pastor

Greetings from Woodland, the church that is launching out. Our theme for this next year is "Launch out into the deep," taken from Luke 5:4, where Christ commanded Simon to launch out and let down his nets. We, as a church, are going to launch out and have faith in Christ that He will fill our nets. We are also going to use the theme song of Twin Rocks conference.

"Launch out, launch out, launch out into the deep,
And let down your nets, oh let them down again,
And leave all thou hast, Fear not, follow me,
And I'll make you fishers of men."

This is our prayer that God will make us fishers of men.

At this writing, the cistern, which will supply water for the parsonage, is not quite dug. Very hard digging and rain have hampered completion. By the time of publication, however, we hope to have the cement work completed. Won't you pray with us that money will come in to pay for this project, as we are stepping out on faith.

Nov. 4th will be our rally day, which will start a contest to increase the attendance of our Sunday school. The contest will run until Dec. 16, which will be our Christmas program. Awards will be presented at the program.

We are very glad to have Fred Williams back in our services with us. He was in the Lewiston Hospital for an operation.

The WMU met at Pearl Adams for their regular Sept. meeting and mended and packed used clothing to send to Christie Bundy in Japan.

BOISE Paul Barnett, pastor

The young people of the church had a scavenger hunt on Friday, Sept. 28. There were about twenty-two young people in attendance.

Pink and blue showers were held for Letha Williams on Sept. 28, and for Evelyn Hickerson on Oct. 12. Both of these young mothers-to-be received many lovely gifts.

Mrs. Hugh Jordan, mother of Mrs. Terrance Gulley, has been visiting with her daughter for a few days. Mrs. Gulley and little Terry accompanied Mrs. Jordanto Pasco, Washington, for a few days' visit. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan are on a short visit between pastorates. They are moving from a Nazarene church in Phoenix, Arizona, to a Nazarene church in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

T/Sgt. and Mrs. James Gleason and their young son, Jimmy, are visitors for a few days at the John W. Jackson home and the Robert Gleason home. They are enroute from Valdosta, Georgia, to Victorville, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Church and their two sons, from Lava Hot Springs, Idaho, were visitors at our Sunday morning worship service Oct. 14.

Mr. Harold Roberts who is principal of Pierce Park grade school has been in the hospital recently suffering from an infected thyroid gland.

There are several young couples who have recently become regular attenders at our services. Among them are Harry and Louise Hoskins and their young daughter, Jane, formerly of Oskaloosa, Iowa meeting; Clarence and Dorothy Rodine and their young daughter, Connie Jo; 1st Lieut. and Mrs. Russell Bradley and their youngster, formerly of Kokomo, Indiana, meeting. We are very glad to have these new people with us.

With a purpose of uniting the missionary committee work of the church with the WMU, Alice Barnett has been chosen as leader of our missionary prayer unit, and also will lead the Wednesday night missionary prayer meeting each month. The home project just completed by the WMU is the purchase of an attractive new daveno and swing rocker set for the parsonage. We plan to purchase a new electric range for the church kitchen as our next project. There has been a noted increase in attendance and interest in our missionary meetings, for which we are thankful.

On Friday, Oct. 19, the church is beginning a monthly family social in the interest of a more closely knit family unit, and strengthening the ties between the family and the church. Preston Mills and his group is in charge of this first social.

STAR Nathan B. Pierson, pastor

Word has been received that Harold and Marjorie Wilhite and family have arrived at Kisumu, Kenya Colony, East Africa, where Harold is to teach in the Friends' Mission school. The Wilhites were given a very royal welcome by the missionaries and native workers of the mission.

Our annual family night banquet was held in the dining room of our church, Oct. 5. Almost 100 persons were present. The ladies served a delicious meal, and the program for the evening was well arranged, making a most enjoyable time for all.

The Sunday school council is sponsoring a community census of church attendance. The area has been blocked off and cards printed to be given out. It is our concern that the unchurched may be reached.

Some of the ladies meet for prayer at 7:30 Sunday evening. The men are meeting for prayer Saturday evening at 8:00. Some meet for early morning prayer one morning of each week, and others meet after school. These meetings are held besides our regular mid-week prayer meeting on Wednesday night.

We miss the Wilson Wade family who have recently moved to Melba, also the Lute Samps' and Emma Frank and daughters, who are moving to Caldwell.

We are glad to welcome back into our church some who in the years past have been members, Wm. and Martha Craven McKibben, who have moved back from Livingston, Montana; also Walter and Carol Lee, Arnold and Marilyn, and Ida J. Lee.

We are glad to report Ida J. Lee is somewhat improved in health.

We are looking forward to our revival which is to be held Nov. 11-25 with G. Arnold Hodgins evangelist. Our pastors, Nathan and Hazel Pierson, are to have charge of the singing for these meetings.

WHITNEY Richard Wiles, pastor

The Booster's class sponsored a landscaping project around the new basement. The ground was leveled, top dirt hauled in, and a lawn seeded. In the spring, shrubs and plants will be added. Our thanks go to Royal Moon, who did most of the work.

Ed Oswald has returned to the service following his furlough, which he spent with his wife and baby.

WMU met Thursday Oct. 18 at the Nettleton home. The devotions, "Building Through Prayer", were given by Mary LaBrie. The lesson was on the Friends' work in Kenya district in Africa. Actual experiences of three missionaries, Dorothy Pittman, Edith Radcliff, and Helen Ridgeway, of the Kenya district were given by Mary Wardle, Floy Campbell, and Beulah Marks, each of whom spoke in the first person.

Mrs. Forrest Turner is seriously ill. Mr. Forrey is much improved, following his recent illness. While he was confined to his home the men's Sunday school class went to his home for their class.

WMU work day was held in an all-day meeting at the church basement on Oct. 4, with a pot luck dinner at noon. Two quilts were tied and hemmed, and four more tops were nearly completed. It was decided for each member to bring one or more tie-on aprons to send to Bolivia. These aprons are given to native ladies after they have achieved certain standards set for them by our missionaries.

The program committee and the work committee of the WMU met at the Wiles home in Sept. and made program books for the year for each member.

Mary LaBrie and Coral Rice were hostesses at a "Stanley" party at the Rice home Oct. 10 with the proceeds, about $23.00, going to the WMU.

Mrs. Leola Rourke accompanied her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lyons, of Payette, to Yocalla, Oregon for a week's visit in Oct.

Oct. 19 was a time of fellowship and fun in the church basement when members and friends gathered for games, entertainment, and "get acquainted" visiting. A film, "Our Idaho," was shown, the Junior choir sang several songs, and instrumental pieces were given by some of our young people. Cider and doughnuts were served.

Puget Sound Quarterly Meeting

AGNEW
Harold Ankeny, pastor

On Sept. 28 a reception was held at the church in honor of our pastor and his family. Elsie Rand, Sunday School superintendent, was in charge of the program. Rhyllis Mullins read an original welcoming poem. Herb Kell played a trombone solo. Evangeline Cook, Kenneth Clay, and Marion Cook gave short welcoming speeches. Our pastor and his wife returned with some remarks of rejoicing over the way God leads. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ankeny, the parents of Harold, were present for this occasion, as they brought Vicki Ann up from Salem, where Betty and Harold had left her for 10 days. They also helped our pastor redecorate and do some repairing. After the reception the people gave a "pounding" to Betty and Harold. They received a bountiful supply of canned fruits and vegetables, boxes of apples and pears, groceries and canned salmon. This was held at the parsonage, and gave the people an opportunity to see the redecorating they had done. Approximately forty-five people were present.

On Sunday, Sept. 30, we had the privilege of having Miss Charlotte Warren and Miss Maxine Ensley, who are ex-missionaries and are now working under the Peniel missions here on the coast. Miss Warren talked in the morning on her experiences in Egypt and displayed some of the curios. Miss Ensley gave an object lesson before Sunday school and displayed articles from Hawaii. We certainly appreciated their presence, and the messages they brought.

Tuesday, Oct. 2, was missionary day for the WMU. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Barr. Everyone thrilled by a report of the book, "The Life Of Cecil Troxel" given by Evangeline Cook. Ten women met that day and had devotions together and business meeting. Their project for this coming year is to assist in installing a bathroom in the parsonage and an altar rail in the church.

Elsie Rand, our Sunday school superintendent, has an interesting attendance promotion plan going. She has a board hanging on the wall with fish poles hanging on it, and each one who invites people to come receives a new "fish" on his line. As a result of this effort our attendance has increased by two each Sunday for the last four Sundays, except the 14th, which advanced only one. We praise God for this and the incentive that accompanies the increase.

Art Rand brought his tractor over to the parsonage one day and sawed about two cords of wood for the pastor. Then on Saturday, Oct. 13, about 12 children came to the church and helped pile wood in the wood shed. If there are those who think children cannot do work such as that then they should have been here on that day.

Evangeline Cook, who underwent a major operation in July, is recuperating wonderfully, for which we thank God. Also we are glad to have Mrs. Frank Harris in our services once more after a severe fall, which injured her right arm. On Sunday, the 14th, she played the organ for our morning service for the first time since she was hurt.

Miss Marian Hand, a retired school teacher from Illinois, and a long-time friend of the Harris', has moved to the Olympic Peninsula to make a new home. Our pastor is building an addition on the Harris home for Miss Hand. We enjoy her presence with us in our services.

Several of our group attended the Glallam County Holiness Association which was held in Port Angeles at the Salvation Army Hall.

EVERETT

John Frazier, pastor

On Sept. 16 we had the privilege of having several Quaker friends at our morning worship and fellowship dinner: Ernest Fritschle, Beatrice and children interested our Sunday school and Ernest preached a challenging message in the church service relative to the tremendous work of Lee Memorial Mission in Calcutta to which God has called them. Betty Byrd from Kings Garden was also present and her testimony was inspiring. Herbert and Vera York, from Seattle Memorial Church, delighted us with their presence, on this their 45th wedding anniversary, which they were commemorating in the church where they first took their vows.

The Sunday school added the names of two new teachers to the staff—Chester Tesberg and Pearl Tyner. One of our finest teachers, Lenna Sand, discontinued teaching this year. In recognition of her faithful service her class of boys and the Sunday school presented her with a token of appreciation.

The Sunday school added a Cradle Roll department and the home department to their curriculum, the respective superintendents being Ruby Burch and Perle Bentley. The Beginner's teacher, Ida Harvey, entertained her youngsters before they were promoted. Mrs. Georgetta Ricketts was surprised on Promotion Day, being presented with a beautiful friendship cup from her Sunday school girls whom she had taught for several years. The Intermediate Sunday school girls presented their teacher, Clara Frazier, with a lovely gift before their promotion.

September 30th, Rally and Promotion Day was featured with a short program by the classes and presentation of certificates by Alma Kines. Our records show that our Sunday school is steadily increasing in attendance.

On Rally Day we resumed our evening services and started an adult Bible study class, meeting at the same hour as Christian Endeavor.

Several attended the Quarterly Meeting Sunday School Workers Institute held at the Seattle Memorial Church, Oct. 5 and 6 and received great benefit. Clara Frazier presented the Cradle Roll department.

Twenty-five guests enjoyed the dinner and program in celebration of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Knapp at their home in Alderwood Manor.

The WMU financed the repairing of the outside of the church, and the minister and a group of willing men did the work. The painting of the basement walls was a project of the choir.

The women of the Grace Missionary Union surprised and blessed the minister's wife at their September meeting in the home of Georgetta Ricketts, with a wonderful harvest shower of foods and canned goods.

We were delighted to have Mr. and Mrs. Glen Parmalee of Washington, D.C. in our service Oct. 14. Mrs. Catherine Parmalee is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gustafson and a member at Everett. Roma Britton, a guest of the Fraziers, also blessed us with her presence and we were happily surprised to see Nora Replogle in her familiar seat, returning from a trip of several months in Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Philpott returned from a pleasant and interesting trip to the southland.

Our Sunday school is commencing an attendance contest with a goal to reach Calcutta, India, the prospective mission station of the Ernest Fritschle family.

SEATTLE MEMORIAL

Milo C. Ross, pastor

"Let there be light"! has been the theme for several weeks of building activity. All the metal sash have been installed in the church basement now, as well as all of the windows in the parsonage. This is making both buildings lighter and warmer.

Perhaps the most encouraging feature of the work has been the good attendance at the Christian Endeavor meetings and the Sunday evening gospel hour. Both of the C.E. societies are still small, but as many as 14 have attended the adult group in Oct. The 7:30 meeting has featured missionary speakers and Christian films, with our minister speaking about half of the time. Attendance has reached the forties and into the low fifties.

Because of the Sunday evening meetings, our monthly church dinners are periods of eating and fellowship only, without a more extended program into the Sunday afternoons. On Oct. 14 we had our first one of the autumn, meeting this time in the church basement.

Sunday school is running ten ahead of last year at the same time.

Recent parsonage guests have included Dr. and Mrs. Glenn D. Fraser, of Vancouver, B.C., sister and brother-in-law of our pastor; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bertuleit, and Mrs. Florence Lehman and Norman, all of Portland. The ladies are sisters of Helen Ross.

New guests and attenders at our meetings of late have been the Richard Hendricks family; Betty Byrd, now of King's Gardens; the Guy Hurd family; Helen Hoover, of Sacramento, in training at Swedish Hospital; Dorothea Feller, now of Holly Park, also in training at Firlands Sanitarium; and Carl Reed, of Star, now working on his master's degree at the "U."

BETHANY

Ethel Cowgill, pastor

We are in the midst of our annual homecoming services, and enjoying the blessing of the Lord. Tonight, for our first service, we had with us the Ernest Fritschle family, who are out-going missionaries to the foreign field in India. We were thrilled by their message in work and song, and our eyes were opened more than ever before to the need in this white field of harvest. We are also enjoying the fellowship of the Richard Hendricks family, they having returned permanently to Seattle from their latest place of residence in West Virginia.

Among the speakers who will be taking part in this year's homecoming services are Rosa Rooney, of the local Olive Branch Mission; Esther White; Ernest Baker, of Renton, Washington; and Leroy White, new pastor at Holly Park Friends in Seattle. Others who are planning to take part in this week end series of services are Edward S. Gray, Alice Mobbs, J. Alden White, Evan Jones, Lois White, Roy and Helen Green, Mary Bowden, Eunice Himes, Wesley and William Murphy.

On Aug. 4th, we were saddened by the death of our dear friend Martin B. Barnett, who was instrumental in organizing a Friends meeting at Stites, Idaho, many years ago, which led eventually to the present meeting at Woodland, Idaho. Brother Barnett was 88 years of age at his death and had resided at Kings Gardens in Seattle during the last year of his life.

In our Sunday school, we have just closed a fruitful and exciting contest, pitting the boys and men against the girls and women. The boys and men lost, so they will be expected to be hosts at a weiner roast in the near future.

Our attendance at Sunday school and church services is still on the increase, for which we praise the Lord.

HAYDEN LAKE

Derrol Hockett, pastor

Sept. 16 marked the first service for the new pastors. On the 27th of that month a surprise pound party was given for them after Bible study. Many food items were received with appreciation.

Sept. 30 rally day was held with a good number present, and a fine program was presented. This also marked the change of time of service from the afternoon to morning services.

We are certainly going to miss Mrs. Nina Palmer from our congregation. She has recently gone to Los Angeles to visit relatives and friends after the passing of her husband, Ralph Palmer.

The last monthly meeting appointed J. D. Baker as the new presiding clerk to fill the vacancy left by the passing of Ralph Palmer.

Services for the quarterly conference were conducted by a group from George Fox College, with Prof. Paul Mills as the speaker, and the music presented by a mixed group composed of Lucy Edmundson, Pat Parmenter, Marilyn Barnes, Dick Zeller and Klane Robison. Miss Barbara Sill was pianist for the group. These meetings certainly were an inspiration to each of us, and we enjoyed them very much.

A bell has been purchased for the church, and the work on the belfry and a new stoop for the entrance to the church, will begin soon.

A weiner roast was held the 12th of Oct. for the young people at the home of Marilea and Betty Curryer. The attendance was small, but a good time was enjoyed by all those present. This was sponsored by the young people's Sunday school class.

KIRKLAND

Douglas Brown, pastor

We at Kirkland greatly appreciated and enjoyed the Sunday School Institute held Oct. 5 and 6 at Memorial Friends. The new ideas, suggestions, visual aids and forums offered invaluable help.

The Young Women's Missionary Society was entertained at the home of Marjorie Brown the evening of Oct. 9. Jeannette Wallick had the devotions following the business meeting, after which the hostess served a delicious buffet supper. Our senior society met for their pot-luck dinner at the home of Ruth Palmer Monday evening, Oct. 8.

The primary class was surprised and delighted with new miniature pews, and Donald Rae reports more equipment for this class is forthcoming very soon.

We have been enjoying the ministry in song of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Murphy and their son, Wesley.

Our pastor has been conducting a course in Scripture memorization on holy living, in conjunction with his Sunday morning messages, a necessary and vital need in these challenging times.

Rev. Ernest Fritschle and his family came out from King's Gardens for an evening service, which thrilled and blessed us greatly. Their story of faith and simple trust in God is heart-warming. May the Lord richly bless and prosper these faithful emissaries who go forth in His name.

Rev. Christie Bundy, our missionary, has been ill, and we covet your prayers.

Our ladies continue to meet one day each week to mend, pack and process relief clothes for Japan. We have a number of boxes ready to go as mailing funds come in.

The Thursday night prayer meetings grow more and more interesting as we progress in the study of the book of Daniel.

McKINLEY AVENUE

Loren Jones, pastor

Our revival meetings with Dorwin Smith were a great blessing. How thankful we are for the inspiration received. We were also blessed by the good and unusual music that was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Hurd.

The Philadelphian Sunday school class had a pot-luck supper before one of the evening services, and about forty attended. They are painting the church basement and class-rooms, and will soon have it finished. We do appreciate this class and their efforts.

Our Sunday school has decided to start the Cross and Crown award the first of the year.

Henrietta and Howard Harmon received a second surprise for their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. It was given by the church folks. The church was attractively decorated, and a suitable program for the occasion was given. The honored couple received a gift of a beautiful sugar and creamer set.

We are sorry to have sickness keeping some of our people at home. Mrs. Wade has been ill for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Holt too have been ill.

SPOKANE

A. Clark Smith, pastor

At long last we are moved and are a part of Spokane. Derrol and Lesta Hockett are in the work at Hayden Lake, and we are glad to have them as neighbors.

Two of the good people of Hayden Lake volunteered to move us, so we packed two pickups and a trailer, and landed at 548 East Princeton in Spokane. We do appreciate the help of Martin Magnus and Ralph Magnus and their wives.

The work at Spokane is most encouraging. Attendance is going up faster than we have room to put them or places to seat them. We are dividing class-rooms and adding classes and trying to meet the situation. Two new classes have been organized. Dale Kelly has taken the junior boys and Geneva Eichenberger is teaching the junior girls.

Recent visits have been made by men from the Brotherhood of Portland Quarterly Meeting, and a team from George Fox College. Both groups were a blessing to the meeting. Each of the men spoke in the morning service, and their messages were much appreciated. Those attending were David Pruitt, Wilbur Pressnall, George Haehlen and Floyd Geil.

The George Fox team included Dick Zeller, Klane Robison, Pat Parmenter, Lucy Edmundson, Marilyn Barnes, Professor Barbara Sill and Professor Paul Mills. The ladies and Paul Mills arrived in time for a meeting at Spokane Friday evening. The ladies sang several numbers and Paul Mills brought the evening message.

The Saturday evening service was at Hayden Lake. The group sang several numbers and gave their testimonies. Paul Mills spoke in this service also.

Sunday morning the group divided, Klane Robison and Marilyn Barnes and Pat Parmenter sang in the Spokane meeting, and the others conducted the service at Hayden Lake. The group in Spokane sang for the opening part of the Sunday school at the Hilyard Baptist Church. The evening service was a union meeting with Hayden Lake, in Spokane. Some of the Hayden Lake people were able to attend, and the whole group from George Fox College led the service. It was a time of blessing to the people of the Inland Empire.

Monday morning the singers and Paul Mills conducted the chapel services in the Northwest Christian high school. This service was much appreciated by the students and faculty.

Sunday morning, Oct. 6, we were privileged to have Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Eichenberger with us in the morning service. They are on their way to Peru, where they will be doing medical missionary work under the Bible Translation Mission. Ralph is a nephew of William Eichenberger of Portland First Friends Church. It was a real pleasure and blessing to have them with us. We shall be able to add to our prayer interests.

Greenleaf Quarterly Meeting

HOMEDALE

Clare Willcuts, pastor

Our Wednesday evening prayer meetings have been very interesting and helpful. The lessons have been on "The Atonement" and have been well attended.

On Sunday, Sept. 30, our pastor began a series of sermons on "Revive Us Again," beginning with "Revive our Sunday School," followed by "Revive our Devotional Life," and "Revive our Attitudes Toward Worship."

Our revival services will be Nov. 28 to Dec. 9 with Dr. G. Arnold Hodgkin, of Wilmore, Kentucky, evangelist.

The regular meeting of the WMU was held at the home of Meta Rice. Dorothy Barnes gave the devotions. Twelve members were present. A plan of work to be done and also a report of what was sent with the Hibbs was given. The program was a report of work of Friends in Africa.

At a meeting of our Sunday school teachers and officers, held on Friday evening, Oct. 5, it was decided to plan for a teacher's training program in the near future. We feel this will be a good plan to build and strengthen our Sunday school.

Sunday, Oct. 7, was our rally day. Our attendance was 161, which is higher than we have had since April. The basement departments gave a short program and the adult group acted out the 11th chapter of Hebrews.

We were happy to have Leland and Iverna Hibbs take the service on Sunday evening, Oct. 7. They gave a very inspiring and challenging message about their call to Bolivia.

More than $200 was cleared on the annual chicken pie supper and bazaar given on Tuesday evening, Oct. 9, by the Lucy Wright Guild. The tables decorated with fall flowers were well filled until a late hour. Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club and Chamber of Commerce attended before holding their regular business meetings. During the evening piano selections were played by Mrs. Rex Beebe, and Mardee Henderson sang several vocal selections.

Several men turned out on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 15 and 16, to clean the outside of the church in preparation for a new coat of paint. The sanctuary and new addition are also receiving a coat of paint.

CALDWELL

David Fendall, pastor

On Sunday, Oct. 14, the Gideons had charge of our morning service. We greatly appreciated the report of their work through the years.

Our last regular missionary meeting which was held at the home of Myrtle Burton was enjoyed by all present. Beside our devotional time and business meeting we had our Pollyanna party. Also, the women of our group decided to send some much needed clothing to Christie Bundy for her work in Japan.

One of our young people, Apphia Koch, is attending the Nazarene College in Nampa. However, she is still able to attend our services and we appreciate her willingness to help.

We were very glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Roy Knight visit one of our recent Sunday services.

Three of our members, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cronk and Mr. Tozier, are attempting to start a new work in Cambridge, Idaho. So far they have not been able to secure a place for worship but have had prayer meeting in their home. Do pray with us that the Lord will make a way as He sees fit.

GREENLEAF

Oscar Brown, pastor

The gospel team work is proving a blessing, not only to the team, but also to many who have received definite help, in the county jail, on the street and at the nursing homes. Oral Tish and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Houston are the sponsors.

The church had a pot-luck supper for our outgoing missionaries, Leland and Iverna Hibbs and two sons, Teryl and Carol, Wednesday evening, Oct. 10 before prayer meeting.

The revival is in progress at the academy, with Rev. Harley Adams, of Nampa, as evangelist.

Those who were here from a distance to attend the Watson-Puckett wedding were Mrs. Nellie Hess, Wakita, Oklahoma; Mrs. Laura L. Moore, Olympia, Wash.; Kenneth Puckett, Portland, Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Watson and family, Fairfield, Montana; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Emry, Stevensville, Montana.

The Homemakers class had a get-together and pot-luck supper at the home of Carol Rhoads in honor of Leland and Iverna Hibbs, Oct. 11.

The all-day meeting of the WMU was held at the home of Myrtle Winslow Oct. 11. They also met all day the 18th, quilting two Greenleaf quilts. They finished one.

Mr. Ralph Comfort met with an accident Tuesday evening as he was returning from work. A car ran into his tractor, upsetting it and damaging it considerably. He received bruises, cuts, and was very much shaken up, but is recuperating satisfactorily.

Mrs. Dorwin Smith went to Tacoma, Washington, where Dorwin was in a revival. She had charge of the children's meetings.

Quite a delegation from the church went to the train Oct. 19 to see the Hibbs off and to bid them God speed.

RIVERSIDE

Marvin Mardock, pastor

Everett Puckett, of Parma, Idaho, had charge of the services while the pastor was at Yearly Meeting.

We have three girls driving daily to the Greenleaf Academy. They are Joyce Hoover, Faye McCord and Pearl Freeman. We are glad these girls can attend a Christian high school, and pray there will be more from here in future years who will be privileged to attend.

We were glad for visitors in our church services. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rohrer, of Colorado, were here for about two weeks visiting his brothers, Will and Pearl Rohrer.

The pastors were pleasantly surprised Friday afternoon, Sept. 21, when the pastor's wife's parents came for a short visit. They are from Vancouver, Wash., and greatly enjoyed their visit and seeing the productive country of which we are a part.

On Monday morning, Oct. 1st, the men of the church started working on the chimney of the church, tearing it down. The chimney has been a fire hazard for some time, and now we are going to have one built by a chimney builder. Although work was stopped by the rain, the work is now going on and we hope to have the stove set up again this week.

The Sept. meeting of the WMU was held at the home of Pearl Rohrer. Plans were discussed for the project for the coming year. The next meeting, in Oct., will meet at the parsonage.

Hubert Mardock, father of our pastor, gave an inspiring message Sunday evening, Sept. 23.

Newberg Quarterly Meeting

CHEHALEM CENTER

Fredric Carter, pastor

The WMU held an all day meeting on Sept. 27. This was a work day and the time was spent preparing the parsonage for our new pastors.

Glenn Moor has gone to Hayden Lake to work and help in the church there.

Several men from the church attended the Friends Brotherhood at Springbrook on Oct. 15.

We are glad to have Melda Chandler from Sprague River in charge of our Junior C.E.

Corporal Amos Jones has been home on furlough, and, with his parents, spent several days visiting with family and friends at Boise, Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hodson have moved to Dundee and are living in a house near Mrs. W. Wells, who has so kindly been helping care for them.

Rita Jones was home during a recent week end. She is attending teacher's college at Monmouth, Oregon.

On Sept. 21st Charles Clarence Elliott, went to be with his Lord whom he has faithfully served through a long and fruitful life. He was 95 years old and has been a member of our meeting for many years.

Dr. Casius Carter of Juneau, Alaska and Mrs. James Hamilton of Portland, son and daughter of our pastors, visited their parents and were in our services on Sept. 30.

A collection of $177.00 was taken by our church and sent to the Elliott family at Beaverton to help them in rebuilding their home, which was lost by fire last month.

Although not yet living in the parsonage, our pastor has made 50 calls in our community during the first month of service. We are glad to report an increase in Sunday school attendance.

SPRINGBROOK

Waldo Hicks, pastor

We deeply regret losing Leland and Iverna Hibbs as our pastors, but are thankful they have been with us for six short years. We are grateful that they are going into larger service for Him on the mission field.

Throughout the summer months, Randall Emry, our assistant pastor, shepherded the church.

We are glad to welcome to our fellowship, Waldo and Francis Hicks and boys, as our pastors. Already we feel we have known them for a long time and count them as one of us.

Oct. 2nd we had a reception and farewell combined for the Hicks' and Inez Butler, who has left to do mission work in Mexico. The Quarterly Meeting pastors and community were invited. A nice program was planned.

Oct. 9 Mrs. Virgil Mills served chicken dinner for the members and their families of the Maude Butler Memorial Sunday school class who had perfect attendance for the past three months. Nine adults and four children enjoyed the dinner.

For the past year or more Edna Peck has presented to the church Pilgrim Progress on flannel board. Last Sunday evening she finished the story of Christianna, Pilgrim's wife. We greatly appreciate Mrs. Peck in the church work, as well as leader of the junior church.

NEWBERG

Carl D. Byrd, pastor

A reception was given at the church on the 30th for the students of both college and high school. It was rally day. More than 200 came together for the fellowship dinner after a program given by the various groups of the Bible school at 9:45. Mrs. Ruthanna Hampton was in charge of the program. Mrs. Hampton is in charge of the pre-school group in the community. The attendance and response throughout the day was most encouraging. A short program following the dinner was given when the pastor gave a welcome to the students from the church, Hubert Armstrong spoke a welcome for the Sunday school, a response from the college was expressed by Dr. Paul Parker, and for the students by Frank Starkey, president of the Student Christian Union. Dr. Gervas A. Carey presided.

Our pastor gave an address at the recent WCTU County Convention held here in Newberg.

The community singspiration was held in our church Oct. 7th.

John Fankhauser attending George Fox College has been appointed assistant to the pastor for Newberg Friends Church.

A fine group from this church attended the Friends Brotherhood held at Springbrook Friends church Oct. 15th. Kelsey Hinshaw spoke on the present status of those who are facing the draft and of the need of defeating Universal Military Training. A very helpful time and good Christian fellowship was had.

The WMU was held with Mrs. Charles Haworth, when they began the holding of a prayer meeting for 30 minutes before the regular lesson. Mrs. Marguerite Elliott presented the topic "China."

The evening WMU held their meeting Tuesday evening Oct. 16th with Mrs. Ross Guley. Julia Pearson spoke to this group of the Bolivian work.

NETARTS

J. David Thomas, pastor

Sunday morning, Sept. 16, we were glad to have as visitors, Dr. and Mrs. J. Ray Pemberton, of Salem; Dorothy Corlett and son; and our Yearly Meeting superintendent and family, of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory sang a duet, "His Guiding Touch." Mr. Gregory also gave us some very encouraging words regarding our Sunday school attendance, and the building of a new church, which we are badly in need of.

Dr. Paul Parker, of George Fox College, met with us one Sunday morning and gave a few words concerning the college.

The WMU met at the home of Bardelle Strait Oct. 9th to piece a quilt.

We were glad to welcome Dell Lamb and family, who have moved into our midst and are living in Garibaldi and attending Netarts church. We are sorry to report that on Sept. 27, Dell had the misfortune to have an accident at his home while attempting to pick some apples. He lost his balance and fell from the roof of the house sustaining serious injuries. On Sunday, Oct. 14th, the family was given a pound shower and a gift of money. The George girls trio sang several numbers for the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Lamb and son Cliff have been recent visitors at the home of their son and brother. Mrs. Lamb was able to stay nearly two weeks to help them out.

Our pastor has been doing a good job of clearing land for our new church.

SHERWOOD Merrill Coffin, pastor

Sherwood now keeps a record of their visitors. Our pastors presented the church with a lovely guest book.

DVBS, held the week before school started, was well attended—a time of blessing for all. Trust we will be able to have two full weeks next year.

We were all saddened by the death of one of our members, Fred Brookman. In young manhood he came to meeting, heard the Gospel, but turned away to go with the gang. A few weeks before his death, he came back to find the Lord Jesus as his personal Savior. How thankful we are that he returned after so many years.

Rally day was a time of blessing for all who attended. Some parents of the Sunday school children were present. A unified service with the morning worship period had been arranged and was enjoyed by all.

Since the men started working at the church on Monday nights, several changes have taken place. The garage looks much better with the shakes on. Merrill Coffin has been doing the painting.

A new class in Sunday school has been started with the young married people, with Merrill Coffin as teacher.
